(WURTEMBERG AND BAVARIA)

HANDBOOK FOR TRAVELLERS

BY

KARL BAEDEKER

WITH 36 MAPS AND 45 PLANS.

ELEVENTH REVISED EDITION

LEIPZIG: KARL BAEDEKER, PUBLISHER
LONDON: T. FISHER UNWIN, 1 ADELPHI TERRACE, W.C.
NEW YORK: CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS, 153 FIFTH AVE.

'Go, little book, God send thee good passage,
And specially let this be thy prayere,
Unto them all that thee will read or hear,
Where thou art wrong, after their help to call,
Thee to correct in any part or all.'

PREFACE.

THE HANDBOOK FOR SOUTHERN GERMANY, which is now issued for the eleventh time and corresponds to the thirtieth German edition, is designed to assist the traveller in planning his tour and disposing of his time to the best advantage, to render him as far as possible independent of the services of hotel-keepers, commissionnaires, and guides, and thus to enable him the more thoroughly to enjoy and appreciate the objects of interest he meets with on his tour.

The Handbook has been compiled almost entirely from the personal observation of the Editor, and most of the country described has been repeatedly explored by him with a view to procure the latest possible information; but, as many of the data in the Handbook relate to matters which are constantly undergoing alteration, he will highly appreciate any corrections or suggestions with which travellers may favour him. Those already received, which in many instances have proved most useful, he gratefully acknowledges.

The contents of the Handbook are divided into Two SECTIONS (I. Wurtemberg; II. Bavaria), each of which may be separately removed from the volume by cutting the gauze backing visible on opening the book at the requisite pages. Linen covers for these sections may be obtained through any bookseller. The Alpine tourist will find the mountainous districts more fully described in the Handbook to the Eastern Alps. For Baden, Alsace, Lorraine, and Rhenish Bavaria the traveller is referred to the Handbook to the Rhine.

THE MAPS and PLANS, on which special care has been bestowed, will, it is hoped, render material service to the traveller in planning his tour.

TIME TABLES. Information as to the departure of trains, steam-boats, and diligences is most trustworthy when obtained from local sources. The best German publications of the kind are the 'Reichs-Kursbuch' (2 M.; published at Berlin), 'Hendschel's Telegraph' (2 M.; smaller edit. 1 M.), both issued eight times a year, and 'Storm's Kursbuch für's Reich' (70 pf.).

DISTANCES by road are given approximately in English miles; but in the case of mountain-excursions they are expressed by the time in which they can be accomplished by average walkers. A kilomètre is approximately — $\frac{5}{8}$ English mile; 8 kil. = 5 M.

HEIGHTS are given in the text in English feet, on the maps in mètres (1 Engl. ft. = 0.3048 mètre = 0.938 Parisian ft. = 0.971 Prussian ft.), and the POPULATIONS in accordance with the latest census.

HOTELS. The Editor has endeavoured to enumerate, not only the first-class hotels, but also others of more modest pretensions, which may be safely selected by the 'voyageur en garçon', with little sacrifice of comfort and considerable saving of expenditure. Hotel-charges, as well as carriage-fares and fees to guides, are liable to frequent variation, and generally have a strong upward tendency; but these items, as stated in the Handbook either from the personal experience of the Editor or from data furnished by numerous correspondents, will at least afford the traveller an approximate idea of his expenditure. The asterisks indicate those hotels which the Editor has reason to believe to be provided with the comforts and conveniences expected in up-to-date establishments, and also to be well managed and reasonable in their scale of charges. Houses of a more modest character, when good of their class, are described as 'good' or 'very fair'. At the same time the Editor does not doubt that equal excellence may often be found in hotels that are unstarred and even unmentioned.

To hotel-keepers, tradesmen, and others the Editor begs to intimate that a character for fair dealing towards travellers is the sole passport to his commendation, and that advertisements of every kind are strictly excluded from his Handbooks. Hotel-keepers are also warned against persons representing themselves as agents for Baedeker's Handbooks.

INTRODUCTION.

I. Language. Money.

LANGUAGE. A slight acquaintance with German is very desirable for travellers who purpose exploring the more remote districts of Southern Germany. Those who do not deviate from the beaten track will generally find that English or French is spoken at the principal hotels and the usual resorts of strangers. If, however, they are entirely ignorant of the language, they must be prepared frequently to submit to the extortions practised by porters, cab-drivers, and others of a like class, which even the data furnished by the Handbook will not always enable them to avoid.

MONEY. The German mark (M), which is nearly equivalent to the English shilling, is divided into 100 pfennigs. Banknotes of 20, 50, 100, and 1000 M are issued by the German Imperial Bank ('Deutsche Reichsbank'), and others of 100 and 500 M, with a limited circulation, by four other chartered banks. There are besides treasury-bills ('Reichskassen-Scheine') of 5 and 10 M. The current gold coins are pieces of 10 and of 20 marks, the intrinsic value of which is slightly lower than that of the English half-sovereign and sovereign (1*l.* being worth about 20 M 43 pf.). The paper currency is of the same value as the precious metals. The silver coins are pieces of 5, 3, 2, 1, and $\frac{1}{2}$ mark (50 pf.). In nickel there are coins of 25, 10, and 5 pfennigs, and in copper there are pieces of 2 and 1 pfennig. — In Austria the monetary unit is the Krone (K) = 100 Heller (h); comp. the Money Table before the title-page.

English sovereigns and banknotes may be exchanged at all the principal towns in Germany, and napoleons are also favourably received (20 fr. = 16s. = 16 M 20 pf., and often a few pfennigs more). Those who travel with large sums should carry them in the form of letters of credit or circular notes of 5*l.* or 10*l.*, rather than in banknotes or gold, as the value of circular notes, if lost or stolen, is recoverable. The Travellers' Cheques issued by the great American Express Companies may also be recommended.

TRAVELLING EXPENSES. The expense of a tour in Southern Germany depends, of course, on a great variety of circumstances. It may, however, be stated generally that travelling in this region is less expensive than in most other European countries. The modest pedestrian, who knows something of the language, and avoids the beaten track as much as possible, may succeed in limiting his expenditure to 10-12s. per diem. Those, on the other hand, who prefer driving to walking, choose the most expensive hotels, and employ guides and commissionnaires, must be prepared to expend 25-30s. daily.

II. Passports and Custom Houses.

PASSPORTS are now unnecessary in Germany, except in the case of students who wish to matriculate at a German university, but they are frequently serviceable in proving the identity of the traveller, procuring admission to collections, and obtaining delivery of registered letters. Those who use them for this last purpose should see that their passports are of recent date. Cyclists and motorists are advised to carry passports.

Passports may be obtained direct from the Passport Department of the Foreign Office, Whitehall (fee 2s.), or through any of the usual tourist-agents. — In the United States application for passports should be made to the Bureau of Citizenship, State Department, Washington, D.C.

CUSTOM HOUSE formalities are now almost everywhere lenient. As a rule, however, articles purchased during the journey, which are not destined for personal use, should be declared at the frontier.

III. Conveyances.

RAILWAY TRAVELLING in Germany is less expensive than in most other parts of Europe, and the carriages are generally clean and comfortable. The second-class carriages, with spring-seats, are sometimes as good as those of the first class in England. Smoking is allowed in all the carriages (in first-class coupés only if all travellers agree), except those 'Für Nichtraucher' and the coupés for ladies.

TICKETS. No one is admitted to the platform without either a railway-ticket or a platform-ticket (Bahnsteigkarte); the latter (10 pf.) may be obtained from the automatic machines placed for the purpose at the stations. — The average fares for the different classes by ordinary trains ('Personen-Züge'), which often have no first-class carriages, and by fast trains ('Eil-Züge') are 1² $\frac{5}{10}$ d., ⁹ $\frac{10}{10}$ d., and $\frac{3}{5}$ d. per Engl. M. respectively (7, 4¹ $\frac{2}{3}$, and 3 pf. per kilomètre), besides a stamp-duty included in the prices of the tickets and varying from 5 pf. to 8 M according to price and class. By express-trains ('Schnell-Züge'; with three classes), and by the through corridor-trains ('D-Züge', marked 'D' in the timetables), which have not always third-class carriages, there is, moreover, an additional tax of 25 pf. to 1 M on third-class tickets, and of 50 pf. to 2 M on second and first class tickets, according to distance. There is no reduction in the fare of return-tickets. Travellers by the through corridor-trains are shown fixed seats in the carriages; they may also order their seats in advance at the stations of departure (no fee). Each ticket is available for four days and permits the journey to be broken once without any formality.

LUGGAGE. No luggage is allowed free except smaller articles taken by the passenger into his carriage. The heavier luggage must be booked, and a ticket procured for it. The charge per 25 kilograms (55 lbs.) is 20 pf. up to 50 kilom. (31 M.), 50 pf. up to 300 kilom. (186 M.), and 1 M beyond 300 kilomètres. Trunks should be at the office at least $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. before the train starts. Luggage once booked, the traveller need not look after it till he arrives at his final destination, where it will be kept in safe custody (24 hrs. gratis) until he presents his ticket. When, however, a frontier has to be crossed, the traveller should see his luggage cleared at the custom-house in person. Porters are entitled to a fee settled by tariff for carrying luggage to or from the cab. At most stations there is a left-luggage office for small baggage, where a charge of 10 pf. per day is made for one package.

The enormous weight of the trunks used by some travellers not unfrequently inflicts serious injury on the hotel and railway porters who have to handle them. Travellers are therefore urged to place their heavy articles in the smaller packages and thus minimize the evil as far as possible.

CIRCULAR TOUR TICKETS ('Zusammenstellbare Fahrschein-Hefte'; see the 'Reichs-Kursbuch', 733) for prolonged tours are not issued for distances under 600 kilomètres (372 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.); those for distances up to 3000 kilom. (1863 M.) are valid for 60 days, for 3000-5000 kilom. (3105 M.) for 90 days, and beyond that distance for 120 days. The journey can be broken without any formality at any of the stations. These tickets (books of coupons) must be ordered one day before the beginning of the journey on special forms to be obtained at the railway-stations or special delivery offices. They are available by all trains, though an extra charge is made for the use of the international 'Luxuszüge' (marked 'L' in the time-tables; 1st cl. only). Their use is convenient, but they are no cheaper than ordinary tickets.

In Wurtemberg SEASON TICKETS (Landesfahrkarten), valid for 15 days and permitting the holder to travel at will over all the Wurtemberg state-lines, are issued for 45, 30, or 20 M according to class. Applications for these must be made at least 1 hr. in advance and be accompanied by an unmounted photograph of the applicant and a deposit of 3 M.

RAILWAY TIME throughout Germany is that of 'Mid-Europe', which is one hour in advance of Greenwich time, and about 50 min. in advance of Paris time.

DILIGENCES generally carry three passengers only, two in the intérieur, and one in the coupé. As the latter alone affords a tolerable survey of the scenery, it should if possible be secured in good time. In much-frequented districts it is frequently engaged several days beforehand. The usual amount of luggage carried free by the diligence does not exceed 20-30 lbs., overweight being charged for by tariff. Passengers are required to book their luggage two hours before the time of starting, and sometimes even on the previous evening; but these rules are seldom rigidly enforced. An 'extra-post' conveyance for one or more persons may generally be obtained on application at the post-offices. The average tariff is 50 pf. (6d.) per mile for 1-2, and 1 M (1s.) per mile for 3-4 persons. Stage Coaches or Motor Diligences also ply on several routes. - Private conveyances may be hired at the rate of 10-15 M for a one-horse, 12-25 M for a two-horse carriage per diem.

IV. Motoring and Cycling Notes.

MOTOR CARS entering Germany are liable to pay a customs-duty of 150 M, which is returned when the car quits the country. The owner must take out an official permission ('Erlaubniskarte'; up to 30 days 40 M), and the driver's certificate must be countersigned by a German consul. In populous districts and after dark the speed-limit is 9 M. (15 Kil.) per hr.; otherwise there is no limit, but driving to the public danger, whatever the speed, is an offence. Lamps, brakes, and horns are imperative, but foreigners are not required to carry number-plates. For local regulations (which vary) motorists should apply to the police.

Among the best road-maps are those issued by Ravenstein and Liebenow and by Mittelbach (both 1:300,000); the 'Rundfahrkarten in Deutschland', published by Ebhardt & Co. of Berlin, in 16 sheets; and Ravenstein's Führer für Rad- und Automobilfahrer.

CYCLES accompanied by their owners are admitted to Germany without customs formalities, but a charge of 8-10 M is made on crated machines if they look new. Each machine must be provided with a brake, a bell, and a lamp. In most places local riders must have a number-plate attached to their cycles, but through-tourists are exempt from this condition. Some of the narrower and steeper streets in towns and villages are apt to be closed to the cyclist, and restrictions are often made on the use of the wheel in public parks. On the other hand there are often in the environs of larger towns special cyclist roads ('Radfahrwege') closed to any other traffic. The police have the right to demand the exhibition of the cyclist's club-ticket or passport. The rule of the road is to keep to the right in meeting, and to pass on the left in overtaking. Led horses must be met and passed on the side on which the man in charge is.

Unrated cycles, accompanied by their owners, are given in charge of the baggage-master like ordinary luggage. On distances up to 100 kilometres (62 M.), however, the rider may take a bicycle-ticket ('Fahrradkarte') at the lower rate of 20 pf.; he must then himself take his wheel to and from the baggage-car, after having attached to it the cycle-ticket (without the coupon), and must also transfer it from one train to the other, if carriages are changed en route. Motor-cycles, however, must pay the luggage-rate.

V. Hotels.

The first-class hotels in the principal towns and watering-places throughout Germany are generally good and somewhat expensive; but it sometimes happens that in old-fashioned hotels of unassuming exterior, particularly in places off the beaten track, the traveller finds more real comfort and much lower charges.

The average charges in the first-class hotels are as follows: room (including light and attendance) 3-5 M., plain breakfast 1-1½ M., dinner 3-5 M., pension (i.e. board, lodging, and attendance) 7-10 M. In some of the most luxurious houses and for extra accommodation, the charges are considerably higher. When not otherwise indicated, R. (room) is used in this Handbook to include light and attendance. — Small gratuities are expected by the portier, boots ('Hausknecht'), chambermaid, and head-waiter ('Oberkellner'). The total amount of these may be reckoned at about 10 per cent of the bill.

When the traveller remains for a week or more at a hotel, it is advisable to call for his account every two or three days, in order that erroneous insertions may be at once detected. A habit too often prevails of presenting the bill at the last moment, when errors or wilful impositions must be submitted to for want of time to investigate them. Those who intend starting early in the morning will therefore do well to ask for their bills on the previous evening.

Pedestrians and travellers of moderate requirements will find the country inns in Southern Germany very reasonable, 5-6s. a day being generally sufficient to include every item.

Hotel-keepers who wish to commend their houses to British and American travellers are reminded of the desirability of providing the bedrooms with large basins, foot-baths, plenty of water, and an adequate supply of towels. Great care should be taken to ensure that the sanitary arrangements are in proper order, including a strong flush of water and proper toilette-paper; and no house that is deficient in this respect can rank as first-class or receive a star of commendation, whatever may be its excellencies in other departments.

English travellers often impose considerable trouble by ordering things almost unknown in German usage; and if ignorance of the language be added to want of conformity to the customs, misunderstandings and disputes are apt to ensue. The reader is therefore recommended to endeavour to adapt his requirements to the habits of the country, and to acquire if possible such a moderate proficiency in the language as to render him intelligible to the servants.

VI. Post, Telegraph, and Telephone Offices.

Postal Rates. Ordinary Letters within Germany and Austria-Hungary, 10 pf. per 20 grammes (⅔ oz.), prepaid; for foreign countries 20 pf. (for the United States 10 pf., if sent by direct steamer).

Registered Letters 20 pf. extra. — Post Cards 5 pf., for abroad 10 pf. Reply post-cards 10, for abroad 20 pf. — Printed Papers (Drucksachen), up to 50 gr. 3 pf., to 100 gr. 5 pf., to 250 gr. 10 pf.; for abroad 5 pf. per 50 grammes ($1\frac{3}{4}$ oz.). — Bavarian postage-stamps are not available for letters posted in other parts of Germany.

Post Office Orders (Postanweisungen) within Germany, not exceeding 5 M, 10 pf.; 100 M, 20 pf.; 200 M, 30 pf.; 400 M, 40 pf.; 600 M, 50 pf.; 800 M, 60 pf.; for Austria-Hungary, 10 pf. per 20 M (minimum 20 pf.). The charges for post-office orders for foreign countries vary, and may be learned on application at any post-office (for the United Kingdom 20 pf. per 20 M, for the United States 20 pf. per 40 M).

Telegrams. The minimum charge for a telegram to Great Britain or Ireland is 80 pf., to any other European country 50 pf., subject to which conditions telegrams are charged at the following rates per word: Germany, Austria-Hungary, and Luxembourg 5 pf.; Belgium, Denmark, Holland, and Switzerland 10 pf.; France 12 pf.; Great Britain, Italy, Norway, Roumania, and Sweden 15 pf.; Greece 30 pf.; Turkey 45 pf.; other European countries 20 pf. Telegrams to the United States cost from 1 M 5 to 1 M 60 pf. per word. — Telegrams despatched and received within the same town are charged 3 pf. per word (minimum 30 pf.). — Urgent telegrams, marked D (i.e. dringend), taking precedence of all others, pay thrice the above tariff.

Telephones. The urban service costs 10-20 pf. per 3 min., the inter-urban service from 20 pf. to 2 M.

South German Art.

A Historical Sketch by Professor Anton Springer.

It is neither the function nor the intention of the following sketch to divert the traveller's attention from the beauties of nature and to direct it instead to the study of art. But the great cities of Southern Germany, whether they be the express object of the traveller's journey or his temporary resting-places on his way elsewhere, cannot fail of themselves to inspire him with some interest in the art both of the present and of the past; while at numerous other points his glance is arrested and his attention excited by ancient or modern monuments of art. Interest in such things has widened and deepened to a surprising extent within recent times. A few decades ago old-fashioned German furniture was ignored, and German buildings of the 16th and 17th centuries were for the most part passed with a contemptuous shrug. Now the 'German Renaissance' is a theme of admiration and an object for eager imitation. Then only a few mediæval cathedrals received the meed of general admiration or passed muster as true works of artistic genius, while the overwhelming majority of mediæval works remained unknown and unregarded. Now hardly anyone is either wholly indifferent to or wholly ignorant of the development of art in the middle ages. The cultivation of the historic sense has largely affected the æsthetic attitude in this direction, swelling the aggregate of artistic interest and bringing the more remote periods within the limits of intelligent comprehension. It is the object of the following lines to support and extend this historic sense.

The civilization and art of Southern Germany reach back to a very early period; they antedate by a thousand years the entrance of the North German lands into the light of authentic history. Numerous excavations have yielded traces of an early intercourse with Italy, carried on to some extent before the Christian era; and not less numerous traces have been found of the Roman settlements that were established along the great trade-routes and waterways, though these Roman discoveries are far inferior both in extent and importance to those in the valley of the Moselle and elsewhere on the left bank of the Rhine. The Roman remains at Trèves appeal to the imagination of the ordinary traveller, while the Roman remains in Noricum and Rhætia arrest the attention of the archæologist only. Christianity early made its way into Southern Germany (St. Severinus; 5th cent.), and Frank and Irish missionaries reaped a rich harvest. Convent after convent was founded; and there is probably no other district where monastic establishments were so thickly planted about the close of the 10th cent., as the banks of the Danube and at the foot of the Alps. Most of these preserved their celebrity and their wealth almost down to the nineteenth century, though their importance as art-monuments has in many instances disappeared with the substitution of new buildings for old ones. No considerable art-monuments have come down to us even from the Carolingian period, which saw the beginning of Ratisbon's importance, except in the domains of the goldsmith's craft and miniature-painting. The Reiche Kapelle at Munich contains the finest specimens of the former, the libraries at Munich and Vienna of the latter.

The unbroken chain of artistic activity begins for us about the 10th century. The art-style which prevailed from the 10th to the 13th cent. is generally known as the ROMANESQUE. Its characteristics find their most distinct expression in ecclesiastical architecture. The plan of the Romanesque church was suggested by the Roman basilica of early-Christian times, the essence of which consisted in an oblong hall, divided into three aisles by two rows of columns. At one end of the basilica was a semicircular vaulted recess, known as the Apsis; at the other end was a fore-court (Atrium), enclosed by a portico. Occasionally a transept was interposed between the three-aisled nave and the apse, and thus the whole building gradually assumed the clearly marked form of a cross. In the course of centuries and in different countries this early-Christian nucleus underwent numerous modifications, some due to the use of new building materials, some to peculiarities of national customs, but most to the at first slowly growing improvement in technical skill. It is apparent from the earliest Romanesque edifices, that their builders had difficulty in rising to the demands of their task, and that they had but scanty notions of measure and proportion. Romanesque architecture did not attain an artistic perfection until the 12th century.

It is not difficult to identify a Romanesque building and at the same time to decide with some certainty whether it belongs to the earlier or later period (i.e. 11th or 12th cent.). The characteristic forms of the Romanesque style are everywhere essentially the same. The round arch is used to unite the interior pillars or columns, to finish off windows and portals, and to form a continuous frieze on the exterior wall; the columns have either cubical capitals or foliage-capitals modelled on the antique; the ornamentation is predominantly either in the geometric style (lozenges; zigzags; checker-work) or of conventionalized foliage. In the earlier churches vaulting is used only for the crypt, the burial vaults, and the apse, while the nave has a flat roof; but by the 12th cent. we find the vault-principle triumphant, while the supporting pillars are also more richly articulated. At the foot of the columns appears the base-ornament, uniting the plinth with the torus of the base.

Though it is thus easy to recognize the general Romanesque character of a building, there are no sufficiently distinctive peculiarities to differentiate the style prevailing in Southern Germany from that prevailing elsewhere. Even when we confine ourselves to narrower limits and enquire whether the Romanesque buildings in Southern Germany could be classified into Alemannic, Swabian, Bavarian, and Austrian groups, we arrive at no satisfactory result. All that we can say is that columns are frequently used to support the upper walls (this form being known as the columnar basilica) and that there is a frequent tendency towards a richly decorative, and even fantastic arrangement of the interior fittings. No traveller in the neighbourhood of the Lake of Constance should omit to visit the three churches on the island of Reichenau (p. 79); that at Oberzell, a small columnar basilica, dates back to the 10th cent., while the larger church at Mittelzell is probably one of the oldest pillar-basilicas in the district. The church of the former Benedictine abbey of Alpirsbach (p. 59) in the Kinzig-Tal, founded in the 11th cent., surprises us by its stately proportions and the perspicuous development of the ground-plan; while another Swabian church, at Maulbronn (p. 17), is an excellent specimen of a large mediæval conventual edifice. Ratisbon (p. 185) is rich in Romanesque buildings, including St. Stephen's Chapel, the Obermünster, the Schotten-Kirche, and the church of St. Emmeram. Several of these have been sadly disfigured by later decorations; and, indeed, the true Romanesque nucleus of many churches can only with difficulty be disentangled from later alterations. The meaning of the chaotic plastic embellishments on the portal of the Schotten-Kirche will probably excite the curiosity of the ordinary traveller even less than the sculptures in the spacious crypt of Freising Cathedral (p. 214), which are, at any rate, decorative in their general effect.

The churches above mentioned, some of which lie quite off the main lines of communication, appeal on the whole mainly to the professional archæologist or architect. There is, however, at least one Romanesque church in Southern Germany which will excite the warm admiration of the tourist and yield him unqualified delight — viz. the Cathedral of Bamberg (p. 134). The plan of this church includes a nave and aisles, an elevated choir at each end with a crypt below, and a transept between the W. choir and the nave. In comparison with other buildings in the same style it takes a preëminent place by its imposing dimensions, by its spacious, airy, and harmonious proportions, by the elaborate ornamentation of its portals (Fürstentür), and by the number and variety of its towers. The occurrence of the pointed arch must not mislead the visitor into the error of taking it as a sign of the admixture of Gothic elements. The Gothic style is not characterized by the pointed arch, which was also used in earlier times, but by its system of buttresses to counteract the thrust of the vaulting, by its abundant use of articulation, and by the rich ornamentation applied to wall-surfaces and other non-constructive portions of the building.

The early-Gothic period is but scantily represented in Southern Germany, and it is not till the second half of the 13th century that the GOthic style appears here in a developed and victorious form, while the building activity of the two following centuries brought it to a pitch of great perfection. The number of Gothic edifices on South German soil is very large, and the variety they show is very remarkable. An imposing series of cathedrals, accompanied by at least as many parochial city-churches and conventual churches, extends all the way from Alsace to the borders of Hungary. The Cathedral of Freiburg (see Baedeker's Rhine) may be coupled with Strassburg Cathedral as among the finest structures of its class, if not in unity of style, yet by the completeness of its execution and by its imposing tower and airy pyramid of perforated masonry. With the exception of Prague Cathedral, the choir of which shows the influence of French models, the South German cathedrals testify to considerable independence on the part of their architects. The French masters were probably not unknown to these, but they did not allow themselves to be dominated by foreign ideas. The Cathedral of Ratisbon (p. 187), begun in 1275 and completed after a long interval in the 19th cent., shows neither the marked development of the transept nor the rich elaboration of the choir which were customary in the cathedrals of Western Europe. The transept does not project beyond the aisles, and the nave and aisles each end in a separate apse instead of the aisles extending in the form of an ambulatory round the choir. Another peculiarity in German cathedrals is that the nave and aisles are occasionally of the same height — a peculiarity found nowhere else in cathedral-architecture, the beginning and early development of which must be attributed to the architects of Northern France. Thus the choir of the Cathedral of St. Stephen, at Vienna, a work of the 14th century, has its nave and aisles of the same height, while the main nave of the church, of a little later date, is but slightly higher than the aisles and is united under the same roof with them. The Minster of Ulm (p. 43) is only a parish-church, and thus lacks the extensive choir necessary for the numerous clergy of a cathedral, while it has only one tower on the façade; the ambition of the citizens, however, made it one of the largest and loftiest Gothic churches in Germany, and it ranks worthily with the cathedrals of Freiburg, Ratisbon, and Vienna.

The number of the notable Gothic churches in Southern Germany is by no means exhausted by the foregoing list of cathedrals and minsters. The towns of Swabia were marked by great zeal and activity in building during the later middle ages. In the Liebfrauen-Kirche Esslingen (p. 39) possesses a masterpiece, which, though of small dimensions, is rich in ornamentation of every kind, culminating in the graceful open-work tower. Similar small towers of open-work are found at Bebenhausen, near Tübingen, at Thann, in Alsace, and at Maria-Strassengel, in Styria. Among the other fine Gothic churches of Swabia are the minster of Ueberlingen, on the Lake of Constance (p. 84), the church of Gmünd (p. 36), the chief church of Nördlingen (p. 176), the church of St. George at Dinkelsbühl (p. 177), and the abbey-church of Tübingen (p. 50). The churches of Nuremberg (p. 149) form a well-known group; the impression produced by the choir and richly decorated bridal door of St. Sebaldus and by the façade of St. Lawrence is a very striking one. The small importance attached to tradition even in the 14th century is illustrated by the way in which the façade of the Frauen-Kirche (p. 156) differs from earlier ecclesiastical fronts. In Bavaria our attention and interest are excited mainly by a few huge brick edifices, like the Frauen-Kirche at Munich (p. 227) and St. Martin's Church at Landshut (p. 212), which served as the model of a whole series of churches. The Gothic style was also sedulously cultivated in Bohemia from the time of Charles IV. onwards. In Prague there are the Cathedral, the Teyn-kirche, and the Synagogue, while the bold vaulting of the Karlshof Church also excites the interest of the architect; and there are other handsome edifices, some of which recall the earlier cathedral-style, in such provincial towns as Kolin, Kuttentberg, Pilsen, and Eger.

Towards Italy the limits of the spread of the Gothic style is marked by the parish-church of Botzen, towards the East by the church of St. Elizabeth at Kaschau. Few of the parochial and monastic churches of the towns are remarkable for their structural forms, which are generally of great simplicity, while the original kernel is often wholly lost amid alterations and additions. The richness and artistic merit of the decoration of their individual parts is, however, perhaps all the more striking on this account. The architect is thrown into the shade by the sculptor and the stone-carver. The mouldings on the walls, the tracery of the windows, the details of the buttresses, and the carvings of the doorways are all executed with the most admirable care and in the richest and most delicate manner, while the interior of the church is filled with works of art in metal, stone, and wood.

SCULPTURE and PAINTING both find a favourable soil in Southern Germany in the 15th century. The former, in particular, is indebted for its solid foundation and its admirable command of technical skill to its diligent practitioners of the Gothic period. It thus does not break abruptly with tradition, but gradually fits the new realistic features into the frame-work of the old forms. For centuries the tasks of the sculptor remain the same; he has to chisel tombstones of stone, to carve altars in wood, to cast fonts in metal. The application of metal to monumental works is of comparatively late introduction; hence in this sphere the deviation from the mediæval style is most striking, while in works of marble, stone, and wood suggestions of Gothic art may be traced even in the 16th century. Sculptures in stone and wood continue to be decidedly the most popular branches of art. Wood-carving was diligently practised from the earliest times in such Alpine districts as Ammergau, while the wood-carvers of the great towns of Southern Germany also found ample employment in the preparation of large altars, choir-stalls, and the like. The sculptures on the altars were usually painted. This polychrome decoration was rendered necessary, partly by the nature of the material, which possessed no rich colouring of its own, and partly by the immediate neighbourhood of the pictures, which were generally added as wings to the carved centre of the altar. Altars of this kind may be studied either in museums (Bavarian National Museum at Munich, Germanic Museum at Nuremberg), or in their original positions at Rotenburg, Blaubeuren, Gmünd, St. Wolfgang, and many other places. A few of their artists are still known by name. The two most important are Jörg Syrlin, first heard of in 1458 and the creator of the choir-stalls of the Minster of Ulm, and Veit Stoss (ca. 1450-1533), who is known to us by his works in Nuremberg, produced almost wholly towards the close of a long life. Ulm and Nuremberg, and next to them Augsburg, are the chief centres of South German art in the 15th and 16th centuries. But this by no means implies that the other free towns of the empire neglected the pursuit of art. On the contrary, local research is constantly adding new names to the artistic roll of honour. It is, however, only in the three towns named that we find anything like schools of art or an artistic activity of more than local interest. The chief painter at Ulm was Bartholomäus Zeitblom, the son-in-law of the venerable Hans Schühlein or Schülin. He flourished in 1484-1517, and his works, which may be seen in the galleries of Stuttgart and Augsburg and in the Pinakothek of Munich, are distinguished by the clearness and vigour of their colouring, though the drawing is hard and the types of his heads unpleasing and deficient in variety. Of his pictures, as of early-German paintings in general, it may be asserted that the colouring is their strongest point, even though lacking in a delicate graduation of tone. They also succeed better with individual figures and quiet groups than with dramatic situations, the representation of which often led to exaggerated effects and the admixture of coarsely realistic traits.

The Augsburg school is best represented by Hans Burgkmair (1473-1531), a master gifted with a fine sense for landscape beauty, and by Holbein the Elder (ca. 1460-1524). The latter in especial, now that a number of works formerly ascribed to his son have been accredited to him, ranks among the most interesting of early-German painters. His professional activity may be traced from the last decade of the 15th century onwards. For a considerable time his personal gifts do not help him to transcend the limits of the prevailing style. Even his Madonnas and women are lacking in charm; in emotional scenes, such as the Passion, a tendency to the coarse and common is apparent. (This early manner of the painter is best studied at the Augsburg gallery.) It was not till towards the end of his career — and so far we have not material enough to trace the intermediate development — that the elder Holbein produced in the Altar of St. Sebastian (Munich Pinakothek) a work that placed him far above all his contemporaries. He has learned to use the new graces borrowed from Italy, he endues his women's heads with elegance and charm, he models the nude with surprising accuracy, he exhibits a vigorous realism restrained within due bounds. With the completion of this work in 1516 he disappears from the scene; and the only later information that we possess about him is the news of his death, probably at Isenheim, in Alsace. The works of his son Hans Holbein the Younger (1497-1543) cannot be effectively studied except at Bâle, to which he migrated at an early age, and in England, where he spent the latter part of his life. The South German galleries, however, contain a few fine examples of his talent. Thus, at Darmstadt is the Madonna of Burgomaster Meyer, the original of the celebrated picture at Dresden; and at Vienna are two fine portraits of women.

The picture presented by the old, art-loving city of Nuremberg is one that takes by storm the fancy of all. Poets and romance-writers have celebrated the life and activity of the town in trade and industry, science and art; the popular fancy, always extreme in its love or hate, has indeed exaggerated its importance as the beau idéal of a mediæval city. As a matter of fact its artistic activity began at the close of the mediæval period, and it was in the 16th century that it reached its zenith. The Nuremberg artists are known far and wide. The names of Michael Wohlgemut, Veit Stoss, and Adam Kraft, and still more those of Albrecht Dürer and Peter Vischer, are significant even to those who know nothing more of early-German art. Wohlgemut (1434-1519), generally passes as the type of the respectable and conscientious painter, who practises his art with honest simplicity. Adam Kraft, the stone-cutter (ca. 1450-1509), whose work may be thoroughly studied in his native city, also stands to some extent on the footing of the handicraftsman and follows the tracks of the old tradition. His religious representations (such as the Schreyer Tomb on the outside of St. Sebald's, and the Seven Stations on the way to the Cemetery of St. John, the originals of which are now in the Germanic Museum) show the regular 15th century mixture of pictorial and plastic elements in the composition, and the usual realistic hardness in the individual figures and in the drapery. A few of the heads only (such as those of the Dead Christ and of the Virgin in the relief of the Seventh Station) are permeated by a finer, personal feeling. He shows himself at his highest degree of freedom from the traditional limitations in the fresh and true relief on the Stadtwage (p. 160) and in the three small and lifelike statuettes that adorn the large late-Gothic ciborium in the church of St. Lawrence. Kraft's works are superior to most of the productions of the other Nuremberg sculptors and their congeners, even to those of the diligent Tilman Riemenschneider (d. 1531) of Würzburg, whose masterpiece is in Bamberg Cathedral (p. 135). Nuremberg also possesses at least the masterpiece of Peter Vischer (ca. 1455-1529), the celebrated bronze-founder (St. Sebald's Monument). The architectural frame-work enshrining the silver coffin of the saint still shows traces of the conflict between Gothic and Renaissance forms. The small figures of children, Prophets, and Apostles, on the other hand, are creations of a free play of fancy, aiming not merely at truth to nature but also at grace and charm or at dignified and measured seriousness. Peter Vischer was afterwards joined in his foundry by his sons; but Nuremberg does not afford adequate examples of his later development or of the ever stronger infusion of the Italian Renaissance in the native style. The Little Goose Man of Pancratz Labenwolf (1492-1563) is an almost solitary instance of the continued lifelike conception of nature coupled with freshness and naïveté. A visit to Nuremberg is still less satisfactory for a full appreciation of Albrecht Dürer (1471-1528), the greatest of German painters, though the imagination cannot but be pleasantly stimulated by lingering on the spot where he lived and worked. In order to form an adequate judgment of this many-sided master, remarkable alike for the profundity and the richness of his artistic conceptions, we must study not only his wood-cuts and engravings, but also his drawings. The best collection of these last is found in the Albertina at Vienna, a visit to which will intensely interest the serious student of art. The drawings also afford the only means of uninterruptedly tracing Dürer's artistic evolution from his early boyish efforts to the products of his closing years. This cannot be said of his paintings, which are distributed very unequally among the different periods of his life. It is really only twice in his career that his activity in painting is so great as to form the main ground of our judgment of him; the first of these periods was during and immediately after his visit to Venice (1505-07), the second was at the end of his life, after his journey to the Netherlands (1520-21). From the Venetians he borrowed certain details of composition and learned the secret of his clear, warm, vigorous, and harmonious colouring; in the evening of his days he reached a complete plastic command of the pithy power of characterization visible in all his figures. The South German galleries still contain the most important products of his art. Munich possesses the Paumgärtner Altar, one of his earliest pictures; the portrait of himself, unfortunately retouched, and probably painted somewhat later than the date (1500) on the work itself; and, finally, his masterpiece, the double-panels known as the Four Temperaments (p. 252), with the heads of SS. Peter and John, SS. Paul and Mark. In this work he has, in allusion to the religious disorders of his environment, created four permanent types of Christian character, the corner-stones of the Reform movement; he has given pure and lifelike artistic form to the testing and the defence of truth. Of the numerous Dürer treasures once preserved in Nuremberg but few remain. The portrait of Hieronymus Holzschuher (1526), the most perfect portrait we possess from Dürer's hand, formerly in the Germanic Museum, is now at Berlin.

The South German galleries afford abundant opportunity for a study of the painters who were grouped round Dürer and to some extent influenced by him, such as Hans von Kulmbach (d. 1522), Hans Schüpflein (d. 1540), Georg Penz (d. 1550), Hans Sebald Beham (d. 1550), Barthel Beham (1502-40), Alb. Altdorfer (d. 1538), and Hans Baldung Grien (d. 1545). Numerous specimens of these masters will be found in the Pinakothek and the Germanic Museum at Munich, and in the galleries of Donaueschingen and Sigmaringen. Those who have not the leisure or the inclination to study their religious and historical pictures should at least spare a glance for their efforts in portraiture. In this field these masters show to the best advantage their fresh and vigorous observation of nature, unhampered by the prevalent custom of obscuring the main subject by a multiplicity of detail, or by the attempt to create ideal forms without the requisite powers.

A revolution in artistic tendencies is already obvious among the masters last named. The traditional style no longer sufficed. The knowledge of Italian art, fostered by the custom, which grew up towards the end of the 15th century, of the visiting of Italy by northern artists, broke through the old barriers and encouraged the imitation of the new models. This Italian influence, however, did not bring any very desirable fruit to maturity. The German masters, like those of the Netherlands, remained essentially Northerners; they studied Italian art but could not assimilate the Italian nature. Though the Italian painters did homage to the ideal in their works, they never disguised their nationality. Even their most idealized creations reveal a direct life which smacks of the soil and the atmosphere. Foreigners could not inspire their paintings with this national trait, and thus, in spite of their personal talents, never advanced beyond the out-works of the Italian style. The race of artists that flourished in the second half of the 16th century stamped the Italian manner still more strongly on their works, aided and abetted in this by the gradual change in the patronage of art. While the earlier form of art was most at home in middle-class circles, various princely patrons of art, such as the Emp. Rudolph II. and the Dukes of Bavaria, now step into the foreground. Wood-cuts still remained popular and were widely circulated in the homes of the people; engravings were chiefly sought as patterns for the metal-worker and other artistic handicraftsmen; but painting now solicited the favour of the art-loving courts. In these Italian art, like Italian culture generally, was strongly in the ascendant. Italian artists and Italian works of art began to migrate across the Alps; and thus the native artists, already attracted by the forms of the Renaissance, received a new inducement to perfect themselves in the schools of Rome, Florence, and Venice. It would be unjust to eliminate entirely from the lists of northern artists the names of the Dutch and German masters who followed this course (such as Bartholomäus Spranger, Christoph Schwarz, Hans von Aachen, and Johann Rottenhammer); and some of them have produced works of considerable value, especially as regards technical qualities. But it remains true that, however great may be our desire to make 'historical rescues' by emphasizing their merits, it certainly has not yet gone far enough to induce us to profess unqualified pleasure in the works of these mannerists. Those who take an interest in the subject will find innumerable examples of their art in Vienna and in other Austrian galleries.

The corresponding movement in architecture and the decorative arts has, on the other hand, become of late astonishingly popular. Even the layman now shows lively interest in the once unregarded and despised buildings of the GERMAN RENAISSANCE, and considers an inspection of them a worthy object for a tour. The name German Renaissance of itself indicates the double root from which the style springs. The German Renaissance could not have come into being without a knowledge of the architecture which became predominant in Italy through the revived interest in the antique in the 15th century. It borrowed from it the columnar orders, the pilasters, the varieties of cornice, innumerable ornamental motives, and many other details. It seldom, however, sank to a slavish imitation of its Italian models, but remained faithful in many points to its native traditions and tried to combine these harmoniously with the new forms. It is true that the Gothic tracery, mullions, mouldings, and geometrical patterns had to be given up, and that the pointed arch lost its importance. In the constructive parts, however, in the articulation and ground-plan old usages still generally held their ground. The genesis of the German Renaissance is also the best explanation of it. Even in the early years of the 16th century the German painters and engravers had begun to use the graceful schemes of foliage and branches that were characteristic of the Renaissance ornamentation of Italy; and a knowledge of the different orders of architecture, the rules of which were sought in Vitruvius, also quickly penetrated to the N. side of the Alps. The masters of decorative sculpture were the next to adapt themselves to the new Italian style, which we meet on tomb-stones, screens, fountains, and works in wood and metal. Its latest conquest was in the sphere of architecture, where it at first appears only in the ornamental parts such as doors, windows, and the articulation of wall-surfaces. If the builder wished the work to be erected in a pure Italian style, he had to send for an Italian architect; and many Italians crossed the Alps and made plans, which they left to be executed by native workmen. The traces of this intercourse are distinctly recognizable in the German buildings. It was in the sphere of the handicraftsman that the new movement and the artistic advance found their greatest strength; no wonder that the forms here created attained a universal application and were adopted also by architecture and the monumental arts. As a matter of fact we meet numerous suggestions of metal-work in architectural ornamentation. The lower parts of the shafts of columns appear as if adorned with mountings of metal; in other cases hammered iron-work is imitated or the stone is treated as if it were a soft and elastic material. The lofty gable is a distinct reminiscence of the mediæval house, while the Italian Renaissance is practically destitute of roof-structures; the richly decorated balcony or oriel is also a northern peculiarity. The manner in which the German Renaissance came into existence explains the want of a uniform type or a normal style. It assumes a different character in each different district. The Renaissance in Northern Germany, so brilliantly developed in timber and brick architecture, differs widely from the Renaissance in Southern Germany, where the greater proximity of Italy exercised a stronger influence. This is especially marked in such imposing ecclesiastical edifices as St. Michael's in Munich (p. 226). These buildings, erected under the influence of the order of the Jesuits, bear the stamp impressed by the Jesuits on their buildings in all countries. But the secular buildings also show the influence of the neighbourhood of Italy and of the Italian culture predominant in courts and in aristocratic circles generally. Some buildings are German only through the soil on which they stand, while in style they belong exclusively to the Italian Renaissance; of this number are the Belvedere of Emperor Ferdinand I. at Prague and the so-called Fugger Bath Rooms at Augsburg (p. 183).

The preference for the Italian style is revealed more strongly in the châteaux of the noblesse than in the private buildings of the towns, the free towns of the empire clinging especially to the older traditions. Southern Germany contains a stately series of châteaux, which, in giving up the character of castles and assuming that of palaces, illustrate in the most signal manner the difference between the Middle Ages and the Renaissance. At the head of these stands the Otto-Heinrichs-Bau at Heidelberg (see Baedeker's Rhine), the gem of German castle-architecture, which is remarkable for its harmonious proportions and architectonic articulation and still more for its rich and well thought-out plastic decoration. When the Friedrichsbau was taken in hand about forty years later (1601), the native workmen had already become entirely accustomed to the new style. The ornamentation of the younger building shows clear traces of its Germanic origin. Few of the other princely châteaux can at all compare with that of Heidelberg. The Schloss of Tübingen (p. 51) still suggests the old style of castle-building, while the fresh and somewhat coarse strength of the Renaissance is most strikingly illustrated in the portals. In the Old Palace of Stuttgart (p. 5), the most attractive part is the inner court, with its arcades; but our fancy must lend the colours for a picture of the fitting-up of the now somewhat neglected state-rooms. The constantly increasing power of the Bavarian dukes is mirrored in the magnificence of their Palace at Munich (p. 234).

It was not always possible to proceed according to a uniform plan. The famous Castle of Landshut (p. 212), for instance, is wholly irregular in plan and shows clear traces of the different periods in which it was built. The decoration of the rooms is mainly entrusted to the painter, — a fact that alone shows the growth of Italian influence. The same tendency is seen more clearly in the New Palace of Landshut (p. 212), the court of which is articulated and decorated exactly in the taste of Italian palaces. A building of great interest is the Old Palace of Munich, erected by Elector Maximilian in 1598-1616, planned on an extensive scale, and elaborately adorned with plastic and pictorial ornamentation (the latter now sadly faded). The group of buildings at Prague is, perhaps, the most interesting of the kind on Austrian soil. The new style established itself in the Bohemian capital at an astonishingly early date and maintained itself in comparative purity down to the 17th century. The large loggia on the garden-side of the Wallenstein Palace is the final link of a chain of building activity extending across the whole of Bohemia. In order to give an adequate idea of the German Renaissance, it would be necessary to attempt a full enumeration of the individual buildings, for not only every district, but often each monument in each district, shows peculiarities, the study of which reveals the wealth of Renaissance art.

The lover of the Renaissance is advised not to confine his wanderings to the great cities and the chief lines of communication. The keen eye will discover interesting buildings in almost every parish. Thus the towns and villages of Tyrol contain many examples of the Renaissance. A similar remark may be made about many other buildings, not merely with regard to châteaux and manor-houses but also, and in a still higher degree, with regard to the residences of the ordinary citizen. In most cases, indeed, it will be the bare architecture alone that the connoisseur will have a chance to enjoy; the interior fittings, which add so much to the charm of a Renaissance house and contribute not a little to its comprehension, have invariably disappeared — perhaps to satisfy the recent craving of museums and collectors. The contents of the older industrial museums were mainly drawn from the treasures of the princely collections that came into vogue in the 16th century. The predominant objects were works of the goldsmith and furniture of costly woods, inlaid with ivory and metal. The equipment of the private house of the Renaissance period was, naturally, much more simple. The panelling of the walls found a counterpart in the well-carved cabinets and coffers; the metal utensils were often made of brass, the general appearance of which harmonized admirably with the wooden fittings; the coarse nature of the pottery was disguised by colour, plastic ornamentation, and variety of form. Where the original furnishing is still in place, the eye will easily recognize the perfect harmony subsisting between the interior fittings and the architectural plan, and will see how the house has, as it were, grown from within outwards. A mere sight of the façades is not enough, especially when the Renaissance houses occur sporadically among modern edifices. A better idea is gained from rows of houses, streets, or squares not yet invaded by the modern builder. Nuremberg formerly stood unquestionably at the head of all German Renaissance towns. A number of patrician houses of the 16th and the beginning of the 17th century can, it is true, still be cited; but the general appearance of the town has begun to alter. On the other hand Rotenburg ob der Tauber (p. 199), with its Rathaus, towers, fountains, and well-preserved houses, still presents an almost unimpaired picture of a German town of the Renaissance period. Here, as in most of the free towns of the empire, the details of construction and ornamentation borrowed from the native traditions or directly due to the national spirit are seen in great force, while the Italian influence is much slighter than in the case of palaces and châteaux. It is not till the 17th century that the Italian style becomes predominant in municipal architecture, as in the façade of the Nuremberg Rathaus and the splendid interior (Goldner Saal) of the Augsburg Rathaus. Owing, however, to its lively intercourse with Venice, the Italian style found comparatively ready acceptance at Augsburg and had (e.g.) familiarized the Augsburgers with the fashion of painted façades.

The period of the Thirty Years' War sadly interrupted the evolution of German art and broke off many promising shoots from the tree of German culture. Some departments of art did not recover for two centuries; the once so popular work of the wood-carver was forgotten; painting was but scantily cultivated and sank to a greater dependence on foreign models than ever before. From this calamitous period dates the predominance of the foreigner in all matters of taste. The greatest activity took place in Southern Germany and Austria, and here are found many and varied examples of the once despised BAROQUE STYLE. In Italy a decided revolution in architecture had taken place towards the close of the 16th century. While the individual Renaissance forms were retained, a new spirit was apparent in their embodiment and combination. The old and genuine Renaissance style seemed too cold and too simple, and not sufficiently effective. The architectural members were made coarser and more massive, the straight line was replaced by curves, the help of light and shade was appealed to. The façade assumes a curved form; columns are moved towards the front and draw the entire entablature with them; gables and cornices are made to project strongly; the profiles are more accentuated; ornamentation is used to an exaggerated extent, almost obscuring the constructive elements. This baroque style, which is at bottom closely akin to the contemporary mannerism and the increased realism in painting and sculpture, soon found acceptance in Southern Germany. We see it in the numerous churches and convents that were rebuilt with increased magnificence after the close of the Thirty Years' War; and we likewise see it in all its pomp, but also with all its weaknesses, in the numerous palaces built between 1680 and 1740. The Palace of Versailles is imitated in a few cases only (Nymphenburg, Mannheim); the predominant style is the Italian baroque, especially as it had been developed by Borromini. Excellent examples of the baroque style are found in Würzburg, Munich, and especially at Vienna and Prague, where the traveller may go through a complete course in baroque architecture.

Architecture became practically paralysed about the middle of the 18th century in consequence of the wars between Prussia and Austria. On the other hand an attempt was made, without much success, to revive the art of painting by the foundation of academies at Vienna and Stuttgart (Karlschule). At the beginning of the 19th century the young artists of Germany had still to make the pilgrimage to Rome in order to train their eye and taste and to enkindle their imagination before the works of classical and old Italian art. More recent events must be passed over with a word. In the reign of King Lewis I. Munich won a European reputation as a school of art; and after a period of stagnation about the middle of last century it has again reached a position of great importance. Vienna has been specially distinguished for its successes in architecture and sculpture, while Stuttgart and Darmstadt enjoy a well-merited renown in the domain of industrial art.

Stuttgart (892 ft.), the capital of Wurtemberg and headquarters of the 13th German army corps, with 260,000 inhab. (mainly Protestants, and including the suburbs and a garrison of 4700 men), is beautifully situated in a wide valley near the Neckar, and surrounded by vine-clad and wooded hills. It occupies an important position in the book-trade. Its industries are chiefly concentrated in the suburbs of Cannstatt (p. 14) and Unter-Türkheim (p. 38).

The name of Stuttgart first occurs in a charter of 1229; from 1265 onwards it was the favourite residence of the Counts of Wurtemberg; it became the capital of the country in 1482; and at length, in the reigns of Kings Frederick (1797-1816), William I. (1816-64), Charles (1864-91), and William II., it attained its present dimensions and appearance. In the modern revival of Renaissance forms of art, Stuttgart has taken a prominent part through its numerous talented architects.

From the Central Station (Pl. E, 3) we proceed to the left along the Schloss-Strasse to the Schloss-Platz (Pl. E, F, 3, 4), which is adorned with pleasure-grounds and flower-beds, and is enclosed by stately buildings. On the W. side is the chief station of the electric tramways (p. 3). — In the centre of the square rises a Jubilee Column, 98 ft. high, erected in 1841 in honour of King William I., and crowned with a Concordia in bronze, 13 ft. high. The genii at the base of the two neighbouring fountains, representing the rivers of Wurtemberg, are by Kopp. To the N.W. of the column stands the Monument of Duke Christopher (d. 1568), who introduced the Reformation and founded the civil code of the country, by Paul Müller (1889); the pedestal is adorned with reliefs from his life. At the S.W. corner of the square is a Marble Bust of Dannecker (1758-1841), the sculptor, by Curfess (1888).

On the W. side of the Schloss-Platz stands the Königsbau (Pl. E, 3), erected by Leins in a pseudo-classical style in 1857-60 (café, see p. 2). Adjoining the Königsbau on the S. is the Kronprinzen-Palais, in a Roman style (1846-49). — On the N. side of the square is the Königin-Olga-Bau (Pl. F, 3), erected in 1893-95 (café, see p. 2). Adjacent is the site of the Royal Theatre, which was burned down in 1902; a little to the E. is the Interims-Theater (temporary theatre; p. 3). Here also is the main entrance to the Palace Grounds (Anlagen; p. 10). The new Royal Theatre is to be erected on the site of the Botanic Garden (p. 10).

The Royal Palace (Residenz-Schloss; Pl. F, 4), on the E. side of the square, built in 1746-1807 and now seldom occupied by the king, consists of a central building, adorned with a gilded crown, and of two wings. The hall, the staircase, and the 'marble', the 'blue', the 'white', and the 'dining' rooms are best worth seeing (adm., see p. 4; entrance in the S.W. wing).

The groundfloor and first floor contain a series of large frescoes by Gegenbaur (d. 1876), executed in 1837-41, chiefly from the history of Count Eberhard im Bart (see below). There are numerous pictures. Sculptures: Dannecker, Bacchus, Venus. Then china from the factories of Ludwigsburg and Meissen, Sèvres porcelain presented by Napoleon I., Pompeian antiquies, etc. A collection of 505 majolica vases of the 16th cent. (from Faenza and Urbino), purchased at Venice in the 18th cent. by Duke Charles Eugene, is not usually shown to visitors.

The Old Palace (Alte Schloss; Pl. E, F, 4), on the S. side of the Schloss-Platz, erected by Duke Christopher in 1553-78, forms an irregular quadrangle, with round towers at three corners and a *Court surrounded on three sides by triple arcades. A winding inclined plane leads to the second floor of the E. tower, containing the National Military Museum (adm., see p. 4.) On the S. side is the Chapel, the vaults of which (adm. on Sun., Tues. & Frid. 11-12; 25 pf.) contain several royal sarcophagi. In the court rises the equestrian Statue of Count Eberhard im Bart (d. 1496), who was created a duke by Emp. Max I., by Hofer (1859).

To the E. of the Old Palace is the Monument of Emperor William I., by Rümman (1898). — To the right of the Old Palace are the old Kanzlei, with an elegant corner-tower, and the Prinzenbau. In the Alte Schloss-Platz, to the W. of the Palace, rises a bronze Statue of Schiller (Pl. E, 4), designed by Thorvaldsen (1839).

From the Schloss-Platz we proceed to the S.W. along the KÖNIG-STRASSE (Pl. E, 4; p. 12), the chief business-street of the city. The Stift-Strasse, the first turning on the E., contains quaint old houses, including the old Rapp House (second to the left), with a memorial tablet to Goethe and Schiller.

The Protestant Stifts-Kirche (Pl. E, 4; bell at the S. portal; sacristan, Stift-Str. 7), with its two towers, founded in the 12th cent., was rebuilt in the late-Gothic style in 1436-95. The early-Gothic choir dates from 1327-47. Reliefs on the S. portal (1494): Christ bearing the Cross, Christ and the Apostles.

The interior contains Stained Glass of 1848-51, from drawings by Neher. By the N. wall of the choir, eleven Stone Figures of Counts of Wurtemberg, dating from the close of the 16th century. The chapel to the left of the choir (Urban-Kapelle) contains the painted stone monument of Count Wolfgang von Hohenlohe (d. 1575) and sculptures from the former rood-screen (end of 15th cent.). Adjacent, at the end of the N. aisle, is an old votive relief in stone, representing Christ (above), and the Wise and Foolish Virgins (below). Gothic pulpit in stone, of the beginning of the 16th cent., with reliefs, disfigured by bronzing. Near the S. door is the handsome marble monument to Dr. Vergenhans (d. 1513), Dean of Stuttgart.

To the S. is the Kirch-Strasse, leading to the MARKET PLACE (Pl. E, 4), the centre of old Stuttgart, with a few patrician dwelling-houses of the 16th cent. (e. g. No. 4) and the Town Hall, completed in the late-Gothic style in 1905 (open 1-3, Sun. and holidays 11-1, fee 20 pf.; closed on Thurs.; Rathauskeller, see p. 3). — The Markt-Strasse leads to the S.E. to the St. Leonhards-Platz, with the late-Gothic church of St. Leonhard (Pl. F, 5; 1470-74). The 'Calvary' outside the choir is a reproduction of an original of 1501, now preserved in the Hospital Church (p. 12). The Wächter-Brunnen, close by, is by Fremd (1900). — To the S.E., in the Olga-Strasse, is the English Church (Pl. F, 5), built by Wagner (services, see p. 4).

From St. Leonhard's Church the Esslinger-Strasse leads to the N. to the Charlotten-Platz. Here begins the NECKAR-STRASSE, through which runs the tramway to Berg and Cannstatt (p. 13). On the right is the Palace of King William II. (Pl. F, 4), occupied by the royal family. Opposite, at the corner of the Planie, are Marble Busts of Bismarck and Moltke, by Doundorf (1889).

No. 4, adjoining the palace, is occupied by the State Archives (Pl. F, 4). On the middle and upper floors and in the N. wing (Neckar-Strasse 6) of this building is the extensive and valuable Cabinet of Natural History (adm., see p. 4).

On the groundfloor is the Mineralogical-Geognostic-Palaeontological Collection relating to Wurtemberg. Observe the numerous saurians (labyrinthodon, etc.), the pentacrinites, the group with thirty mammoth's tusks, and the twenty-four lizards from the white sandstone of Stuttgart. — The first floor contains the Zoological Museum: in the wing to the right are mammalia; in the chief hall to the left are birds (Elliot's collection of Himalaya pheasants), fishes, reptiles; also corals and insects, particularly from S. Africa. — The second floor, in the wing to the right, contains the Zoological and Botanical Collections of Wurtemberg (admirably arranged). The main hall on the left is devoted to the general Palaeontological, Mineralogical, and Geognostic Collections, an Osteological Collection, and the general Botanical Collection.

The large building opposite, with four wings and three courts, is the Academy (Pl. F, 4), the seat in 1775-94 of the Karls-Schule (p. 16), founded by Duke Charles at the Solitude (p. 16), where Schiller received his education as a student of medicine, and where he wrote his 'Robbers' in 1777-8. The former dining-hall, with ceiling-paintings by Guibal, Heideloff, and Hetsch, contains the King's Private Library. On the groundfloor are guardrooms. — The N. wing is occupied by the Private Royal Stables; the large Royal Mews are at the E. end of the König-Strasse (Pl. F, 3).

About $\frac{1}{2}$ M. beyond the Museum the Neckar-Str. expands into the so-called Neckartor, an open space embellished with a Water Nymph by Dannecker. To the right, above, is the Romanesque Friedens-Kirche (Pl. H, 2), built by Dollinger in 1893. A little farther on, in the Wera-Strasse, is the Roman Catholic Nicolaus-Kirche, built by Pohlhammer in the early-Gothic style (1896).

On the W. side of the Neckar-Strasse are the Königliche Anlagen or Schloss-Garten (Pl. F, G, 3-1, laid out in the English style in 1808. These charming pleasure-grounds, with their fine groups of trees and sheets of water, 200 acres in area and extending to a length of 2 M. nearly to Cannstatt, are adorned with modern sculptures in marble (chiefly copies from the antique), especially in the so-called Botanic Garden to the E. of the upper pond, with its gay carpet-beds. Here, too, is the Karl-Olga Monument, by Curfess and Halmhuber, erected in 1895. Above the conduit which feeds the pond, on the side next the palace, is a colossal group (Pl. The hall, built by Leins in 1875, is the largest in Germany, having an area of 1600 sq. yds. The garden (restaurant and concerts, see pp. 2, 3) contains a colossal bronze bust of Uhland and marble busts of G. Schwab and Franz Schubert.

To the E. of the Liederhalle is the Landesgewerbe-Museum (Pl. D, E, 3), or National Industrial Museum, erected by Neckelmann in a baroque style (1890-96). The principal façade is in the Kanzlei-Strasse. The whole of the building is embellished with medallions of famous Swabians and other plastic decoration. The chief features of the interior are the grand staircase and the King Charles Exhibition Gallery, the latter adorned with a painted frieze 98 ft. long by Ferd. Keller and bronze groups by Hundrieser and Eberlein. Adm., see p. 4.

The museum also includes interesting special collections illustrating the changes and aberrations of taste in the last half century, a library (80,000 vols.), a collection of patterns (54,000 sheets), a collection of educational appliances, etc. — In the left wing is the permanent Exhibition of the Society of Arts and Crafts (Kunstgewerbe-Verein; week-days 9-12, 2-6, Sun. 11-1).

In the late-Gothic Hospital-Kirche (Pl. D, 4), erected in 1471-93, and restored in 1841, is a model of Dannecker's large marble statue of Christ. The cloisters (restored in 1895; entr. at Büchsen-Str. 37) contain the tomb of Reuchlin (d. 1522), the erudite friend of Melancthon.

The MARIEN-STRASSE (Pl. D, 5), prolonging the König-Str. (p. 6) towards the S.W., leads direct to the SILBERBURG GARDEN (Pl. C, D, 6), belonging to the Museum-Gesellschaft, the leading club of Stuttgart (tickets for strangers obtained, through a member, at Kanzlei-Str. 11). In the grounds below the garden, between the Mörike-Str. and the Silberburg-Str., is a marble bust of E. Mörike, the poet (1804-75), by Rösch. In the Silberburg-Str. (No. 191) is a Public Library (Volks-Bibliothek). Farther up (S.W.; approached from the Mörike-Str.) is the Karls Höhe (p. 16). — A little to the E. of the Silberburg, in the Tübinger-Str., is the Roman Catholic Marien-Kirche (Pl. D, 6), early-Gothic, with two towers, by Egle (1872-75). The interior contains frescoes by pupils of the convent art-school at Beuron (p. 77). The adjacent Paulinen-Brunnen is by Donndorf (1898). Farther to the S. is the Church of St. Mark (Pl. D, 7), built by Dolmetsch in 1905-7; in the choir is a stone carving of the Crucifixion, by H. Lang.

In the Reinsburg-Strasse, to the N. of the Silberburg, we may note the Life Insurance & Savings Bank (Pl. C, 5, 6) and the Villa Siegle (Pl. C, 6), by Gnauth (1872). At the foot of the Hasenbergsteige (p. 16), $\frac{1}{2}$ M. farther on, is the attractive Gänse-Peter Fountain (Pl. B, 6), by Th. Bausch (1901). — Farther to the N., in the Gutenberg-Str., finely situated on the Feuersee (Pl. C, 5), is the Gothic Church of St. John, by Leins (1866-76), with richly painted interior (sacristan, Silberburg-Str. 137). — In the Bismarck-Str. are the Olga Hospital (Pl. A, B, 4), the Romanesque Church of St. Elizabeth (Pl. A, 5; 1901), and the early-Gothic Church of St. Paul (Pl. A, 5; 1898).

The Central or Prag Cemetery, to the N.W., beyond the Postdörfle (Pl. E, F, 1; cottages of postal employees, built by Morlok) and the Municipal Hospital, contains a Gothic burial-chapel by Beyer (p. 43) and a crematorium. About $\frac{3}{4}$ M. higher up, at the N.E. end of the Feuerbacher Heide (see below), is the Weissenhof (1115 ft.), a garden-restaurant (view). — Above the Postdörfle, to the W., is (20 min.) the view-tower on the Kriegsberg (1160 ft.); the tower may be reached from the central station in 35 min. via the Schloss-Str., See-Str., and Panorama-Strasse.

Charming walk from the Schloss-Platz through the Planie, Charlotten-Str., Blumen-Str., and Alexander-Str. to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Eugens-Platz (p. 10), and via the Kanoneweg to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Uhlandshöhe (Pl. H, 3; 1165 ft.; restaurant), with a series of charming views, the finest points being the pavilion at the top and 'Uhland's Lime Tree'. — A similar point is the Schillerhöhe, on the Bopser (Pl. F, 7; 1310 ft.; Restaurant Schiller eiche), reached by the Neue Weinsteige (Pl. E, F, 7), commanding varied views during its winding ascent from the Olga-Str. to the Bopser-Anlage (park; 1055 ft.; $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. from the top). The park contains a bronze bust of Fried. List by Stocker (1905). We may return via the Hohenheimer-Str. (Pl. F, G, 6, 5); or we may continue the excursion through the Bopserwald to, 50 min.; tramway, see p. 3) Degerloch (p. 15). — The ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Feuerbacher Heide (1345 ft.), reached from the Schloss-Platz via the Schloss-Str., the Kanzlei-Str., and the Herdweg (numerous villas; to the left the Restaurant Doggenburg, with a small collection of wild animals; comp. Pl. A, 2), is crowned by a conspicuous Bismarck Tower (Weissenhof Restaurant, see p. 3). We may return to the city by the Birkenwald-Str. (Pl. E, 1).

Environs of Stuttgart.

FROM STUTTGART TO CANNSTATT.

The RAILWAY (R. 8; $2\frac{1}{2}$ M. in 6-11 min.; fares 30, 20, 15 pf., express-fares 80, 70, 40 pf.) passes beneath the Rosenstein (p. 14) by a tunnel 400 yds. long, crosses the Neckar, and reaches the station of Stuttgart-Cannstatt, on the right bank. — ELECTRIC TRAMWAY (p. 3; $2\frac{1}{2}$ M. in 20 min.) from the Palace at Stuttgart (fare 10 pf.). — WALKERS to Cannstatt via the Schloss-Garten take about 1 hr. (comp. p. 10).

Berg (715 ft.), the N.E. suburb of Stuttgart, lies on the left bank of the Neckar and is frequented as a health-resort. Neuner's Mineral Baths, at the beginning of the town, possess a swimming-bath (open in winter also) and a garden-restaurant. On a slight eminence above the town rises the Gothic church, built by Gaab in 1855. — The Sprudel, which bursts from the earth like that of Carlsbad, and other mineral springs on the Neckar-Insel, an island which extends from Berg almost to Cannstatt, have given rise to a number of bath-houses (Leuze's Inselbad, pens. 4-8 M; band plays at 6 a.m. in summer).

The Villa in Berg (880 ft.), on the top of the hill to the S., a modern Renaissance edifice, built by Leins in 1846-53, and surrounded with beautiful gardens and hot-houses, belongs to the Duchess Vera of Wurtemberg (adm., see p. 4). In the interior are pictures and sculptures (*Bust of a boy by Luca della Robbia). In the garden are statues of the four seasons by Kopf, and busts in bronze of Nicholas I., Emperor of Russia, and his consort, by Rauch.

On the hill to the N. of Berg, in the midst of a large park, is the royal château of Rosenstein, built by Salucci in an archaistic French style in 1843-29 (adm., see p. 4). [The approach to it begins opposite the Swan Hotel, near the König-Karl-Brücke.] The château contains numerous sculptures (by Wagner, Wolf, Hoyer, Hofer, etc.) and a collection of pictures. The main apartment is decorated with frescoes by Gegenbaur and Dieterich and with a frieze by Weitbrecht. — From the back of the château walks descend through the grounds to the Wilhelma.

The Wilhelma, a picturesque edifice in the Moorish style, in the midst of well-kept grounds with fine magnolias, was erected for King William I. in 1842-53 by Zanth (adm., see p. 4).

The Festsaalbau contains a large hall, sumptuously fitted up and connected by means of circular colonnades with two Pavilions (that to the right contains a Picture Gallery, of Oriental subjects only) and with the Château itself on the upper terrace. In the centre of the latter is the audience-chamber, on the right a drawing-room, on the left the king's study. There are also bedrooms, dressing-rooms, and a bathroom. At the back of the château several other terraces rise to the plateau of the hill, on the summit of which is a Belvedere (generally closed), also in the Moorish style, commanding a charming view. The lower terraces within the colonnades are embellished with flower-beds, fountains, and groups of animals in marble and bronze by Güldenstern. Royal Theatre (p. 3) and large Restaurant.

Cannstatt (Plan, see p. 13). — HOTELS. Städtisches Kurhaus (Pl. a), at the Kursaal, for patients, R. 9-31 ℳ a week; Bahnhof-Hôtel (Pl. b), Schmid zum Bahnhof (Pl. d), both at the station; Goldener Hahn (Pl. f), König-Str. 35. — Pension Lieb, Taubenheim-Str. 16, near the Kursaal, pens. from 5 ℳ.

BATHS at the Stadtbad, near the Kursaal, and at the Neues Cannstatter Mineralbad, Bad-Str. (also open in winter).

Popular Festival, with exhibitions, etc., every year, 27-30th September.

Cannstatt (720 ft.) was incorporated with Stuttgart in 1905 and is connected with Berg by the König-Karl-Brücke, a bridge with five arches, 1000 ft. long, erected in 1891-93 by Leibbrand. On the Sulzerrain (view), on the N. side of the town, are warm saline and chalybeate springs (68° Fahr.), which attract a number of patients. In front of the Kursaal is a bronze Equestrian Statue of King William I. (d. 1864), by Halbig, erected in 1875, and in its grounds is a Bust of Berthold Auerbach, the author, by Volz (1909; comp. p. 53). — In the Uffkirchhof, near the Sulzerrain, is the grave of Ferdinand Freiligrath, the poet (d. 1876), with a bronze bust by Donndorf (1878).

The Burgholz* (1175 ft.; view-tower; restaurant), $2\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the W. of Cannstatt and $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the E. of Feuerbach station (p. 21), affords a fine view of Stuttgart and up the valley of the Neckar.

ELECTRIC TRAMWAYS (p. 3) from the Schloss-Platz (Pl. E, F, 3, 4) to the Station of the Mountain Railway (Pl. D, 7), $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr., 10 pf.; viâ the Bopser to Degerloch; and to the West Station (Hasenberg; see below), No. 2, $2\frac{1}{4}$ M. in 24 min., 15 pf.

MOUNTAIN RAILWAY (Zahnradbahn) from the Filder-Str. (Pl. D, 7) to Degerloch, $1\frac{1}{4}$ M. in 12-17 min. (fare up 30, down 20 pf.); trains every $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. or oftener; views on the left.

Degerloch. — HOTELS. Kurhaus: Löffel's Pension & Café, pens. $4\frac{1}{2}$ – $6\frac{1}{2}$ M. — RESTAURANTS. Schweizerhaus, Wilhelmshöhe, both with gardens and views; Charlottenhöhe, with garden.

Degerloch (1540 ft.), incorporated with Stuttgart in 1908, contains many villas and is a favourite resort in summer. Splendid view from the tower (1590 ft.; 20 pf.), 10 min. from the station at the top of the hill.

From Degerloch a railway ('Filderbahn') runs in 9 min. to (2 M.) Möhringen, where it divides: to the W. to Vaihingen (p. 52; $1\frac{1}{4}$ M. in 10 min.); to the E. to Hohenheim (p. 16; $3\frac{3}{4}$ M. in 20 min.); to the S.E. to Neuhausen (10 M. in 1 hr.), viâ ($5\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Echterdingen (Hirsch) and Bernhausen. At Echterdingen is a stone commemorating the destruction of Zeppelin's air-ship on Aug. 5th, 1908. About 3 M. to the S. of Bernhausen is the view-tower on the Uhlberg (1540 ft.).

AN EXCURSION TO THE BELVEDERE ON THE HASENBERG may be made by the electric tramway (see above) or by taking the railway to the (5 M.; in 20 min.) West Station, which is 17 min. walk below the tower.

On quitting the Central Station, the line (views to the left) runs parallel with the Ludwigsburg line, then describes a sharp curve and runs S.W. in the direction of the Kriegsberg (p. 13), which juts far into the valley. The gradient is steep. Beyond a tunnel, 630 yds. long, we obtain to the left a striking view of the town, with the dome of the garrison-church in the foreground. The train continues to ascend and describes a wide circle round the town. After 20 min. we pass a viaduct 130 ft. in height, and stop at the West Station (1215 ft. above the sea, 425 ft. above the station at Stuttgart), which lies at the corner of the wood (view).

From the station we enter the wood, and ascend past the Bismarck Oak to the ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Jägerhaus (restaurant), on the Hasenberg. About 200 yds. to the right of this is the stone Belvedere Tower* (1475 ft.), 120 ft. in height, erected by Beyer (p. 43) in 1879 (adm. 20 pf.). The view extends as far as the watch-tower at Heilbronn and the Melibocus; to the S. the entire chain of the Swabian Alb, with the Rechberg, Hohenstaufen, Neuffen, Achalm, and Hohen-zoller. To the S. of the tower is the Waldhaus (restaurant). On the road is the Buchenhof, a kind of Kurhaus.

From the Jägerhaus to the N.W. through the woods to the venerable Gais-Eiche, $\frac{1}{4}$ hr.; to the W. to the deer-park (see below), $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.

The Hasenbergsteige, a direct path from the Jägerhaus to Stuttgart, descends to the Reinsburg-Str. (p. 12) in 20 min., passing on the right the reservoir of the city aqueduct. Farther on it crosses the tunnel (135 yds. long, $11\frac{1}{2}$ yds. wide) connecting the Schwab-Strasse with Heslach. Here we may descend to the left to the N. entrance of the tunnel and the station of the West Station and Schloss-Platz tramway (p. 3). Or we may ascend to the right, beyond the tunnel, to the Karls Höhe or Reinsburghügel (1130 ft.; Pl. C, 6), with a fine view and a bronze bust of King Charles I. (d. 1891), and descend by the Humboldt-Str. and Mörike-Str., with their numerous villas, to the Silberburg (p. 12).

About 6 M. to the S. of Stuttgart (railway from Degerloch viâ Möhringen in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.; comp. p. 15) lies Schloss Hohenheim (1280 ft.), a château built by Duke Charles in 1785, now an Agricultural School, with a botanic garden (printed guide 60 pf.) and collections. Fine view from the balcony and from the cupola (rfmts.).

— Scharnhausen and Weil, with their studs, etc., may be visited on the same day as Hohenheim. Permission obtained at the Hofkameralamt in Stuttgart (Jäger-Str. 18. Weil ($1\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the W. of Esslingen, p. 40) also possesses a royal country-residence and a racecourse.

Unter- and Ober-Türkheim and the Württemberg, see p. 38.

The Solitude (1630 ft.), 6 M. to the W. of Stuttgart, on the spur of a plateau, built in the rococo style in 1763-67 by Duke Charles, was in 1773-75 the seat of the Karls-Schule, where Schiller received part of his education, before its transference to Stuttgart (p. 7). The grounds and park command a fine view (best from the dome of the Schloss). — A little to the S. is a large deer park, with the 'Bärenschlösschen' and the Bären-See. Deer fed at 11 a.m., wild boars at 6 p.m. (cards of adm. at the Enquiry Office mentioned on p. 3). From the deer-park to the Hasenberg, see above. From the Solitude to Leonberg (p. 21), $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.

2. From Heidelberg to Stuttgart by Bruchsal.

69 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. RAILWAY. Express in $2\frac{1}{4}$ hrs. (fares 9 M 80, 6 M 50 pf., 4 M); ordinary train in $3\frac{1}{2}$ - $4\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. (8 M 80, 5 M 50, 3 M 50 pf.). — Route viâ Meckesheim and Jagstfeld, see R. 4; to Horb viâ Böblingen, see R. 10. STEAMBOATS from Heidelberg to Heilbronn, see p. 27.

Heidelberg, see Baedeker's Rhine. — The line traverses a fertile plain, within a short distance of the mountains. 8 M. Wiesloch, the junction of a local railway to (12 M.) Meckesheim (p. 29). Nearing (15 M.) Langenbrücken (Ochs), a small place with sulphur-baths, we notice Kislau, once a château of the prince-bishops of Speyer, now a penitentiary, on the right.

20½ M. Bruchsal. — HOTELS. Bahn-Hôtel Friedrichshof, R. 2-6 M; Hôtel Keller, R. 2-3 M, these two near the station; Post, Kaiser-Str., with wine-restaurant, very fair. — RESTAURANTS. Railway Restaurant; Hohenegger, with garden (Bavarian beer). — Local Railways to several places in the environs.

Bruchsal (370 ft.) is the junction of the Bâle line (see Baedeker's Rhine). The town (14,900 inhab.) was formerly the residence of the Prince-Bishops of Speyer, whose Schloss*, erected in 1727-70 by J. B. Neumann (p. 107) and restored in 1904, has a fine old garden and contains an imposing staircase and sumptuous state-apartments in the rococo style, with frescoes by Zick.

Beyond Bruchsal we thread a short tunnel. 28 M. Gondelsheim, with the ruined castle and modern château of Count Langenstein.

30½ M. Bretten (558 ft.; Krone, R. 1¼-2½ M, well spoken of; Rail. Restaurant), a small town with 5000 inhab., was the birthplace of Philip Melanchthon (1497-1560), the 'Præceptor Germaniæ'. In the market-place (½ M. from the rail. station) is the Melanchthon Memorial House (1903), with statues of Reformers, a library, medals, and relics (adm. 50 pf.). To the left is a fountain, with the figure of a knight, dating from 1555. Branch-lines to Durlach and Heilbronn, see p. 23. — Beyond Bretten we quit Baden. — 36½ M. Maulbronn (890 ft.; Rail. Restaurant).

From the station a road (diligence thrice daily, fare 30 pf.; one-horse carr., there & back, 4 M) leads, partly through wood, to (2 M.) the little town of —

Maulbronn (Kloster or Post, Elfinger wine; Rieger's Brewery), which deserves a visit for its old *Cistercian Abbey (comp. p. xix), one of the best-preserved mediæval conventual establishments in Germany, founded in 1146 and recently well restored. [The upper story of the Lay Brothers' Refectory and the kitchen, between the two refectories, are modern.] It was once the seat of a monastic school founded by Duke Christopher in 1556, and is now that of a Protestant theological seminary (40 pupils). The sacristan lives inside the gate, to the right (adm. 50 pf., 2-6 pers. 1 M).

The Abbey Church*, consecrated in 1178, is a fine Romanesque basilica with aisles. The late-Gothic chapels on the S. side were added in 1421. A Romanesque screen with two doors separates the choir of the monks from the nave; in front of the central niche is an altar with a colossal crucifix dating from 1473. The choir contains 92 stalls and the elaborate throne of the Abbot. Each of the transepts, on the N. and S. side of the choir respectively, contains three rectangular chapels. — At the W. end of the church is a Vestibule* ('Paradies'), 72 ft. long and 25 ft. wide, with late-Romanesque arcade-windows and vaulting (ca. 1220).

The Cloisters* (125 ft. square) on the N. side of the church are interesting. The S. walk, in the transition style (ca. 1225), is the richest; the others, in the Gothic style, are simpler. In front of the N. walk is a tastefully-constructed well-house. Beyond it is the summer-refectory ('Rebental'), with seven central columns (ca. 1230). — Other apartments (chapter-house, quarters of the lay-brothers) adjoin the E. side of the cloisters. At the N.W. corner is the winter or lay refectory, divided into two parts by seven double columns (ca. 1210). — In the cloister-garth is the modern Eselsbrunnen or Ass's Well, referring to the story of the foundation of the convent. Here we obtain the best view of the Faust-Turm, originally part of the fortifications but converted to the peaceful uses of the garden in 1604.

About 3 M. to the N.W. of Maulbronn (diligence twice daily in $\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) lies the quaint little town of Knittlingen (Kanne), the traditional birthplace of Dr. Faust.

The train now passes through a tunnel of 315 yds.

40 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Mühlacker (Rail. Restaurant; Rail. Hotel), junction for Pforzheim (p. 21).

From (47 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Vaihingen-Staatsbahnhof (810 ft.) a branch-line runs to (41 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Enzweihingen, viâ (3 M.) Vaihingen (Krone), a small town on the Enz, with a large château, now a reformatory. — On the left rises the Stromberg, a low chain of wooded hills. The train traverses a fertile, hilly district, and crosses the deep valley of the Enz by a viaduct 115 ft. high. At (55 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Bietigheim (Railway Restaurant; Krone) the line to Heilbronn diverges to the N. (see R. 4). To Backnang, see p. 20. — To the right, near (58 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Asperg, rises a vine-clad hill (1165 ft.) crowned by the small fortress of Hohen-Asperg (now a reformatory), where Duke Charles confined the poet Schubart from 1777 to 1787 for having composed a satirical epigram on him; fine view from the view-tower (10 pf.; restaurant).

61 M. Ludwigsburg. — HOTELS. Railway Hotel (Pl. a; A, 3), opposite the station, with garden; Herzog Eberhard (Pl. b; A, 2), Solitude-Str.; Württembergischer Hof (Pl. c; A, 2), Schiller-Str. 8. — Ratskeller Restaurant, adjoining the Rathaus (Pl. B, 2); Railway Restaurant.

Ludwigsburg (970 ft.), a town with 23,000 inhab. (including a garrison of 5300 men) and numerous factories, is much visited on account of its beautiful surroundings. It was founded at the beginning of the 18th century by Duke Eberhard Lewis (d. 1733), as a rival of Stuttgart, and was extended by Duke Charles Eugene (d. 1793) and King Frederick (d. 1816). The streets are broad and regular.

In the Wilhelms-Platz (Pl. A, 2) is a Marble Statue of Schiller, by Hofer (1882); the poet lived at Ludwigsburg in 1768-73 and in 1793-94. — In the market-place is the Town Church (Pl. B, 2), a baroque edifice of 1726, opposite which is the Rom. Catholic Trinity Church (1727 & 1781).

The Palace (Pl. B, 1; $\frac{3}{4}$ M. to the N.E. of the station; castellan in the building on the E. side), a handsome rococo building, containing 432 rooms, was erected by Duke Eberhard Ludwig in 1704-33 and is surrounded by extensive grounds. The charmingly decorated interior (finest decoration in the hunting-pavilion at the N.W. corner) contains some French ceiling-paintings of the 18th cent., interesting as examples of perspective painting, and a gallery of portraits of sovereigns of Wurtemberg. The large cask in the cellar holds 19,800 gallons. To the E. lies the Emichsburg, an artificial ruin erected to commemorate Count Emich of Wurtemberg (ca. 1140). — The Collections of the Historical Society (Pl. C, 1) are open free on Sun., 11-12.30.

To the S. of the town are the Public Baths (Pl. A, 3). — In the Karls-Platz is the Garrison Church (Pl. B, 3; Prot.), by Thiersch (1903).

The N. prolongation of the palace-grounds is the Favorite Park (Pl. B, 1), with the tasteful little Favorite Château (1718), containing a splendid collection of antlers (tickets of admission, 25 pf. for 1-6 pers., at the gate-house near the entrance). An avenue of poplars leads hence to ($1\frac{3}{4}$ M.) the hunting-lodge of Monrepos* (adm. an application to the steward; rfmts.), a graceful rococo building with pretty grounds and a boating lake with seven islands, on one of which is a chapel. We may now return to Ludwigsburg viâ Eglosheim and the royal Villa Marienwahl (Pl. A, 1) in $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. Or we may take the train from (20 min.) the station of Favorite Park (7 min.; see below).

Among the chief boasts of Ludwigsburg are the avenues of limes and chestnuts leading from the palace to the so-called Salonwald (Pl. C, 4) and on to (2 M.) Kornwestheim (p. 21). To the W. of the Salonwald is a View Tower (Pl. B, 4; 20 pf.).

FROM LUDWIGSBURG TO BACKNANG, 15 M., railway in 25 minutes. — 1 M. Station for Favorite Park (see above); 3 M. Beihingen-Heutingsheim, junction for ($3\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Bietigheim (p. 19). The line crosses the Neckar by a viaduct 100 ft. high (fine view). — 6 M. Marbach (1836 ft.; Post, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 $\frac{1}{2}$, B. $\frac{3}{4}$ M.; Bär), a small town (2500 inhab.) on a height on the right bank of the Neckar, with the Stuttgart electric-works. Marbach was the birthplace of Schiller (b. 10th Nov., 1759; d. 9th May, 1805). From the railway-station we proceed in a straight direction for about 175 yds., then turn to the right, and follow the Rielingshäuser-Str., the Charlotten-Str., and the Schillerhöf-Str. to the ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Schillerhöhe, a park containing a bronze Statue of Schiller, by Rau, erected in 1876. Adjacent is the Schiller Museum, opened in 1903, containing reminiscences of Schiller (open all day, on Sun. from. 11 a.m.; adm. 30 pf.). We now retrace our steps for 8 min., then proceed to the left along the Wildermuth-Str., through the town-gate, and along the Markt-Str., and, opposite the Bear Inn, descend to the right, past the late-Gothic Church of St. Alexander (15th cent.), to the modest house in which Schiller was born, two rooms of which are shown. Hence we regain the station in 7 minutes. — 15 M. Backnang (p. 32).

FROM MARBACH TO HEILBRONN, 21 M., narrow-gauge railway in $2\frac{1}{4}$ hrs., viâ ($2\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Steinheim an der Murr (with Rathaus of 1686), and the pleasant Bottwar-Tal, with the château of Schaubeck (r.). — $7\frac{1}{2}$ M. Oberstenfeld (Ochs), with an interesting early-Romanesque church (ca. 1200). To the S.E. is the ($2\frac{1}{4}$ M.) well-preserved castle of Lichtenberg (12th cent.). — $8\frac{1}{2}$ M. Beilstein (Post), a prettily situated little town, at the foot of a hill crowned by the ruined castle of Langhans. From the station, opposite which is a statue of Bismarck, the Schlossberg descends towards the S. to the (4 min.) market-place. On the left side of the Schlossberg stands the Schloss-Kirche, founded in the 11th cent., with a lofty late-Gothic choir of ca. 1450.

In the choir (key kept at the district-offices, Schlossberg 16; adm. 50 pf.) are the *Renaissance Monuments of Margraves of Baden. On the sarcophagus in the middle repose figures of Margrave Ernest I. (d. 1555) and his wife Ursula (d. 1538). By the wall, in the middle, rests Charles II. (d. 1577), the first prince of his line to embrace the Reformed faith, with his wives Kunigunde of Brandenburg (d. 1558) and Countess Palatine Anna (d. 1587). To the left are Margraves James (d. 1590) and Ernest II. (d. 1604), to the right Margrave Bernhard (d. 1553). The most interesting features of the ruins are the nave of the church of St. Aurelius (1066-71), near the station; the Romanesque tower of the basilica of SS. Peter & Paul (1082-91; six stories high), on the left bank; the large Gothic cloisters; and the façade of a Renaissance building, from which grows the elm celebrated by Uhland. — At (17 M.) Calw (1140 ft.; Waldhorn; Adler; *Rail. Wildbad (1380 ft.), a celebrated watering-place (3700 inhab.), situated in a narrow, pine-clad ravine on both banks of the Enz, possesses warm alkaline springs and is frequented both in summer and winter. The main street, with the baths and hotels, lies on the right bank, while the station is at the lower end of the town on the left bank. In the Kur-Platz are the handsome Kurhaus or Bad-Hôtel and the large Badgebäude ('Alt-Wildbad'), with its admirably equipped baths (shown from 1.30 to 3.30 p.m.). The Springs (90 - 100° Fahr.), which rise in the baths themselves, are very efficacious in the relief of gout and rheumatism (upwards of 16,000 patients annually). There are five well-arranged public baths for men and three for women ($1\frac{1}{2}$ M.), and 50 private baths ($2\frac{1}{2}$ -6 M.). The Katharinenstift, with baths for the poor, is a building in the round-arched style. The Protestant parishchurch contains a fine carved altar (beginning of the 16th cent.). Other notable buildings are handsome Romanesque towers (at the S.W. and N.E. ends of the town), the Rathaus of 1459, and the Deanery of 1572. — The line now follows the left bank of the Neckar and passes through a tunnel (640 yds.) beyond (21½ M.) Kirchheim.

POST OFFICES in the Kaiser-Str. (Pl. B, 4) and at the Railway Station (Pl. A, 4).

MUNICIPAL BATHS (Pl. C, 5), with swimming-bath, Wollhaus-Str. 7.

ELECTRIC TRAMWAYS from the Railway Station to the market-place, Allée, and barracks; from the Kaiser-Str. to the Wollhaus-Str. and the Ost-Str.; from the Sülmer-Tor Station to the Sülmer-Str., S. Railway Station, and Sontheim (p. 20).

Heilbronn (518 ft.), formerly a free city of the Empire, now an important industrial town with 40,000 inhab., is charmingly situated on both banks of the Neckar. The older and more important part is on the right bank. Wine is largely produced in the neighbourhood. Heilbronn is connected with Mannheim by chain-towing boats for goods traffic.

From the Railway Station (Pl. A, 4) the Bahnhof-Str. leads across the Neckar to the old town and to the Market Place (Pl. B, C, 4), with a Monument to Robert Mayer (1814-78), the originator (contemporaneously with Joule) of the mechanical theory of heat, who was a native of Heilbronn. On the left rises the Rathaus*, with its lofty flight of steps, a Gothic edifice altered in the Renaissance style in 1579-82, and restored in 1905. It possesses a curious clock by Habrecht (1580). The steps ascend to the spacious hall on the first floor, whence we enter the council-chamber (tickets from the keeper, in the hall, to the left; adm. 20 pf.), where Götz von Berlichingen, immortalized by Goethe, threatened to cure 'headache, toothache, and every other human malady', with blows from his 'iron hand'. Letters from him, from Gustavus Adolphus, from Charles XII., and from Schiller, who requests permission to reside in the town in 1793, and others are shown in the Archives (1765-69), behind the Rathaus. — The old-fashioned house at the S.W. corner of the Market (Pl. B, 4) is pointed out as that in which 'Käthchen of Heilbronn' was born; but her history is purely traditionary.

The Church of St. Kilian* (Pl. C, 4; verger, Sülmer-Str. 3) has an early-Gothic nave (13th cent.) with late-Gothic vaulting and aisles, a late-Gothic choir (1426-80), and a tower (203 ft. high), finished in a singular early-Renaissance style by H. Schweiner in 1527. The whole building was restored in 1886-95 by Beyer (p. 43). The choir contains an altar in carved wood (1498; painted to resemble stone), and a fine ciborium (ca. 1500). — To the S. of the church is the Kirch-Brunnen, a reproduction of the original of 1541.

In the Deutschhof-Str. is the Deutsches Haus (Pl. B, 4), originally an imperial residence, afterwards occupied by the Teutonic Order, and now by the courts of law. The oldest part of the building is the lowest story, in the Romanesque style, of the tower of the adjacent Roman Catholic church, in the picturesque court on the N. side. The façade dates from 1712. At the N. end of the street, to the left, in the old Slaughter House of 1600, is the Historical Museum (Pl. B, 4; keeper, Kirchbrunnen-Str. 13, Pl. B, C, 4; fee 50 pf.).

Nearly opposite the Deutsches Haus is the Allerheiligen-Str., leading to the square Götzen-Turm (Pl. B, 5), in which Goethe, contrary to the fact, represents Götz von Berlichingen as having died (whereas he was only imprisoned here for one night in 1519; comp. p. 27). To the E. of the tower we ascend the Rosenberg-Str. to the Allée, a broad avenue with gardens on the site of the old fortifications. Farther on is the Harmonie (Pl. C, 4), a club-house with the exhibition of the Kunstverein.

From the N. end of the Allée the Turm-Str. leads to the W. to the Sülmer-Strasse. Here, on the left, rises the simple Gothic Church of St. Nicholas (Pl. C, 3), where the first Protestant divine service was held in 1525. The Schiller-Haus opposite was occupied by the poet in the autumn of 1793.

On the Wartberg* (1010 ft.; an ascent of $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. to the N.) are an old watch-tower and an inn. Charming view of the Neckar-Tal. — About $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the E. is the Trappensee, with the Inselschlösschen Restaurant. About $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. farther to the E. (forest-path) is the (1 hr.) Jägerhaus (tavern); to the N. of it are large keuper-sandstone quarries. — From the Jägerhaus we may walk past the Köpferquelle and through wood to ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) the tower on the Schweinsberg* (1223 ft.; $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the S.E. of Heilbronn), which affords a fine panorama, embracing the Alb chain to the S., the Black Forest and Vosges to the S.W., the Haardt

Mts. and Donnersberg to the W., the Odenwald and Spessart to the N., and the Löwenstein Mts. to the E. — The Cäcilien-Wiese (11½ M. to the S.E.) presents a lively and picturesque scene at the vintage-season.

About 2 M. to the N. of Heilbronn lies the rock-salt mine of Salzgrund.

STEAMBOAT to Heidelberg twice weekly in 6¼-9¾ hrs.

From Heilbronn to Bretten and Carlsruhe, see p. 23; to Schwäbisch-Hall and Hessental, see R. 5; to Marbach, see R. 2.

The train now crosses the Wilhelms-Canal and the Neckar. To the right is the Wartberg (see p. 26). Near (36 M.) Neckarsulm (Prinz Karl), a pleasant little industrial town with an old château of the Teutonic Order (right), the train returns to the Neckar, and beyond (38½ M.) Kochendorf it crosses the Kocher. The small town of Kochendorf, with two châteaux and a fine town-hall (a timber building of 1597), lies ½ M. to the E.

40 M. Jagstfeld (Bräuninger's Bad-Hôtel, with terrace on the Neckar; Rail. Restaurant), a saline bath at the mouth of the Jagst. On the other side of the Neckar (1¼ M. to the W.) lies Wimpfen im Tal (p. 29).

A branch-line runs hence to (7½ M.) Neuenstadt am Kocher, a small town with a venerable lime-tree 12½ ft. in circumference. — From Jagstfeld to Osterburken and Würzburg, see R. 17; to Heidelberg, see p. 28.

The train crosses the Jagst and at (41½ M.) Offenau, with the salt-springs of Clemenshall, enters the lower part of the charming vine-clad Neckar-Tal, with its numerous castles. The village and château of Heinsheim and the ruined castle of Ehrenberg (p. 29) are passed on the left bank. — 45 M. Gundelsheim (Prinz Karl), a small town with walls, towers, and the château of Hornegg on an ivy-clad rock. The château has been fitted up as a hydropathic. Opposite, on a hill on the left bank, is the château of Guttenberg. — The train then passes through the Michaelsberg by a tunnel 950 yds. long to (46 M.) Hassmersheim (Anker). To the right, above, rises the picturesque castle of Hornberg, partly preserved, where Götz von Berlichingen died in 1562 (comp. p. 26). — Then past (left) Hochhausen, where we cross the Elz, to (50½ M.) Neckarelz (p. 118).

Beyond Binau a tunnel 875 yds. long penetrates the Rotenberg. — 55½ M. Neckargerach (Krone), on the left bank; on the hill is the ruined Minneburg, destroyed in the Thirty Years' War. — 57½ M. Zwingenberg (Anker), with a picturesque castle, now restored, the property of the Grand-Duke of Baden. About 7 M. to the N. is the Katzenbuckel (see below).

63½ M. Eberbach (430 ft.; Krone, pens. 4¼-5½ fl.; Leininger Hof, pens. 3½-4 fl., both very fair; Rail. Restaurant), an old town with 6100 inhabitants. The Katzenbuckel (2053 ft.), the highest of the Odenwald Mts., commanding an extensive view (tower), may be ascended hence in 2 hrs. — To Heidelberg through the Neckar-Tal, see p. 118.

Our train turns to the right into the grassy and wooded valley of the Itterbach. Beyond (67½ M.) Gaimühle we cross a lofty viaduct. — 75 M. Schöllnbach. The train pierces the Krähberg by a tunnel 2 M. long, descends the Mümling-Tal to (78 M.) Hetzbach-Beerfelden, and crosses the Himbächel Viaduct, 145 ft. high.

82½ M. Erbach (725 ft.; Schützenhof, R. & B. 2-2½, D. 2, pens. 4-5 M, very fair; Odenwald, pens. 3½-4½ M), a small town with 3000 inhab., is the principal place on the estates of Count Erbach. The Schloss contains several interesting collections (armour, weapons, etc.). In the chapel, of an earlier date than the Schloss, is shown a stone sarcophagus of the 13th or 14th cent., brought from the church of Seligenstadt in 1810, and used at one time as the repository of the remains of Eginhard (d. 840; see below) and his wife Emma (d. 836).

84½ M. Michelstadt (685 ft.; Hôtel Friedrich, R. 1½-3½, pens. 3½-4½ M, very fair; Michelstadt Hydropathic, R. 1-5, board 4½ M), a prettily-situated little town, with a late-Gothic church (15th cent.) and a quaint Rathaus. Opposite, to the left, is Steinbach, with Eginhard's Basilica (see below), one of the most important relics of the Carolingian epoch, founded in 827. — We pass Schloss Fürstenau (left) and thread a long tunnel to (96½ M.) Wiebelsbach-Heubach. — 98½ M. Gross-Umstadt (Lamm, R. 1½-2, D. 1¾ M); 105½ M. Babenhausen (p. 101).

112 M. Seligenstadt, with 4600 inhab., is famous for the abbey founded here in 828 by Eginhard (or Einhard), the biographer of Charlemagne. — The train then crosses the Main and reaches (118 M.) Hanau (p. 97).

FROM JAGSTFELD TO HEIDELBERG, 35 M., railway in 1¾ hr. The train crosses the Neckar and reaches (2 M.) Wimpfen (778 ft.), which has been a Hessian enclave since 1803. It consists of two places, the market-town of Wimpfen im Tal (1½ M. to the W. of Jagstfeld, p. 27), with the salt-works of Ludwigshall, and the old free town of Wimpfen am Berg (Mathildenbad, with a view-terrace over the Neckar; Bad-Hôtel Ritter, R. & B. 2½, D. 1½ M), with 3100 inhab., salt-baths, and picturesque old houses, towers, and walls.

WIMPFEN AM BERG. At the Ritter Hotel, near the railway-station, we ascend to the W. (right), passing through the Town Gate and along the Untere Haupt-Strasse. After 4 min. we pass, to the right, through the Hohenstaufen-Tor and reach (2 min.) the Rote Turm ('Red Tower'), where we obtain a view of the valleys of the Neckar, Jagst, and Kocher. We now retrace our steps and follow the Burggasse to the remains of the Imperial Palace* of the Hohenstaufens, built about 1200. The remains include (besides the Red and Blue Towers) part of the ramparts, the chapel (now a stable, but probably to be restored), the N. wall of the 'Saulbau' or residence, with its fine dwarf arcades of coupled columns, and the Stone House with its stepped gable. A little farther to the W. is the Blaue Turm ('Blue Tower'), 180 ft. in height. Close by, in a straight direction, lies the market-place, with the Protestant church and the Mathilden-Bad (to the right, some way from the street).

The Protestant Parish Church, with an early-Gothic choir and a late-Gothic nave, dates mainly from the end of the 15th century. The interior (sexton, Salzgasse 83) contains a ciborium executed by Meister Hans in 1451, an early-Renaissance high-altar (1519), and a late-Gothic altar of ca. 1500 (E. wall of N. aisle). The 'Mt. Calvary', opposite the S.W. angle of the church, dates from the early 16th century.

From the market-place we proceed to the W. through the Salzgasse, passing the Eagle Fountain (1576), and then go on to the left through the Schul-Strasse to the (5 min.) Dominican church, now the Roman Catholic Parish Church, rebuilt in the 18th cent., with Gothic cloisters (13-15th cent.). In the interior (sexton, Schul-Str. 342) are good wood-carvings of 1475, rococo choir-stalls (1774), and stone monuments of the 15th century.

WIMPFEN IM TAL. Leaving the rail. station, we descend to the E. (left) at the Ritter Hotel, pass Ludwigshall (p. 28), and reach (1 1/4 hr.) the beautiful early-Gothic Abbey Church of St. Peter*, built by a Paris architect in 1269-80 on the foundations of a twelve-sided early-Romanesque structure and restored in 1899-1903. It was the first Gothic church in the Neckar district. The S. transept is especially admired. In the interior (verger opposite the N.E. angle), where the visitor is struck by the irregularity of the ground-plan, the early-Gothic choir-stalls (1330) should be noticed. The terracotta Pietà in a niche on the S. side of the choir-screen dates from ca. 1440, but has been repainted. The Gothic cloisters on the N. side of the church date from the beginning of the 14th century.

From the Mathilden-Bad a pretty route leads viâ Heinsheim to the (1 1/4 hr.) ruin of Ehrenberg, whence it goes on viâ the château of Guttenberg to (1 1/2 hr.) Gundelsheim (p. 27).

We now traverse a hilly and partly wooded district. 5 1/2 M. Rappenau (Saline, R. 1 1/2-2, pens. 4 1/2-5 M., very fair) has salt-springs and baths. At Weiler, ca. 2 M. to the S.W. of (15 M.) Steinsfurt, is the picturesque Romanesque ruin of Steinsberg (view from tower).

Near (16 M.) Sinsheim Turenne defeated the Imperial army in 1674. The line follows the Elsenz-Tal. — 22 1/2 M. Meckesheim (Rail. Restaurant), on the Elsenz, is the junction for the line to Neckarelz (p. 118). — 29 M. Neckargemünd is the junction of the Würzburg line (R. 19). Thence to (35 M.) Heidelberg, see p. 118.

5. From Heilbronn to Hessental (Nuremberg) viâ Schwäbisch-Hall.

38 M. RAILWAY. Express in 1 hr., ordinary train in $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 hrs.; express to Nuremberg by this route in $3\frac{1}{4}$ hrs. This is the shortest route between Nuremberg and Carlsruhe (viâ Bretten, p. 17).

$4\frac{1}{2}$ M. Weinsberg (640 ft.; Traube, $\frac{1}{4}$ M. from the rail. station, R. $1\frac{1}{4}$ - $1\frac{3}{4}$ M.; comp. inset-map on plan of Heilbronn), a little town with 3100 inhab., overlooked by the remains of the Weibertreu (see below). From the railway-station we descend in a straight direction and then ascend through the town to the left to the (10 min.) Romanesque Church, a basilica with alternate pillars and columns and a tower between the nave and the late-Gothic choir. On the right wall of the choir is a picture of 1650, representing the women quitting the castle. In front of the church is a monument to John Ecolampadius (1482-1531), the Reformer, who was a native of Weinsberg. About 150 yds. to the E. is the house in which Justinus Kerner (d. 1862), the poet and spiritualist, lived and died, still containing many reminiscences of him. Near it is a monument to him. By ascending to the W. from the church we reach (10 min.) the ruined castle of Weibertreu ('women's troth'), on a vine-clad hill (900 ft.). When this castle was captured by Conrad III. in 1140, he granted the women the privilege of bearing off with them their most valued treasure. The women, as narrated in Bürger's ballad, thereupon carried out their husbands on their backs. The castle was destroyed in the Peasants' War (1525).

We next traverse the fertile Weinsberger-Tal. On a hill to the right, beyond (8 M.) Willsbach, is the small town of Löwenstein (1260 ft.; Sonne), commanded by the ruined castle of the Löwenstein-Wertheim family. In a narrow valley at the N.W. foot of the hill lies the Theusser Bad, with springs containing Epsom salts and sulphate of lime; $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. to the E. is Lichtenstern, a reformatory for children, formerly a Cistercian nunnery. Beyond ($10\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Eschenau the train descends into the valley of the Brettach.

17 M. Oehringen (770 ft.; Württembergischer Hof; pop. 3600) is a pleasant town on the Ohrn, with a château of Prince Hohenlohe-Oehringen, a Renaissance building of the 17th cent. ($\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the S. of the rail. station). The late-Gothic Stiftskirche (1450-91) containing monuments of the Hohenlohe family, is interesting; it has two towers. In a side-chapel of the cloisters is the middle shrine of the old high-altar, with five figures carved in wood (ca. 1500). Behind the Schloss is a fine park. — 21 M. Neuenstein, with a Renaissance château of the Hohenlohe family, lately restored by Bodo Ebhardt. It contains a collection of antiquities (ivory carvings, goblets, wooden statues of the 16th and 17th century).

24 M. Waldenburg (Rail. Restaurant) is the junction of a branch-line to (7 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Künzelsau (Glocke, R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2 $\frac{1}{4}$, B. $\frac{3}{4}$ M.), in the Kocher-Tal. The little town of Waldenburg (Adler; Löwe), situated on a mountain-spur, 2 M. to the S.W. (r.) of the station, has a château of the Hohenlohe family. — Beyond (26 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Kupfer the train descends to (30 M.) Gailenkirchen and the valley of the Kocher (tunnel).

34 M. Hall or Schwäbisch-Hall. — HOTELS. Lamm or Post, Neue-Str., R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2, B. $\frac{3}{4}$, D. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2 $\frac{1}{4}$ M.; Adler, in the market-place, R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2 $\frac{1}{4}$, D. 2 M.; Zum Bahnhof. — Railway Restaurant.

Hall (885 ft.), a quaint old town with 9400 inhab., first heard of in a document of 1037 and a free city of the empire down to 1802, is picturesquely situated on both banks of the Kocher. The Weil Gate, the Crailsheim Gate, the Neue Bau (Büchsenhaus), and other parts of the old fortifications are still well preserved. The coins called Heller (i.e. Häller) were first coined at Hall in the beginning of the 13th century.

From the station we turn to the left, passing the Pulver-Turm, and then follow the Lange-Str. to the right, on the left side of which rises the Gothic Church of St. Catharine (14th cent.), containing a fine high-altar (ca. 1460). The Stuttgarter-Str., diverging to the right a little farther on, leads to the bridge over the Kocher, whence the Neue-Str. ascends to ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) the MARKET PLACE. The imposing Church of St. Michael, situated on a terrace on the E. side of the market-place and approached by a flight of 54 steps, was originally Romanesque, but was rebuilt in the 15th cent. in the Gothic style. The interior (sexton, Pfarrgasse 17, to the S. of the church), contains a high-altar of ca. 1460, another of 1509, and other good sculptures. The baroque Rathaus (1735), to the W. of the church, contains paintings by L. Retti. On the N. side of the market-place is the Market Fountain, adorned with fantastic sculptures of 1509 (St. Michael, Samson, and St. George). Above, to the right, is the Pillory (Pranger), a modern reproduction of the original (see below). At Heilbronner-Str. 47, to the N. of the market-place, is a timbered house of 1605, containing a collection of antiquities (including the old Pillory). Still farther to the N. are the Royal Salt Works. To the S.W. of the market-place are the Saline Baths (hotel), on an island in the Kocher. About $\frac{3}{4}$ M. to the S.E. of this point is the ruin of Limpurg, and $\frac{3}{4}$ M. farther on is the Komburg (see below).

The castellated old Benedictine abbey of Komburg (inn), above Steinbach, 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the S. of Hall, dates from the 11th century. The gateway is a Romanesque structure. The hexagonal antechapel (or baptistery?) is charming in decoration. The main church, with its three towers, restored in the baroque style in 1705, possesses an embossed altar-covering (ante-pendium) in gilded copper, of 1130, and a huge and richly carved *Chandelier of the same period, representing the twelve gates of Jerusalem the Golden (let down for inspection for 4 M.). In the sacristy are two bronze candelabra. The church is adjoined by old cloisters and two chapels with interesting tombstones. — Opposite the abbey, to the S., is the old nunnery of Klein-Komburg (now a prison), with a Romanesque church (1st half of the 12th cent.). In the choir are contemporary frescoes. — Komburg and Steinbach are $1\frac{1}{4}$ M. from Hessental (see below).

Beyond Hall (view of the Komburg to the left) the train crosses the Kocher by a viaduct 135 ft. in height, passes through two tunnels, and goes on to (38 M.) Hessental (Rail. Restaurant, opposite the station), junction of the following line (p. 33). The station lies at the base of the Einkorn (1673 ft.; $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.), often visited from Hall ($1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.), with a ruined church, a belvedere, and a restaurant.

6. From Stuttgart to Nuremberg viâ Backnang and Crailsheim.

$118\frac{1}{2}$ M. RAILWAY. Express in 3-4 hrs. (fares 17 M., 11 M., 7 M.); ordinary train in $6\frac{1}{2}$ -8 hrs. (fares 15 M., 9 M., 6 M.). — From Stuttgart to Nuremberg viâ Nördlingen, see R. 7.

From Stuttgart to (8 M.) Waiblingen, see p. 35. The line crosses the deep Remstal by an iron bridge, 150 ft. high. — $10\frac{1}{2}$ M. Neustadt. Tunnel of 340 yds. — $13\frac{1}{2}$ M. Winnenden (930 ft.; Krone), a little town, with the château of Winnental, formerly a commandery of the Teutonic Order, now a lunatic asylum. In the background, to the right, are the spurs of the Welzheimer Wald (watch-tower of Burg). Pleasant walk viâ Buoch (p. 35) to the Remstal (to Grunbach $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.). — 16 M. Nellmersbach. The Murrhardter Wald (with Schloss Ebersberg) appears in the background, to the right. $17\frac{1}{2}$ M. Maubach. We now enter the Murrthal.

$19\frac{1}{2}$ M. Backnang (910 ft.; Post; Rail. Restaurant), a town on the Murr (8300 inhab.) with extensive tanneries. The Parish Church, originally Romanesque, has a late-Gothic choir with the brasses of Margrave Herman of Baden and his family (1515). The beautiful early-Gothic choir of St. Michael's Church is the only part of the church extant (middle of the 13th cent.). The fountain in the market-place dates from 1587.

From Backnang viâ Marbach to Ludwigsburg, see p. 20.

23 M. Oppenweiler, with an old château; on the height to the left is the Wilhelmsheim, an institution for tubercular patients. Farther on is the château of Reichenberg. $25\frac{1}{2}$ M. Sulzbach an der Murr. The train crosses the Murr.

abbey-church, and the late-Romanesque Walderichs-Kapelle (ca. 1220), adjoining its N. tower, will repay a visit. In the old cemetery on the hill, is the late-Gothic Walderichs-Kirche. The Roman castrum lay to the S.E. of the town. The Roman 'limes' (p. 35) from Welzheim to Mainhardt, crossing the Murrtal, passes about $\frac{3}{4}$ M. to the E. of Murrhardt. — $32\frac{1}{2}$ M. Fornsbach.

A pleasant excursion (road) may be made to the S. to the (6 M.) Ebnisee (1555 ft.), a pretty forest-lake. About 1 M. to the S.E., by the Roman 'limes', is Gausmannsweiler (Inn Zum Ebnisee), a summer-resort.

The train passes through the ridge called the 'Schanz' by a tunnel 940 yds. long, and enters the Rottal near ($35\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Fichtenberg. Another tunnel leads to the Kocher-Tal and ($38\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Gaildorf. The little town of Gaildorf, with 1800 inhab., three châteaux, and some interesting tombs (in the parish-church), lies $\frac{3}{4}$ M. to the E.

From Gaildorf to (12 M.) Unter-Gröningen, branch-line through the Kocher-Tal viâ Gaildorf-Stadt.

The Kocher is crossed. — View of the Einkorn (p. 32; r.) and Komburg (p. 31; l.) shortly before reaching ($45\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Hessental (p. 32).

The train now enters the Hohenlohe plain. About 2 M. to the E. of (49 M.) Sulzdorf is the picturesque little town of Vellberg, with a château. We cross the Bühler by a viaduct, 145 ft. in height. — 56 M. Eckartshausen.

Kirchberg (Württembergischer Hof), a picturesquely situated little town on the Jagst, 5 M. to the N.E. (diligence in 1 hr.), contains a château of Prince Hohenlohe-Oehringen, with interesting collections. Opposite is Hornberg, with its château.

From (59 M.) Maulach an excursion may be made to the top of the ($2\frac{1}{4}$ M.) Burgberg (1755 ft.; rfmts.), with an ancient earthen rampart and an extensive view.

The line ascends the Jagsttal towards the S., on the left bank of the Jagst. — 13 M. Ellwangen (1410 ft.; Lamm), a little town (pop. 4700) with a castle on a hill (collection of antiquities), was a small ecclesiastical principality down to 1803. The interior was tastefully embellished with stucco-ornamentation in 1738. On the Schönenberg (1710 ft.), $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the N.E., is the pilgrimage-church of the Holy Virgin, built in 1682, burned down in 1709, and rebuilt in 1715. — At ($18\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Goldshöfe the train reaches the Stuttgart and Nördlingen Railway (p. 37).

Next the church is the former refectory (? now a Roman Catholic chapel), the florid Romanesque portal of which has been removed to the Germanic Museum of Nuremberg. The church, a Romanesque basilica with timber roof, begun before 1132, with a Gothic choir (1263-80 and later) and a Gothic aisle (1430-35, afterwards enlarged), has suffered severely from 'restoration' in 1851-66.

The abbey-church was the burial-place of the Franconian line of the Hohenzollerns from 1297 to 1625 and contains also the ashes of the first three Brandenburg Electors of that house, Frederick I., Frederick II., and Albert Achilles. Among the finest monuments are those of the Electress Anna of Brandenburg (d. 1512), second wife of Albert Achilles; of Margrave Frederick (d. 1536) and his son George (d. 1543), by Loy Hering(?); of Margrave George Frederick (d. 1603), with eight statuettes of Counts of Zollern; and of the Margrave Joachim Ernest (d. 1625). The church also contains many other memorials of the Hohenzollerns and of Franconian knights, in the shape of frescoes, portraits on panel, canvas, and glass, epitaphs, hatchments, etc. There are several winged altar-pieces with carvings and paintings of the Nuremberg school of the 15-16th cent., a late-Gothic ciborium (1515), and a fine wooden Crucifix. — A spring rises within the church, beside the tomb of Electress Anna.

The fertile and picturesque REMSTAL, enclosed by the Schurwald on the right and the spurs of the Welzheimer Wald on the left, begins here. — 11½ M. Endersbach (p. 38). — To the left, above (13½ M.) Grunbach (Hirsch), is the village of Buoch (1700 ft.; Krone; comp. p. 32), affording a fine view of the Swabian Alb (belvedere).

On the Marienberg, about ¾ M. to the E. of (27½ M.) Lorch (920 ft.; Hôt. Harmonie, R. 1½-2½, B. ¾ M), rises the Benedictine monastery of that name (1115 ft.), founded by the Hohenstaufen in 1102, partly destroyed in the War of the Peasants, and restored in 1884. It contains several tombs and monuments of the Hohenstaufen, but none of the more distinguished members of the family. In the centre of the nave is a late-Gothic cenotaph, erected in 1475 to Duke Frederick of Swabia (d. 1105), the founder of the monastery.

Lorch was the site of a Roman castrum. To the N. of the monastery-hill the Rhine Limes (boundary) of the Romans joins the Rhætian Limes, which extends to the E., reaching the Danube at Kehlheim (p. 195). — Ascent of the Hohenstaufen, see p. 61.

We obtain a glimpse of the Hohenstaufen (p. 61) to the right just beyond Lorch, and afterwards a glimpse of the double-peaked Hohen-Rechberg (p. 60), with its church. In the valley lies Schirenhof, a Roman castrum.

31½ M. Gmünd, or Schwäbisch-Gmünd (1053 ft.; Bahn-Hôtel Arche, at the rail. station; Drei Mohren, R. 1¾-2, B. ¾, D. 1½ M; Rad, both in the market-place; Rail. Restaurant), formerly a free city of the Empire (pop. 20,500), possesses many manufactories of gold and silver ware. It was the home of the painter Hans Baldung Grien (b. ca. 1475), and of the architects Heinrich and Peter (Parler) von Gmünd. — From the rail. station we follow the Bahnhof-Str., in a straight direction. Beyond the Rems, to the right, is the Public Park, with a fountain ('Fiddler of Gmünd') by Widemann (1906). Farther on, at the Fünfköpfige Turm, we cross the Waldstetter Bach (l.), cross the promenade to the right, and at the next bridge turn to the left and follow the Bocksgasse to the (12 min.) market-place. To the left (W.) is the late-Romanesque Church of St. John (early 13th cent.), with its lofty tower (154 ft. high) and numerous reliefs of animals on the exterior. At the S. end of the market-place is the Rathaus (1785), at the N. end the Holy Ghost Hospital (founded in the 13th cent.). To the left of the latter stands the Industrial Museum, with a collection of antiquities (open free on Sun. & holidays, 11-2; at other times, fee). A little to the S. of St. John's is the Gothic Heiligkreuz-Kirche (without tower), ranking with the church of Our Lady at Reutlingen as one of the two chief 14th cent. buildings in Lower Swabia. The sculptures on the choir-portals, the baroque organ (1688), and the rich treasury are noteworthy. To the N. of the church is a singular belfry, with a tiled roof. To the E. is the Lion Fountain (1604). A little to the W., above the rail. station, is the pilgrimage-church of St. Salvator, with two chapels hewn in the rock. The monastery of Gottes-Zell, 1 M. to the N.E. of the market-place, is now a prison.

Ascent of the Hohen-Rechberg, see p. 60. — Omnibus from Gmünd to Süssen (p. 41) twice daily in 3 hrs. (fare 1 M 40 pf.). — Railway to Göppingen (p. 40) in progress.

38 M. Unter-Böbingen, with a Roman castrum (covered with earth).

An excursion may be made hence viâ (3 M.) Heubach (1529 ft.; Rössle) to the (4½ M.) Rosenstein* (2248 ft.; superb view), with a ruined castle, a rampart, and, on the E. side of the hill, caves.

Beyond (43½ M.) Essingen (1585 ft.) the line runs along the steep slope of the Alb, crosses the watershed between the Rems and Kocher, and descends into the Kocher-Tal.

47 M. Aalen (1420 ft.; Harmonie, at the station; Bär; Rail. Restaurant), from 1360 to 1802 a free imperial town (pop. 10,400), lies at the point where the Kocher quits the Alb. It contains a monument to the poet C. F. D. Schubart (1739-91; see p. 19), who spent his childhood here. The Rathaus contains a collection of antiquities and Schubart relics. Near the cemetery is a Roman camp (covered). About 4 M. to the S. is the Langert or Aalbümle (2210 ft.), a view-point, with a tower.

FROM AALEN TO DILLINGEN, 35 M., branch-railway in 3 hrs. — The line ascends to the Alb. — 17½ M. Neresheim (1645 ft.; Traube), a small town with 1250 inhab., is the central point of the well-wooded Härtsfeld, a part of the Swabian Alb. It possesses a château of Prince Thurn and Taxis, formerly a Benedictine abbey, with a fine chapel of 1745-92. — 20½ M. Katzenstein has a ruined castle; 22½ M. Dischingen, with a château of Prince Taxis. — 35 M. Dillingen, see p. 178.

About 3 M. to the W. is the Volkmarberg (2440 ft.; tower). — 8½ M. Königsbrunn (Rössle), with iron-works, at the point where the Brenz, an affluent of the Danube, takes its rise in the picturesque Brenztopf (1625 ft.). Then through the smiling Brenzthal. — 13½ M. Heidenheim (1617 ft.; Bahnhof-Hôtel, R. 1¼-2½ M.; Ochs, R. 1½-2½, B. ¾ M.), once a Roman settlement with a 'castrum', is now an industrial town with 12,200 inhab., commanded by the picturesque half-ruined Schloss Hellenstein (1985 ft.; view-tower; collection of antiquities). A road (diligence twice daily in 1 hr.) leads to the N.W. to (4½ M.) Steinheim (1770 ft.; Krone), situated in a later-tertiary depression of volcanic origin, whence a picturesque route runs through the Wental, passing the Hirschfelsen and a refuge-hut, to (6 M.) Bartholomä (Adler), and thence viâ the Rosenstein (p. 36) to (4½ M.) Heubach (p. 36). — Beyond (15½ M.) Mergelstetten the railway temporarily quits the Brenz, which here makes a wide curve round the so-called Buigen. — 17½ M. Herbrechtingen (Hirsch; road to the S.E. to Hürben, see below, 3 M.). A pleasant walk may be taken to the W., viâ (1½ M.) Anhausen, a former Benedictine convent, to the picturesque Brenzthal and thence downstream to (1½ M.) Eselsburg, which is about 1½ M. from Herbrechtingen, and 1 M. from Hürben (see below). — From (23 M.) Hermaringen (1500 ft.) a visit may be paid to the Charlotten-Höhle, near Hürben, 3 M. to the W. The road leads viâ Burgberg, with the picturesquely situated château of Count Karl von Linden, and the ruin of Kaltenburg; footpath viâ the Güssenburg. The cave (560 yds. long) lies in the Hürbe-Tal, a characteristic Jura valley, ½ M. to the S. of the village of Hürben. It consists of several chambers and is specially interesting on account of the beautiful stalactites pendent from the roof (adm. 1 M.; electric illumination on Sun., Mon., Wed., & Sat.). Near the mouth of the cave is a restaurant. — The train follows the Brenzthal to (26 M.) Sontheim-Brenz (the latter of which has a fine late-Romanesque church), and then turns to the S.W. to (29 M.) Nieder-Stotzingen. 38 M. Unter-Elchingen, the scene of the battle (14th Oct., 1805) from which Ney acquired his ducal title; 41 M. Talflingen. At (48½ M.) Wasseraufingen (1374 ft.; Zum Schlegel) are extensive iron-works. Above the iron-mine, 1½ M. to the E., rises the Braunenberg (2250 ft.; view; refuge-hut), whence a path leads through the woods to (6 M.) Kapfenburg (see below). — The train quits the Kocher-Tal. — 51½ M. Goldshöfe (1505 ft.; Rail. Restaurant) is the junction for the Ellwangen and Crailsheim line (p. 34). On a hill to the right before reaching (57 M.) Lauchheim is Schloss Kapfenburg (2035 ft.), formerly a commandery of the Teutonic Order. — At (59½ M.) Röttingen the line is carried through the watershed (1805 ft.) between the Rhine and the Danube by means of deep cuttings and a tunnel (625 yds.), and enters the narrow Eger-Tal. About 3 M. to the N.E. lies the château of Hohen-Baldern (2060 ft.), belonging to the Prince of Oettingen-Wallerstein, with a lofty tower (fine view). About Bopfingen, to the left, 2 M. from the rail. station, is the bare cone of the Ipf (2190 ft.), with interesting prehistoric ramparts (Hallstatt period) on the summit and on the E. slope.

5 M. Stuttgart-Unter-Türkheim (741 ft.; Krone), with the works of the Daimler Motor Car Co. (1900 workmen), makers of the well-known 'Mercedes' cars, was incorporated with Stuttgart in 1905. It lies at the foot of the Württemberg or Rotenberg (1345 ft.; Hôtel-Restaurant Luz), where King William I. (d. 1864) erected a Greek chapel on the site of the castle of Wirtemberg, the old ancestral castle of the princes of Wurtemberg, as a mausoleum for his consort Queen Catharine (d. 1819), a Russian princess, and himself. In the interior (25 pf.) are marble statues of the Evangelists, the St. John by Dannecker.

Instead of the steep, stony, and shadeless ascent from Unter-Türkheim, we may choose the pleasanter but rather longer route from Ober-Türkheim (see below), either by Uhlbach or direct. — A still more extensive prospect is obtained from the Kernen Tower (1685 ft.; 82 ft. high), 2 M. to the E. Hence we may take a charming walk to Esslingen (see below), 4¹/₂ M. to the S., or we may descend to the E. to the rail. stations of (3 M.) Stetten or (3 M.) Endersbach, in the Remstal (p. 35).

9 M. Esslingen. — HOTELS. Krone (Pl. a; B, 2), R. 1¹/₂-3 M B. 1 M, very fair; Post (Pl. b; B, 2), R. 1¹/₄-1¹/₂ M; Württembergischer Hof (Pl. c; B, 2); Palm'scher Bau (Pl. d; C, 1, 2). — WINE ROOMS. Zur Sacristei, Kirch-Str. 3, near St. Dionysius (Pl. 6); Museum, in the market-place (Pl. C, 1). — Post & Telegraph Office (Pl. B, 2), near the rail. station.

Esslingen (757 ft.), prettily situated on the Neckar and overlooked by a ruined castle, was once a free imperial city and is still partly surrounded by walls, which were built by Emperor Frederick II. in 1216. Pop. 30,000. Sparkling Neckar-wine is largely manufactured here. The engineering works founded here by Kessler in 1846 are the largest in Wurtemberg. Other branches of industry also flourish. The Neckar is spanned here by an old stone bridge, 220 yds. in length.

At the Railway Station (Pl. B, 2) we turn to the right and then follow the Bahnhof-Str. to the left, passing the Schelztur-Turm (Pl. 9), to the (7 min.) market-place (Pl. C, 1). On the S. side of this is the Protestant church of St. Dionysius (Stadt-Kirche; Pl. 6), a flat-roofed basilica in the transition style with two towers and interesting capitals; it was founded in the 11th cent., and partly altered in the 14th and 15th, and possesses good stained glass (14-15th cent.: choir), a screen and a ciborium of 1486, and choir-stalls of 1518. St. Paul's Church (R. C.; Pl. 5), also in the market-place, an early-Gothic edifice of 1233-68, originally belonged to the Dominicans. Opposite the present Rathaus (Pl. 8: 1746), which was once the palace of Count Alexander of Wurtemberg, the poet (1801-44), is the Old Rathaus (Pl. 7), erected in 1430, and now a school. It possesses an ingenious clock of 1589, and on the first floor is a large room with Gothic wood-carvings. On the N. side is a bell-turret.

The fine Gothic Frauen-Kirche* (Pl. 2), erected in 1324-1420, was restored in 1884-87 by Egle (sacristan at No. 9 Untere Beutau-Str., to the N. of the choir; adm. 20 pf.). Admirable reliefs on the three portals, especially that of the Last Judgment on the S. Portal and the St. George over the W. Portal. The tasteful interior contains fine late-Gothic stained-glass windows (choir). Adjoining the organ-loft are the tombstones of Hans and Matthæus Böblinger (p. 43), two of the architects of the church. Fine perforated tower, 246 ft. in height, completed in 1478; beautiful view from the top (267 steps). Comp. p. xxi. — No. 8, Untere Beutau-Str., has a fine oriel of 1509.

By following from the Rathaus first the Mittlere Beutau-Str. (N.) and then the Obere Beutau-Str. and ascending (at No. 4) the steps of the covered wall we reach (10 min.) the remains of the Castle (Pl. C, 1) with the 'Dicke Turm' (restaurant) and superb view.

A little to the S. of the Old Rathaus lies the Fischbrunnen-Platz (Pl. 1; C, 1, 2), near which is the Innere Brücke, with the Gothic Chapel of St. Nicholas (Pl. 4; 1430). — The Ritter-Str. and the Küfer-Str. (Pl. C, 2) lead to the (5 min.) Wolfs-Tor (Pl. 10), on the outside of which are still seen the lions of the Hohenstaufen, hewn in stone. — To the N. of the Küfer-Str. are the remains of the choir of the early-Gothic Franciscan Church of St. George (Hintere Kirche; Pl. 3).

About $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the W., in the Neckar-Tal, lies the royal domain of Weil (p. 16). — The Jägerhaus (1475 ft.), 3 M. to the E. of Esslingen, is frequented as a summer-resort.

Pleasant excursion from Esslingen to ($4\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Denkendorf, a little village in a fine situation, with a large late-Romanesque church (early 13th cent.) of a former convent; interesting crypt and vaulted vestibule.

$14\frac{1}{2}$ M. Plochingen (813 ft.; Bahnhof-Hôtel; Rail. Restaurant, D. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 M.), with a fortified church, lies near the confluence of the Fils and Neckar. To Tübingen and Horb, see R. 9; to Ober-Lenningen, see p. 63-61. On the hill to the N.E. ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) is a tower, affording an extensive panorama of the Alb.

The line now follows the Fils (comp. Map, p. 60). On a height to the right, near (23 M.) Uhingen, rises the château of Filseck (1160 ft.). — 24 M. Faurndau, formerly a Benedictine monastery, with an old Romanesque church, adorned with fantastic sculptures.

26 M. Göppingen (1082 ft.; Hôtel zu den Aposteln, R. from 2, B. $\frac{3}{4}$ M., well spoken of; Sand, plain), a flourishing town with 20,800 inhab., was re-erected after a fire in 1782. The government-buildings were formerly a ducal castle, erected by Duke Christopher in 1550-68 with the stones of the castle of Hohenstaufen(?). At the S.W. corner of the court an artistically-hewn spiral stone staircase ('Traubenstieg', vine-stair) ascends to the tower. Mineral springs.

EXCURSIONS. To the N.E. to the Hohenstaufen, see p. 61. — To the N.W. lies ($4\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Adelberg (1545 ft.; Rössle), a former convent, with a fine view. To the S. we may proceed viâ (6 M.) the sulphur-baths of Boll (1335 ft.) to the ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Bosler (2610 ft.) or ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Bertaburg-Kornberg (2555 ft.); viâ ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Eschenbach to the (1 hr.) Fuchseck (2410 ft.); or viâ ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Schlaf to the top of the (1 hr.) Wasserberg (2428 ft.). — Railway to Gmünd (p. 36) in progress.

Near ($28\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Eislingen we enjoy fine views to the left of the Hohenstaufen and Hohen-Rechberg (p. 60). To the right is the long ridge of the Swabian Alb. — 31 M. Süssen (1175 ft.), opposite which (left) rises the round tower of the ruined Staufeneck (1720 ft.).

EXCURSIONS. To the N.E. to the Hohen-Rechberg, see p. 61. — Proceeding to the S. from the rail. stat. of Süssen through the village to (1 hr.) the farm of Grünenberg (rfmts.), we may thence ascend the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Burren ('Glufenkissen', 2273 ft.), walk along the slope (marked path) to the ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Spitzenberg, ascend to the plateau of the Michelsberg (2370 ft.), and traverse the ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) village of Ober-Böhringen to the (20 min.) Hausener Felsen, which affords a fine view of the 'Gaisen-Täle' (p. 42). From the cairn we skirt the verge for 5 min., then follow the club-path down to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Überkingen (p. 42).

FROM SÜSSEN TO WEISSENSTEIN, 6 M., branch-railway in 35 min., to the E. up the valley of the Lauter. — 2 M. Donzdorf (1335 ft.; Krone), with a château and park of Count Rechberg. About 3 M. to the E. is the Messelstein (2455 ft.; extensive view), whence we may proceed to the S. to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Kuchalb (see below) and to the Roggen-Tal (see below). — 6 M. Weissenstein (1775 ft.; Schloss Brewery, with bedrooms) is a small town dominated by the château of Count Rechberg. Hence down the Roggen-Tal to Geislingen, see below.

To the left, on an eminence, are the rugged ruins of Scharfenberg (2018 ft.). Farther on is the Kuchalb. — 33 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Gingen (1236 ft.). An inscription over the N. door of the church purports to be of 984 and is, if genuine, the earliest to be found in any church in Germany.

EXCURSIONS. To the E. lies the (1 hr.) Kuchalb, a hamlet with an inn. Thence we may ascend to the (10 min.) Meierhalde (view) and to the ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) mountain-spur of the Hohenstein (2303 ft.), which commands a splendid view to the W. and of the valley. We descend either by a footpath to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Kuchen (hence to Geislingen $\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) or to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Gingen, or via the Kuchalb and through the Längen-Tal to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Geislingen. The Kuchalb may also be reached from Gingen in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. past the Scharfenberg (see above) by a path leading partly through wood. — A pleasant hill-walk may be taken from the Kuchalb to the N., via the farm of Oberweckerstell, to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) top of the Messelstein (see above).

38 M. Geislingen (1522 ft.; Rail. Restaurant; Sonne, R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2, B. $\frac{3}{4}$ M; Post, both in the town, 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. from the rail. station), a town with 8000 inhab. and a large hardware-factory, lies at the base of the Alb. The late-Gothic Stadtkirche (1424-67) contains choir-stalls carved by Jörg Syrlin the Younger (1512), a fine carved altar (ca. 1510), and a handsome late-Renaissance pulpit (1621). Above the town, about 2 M. to the E., rises the Oeden-Turm (2085 ft.; $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.; key at the Rathaus). Opposite, beyond the Pavilion, are the remains of the château of Helfenstein, destroyed in 1552.

A pleasant excursion may be made to the N.E., passing the pumping-station, either through the woods in 1 hr., or via Weiler and the Felsen-Tal in 2 hrs, to Eybach (1525 ft.; Adler), with a château of Count Degenfeld. Thence we may ascend the romantic Roggen-Tal (watered by the Eyb), the finest point of which is at the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) lower Roggen-Mühle; on the hill to the right is the ruin of Ravenstein. Beyond (51 M.) Beimerstetten the line descends to the valley of the Danube. — The train passes close to the (r.) Wilhelmsburg, the lofty citadel of Ulm, where 30,000 Austrians under General Mack surrendered to the French after the battle of Elchingen (p. 36).

Ulm (1575 ft.), an old-fashioned town with 55,000 inhab., incl. a garrison of 7500 men, lies on the left bank of the Danube, which is here joined by the Blau and the Iller, and from this point downwards is navigable. The Danube is the boundary between Wurtemberg and Bavaria, to which Neu-Ulm (p. 45) on the opposite bank belongs (two bridges).

Ulm, first mentioned in 854 as the seat of a Carovingian palace, and one of the most important free imperial cities in the 14th and 15th cent., has belonged to Wurtemberg since 1810. From 1842 to 1866 it was a fortress of the Germanic Confederation, and since 1871 it has formed with Neu-Ulm a fortress of the German Empire. Towards the close of the 19th cent. it attained considerable importance as a commercial and industrial centre, and room for future development has been secured by the purchase by the municipal authorities in 1900 of the former ramparts surrounding the city. — Ulm was at one time the seat of a school of painting, under the influence of the Cologne and Early Flemish Schools. The most prominent masters of Ulm are Hans Multscher (ca. 1427-67), Hans Schülin (1440-1502), his son-in-law Barth. Zeitblom (b. 1455, d. after 1517), and Martin Schaffner (d. after 1539). Comp. also p. xxii.

Turning to the right at the Railway Station (Pl. A, 2), we follow the Bahnhof-Str. and Hirsch-Str. (Pl. B, 3) to the (10 min.) Münster-Platz. To the right, at the beginning of the Hirsch-Str., is the Steinerne Brücke, affording a picturesque glimpse of the old timber-houses on the Blau.

The MÜNSTER* (Prot.; Pl. C, 2), founded in 1377, built at intervals down to the beginning of the 16th cent., and restored and completed in 1844-90, is the largest Gothic church in Germany next to the Cathedral of Cologne. The sculpturing on the portals is worthy of inspection. On the principal W. portal are the Creation, the Fall, Apostles, etc.; on the S.E. side-portal the Last Judgment; on the S.W. side-portal the history of Mary. On the roof is the emblem of Ulm: a sparrow with a straw in its beak. — The massive Tower* in the centre of the W. façade, with the magnificent triple vestibule, was designed and begun by Ulrich von Ensingen (1392-99), the third of the cathedral-architects, erected by his successors as far as the top of the square portion (230 ft.) by the end of the 15th cent., and completed in 1877-90 by Prof. Aug. Beyer by the addition of the octagon and pyramid from a sketch left by Matthäus Böblinger (1478-94; comp. p. 40), the eighth of the original architects. Being 528 ft. in height, it is one of the loftiest towers in the world (Washington Monument 555 ft.; Mole Antonelliana at Turin 545 ft.; Cologne 515 ft.; Philadelphia City Hall 510 ft.; Eiffel Tower, in iron, 985 ft.) and affords a magnificent view. Comp. also p. xx.

The church is open free, daily 11-11.30 (in winter 11-12), on Sun. and festivals after divine service (entrance by the sacristan's office to the right of the W. portal). Free *Organ Recital 11.30-12, on Sun. 11-11.45 (in winter on Sun. only). At other times visitors require tickets (entr. through the sacristan's office, see above): for the nave and aisles 20 pf.; choir, with guide, 1-4 pers. 1 M., each addit. pers. 25 pf. The main tower may be ascended from 7 to 6 in summer, 9-3 in winter, and 8-5 in spring and autumn (to the top of the square portion 50 pf., to the octagon 1 M.).

The INTERIOR originally consisted of a nave with two aisles, all of equal breadth, but in 1502-7 the latter were divided by slender round pillars and covered with star-vaulting, so as to form four aisles. Length 140 yds., width 54 yds.; nave 138 ft., aisles 65 $\frac{1}{2}$ and 69 ft. in height. The magnificent Organ, built in 1856, has 109 stops and 6616 pipes (recitals, see p. 43).

On the walls are numerous escutcheons of Swabian families. — The modern stained-glass windows in the aisles are by Burckhart and Zettler, the statues of Apostles in the nave, by C. Federlin.

By the second pillar of the nave is the Pulpit, executed in 1498-99, the cover beautifully carved in wood by J. Syrlin the Younger in 1510. — The octagonal Holy Water Basin round the E. pillar in the S. Aisle is also ascribed to Syrlin (beginning of 16th cent.). By the next pillar is the octagonal Font, with busts of prophets, mottoes, and armorial bearings (1470). — To the left of the entrance to the choir is the Ciborium*, 93 ft. in height, beautifully sculptured in stone (1467-71). Above the choir-arch is a large fresco of the Last Judgment (1471).

The Choir Stalls*, by Jörg Syrlin the Elder, 1469-1474, are among the finest works of the kind in Germany. At the W. end are three stalls with sibyls; on the N. side, next the ciborium, is a bust of Syrlin himself, and beneath the next folding-seat is an old woman, said to represent his mother; the busts on the N. side in front embody paganism (Ptolemy, Terence, Cicero, etc.); behind, in the upper row are 18 half-figures of Apostles and Christian male saints (SS. Lawrence, George, Damian, etc.), in the lower row, 20 half-figures of Prophets and heroes of the Old Testament (David, Joshua, etc.); on the S. side are sibyls below, with a bust of Syrlin's wife at the W. end; behind, in the upper row are St. Luke, Christian female saints (St. Catharine, etc.), and St. Cosmas, in the lower row, women of the Old Testament. The ornamental detail should not be overlooked.

The High Altar* is by Martin Schaffner. The paintings and the carved figures represent the kindred of the Virgin and form one of the artist's chief works (1521). The Last Supper below the altar is also by M. Schaffner. Behind the altar are tombs of bronze (H. Neithart, d. 1500) and marble. The fine old Stained Glass, of 1480, is by Hans Wild.

The Neithart Chapel, to the N. of the choir, contains the original design for the tower and paintings of the 15th and 16th centuries; also two modernized carved altars (to St. Sebastian and St. Barbara) and an altar-predella with saints on the E. wall.

The S. or Besserer Chapel contains a good portrait of Eitel Besserer by Martin Schaffner (1516). In the Sacristy are an elegant little altar of 1484, with wings copied from engravings of M. Schongauer's 'Passion', and paintings by B. Zeitblom, H. Multscher, and M. Schaffner.

In an old patrician mansion (now the property of the town) at Taubengasse 6, to the S. of the minster, is the Industrial and Antiquarian Museum (Pl. D, 3); open 9-12 & 2-5, Sun. 10.30-1, adm. 50 pf.; at other times 1 M.

In the court are stone carvings and works in iron, etc. — Ground Floor: Prehistoric antiquities, including an ichthyosaurus. — First Floor: Altar from Hagau near Meersburg (1518); town views and plans; coins; furniture. — Second Floor: Handsome ceilings and doors; 'tablatures' (early system of notation) of the Meistersinger of Ulm; guild-tablets; painted terracotta figures by Rommel, a native artist, representing local costumes; doll's house of 1748; embroideries and textiles.

In the market rises the handsome Rathaus (Pl. C, 3), erected at the beginning of the 16th cent. in the transition style from late-Gothic to Renaissance, with remains of old frescoes, retouched in 1905. The Fischkasten, a fine fountain at the S.E. corner, is by Syrlin the Elder (1482). To the W. is the Neue Bau (Pl. C, 3), erected in 1583-99 on the site of an ancient imperial palace, now containing government offices. The quadrangle contains a fountain with a figure of St. Hildegarde. — On the second floor of the Schwörhaus (Pl. C, 3) is a small collection of paintings.

The Law Courts (Pl. C, 1), in the Olga-Strasse, were built by K. von Sauter in 1898. The Jury Court is adorned with two mural paintings by Fr. Keller. — By the Frauen-Tor is the Rom. Cath. Garrison Church (Pl. D, 1), by Meckel (1904).

Charming walk on the city wall, along the Danube. The so-called Metzger-Turm (Pl. C, 3), 88 ft. in height, leans $4\frac{1}{2}$ ft. out of the perpendicular. — The Friedrichsau (beyond Pl. F, 1; restaurant; band-concerts in summer), or public park, also repays a visit. About $3\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the S. (omn. twice daily) is the old Benedictine convent of Wiblingen (now barracks), with an elaborately decorated church (1772-81) and an interesting library-hall.

FROM ULM TO KEMPTEN, 54 M., railway in $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. — $1\frac{1}{4}$ M. Neu-Ulm (pp. 42, 209). — $7\frac{1}{2}$ M. Senden. To the right, on the opposite bank of the Iller, lies Ober-Kirchberg, with a château of Prince Fugger. — As far as Memmingen the line for the most part follows the Iller. At (15 M.) Illertissen (1685 ft.; Hirsch) is a picturesque Renaissance château (ca. 1550). — $32\frac{1}{2}$ M. Memmingen (1965 ft.; Rail. Restaurant; Bairischer Hof, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -5, B. $\frac{3}{4}$, D. 2 M.; Schwarzer Adler), junction of the lines to Herbertingen (p. 76) and to Buchloe (p. 287), is an old town with 11,600 inhab., a free city of the Empire down to 1802, and still partly surrounded by walls. From the rail. station we proceed to the W. to the Maximilian-Str., the chief street of the town, at (7 min.) the W. end of which stands the Kramer-Zunfthaus, still retaining the Gothic panelled room in which the insurgents' manifesto ('Bauern-Artikel') in the Peasants' War was drawn up in 1525. Adjacent is the Fuggerhaus, in which Wallenstein received the news of his dismissal in 1630. To the N. is the principal church (St. Martin's), which contains 65 choir stalls, carved in the richest late-Gothic style by Stark and Daprazhauser (early 16th cent.). A little to the E. is the market-place with the Rathaus, a Renaissance edifice of 1589. On the S. side of the town, 8 min. from the Rathaus, is the Frauen-Kirche, the frescoes in which are among the best of their period (15th cent.). About 7 M. to the S.E. is Ottobeuren (p. 288). — $40\frac{1}{2}$ M. Grönenbach, with a château formerly belonging to General Pappenheim. Beyond the large glacier-moraine of the Iller a view of the Alps of the Algäu is obtained. — 54 M. Kempten (p. 288).

From Ulm to Munich, see R. 31; to Aalen, see p. 37; to Immen-dingen and Radolfzell, see R. 13.

The Friedrichshafen line at first ascends the left bank of the Danube, and passes the influx of the Iller. — 65 M. Erbach, with a château of Baron Ulm. The Danube is now crossed, and we enter Upper Swabia, the region to the W. of the lower Iller and the Algäu Alps and extending S. from the Alb to the Lake of Constance. The railway traverses a flat district viâ Risslissen (with a château and park of Baron Stauffenberg) and Warthausen (with a château of Herr von König) to Biberach.

$81\frac{1}{2}$ M. Biberach (1748 ft.; Goldner Löwe; Württembergischer Hof; Bahnhofs-Hôtel, all three at the station), with 9100 inhab., once a free town of the Empire, is still partly surrounded by walls and towers. From the rail. station we follow the Bahnhof-

Str. and the Pfluggasse to (7 min.) the Old Hospital, containing the municipal collection of antiquities, pictures, and objects of natural history (open free on Sun., 1-4; at other times 1 M., two or more 50 pf. each). About 200 yds. to the S. is the villa of Chr. M. Wieland, who was born in 1733 in the neighbouring village of Ober-Holzheim, held a civil appointment here in 1760-69, and is said to have collected materials for his 'Abderiten' from among the townspeople. It contains a few reminiscences of the poet. About $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the N.W. of the rail. station is the 'Lindele', a fine point of view on the Lindenberg. Another good view is obtained from the Gigelberg (2011 ft.), on the W. side of the town, $\frac{3}{4}$ M. from the station.

About 2 M. to the S.E. of Biberach station (omnibus several times daily; 40 pf.) and 1 M. from Ummendorf (see below) is the frequented hydropathic of Jordanbad (1771 ft.; pens., 1st. cl., from $4\frac{1}{2}$ M.), pleasantly situated in the Risstal, on the margin of the wood, with a chalybeate spring ('Kneipp Cure').

A branch-railway runs from Biberach to ($13\frac{1}{2}$ M.; $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Ochsenhausen, a small market-village with a Benedictine abbey founded in 1093 (now an agricultural school and orphanage) and an elaborately decorated baroque church.

The country becomes more attractive, and woods begin to appear on both sides. $84\frac{1}{2}$ M. Ummendorf, with a Mount Calvary. — 94 M. Schussenried ('das Ried'; Bahnhof-Hôtel), a village known for the lake-dwellings discovered near it. The district lunatic asylum here, formerly a Præmonstratensian monastery, contains a sumptuous library-hall with ceiling-paintings by F. Hermann (1757).

A branch-line runs hence to ($5\frac{1}{2}$ M.; $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Buchau, a little town with an ancient nunnery (now a château of Prince Taxis), $\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the N. of which is the Federsee (ca. 620 acres in extent).

At (97 M.) Aulendorf (Löwe; Rail. Restaurant), junction of the Herbertingen and Memmingen line (p. 76), is the château of Count Königsegg, with a garden commanding a fine view of the distant Alps and a well-stocked deer-park.

We now follow the small river Schussen to Friedrichshafen. — To the left, beyond ($107\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Niederbiegen, rises the abbey of Weingarten (p. 47). Towards the S. the mountains of Appenzell come in view.

$110\frac{1}{2}$ M. Ravensburg (1420 ft.; Kaiserhof, R. $1\frac{1}{4}$ - $2\frac{1}{2}$, B. $\frac{3}{4}$ M.; Railway Hotel Hildebrand, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ - $2\frac{1}{2}$, D. $2\frac{1}{4}$ M., both very fair), an ancient town with 14,800 inhab. and numerous towers. From the rail. station we follow the Eisenbahn-Str. to (7 min.) the market-place, with (r.) the Rathaus (16th cent.). Turning first to the left and then to the right, we next reach the Konzerthaus (1897), containing a Collection of Antiquities. From the Rathaus the Markt-Str. leads to the S.E. to (3 min.) the Ober-Tor, near which is the tower called the Mehlsack ('sack of flour'; 180 ft.). From the Ober-Tor we may climb the Veitsburg in 10 minutes.

The Veitsburg (1719 ft.; restaurant), to the S. of the town, is surmounted by a view-tower, on the site of a Guelphic castle, which commands an extensive view of the Lake of Constance, the Alps of Appenzell, and the Vorarlberg. A still finer point is the Waldburg (2615 ft.), 2 hrs. to the E., the well-preserved ancestral castle of the family of that name ('Truchsess von Waldburg').

From Ravensburg a steam-tramway runs to the N.E. in 20 min. to ($2\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Weingarten (König Wilhelm), a town of 7100 inhab., with an imposing Benedictine abbey with three towers, founded by the Guelphs in 1053 and now used as barracks. The elaborate baroque church (1715-22) contains the mausoleum of the Guelphs (1852) and the Monument of the Guelphs, by Klenze, erected by King George V. of Hanover in 1859. The stucco-ornamentation by Schmuizer, the ceiling-paintings by Asam, the choir-stalls (ca. 1720), and the large organ, by Gabler, over the vestibule (1737) are also noteworthy.

From (116 M.) Meckenbeuren (Bahnhof-Hôtel) an electric railway runs to ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Tett nang, with the large château of the extinct Counts of Montfort. About 4 M. to the S. rises the Argenhardter Kapf (1798 ft.; belvedere). The Lake of Constance at length becomes visible. From the Town Station of ($122\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Friedrichshafen (see p. 84) the train runs backwards to the Harbour.

To the right in the valley, near Köngen (the Roman Vicus Grinario; excavated castrum), the Neckar is crossed by an ancient stone bridge (restored in 1603; obelisk), from which Duke Ulrich is said to have leaped in 1519 in order to escape capture by the troops of the Swabian League. To the left rise the Teck, Hohen-Neuffen, and other Alb Mts. $21\frac{1}{2}$ M. Nürtingen (935 ft.; Krone, Schöll, at the station), a manufacturing town (pop. 6750) on the right bank of the Neckar. The late-Gothic parish-church contains a fine Renaissance choir-screen. Branch-line to Neuffen, see p. 63. — 25 M. Neckartailfingen; the village of that name, with an early-Romanesque church (12th cent.), lies 2 M. to the W. — The line now quits the Neckar-Tal; fine view of the Alb to the left.

Reutlingen (1230 ft.), once a free city of the empire, now an industrial town with 23,900 inhab., weaving and spinning mills, and tanneries, is picturesquely situated on the Echaz. The Garten-Tor (N.E.) and Tübinger-Tor (S.W.) are well-preserved relics of its ancient fortifications, but the ramparts and fosses have been converted into well-built streets.

In the List-Platz, in front of the Railway Station (Pl. B, 1), is a monument to Frederick List (1789-1846), the political economist, who was a native of Reutlingen. We now follow first (right) the Karl-Str., then (left) the Wilhelm-Strasse. To the right, in the latter, is the St. Nikolaus-Kirche (1358; Pl. B, 1), and farther on, to the left, is the Heiliggeist-Kirche or Spital-Kirche (Pl. B, 2). In the (6 min.) market-place (Pl. B, 2) is the Maximilians-Brunnen (Pl. 3), the original of which (1570) is preserved in the Spendhaus (p. 49). In the part of the Wilhelm-Str. beyond the market-place, to the left, is the (Prot.) Church of St. Mary* (Pl. B, C, 2), the noble Gothic edifice in Swabia, dating from the 13-14th cent., with some Romanesque remains (entr., Oberamtei-Str.; adm. 20 pf.; sexton, Wilhelm-Str. 80). It was burned in 1726, and thoroughly restored by Dolmetsch in 1893-1901. The beautiful tower is 240 ft. high. In the interior are frescoes of the early 14th cent., some of which have been restored. The octagonal stone font of 1499 (E. end of S. aisle) is richly sculptured; the reliefs in the niches represent the Baptism of Christ and the Seven Sacraments. The Holy Sepulchre by the E. wall of the choir (about 1480) is also very interesting. — The Marienkirch-Brunnen (Pl. 2) is embellished with a figure of Emp. Frederick II., restored in 1903. In the upper Wilhelm-Str. is the late-Gothic Linden-Brunnen (1544; Pl. 1). About 3 M. to the S.W. of St. Mary's is the Spendhaus (Pl. B, 3), the old town-warehouse, now containing the collections of the Natural History Society and the Society of Art and Antiquity (Sun. 1-3, free; at other times, fee). — To the S.W. of the inner town are Lucas's Pomological Institution (Pl. A, B, 3) and the Bruderhaus (Pl. A, 2), a refuge established by Pastor Werner (d. 1887). To the E. is the Weaving School (beyond Pl. C, 2). — The Panorama-Weg, skirting the Honau railway from the station, affords pretty views; the little sulphur-bath of Heilbrunnen is $\frac{3}{4}$ M. to the N.E. of the station.

ASCENT OF THE ACHALM, footpath in $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. (comp. Map, p. 66). From the railway-station we ascend the Garten-Strasse and at the end of it turn to the left by the Burg-Strasse; in 20 min. we reach the foot of the Achalm and the path passes under a bridge; after 3 min. we ascend to the left through vineyards towards the dairy; after 7 min. we go straight on, avoiding the path to the left, and reach a royal dairy (rifmts.) in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. more; thence by a winding path to the summit in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. The Achalm* (2312 ft.), an isolated mountain, is crowned by a ruined castle, the tower of which may be ascended (key at the dairy). Admirable view: Rossberg, Schloss Lichtenstein, the Hohen-Neuffen, Teck, Hohen-Rechberg, Hohenstaufen, and other peaks of the Alb; the cultivated plain as far as Stuttgart; the Black Forest from the heights around Triberg and St. Georgen to Pforzheim; picturesque foreground; below us lies Reutlingen, to the E. Eningen, to the S. Pfullingen. — To Eningen (p. 65), $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.

POST AND TELEGRAPH OFFICE (Pl. C, 3), Neckargasse.

A flying visit to the town, including the Schänzle, takes 2½ hrs.

Tübingen (1036 ft.), a town with 16,800 inhab., finely situated on the floor and slopes of the Neckar and Ammer valleys, is first heard of in a document of 1078. It possesses a university (1800 students), founded by Count Eberhard im Bart in 1477. Melanchthon was a lecturer here (1512-18) before he was summoned to Wittenberg.

From the Railway Station (Pl. C, 5), which lies to the S. of the town, we traverse the beautiful shady promenades of the 'Wörth' to a bronze Statue of Uhland (Pl. 3; C, 5), by Kietz (1872).

From Uhland's statue we proceed to the right to the bridge over the Neckar (1901), on which is a Monument to Count Eberhard (see above). Immediately beyond the bridge (to the right, at the beginning of the Mühl-Strasse) is Uhland's House (Pl. 6; C, D, 4), in which the poet died in 1862. The house in which he was born is in the Neckar-Halde (tablet; No. 24; Pl. 5, B 4). — On the Oesterberg (p. 51) are houses belonging to student-societies ('fraternity houses').

The streets of the old town are narrow and picturesque. The choir of the late-Gothic Stifts-Kirche (15th cent.; Pl. C, 4; sacristan at Münzgasse 5, to the W. of the church) contains old stained glass; twelve monuments with recumbent stone figures of Wurtemberg princes, including Count Eberhard im Bart (d. 1496) and Duke Ulrich (d. 1550); and a winged altar-piece of the Ulm School (1520; Crucifixion, etc.). The choir-stalls in carved wood, below the organ, are of the school of Syrlin (early 16th cent.). — Below the Stifts-Kirche is the old Aula, containing the class-rooms of the faculty of arts (art-historical institute, adm. Thurs. 9-12 & 2-5, Sun. 10.30-12.30). — The Town Hall (Pl. B, 4), erected in 1435 and remodelled in 1698, was enlarged in 1908. — The Stift (Pl. B, 4), a Protestant seminary with 160 pupils, founded in 1536 by Duke Ulrich, is established in an old Augustinian monastery. The Roman Catholic Wilhelmstift (Pl. C, 3), with 150 students, occupies the old Collegium Illustre, founded in 1588 for sons of the nobility.

In the new N. quarter of the town, in the handsome Wilhelm-Strasse and to the W. of it, lie the University, various University Institutes, and several Hospitals. At the back of the university rises an obelisk in memory of Silcher, the composer (d. 1860; Pl. 2, D 2). — The Botanical Garden (Pl. C, 2, 3) of the university contains a monument to the poet Hölderlin (d. 1843; Pl. 1), presented by the sculptor Andresen in 1881. — The Geological and Zoological Institute (Pl. D, 1) accommodates the Natural History Collections of the university, among the notable features of which are the fossils of the Triassic and Jurassic periods (huge saurians), the meteorites, and the amber. — In the Cemetery (Pl. B, C, 1) rest Ludwig Uhland (Pl. 7; see above) and Friedrich Hölderlin (see above).

By the Town Hall (p. 50) the Wiener Gässle, continued by the Burgsteige, ascends to the left to the Schloss Hohen-Tübingen (1215 ft.; Pl. A, 4), situated on a hill commanding the town, and erected by Duke Ulrich in the Renaissance style in 1537. The richly decorated outer portal dates from 1606, the inner portal from 1538 (restored in 1892; comp. p. xxviii). It contains the University Library (new building in progress) and the Observatory. The cellars contain an immense cask (18,700 gallons) and a deep well (formerly descending to the level of the Neckar). The attendant lives in the second archway to the right (20 pf.).

Fine *View from the Schänzle (Pl. A, 4), at the back of the Schloss (reached from the court of the Schloss by the gate and flight of steps beyond the well), and from the Lichtenberger Höhe (beyond Pl. A, 4; Bismarck Tower), 10 min. farther to the W. — On the summit of the Oesterberg (1436 ft.; bey. Pl. D, 4; 20 min. from the town) is the Kaiser-Wilhelm-Turm (adm. 20 pf.). The view extends from the Hohenstaufen to the Plettenberg and the Hornisgrinde. — Other points of view are, to the N., the Waldhäuser Höhe ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.), Eberhards-Höhe ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.), and Steinenberg (view-tower; $\frac{3}{4}$ hr.), and to the W., beyond the Schloss, the Oedenburg.

One of the favourite excursions from Tübingen is that to Bebenhausen, which lies 4 M. to the N. The charge for a one-horse carr. there and back is 3 M.; that of a carr.-&-pair to Bebenhausen, then through the woods to Entringen (inn), and back to Tübingen, is 10-11 M. Walkers may return in 3 hrs. viâ Hohenentrungen. — Bebenhausen (Hirsch; Waldhorn, both unpretending), a village in the valley of the Goldersbach, possesses a well-preserved old *CISTERCIAN ABBEY, founded ca. 1185, suppressed in 1534, restored in the 19th cent., and now a royal hunting-lodge. It is one of the finest mediæval structures in Swabia and, like Maulbronn, one of the most picturesque conventual establishments in Germany. We enter by the Schreiber-Turm on the W. side and turn to the right (bell for the keeper; open 9-4, in summer 9-6; adm. 50 pf., on Sun. 25 pf.). The inner wall (end of the 13th cent.) is almost intact. The church, originally a flat-roofed Romanesque basilica of 1188-1227, was frequently remodelled (last in 1566-68). The octagonal flèche was added by Georg von Salem in 1407-09. In the E. wall of the rectilinear choir is a large and beautiful traceried window (ca. 1335). To the S. are the late-Gothic cloisters (1471-96), with their interesting well-house, round which are grouped the conventual buildings. To the E. are the Chapter Room (with unique capitals and ceiling-paintings of 1528), the Parlatorium, or audience-room, and a Recreation Room for the lay-brothers, all three in the late-Romanesque style. To the S. are the Kitchen and the large Gothic Summer Refectory (1335), with interesting ceiling-paintings, a painting of the 14th cent. (Virgin on Solomon's throne, over the door), and a collection of arms and armour and goldsmith's work. To the W. are the Lay Brothers' Dining Hall and the low late-Gothic Winter Refectory (1470), with a fresco of the expedition of the Cistercian knights of Calatrava against the Moors and tapestry of the 17th century. Farther to the E. is the Abbot's House (Herrenhaus), dating substantially from 1532 and containing the rooms occupied by the king.

On a height (1558 ft.), $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the W. of Tübingen, rises the Wurmlinger Kapelle, commanding an extensive view. Its praises have been sung by Uhland and other poets. (The chapel may be reached by a pleasant path through the wood from the Schloss at Tübingen, following the top of the hill, viâ the Schänzle and Lichtenberg; see above.)

From Tübingen to Hechingen and Sigmaringen, see R. 12, 52 M. Rottenburg (1115 ft.; Bär, R. $1\frac{1}{4}$ -2 M., B. 60 pf.; Römischer Kaiser, both in the market-place), an old town (7500 inhab.) picturesquely situated on the left bank of the Neckar, is an episcopal see. It is connected by two bridges with the suburb of Ehingen (with the rail. station and post-office). From the rail. station we reach the (5 min.) market-place by the Bahnhof-Str. and the lower bridge, passing on the way the Tithe Barn (Zehntscheuer), containing a collection of Roman antiquities found here in the old Roman station of Sumelocenna (key opposite). In the market-place are a fine late-Gothic Fountain of 1470, and the late-Gothic Church of St. Martin (now modernized), with its perforated spire. The Bischofshof, to the E., formerly a Jesuit convent, contains the Diocesan Museum (on the 2nd floor; ring; fee), comprising paintings and carvings of the Swabian School of the 15th and 16th cent., nearly all of which are spoiled by retouching.

At the Altstadt (1394 ft.), $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. to the S.E., is a Frankish camp; $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. farther to the S., beyond the village of Weiler, is the Weilerburg (1820 ft; belvedere). — The Sülchen-Kapelle, 1 M. to the N.E. of Rottenburg, once the centre of the Süllich-Gau, is the burial-church of the Roman Catholic bishops of Wurtemberg.

The train crosses the Neckar and follows the left bank. Vineyards gradually give way to pine-forest. 53 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Niedernau. The mineral baths of that name lie in the Katzenbach-Tal, on the opposite bank. — The line crosses the Neckar, and beyond (55 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Bieringen the Starzel. To the right, beyond a tunnel, rises Schloss Weitenburg. — On a pine-clad hill to the left of (59 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Eyach, with its mineral water factory, is the ruin of Frundeck.

FROM EYACH TO STETTEN, 8 M., light railway up the Eyach-Tal. — 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Mähringen, with a château. — 6 $\frac{3}{4}$ M. Haigerloch (1394 ft.; Post), a little Prussian town with 1300 inhab., picturesquely situated on both sides of the Eyach, and commanded by a 16th cent. Schloss (chapel rebuilt in 1748). A road (diligence) runs hence to the E. to Hechingen (p. 72; 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.). — From (8 M.) Stetten, with salt-works, a road goes on to the S. to Balingen (p. 72; 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.).

64 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Horb, see p. 53.

10. From Stuttgart to Böblingen and Schaffhausen.

122 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. RAILWAY in 4-8 hrs. (fares 15 M 50, 9 M 40, 6 M 20 pf.; express fares, 17 M 50, 11 M 40, 7 M 20 pf.). This is the direct route from Stuttgart to Central Switzerland (express from Stuttgart to Zürich in 5-6 hrs.) and to the Baden Oberland (see p. 57).

From Stuttgart (Central Station) to the (5 M.) West Station (1214 ft.), see p. 15. Just beyond the station the train penetrates the Hasenberg, and then ascends (1:100), high above the suburb of Heslach and the gradually contracting valley. Pretty views to the left. The line runs through wood and is carried across three deep gorges by lofty embankments. At (9 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Vaihingen the train reaches the Filder, the fertile upland plain to the S. of Stuttgart (p. 15); the Swabian Alb rises in the background. — The Schönbuchwald is now traversed to ($15\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Böblingen (1435 ft; Waldhorn or Post; Kurhaus Waldburg, 1 M. from the rail. station), an old town with 5700 inhabitants.

$25\frac{1}{2}$ M. Herrenberg (1413 ft.; Post, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2, B. $\frac{3}{4}$ M), an old town (2600 inhab.) on the edge of the fertile Gäu, has an imposing abbey-church of the 14-15th cent., with good choir-stalls (1517). The Schlossberg affords a good view. To the S.E. are the hills of the Schönbuch and in the distance the Alb.

36 M. Eutingen (1550 ft.; Rail. Restaurant), junction for Pforzheim (p. 22). Branch-railway to Freudenstadt and Hausach, see p. 57.

The train descends the narrow valley of Mühlen, with the ruined Stauffenberg on the left, threads a tunnel, and crosses the Neckar.

41 M. Horb (1280 ft.; Zum Kaiser; Bahnhof-Hôtel, with view of the town; Rail. Restaurant), a small town with 2500 inhab., in a picturesque situation, has an interesting late-Gothic Spital-Kirche (R. C.). The town-walls are in partial preservation. On the hill, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. from the station, is the old Schütte-Turm (view; key at the apothecary's). Hops abound.

Berthold Auerbach (1812-82), the novelist of the Black Forest, was born and is buried at Nordstetten (brewery), $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the S.E. of the rail. station.

From Horb to Stuttgart viâ Tübingen and Plochingen, see R. 9; to Calw and Pforzheim, see p. 22.

The train for a short way traverses Prussian territory. $45\frac{1}{2}$ M. Neckarhausen. We return to the left bank. To the E. above Fischingen rises the extensive ruin of Wehrstein. — $50\frac{1}{2}$ M. Sulz am Neckar (1410 ft; Waldhorn), a little town with salt springs. Then a tunnel. To the left beyond it rises the ruin of Albeck. — Near (56 M.) Aistaig pleasant glimpses of the valley are enjoyed. — 57 M. Oberndorf (1518 ft.; Post, R. $1-2\frac{1}{2}$ M, very fair), a little town to the right (pop. 4000). The old Augustine monastery is now a rifle-factory. — 61 M. Epfendorf; 64 M. Talhausen. The line is carried over four bridges, through three tunnels, with various ruins to the right and left, and lastly by a long tunnel through the hill on which Rottweil lies. In the valley, to the right, is a large Powder Mill.

$68\frac{1}{2}$ M. Rottweil (1968 ft.; Rottweiler Hof, Bahnhof-Str.; Wilder Mann, Hochbrücktor-Str., R. $1\frac{3}{4}$ - $2\frac{1}{2}$ M, B. $\frac{3}{4}$, D. 2 M; Bahnhof-Hôtel; Rail. Restaurant), an ancient town with 9000 inhab., was a free city of the Empire down to 1802. It is finely situated high above the Neckar. Above the railway station is the site of a large Frankish camp, while the hamlet of Altstadt, $\frac{3}{4}$ M. to the S., covers the remains of a Roman colony (Aræ Flaviæ). The saline springs and baths of Wilhelmshall lie $\frac{1}{2}$ M. farther to the S.

From the rail. station we follow the Bahnhof-Str. to the right, cross (12 min.) the 'Hoch-Brücke', and reach the inner town. Continuing in the same direction along the Hochbrücktor-Str., we come to (3 min.; right) the Kapellen-Kirche, which was remodelled in 1721-29. The three portals of its lofty Gothic tower (14-15th cent.) are adorned with noteworthy sculptures. A little to the N. is the Market Fountain (29 ft. high), surmounted by the figure of a 'Landsknecht' (ca. 1550). By descending the Haupt-Str. to the right and taking the Lorenzgasse on the left, we reach the Chapel of St. Lawrence, a late-Gothic structure of 1579 (?). The interior (key kept at the house opposite its S. side; catalogue 20 pf.) contains a collection of mediæval wood-carvings and pictures. In the centre is a mosaic pavement from a Roman bath (Orpheus). — We now retrace our steps to the market-fountain and ascend the Haupt-Str. to (4 min.) the Schwarze Turm, passing the Rathaus (1521; façade-paintings of 1884) and the Antiquarian Museum (Roman relics; ring). A little to the N. is the Heilige-Kreuz-Kirche, a fine Gothic structure of the 13-16th centuries. About 300 yds. to the W. of the Schwarze Turm stands the massive Hochturm (177 ft.).

The well-wooded Lemberg (3330 ft.; shelter-but), the loftiest summit of the Swabian Alb, may be ascended in 3 hrs. from Rottweil; we cross the Neckar by the iron foot-bridge above the station and proceed viâ Wellendingen and Wilflingen (a Hohenzollern 'enclave'). The tower (100 ft. high) on the top commands a splendid view of the Swabian Alb, the Black Forest, and the Alps. The Oberhohenberg (3317 ft.), $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. to the N. of the Lemberg, the highest summit of the Alb but one, commands a poor view. — From Gosheim (2780 ft.; Sonne), $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. to the S. of the Lemberg, a fine hill-walk may be taken viâ the Klippeneck (3220 ft.) to the ($2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) Dreifaltigkeitsberg (see p. 55).

FROM RÖTTWEIL TO VILLINGEN, 17 M., railway in $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. — $7\frac{1}{2}$ M. Trossingen, whence an electric tramway ($2\frac{1}{2}$ M. in 12 min.) runs to the village of that name, with mouth-organ factories. — 11 M. Schwenningen (Lamm, clean), a town with 13,000 inhab. and a technical school for skilled mechanics. About 1 M. to the S. is the Source of the Neckar (425 ft.), a reservoir with small gardens and a bathing-establishment; $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the W. stands the Hölzlekönig, a fir-tree 140 ft. high dating from the middle of the 16th century. — The line traverses a lofty plain, the watershed between the Rhine and Danube, and then descends the Brigach-Tal to Villingen (see Baedeker's Rhine).

Ascent of the Plettenberg from Rottweil, see p. 72. — A motor-stage runs to ($15\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Schramberg (p. 59).

The line crosses the Neckar and enters the broad Primtal. To the left, several picturesque glimpses of the spurs of the Alb. — 72 M. Neufra. The line ascends gradually, and then traverses a high-lying, well-cultivated plain, forming part of the Baar (see p. 55). — $74\frac{1}{2}$ M. Aldingen. To the left rises the long ridge of the Heuberg, the W. part of the Alb, with the Dreifaltigkeitsberg (p. 55). To the right are the Hohenkarpfen (p. 55) and the Lupfen (p. 55). — $77\frac{1}{2}$ M. Spaichingen (2200 ft.; Alte Post or Osswald, R. $1\frac{3}{4}$ - $2\frac{1}{4}$ M.; Bahnhof-Hôtel), a straggling little town (2700 inhab.).

The Dreifaltigkeitsberg (3225 ft.), a spur of the Heuberg, with a frequented pilgrimage-church, is ascended from Spaichingen in 1 hr.; the tower on the top (20 pf.) commands a magnificent view. Rfmts. at the sacristan's house (also beds).

Spaichingen is also the starting-point for a visit to the Baar, an undulating and fertile plateau (2300-2600 ft.), partly wooded, which extends from Rottweil (N.) to Tuttlingen (S.) and is bounded on the W. by the spurs of the Black Forest and on the E. by the Heuberg (p. 54). The following is an attractive excursion (to Tuttlingen, 7 hrs.). We proceed to the S. to (1 hr.) Hausen ob Verena (2645 ft.), beyond which a road (to the left) leads to the ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Hohenkarpfen (2980 ft.), a flattened cone, with a ruined castle. Thence we proceed to the S.W. to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) wooded and coffin-shaped Lupfen (3202 ft.), with a ruined castle, refuge-hut, and view-tower, and then descend to the S. to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Talheim (2475 ft.; Linde), birth-place and burial-place of Max Schneckenburger (1819-49), author of the 'Wacht am Rhein'. — From Talheim we go on via the Konzenberg (2615 ft.; ruined castle) to the ($\frac{1}{4}$ hrs.) railway-station of Möhringen (see below) or to (3 hrs.) Tuttlingen.

82 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Wurmlingen, a village on the Faulenbach. The line describes a long curve, and crosses the Danube by an iron bridge.

85 M. Tuttlingen (2120 ft.; Post, R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -1 $\frac{3}{4}$, B. $\frac{3}{4}$, D. 2 M; Hecht; Kaiserhof; Schwarzer Bär; Railway Restaurant), a thriving town (14,600 inhab.), lies on the right bank of the Danube. Above it (S.) rise the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) ruins of the Honburg (2415 ft.), destroyed during the Thirty Years' War. A monument, by Jahn, was erected in the Bahnhof-Str. in 1892 to Max Schneckenburger (see above). The Witthoh (2820 ft.), a ridge 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the S., is a good point of view; descent thence to Hattingen (see below), $\frac{3}{4}$ hr.; to Möhringen (see below), 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. — From Tuttlingen to Sigmaringen and Ulm, see R. 12 and R. 13.

The line traverses the broad valley of the Danube, and crosses the river near (87 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Möhringen. Some of the Danube water filters through the earth here and re-appears in the Aach Spring, 8 M. to the S. — 91 M. Immendingen (2158 ft.; Falke; Rail. Restaurant, very fair), junction for Donauesschingen and Waldshut (see Baedeker's Rhine).

The train recrosses the Danube, gradually ascends its S. bank, penetrates the watershed between the Danube and the Rhine by deep cuttings, and descends beyond (94 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Hattingen (2265 ft.; Ochs) through a tunnel (985 yds. long) and over several lofty viaducts. — 98 M. Talmühle (inn). We now descend the wooded Engener-Tal to (101 M.) Engen (1705 ft.; Stern; Hegau), a small town, where the mountains are quitted. About 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the S.W. rises the Hohenhöwen (2670 ft.), a basaltic cone.

The train now skirts the volcanic peaks of the Hegau. To the S. of (103 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Welschingen rises the two-peaked Hohenstoffeln (2775 ft.). 106 M. Mühlhausen, at the foot of the basaltic Mägdeberg (2185 ft.). 107 M. Hohenkrähen (1450 ft.) lies at the foot of a bold rock (2116 ft.), crowned with fragments of an old castle.

110 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Singen. — HOTELS. Schweizerhof, with lift, R. 1 $\frac{3}{4}$ -3, D. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -3, pens. 5-8 M; Adler, R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2 $\frac{1}{2}$, D. 2 M, these two at the rail. station; Krone, $\frac{1}{2}$ M. from the station, an old-established house, R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$, D. 2 M; Ekkehard, R. 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ -1 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. — Railway Restaurant.

Singen (1405 ft.), on the Aach, is the station for visitors to the Hohentwiel, which rises on a lofty isolated rock 3 M. to the N.W. About $\frac{1}{2}$ M. beyond the Krone we turn to the right from the Gottmadingen road; 1 M. farther on lies the Inn zum Hohentwiel, whence we reach the ruin in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. (adm. 20 pf.).

The fortress of Hohentwiel* (2253 ft.) was the seat of Alemannian dukes in the 9th and 10th cent. and has belonged to Wurtemberg since 1538. It was successfully defended during the Thirty Year's War by the Wurtemberg commandant Widerhold. In 1800 it was destroyed by the French. The imposing ruins command a superb view. Comp. Scheffel's 'Ekkehard'.

114 M. Gottmadingen; 117 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Thaingen; 120 M. Herblingen, with its château (1970 ft.; view).

Schaffhausen (1300 ft.) is a picturesque old Swiss town (17,000 inhab.) on the right bank of the Rhine, formerly a free town of the Empire, and now the capital of the canton of that name. It is most picturesque when seen from the village of Feuertalen, on the left bank of the Rhine, or from Villa Charlottenfels, on the right bank, 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the W. (tramway). Herr Moser (d. 1874), the first owner of the villa, originated the great Water Works in the Rhine, for the supply of the town's factories. The Münster (Pl. B, 2), an early-Romanesque basilica of 1052-1101, has recently been restored (interior). The massive castle of Munot (Pl. B, 2), erected in 1564 to 1582, dominates the town (fine view; 50 c.). The Promenade (Pl. A, 2) commands a fine view of the Rhine and the Alps.

About 2 M. to the S. of Schaffhausen, and reached either by railway or electric tramway, is Neuhausen (1445 ft.), the station for the Falls of the Rhine.

Neuhausen. — HOTELS. On the hill, near the 'Baden' station: Schweizerhof*, R. 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ -7, B. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$, D. 5, pens. 10-18 fr., with extensive grounds and best view of the Falls and the Alps; Bellevue*, R. 3-5, B. 1 $\frac{1}{4}$, D. 4 fr., with similar view. — In the village: Hôtel-Pension Germania*, R. 3-4, B. 1 $\frac{1}{4}$, D. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ -3, pens. 6-10 fr.; Oberberg; Hôtel Badischer Bahnhof; Hôtel Rheinfall, R. 2-3 fr.; Hôtel Schweizer Bahnhof, near the 'Swiss' station, R. 2-3 fr. — The Falls may be visited in 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2 hrs. Illumination of the Falls every evening in Aug., for which $\frac{3}{4}$ -1 fr. is charged in the hotel-bill. — English Church in the 'Schweizerhof' grounds (services in summer).

From the station of the Baden Railway we take the road to the left, and after a few paces descend by a path to the right to (5 min.) the Village of Neuhausen. Before reaching the Rheinfall Hotel, at the finger-post, we descend to the right, and 100 yds. farther on we take the shady path to the left, which leads past the Waggon Factory to the ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Rheinfall-Brücke, which carries the Winterthur line across the river. On the left bank a footpath ascends in 5 min. to the Schloss Laufen (hotel), situated on a wooded rock immediately above the Falls. Its garden (adm. 1 fr.) contains the best points from which to view the Falls: viz. the Pavilion, the Känzeli (pulpit), and the so-called Fischez, an iron platform projecting over the foaming abyss. At the lower exit of the garden, boats are ready to ferry us across (50 c.) to the Schlösschen Wörth (inn), also affording a fine general view of the Falls. A boat to the rock in the midst of the Falls, on which a landing may be made, costs 3 fr. (1-2 pers.). — From the Schlösschen Wörth we may either return direct to the rail. station or follow the path ascending along the right bank (benches). Just short of the Aluminium Factory a path ascends to the left to the road, which leads down to the right to a stone platform commanding another good view. For fuller details, see Baedeker's Switzerland.

FROM EUTINGEN (p. 53) TO HAUSACH, 42 $\frac{1}{2}$ M., branch-railway in 2 hrs. (from Stuttgart, 4 hrs.). The line turns to the W. and as far as (2 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Hochdorf (1650 ft.) coincides with the Nagold railway (p. 22). It then ascends and enters the Black Forest. — 15 M. Dornstetten (2065 ft.), with 1200 inhab., has a late-Gothic church (early 15th cent.) — Three lofty viaducts.

18 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Freudenstadt. — The MAIN RAILWAY STATION (Pl. C, 2; 2180 ft.; Restaurant) lies $\frac{3}{4}$ M. to the E. of the town; near the town is a second station (Pl. A, 1) for the branch-line to Kloster-Reichenbach.

Freudenstadt (2395 ft.), a town with 7900 inhab., with cloth-factories and timber trade, was founded in 1599 by Duke Friedrich I. of Wurtemberg for Protestant refugees from Salzburg, and is now a summer-resort, visited by about 7000 guests annually. It also affords opportunity for winter-sports. The plan of the town is peculiar. In the centre is an extensive Platz (now partly occupied by gardens), surrounded by arcaded houses, while in and near it are the Rathaus (Pl. A, 1), the School, the Protestant Church (Pl. A, 2), the Ober-Amt (District Office), and the Post Office (Pl. A, 1). The curious church, built in 1601-8 and restored in 1887-99, consists of two naves at right angles, one set apart for male, the other for female worshippers, while pulpit and altar are placed at the apex of the angle. At the end of each nave is a tower. The front of the galleries is embellished with stucco-reliefs of Biblical subjects. The wall-paintings are by Zuberle (restored). The Romanesque font and reading-desk, the carved choir-stalls (1488), and a fine crucifix of the early 16th cent. all come from the Convent of Alpirsbach (sexton, Schul-Str. 323, to the E. of the church). — Freudenstadt is surrounded by fine pine-woods, traversed by promenades such as the Teucheles-Weg (Café Noll), running towards the S.W., to the left of the road to the Kniebis. About $\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the S.E. is the so-called Palmenwald (Pl. B, 3; Café Stokinger), with beautiful ferns. On the Kienberg (2525 ft.; restaurant) is the Herzog Friedrich Tower (Pl. A, 3; panorama).

Branch-railway from Freudenstadt to Kloster-Reichenbach viâ Baiersbronn, see Baedeker's Rhine. — Excellent roads lead to the W. viâ the Kniebis to (12 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Griesbach (one-horse carr. 10, two-horse 18 M), and to the S.W. viâ Zwieselberg to (7 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Rippoldsau (carr. 7 or 12 M; motor-omnibus, see Baedeker's Rhine).

The train turns to the S. and beyond (22 M.) Lossburg-Rodt (2145 ft.) enters the Kinzig-Tal. — 28 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Alpirsbach (1425 ft.; Löwe or Post, pens. 4-5 M, very fair; Schwan), with 1500 inhab., has a brisk trade in timber and straw-hats. The large Prot. church (judiciously restored in 1879-82), begun in 1098 as a cruciform Romanesque basilica and completed in the Transition style, originally belonged to a Benedictine monastery founded in 1095 by a Count of Zollern. Over the portal is a Romanesque relief of the founder and his wife on each side of a figure of Christ on a rainbow, supported by two angels. The originally Romanesque cloisters were rebuilt in the Gothic style in 1480-90. Comp. p. xix. In the neighbourhood is the Rudolfsbad or Krähenbad, for nervous sufferers.

31 M. Schenkenzell (1170 ft.; Ochs, Sonne), at the mouth of the Kleine Kinzig, with a ruined castle. — The train threads a tunnel, on the hill over which are the ruined Schenkenburg and a hotel. — 33 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Schiltach (1070 ft.; Bahnhof-Hôtel, R. 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ to 2 $\frac{1}{4}$ M; Krone; Engel), an old town (1700 inhab.), situated at the junction of the Schiltach and Kinzig, is the last station in Württemberg. Branch-railway to (5 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Schramberg, see Baedeker's Rhine. — 39 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Wolfach (Salmen, R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2 $\frac{1}{2}$ M; Krone; Ochse). — 42 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Hausach (Bahnhofs-Hôtel; Hirsch), see Baedeker's Rhine.

11. The Swabian Alb.

This district, the central part of Swabia and sometimes also called the Swabian Jura, is an undulating limestone plateau, about 130 M. long and 10-25 M. broad, intersected by picturesque valleys, bounded on the W. by the Black Forest, on the N. by the valley of the Neckar, and on the S. by the Danube. Its S.E. slopes are gentle, but its N.W. face rises abruptly from the valley, attaining at places a height of 1300 ft. The Alb has played an important rôle in the recent history of geology in general and of palæontology in particular, owing to the enormous quantity of fossils found in the Jurassic strata of which the plateau consists.

The hills on the side towards the Neckar are picturesquely grouped, affording numerous views; the valleys are luxuriantly fertile and partly clothed with fine beech-forest; many of the towns are antiquated and interesting. Pedestrians in particular will find many attractions. Inns generally good and inexpensive. The finest points are Lichtenstein and Hohenzollern. The best season for a visit is spring or autumn.

Between Hohenstaufen, the Ipf, and Ulm stretches the E. part of the Alb, consisting mainly of the Härtsfeld and the Albuch. The Central Alb lies between Göppingen and Hohenzollern on one side, and Ulm and Sigmaringen on the other. The S.W. wing of the Alb is formed of the beautiful range of hills between the Hohenzoller and the Lupfen, the plateau of the Heuberg, and the valley of the Danube between Tuttlingen and Sigmaringen.

PLAN OF EXCURSION. 1st Day. Gmünd, Hohen-Rechberg, Hohenstaufen, Göppingen; by rail to Nürtingen. — 2nd Day. By rail to Stadt Neuffen; Hohen-Neuffen; descent to Urach; Hohen-Urach; Urach Waterfall; by rail to Reutlingen. — 3rd Day. Reutlingen, Achalm, Nebelhöhle, Lichtenstein. — 4th Day. Tübingen, Hohenzoller. — 5th Day. Upper Valley of the Danube (Sigmaringen to Beuron or Tuttlingen). — Travellers coming from Stuttgart, whose time is limited, should ascend the Hohenstaufen direct from Lorch via the Wärschenschlössle.

The Schwäbische Alb-Verein (annual subscription, 2 M.: 33.000 members) has done good service in constructing paths, erecting guide-posts, etc., and issues two good maps of the district (1:50,000 and 1:150,000). Placards with information as to paths are posted up at railway-stations and in town-halls; and a key-map of the way-marks was issued in 1909. A uniform system of way-marks (a red triangle on a white ground) has been adopted for the so-called Nord or Neckar Rand-Weg and the Süd or Donau Rand-Weg, both of which lead from Nördlingen to Tuttlingen (p. 55).

a. Hohen-Rechberg. Hohenstaufen.

Hohen-Rechberg (2318 ft.), on which stands a much frequented pilgrimage-chapel (refreshments at the parsonage, but no quarters for the night). The view embraces a fertile and undulating landscape, sprinkled with towns and villages, stretching to the N. as far as the Welzheimer Wald and the Waldenburg and Limpurg hills, from Gmünd in the foreground to the distant Ellwangen. To the W. rise the Hohenstaufen and the Black Forest Mts.; towards the S.W. extend the ranges of the Swabian Alb; and in clear weather the Tyrolese and Swiss Alps may be descried towards the S.E. and S. (panorama by E. Werner, 80 pf.). A signal is hoisted when the view of the Alps is clear. — About 1 hr. to the E. of the Hohen-Rechberg is the Stuifen (2483 ft.), with a limited view.

From the Hohen-Rechberg to the Hohenstaufen (see below), $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. Leaving the castle of Rechberg to the left, we keep straight on (not to the right) over the crest of the hill (the Aasrücken) to the road leading to the village of Hohenstaufen. From a point just beyond the cross-roads and a little short of the village a footpath to the right leads direct to the top of the Hohenstaufen in 12 minutes.

From the Hohen-Rechberg to Eislingen (p. 40), viâ the Ottenbacher-Tal, $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.; to Süssen (p. 41) viâ the Rehgebirge and the ruin of Staufenek (p. 41), 2 hrs.

ASCENT OF THE HOHENSTAUFEN FROM LORCH (p. 35), 3 hrs. A pleasant path ascends the Beuten-Tal viâ ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the Wäscher-schlössle (1430 ft.; now a barn) and the Wäscherhof (inn). In $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. more we reach the village of Hohenstaufen (1977 ft.; Lamm; Oehse), whence a footpath ascends to the castle in 20 minutes. Beside this path is a small Church, restored in 1859 and adorned with the armorial bearings of the countries over which the Hohenstaufen once held sway (interior utterly neglected).

ASCENT FROM GÖPPINGEN (p. 40), $1\frac{3}{4}$ hr. The pretty road runs largely through wood; carriage-and-pair to Hohenstaufen village in 1 hr. (fare 7 M.).

The Hohenstaufen (2244 ft.), on which is a shelter-hut, was crowned with the ancestral castle of the illustrious family of Staufen or Hohenstaufen from about 1070 until its destruction in the Peasants' War in 1525. This family occupied the German imperial throne from 1138 to 1254 and became extinct in 1268 by the premature death of the ill-fated Conradin in Italy. The ground-plan of the castle is still distinguishable. The view is fine, but less extensive than that from the Hohen-Rechberg, which may be reached as indicated above.

b. Lenninger-Tal. Teck. Neuffen.

FROM PLOCHINGEN TO OBER-LENNINGEN, 15 M., narrow-gauge railway in $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.

Plochingen, see p. 40. — $3\frac{1}{2}$ M. Unter-Boihingen (p. 47). The line follows the valley of the Lenninger Lauter. 6 M. Oettingen. — $7\frac{1}{2}$ M. Kirchheim unter Teck (1010 ft.; Post; Krone), a town with 8800 inhab., is prettily situated in view of the Alb.

FROM KIRCHHEIM TO WEILHEIM, $5\frac{1}{2}$ M., branch-railway in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. through the smiling Neidlinger-Tal, which is watered by the Lindach, an affluent of the Lauter (p. 61). From Weilheim (1265 ft.; Post; Adler), a little town dominated by the basaltic Limburg (1960 ft.), a road leads to (8 M.) Neidlingen (1490 ft.; Lamm, R. & B. $1\frac{1}{2}$ M.), a prettily situated village. About $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the S. is the picturesque ruined castle of Reussenstein (2465 ft.), commanding a charming view of the valley. Refreshments may be obtained at the adjacent farm. Thence, keeping on the ridge, we round the head of the valley to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Heimenstein (2505 ft.), a gloomy arch of rock affording fine views of the Reussenstein and the valley. From the Reussenstein to Wiesensteig (p. 42), 1 hr.; to the Bosler (p. 40) by a club-path, $2\frac{1}{4}$ hrs.

Beyond this point the valley is known as the Lenninger-Tal. — 10 M. Dettingen. The Teck comes in sight on the left, the Hohen-Neuffen on the right. — The railway now enters the Alb. — $12\frac{1}{2}$ M. Owen (ow pron. as in cow; 1285 ft.; Post; rfmts. at the station), a small town with a handsome Gothic church (2nd half of the 14th cent.), the burial-place of the Dukes of Teck, containing a painting of Owen when it was a fortified place in 1542.

ASCENT OF THE TECK FROM OWEN, 1 hr. We ascend to the N.E. (following the telegraph-posts) for $\frac{1}{2}$ hr., when we join the well-shaded club-path to the summit.

The Teck* (2542 ft.) is crowned by the scanty remains of the ancestral castle of the Dukes of Teck. One of the towers has been converted into a belvedere, in which is the Salzmann-Stübchen (named after Dr. Salzmann, see below; rfmts. in good weather). The magnificent view includes the neighbouring wooded heights of the Alb and great part of the Black Forest chain to the W., while in clear weather the Scesaplana group may be descried to the S. and the Sentis group to the S.S.W. Visitors should walk round the castle. On the W. verge of the castle-rock is the Sibyllen-Höhle, a cave in which remains of diluvial animals have been discovered.

FROM THE TECK TO GUTENBERG OR TO WEILHEIM, $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs., an attractive walk. In $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. we reach the Gelbe Felsen, under which is the Verena-Beutlins-Höhle; $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. the Sattelbogen (2010 ft.; to the left, path to Bissingen, to the right to Unter-Lenningen (in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.); then to the S.E. by a club-path to (20 min.) the ruin of Rauber (2565 ft.); 10 min. the farm of Diepoldsburg (rfmts.). A route to the right leads hence viâ the Engelhof (good rfmts.) to the (1 hr.) Wielandsteine (2287 ft.), with three ruined castles; $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. Krebsstein; thence by club-path down to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Gutenberg (see p. 63). — A route to the left from Diepoldsburg (see above) leads to the ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Breitenstein (2660 ft.), a hill presenting a sheer precipice to the plain beyond the Alb. To the S.E. is ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Ochsenwang (Rössle), where Ed. Mörike, the poet, was pastor in 1832-33. In the vicinity is the Randecker Maar (2405 ft.), the chief crater among the 140 embryo volcanoes of the later tertiary period between Kirchheim and Reutlingen, with a monument to Dr. Salzmann (d. 1890), founder of the Swabian Alb Club. Hence we may either follow a club-path leading to the N., along the Zipfelbach and past ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Hepsisau, to ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Weilheim (see above); or descend to the S. across the peat-moors and past the caves mentioned at p. 63 to ($1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Gutenberg.

Erkenbrechtsweiler (see below), to the N.W. of Ober-Lenningen, may be reached either by a route to the right viâ the Schröffel-Fels and Kamm-Fels in $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr., or in 2 hrs. by a route to the left leading through the Hirschtal to the Konrad-Fels, where we join the attractive Rand-Weg.

About 4 M. from the railway-terminus at Ober-Lenningen, the Lenninger-Tal (p. 62) comes to an end at the charmingly situated village of Gutenberg (1744 ft.; Löwe; Hirsch). A little to the S. is the ruin of Sperberseck, while to the N. is the hamlet of Krebsstein (p. 62). The museum (adm. 20 pf.) contains diluvial remains from the adjacent caves. Above Gutenberg, to the left, in the upper slope of the valley, is the (25 min.) Gutenberg Stalactite Grotto ('Tropfsteinhöhle'), discovered in 1889 (adm. 50 pf.; guide at Gutenberg). About 5 min. to the W. is the smaller Gussmanns-Höhle (adm. 40 pf.).

FROM GUTENBERG TO NEUFFEN (see below), 3 hrs. Carriages drive viâ Grabenstetten (2380 ft.) with a 'pagan moat', a relic of a Gallie town with advanced fortifications. Pedestrians quit the road about $\frac{3}{4}$ M. beyond the Burrenhof (see below) and ascend direct to the Hohen-Neuffen. — FROM GUTENBERG TO URACH (p. 64), 3 hrs. This attractive route leads to the S.W. viâ Schlattstall and the Schröcke (a rocky ravine). — From Gutenberg to Weilheim, see p. 62.

FROM NÜRTINGEN (p. 47) a railway runs through the Steinach-Tal (the so-called 'Täle') to ($5\frac{1}{2}$ M.) the little town of Neuffen (Hirsch or Post, R. $1\frac{1}{4}$ - $1\frac{1}{2}$, B. $\frac{3}{4}$ M.; 1800 inhab.), at the foot of the Hohen-Neuffen. Beside the church is a Calvary of 1504, and in the interior is a pulpit-canopy of the early 17th century. A good path ascends hence through wood to the Hohen-Neuffen (1 hr.).

From METZINGEN (p. 47) to Stadt Neuffen viâ Kohlberg, $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.

The Hohen-Neuffen (2440 ft.), a conical and conspicuous height, projecting far into the valley, is crowned by the imposing ruins of an ancient stronghold, demolished as unsafe in 1801. Fine view with charming foreground. (Refreshments when the flag is hoisted.)

From the Hohen-Neuffen a path leads to the E. to (1 hr.) Erkenbrechtsweiler (Rössle), whence we may ascend in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the Beurener Fels (2365 ft.), a bold projecting rock commanding an extensive view (Hohen-Rechberg, Hohenstaufen, Black Forest). Thence a club-path leads to the E. to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Brucker Fels (2385 ft.), with remains of Roman (?) walls and a charming peep into the Lenninger-Tal and view of the hills opposite. We may descend to Owen (p. 62) in 35 minutes. — From Erkenbrechtsweiler a steep and stony footpath leads to ($1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Unter-Lenningen (p. 62); to Ober-Lenningen, see above.

FROM THE HOHEN-NEUFFEN TO URACH (p. 64), 2 hrs. The shady route skirts the plateau, leaving the Burrenhof (with the pagan moat, see above) and the village of Hülben on the left, and descends into the valley.

c. Uracher Alb.

FROM METZINGEN TO URACH, 6 M., narrow-gauge railway in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.

Metzingen, see p. 47. — The Uracher-Tal, up which the railway runs alongside of the Erms, surpasses that of Lenningen; the slopes are richly clad with beech-forest. Several quarries of tufa. $1\frac{1}{4}$ M. Neuhausen (1207 ft.), $3\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the N.W. of the Grüne Felsen (p. 65). — Near (3 M.) Dettingen (1305 ft.; Krone) begins the more beautiful part of the valley. To the right rises the conspicuous Dettinger Rossberg (2582 ft.); farther up, beyond the Uracher Bleiche, the Runde-Berg, in a side-valley on the right; then Hohen-Urach and the Tiergartenberg; on the opposite side the Hochberg.

From Dettingen a fine walk ($3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) leads viâ the Sonnenfels (2550 ft.), the Rutschen-Felsen (p. 65), and the Urach Waterfall to Urach (see below).

Some of the trains on the way up the valley halt on request at the station of Wasserfall, at the entrance of the side-valley.

We first follow the road to the S.W. (way indicated by blue triangle), turn to the left at (5 min.) a finger-post, and cross meadows and wood to (40 min.) the foot of the Waterfall of Urach (p. 65). A zigzag path ascends to the Hochwiese (p. 65). — We may now keep to the S. and then follow the promenade along the slope; at (20 min.) the fork we may either ascend to the left to (20 min.) Hohen-Urach (p. 65) or keep straight on to (25 min.) Urach.

6 M. Urach. — HOTELS. Post, R. 2-3 $\frac{1}{4}$, D. 1 $\frac{3}{4}$ -3 M., very fair; Haas zur Krone, both in the market-place; Zum Bahnhof, with garden-restaurant; Schöneck, R. 1-1 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. — Beer at Leinss's. — Medical Boarding Houses of Dr. Klüpfel. — Städtisches Schwimmbad, below the station.

Urach (1515 ft.), an old-fashioned little town (5100 inhab.), charmingly situated in the Ermstal, is much frequented as a summer-resort. In the Schloss, at the station, erected in 1443 and now occupied by officials, is the 'Goldne Saal', containing reminiscences of Dukes Eberhard and Ulrich, and a carved wooden head of Count Henry of Mompelgard; the 'Weisse Saal' contains local collections of natural history and antiquities. The late-Gothic Church of St. Amandus, built in 1479-99 and restored in 1896-1901, contains the confessional of Duke Eberhard im Bart, adorned with good carving (1472), a handsome font, executed in 1518 by Christoph of Urach, and a beautiful pulpit. Adjoining the church is the Protestant Seminary (40 pupils), formerly the canonry. The tall and fine Fountain (1518) in the market-place is replaced by a copy.

The upper valley of the Erms is known as the Seeburger-Tal. The mountains are densely wooded, and the Erms flows through the narrow green floor of the valley, where there is often scarcely room for the road. The journey from Urach to Seeburg (5 M.) should be made in an open carriage (there and back, 4 M.). The road passes numerous mills and a large cotton-factory. To the left above the former basalt-works of Georgenau rises the ruined Hohen-Witt.

lingen (2265 ft.; $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. from the road, see below), near which is the cavern of Schillingsloch. In the most beautiful part of the valley, between lofty rocks at the mouth of the romantic Fischburg-Tal, lies the hamlet of Seeburg (Löwe, plain but good). On a rock high above it is the small modern château of Uhenfels. The infant Erms, though only 50 yds. from its source, drives a mill here.

A footpath, known as the 'Grüne Weg', skirting the woods on the left bank of the Erms, leads from Urach to Seeburg in $2\frac{1}{4}$ hrs. (disagreeable in wet weather).

A club-path, diverging to the left from the road to Seeburg about $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. above Urach, leads through the romantic Wittlingen Ravine to the ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) ruin of Hohen-Wittlingen, whence we may descend to the Georgenau (p. 64) in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr.

From Seeburg a road leads to the S. through the Seetal to ($4\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Münsingen (p. 68); while a footpath, passing the Source of the Erms, passes through the Trailfingen Ravine.

The most attractive excursion from Urach is to Hohen-Urach and to the waterfall. A zigzag path ascends through wood to the (1 hr.) ruined fortress of Hohen-Urach (2300 ft.). The shorter, but steeper and stony, old path leads to the left at the foot of the hill, then, at the cross, to the right. The castle was built in the 11th cent., and after undergoing numerous sieges, it was almost entirely pulled down at the end of the 18th and beginning of the 19th centuries. Charming view, though limited.

Various paths (all with way-marks) lead from Hohen-Urach through beautiful beech-wood to ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.; direct from Urach, to the left viâ Hohen-Urach, in 1 hr.) the Hochwiese (2030 ft.; refuge-hut), where the Brühlbach rises and forms the Waterfall of Urach (85 ft. high). The best point of view is the 'Olga-Ruhe' at the foot of the waterfall.

FROM URACH TO REUTLINGEN (p. 48), 4 hrs. a. Viâ the Rutschen-Felsen. To the waterfall, see above. Thence we ascend by the steep zigzag path to the right. On leaving the wood at the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) top of the hill we follow the slope to the right to the Rutschen-Felsen (2165 ft.), to obtain a charming *View of the peaceful valley, with Hohen-Urach, Runde-Berg, Hohen-Neuffen, and Teck. Thence we follow the edge of the Alb to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Fohlenhof (2420 ft.), whence we may take either the carriage-road in 20 min., or the footpath (guide-post) to the right, viâ the Grüne Felsen* (green rock; 2635 ft.), in 40 min., to the royal stud-farm of St. Johann (2505 ft.; inn), near which ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) is a view-platform. From St. Johann a good road (with short-cuts) descends to (1 hr.) Eningen (1520 ft.; Post), a handsome little market-town at the foot of the Aehalm (p. 48); ascent $\frac{3}{4}$ hr.), whence a steam-tramway runs to (3 M.) Reutlingen (p. 49). — b. Viâ Güterstein. On quitting the railway-station we turn to the left and return along the railway; beyond a red-brick warehouse we follow the 'Siechengassenweg' to the right through orchards to the main road; 100 yds. farther on, at the pointsman's hut, we cross the line to the left and follow the road as far as the guide-post marked 'Güterstein'. In 1 hr. more we reach the stud-farm of Güterstein (1635 ft.; rfmts.). Thence a path ascends past the fine Güterstein waterfalls to the (1 hr.) Fohlenhof. To Reutlingen, see above.

d. Railway from Reutlingen to Schelklingen.Lichtenstein and its Environs.

FROM REUTLINGEN TO SCHELKLINGEN (p. 75), 36 M., railway in $2\frac{1}{2}$ -3 hrs.; to Honau, $6\frac{1}{2}$ M., in 30-40 min.; to Lichtenstein, 8 M., in 1 hr. Best views to the right.

The train enters the picturesque Echaz-Tal. — 2 M. Reutlingen-Südbahnhof, $1\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the E. of the village of Eningen (p. 65). — 3 M. Pfullingen (1395 ft.; Lamm; Krone), a town of 7400 inhabitants. About 2 M. to the W. is the model-farm of Erlenhof. — $3\frac{1}{2}$ M. Pfullingen Paper Mill. A little to the right of the railway is a large Gymnasium and Concert Hall (1908).

FROM PFULLINGEN PAPER MILL TO THE NEBEL-HÖHLE VIA THE WANNE, $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. From the station we proceed to the highroad, where we turn to the left; a little farther on we ascend to the right (guide-posts), skirting the railway, and in $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. we reach the Wanne (2264 ft.; view). Thence we proceed, either in 40 min. direct, or in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. viâ the Schönberg (2600 ft.; quaint tower), to the group of rocks called the Wackerstein (2700 ft., fine views), cross a rocky ridge passing the ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) upland pasture of Auf dem Wohn (2720 ft.), and reach the ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Nebel-Höhle (p. 67). Thence to the Lichtenstein, see p. 67.

Beyond (5 M.) Unterhausen Cotton Mill the château of Lichtenstein becomes visible to the right. — 6 M. Unterhausen (Adler, R. 1- $1\frac{1}{2}$ M), immediately to the S. of which is Oberhausen (Hirsch; Krone, R. 1 M); thence to the Lichtenstein, and to the Nebel-Höhle, see p. 67.

$6\frac{1}{2}$ M. Honau (1850 ft.; Hôt.-Pens. Echaz, R. $1\frac{1}{4}$ - $2\frac{1}{4}$, B. $\frac{1}{2}$ M; Rössle), with the interesting Olga Cavern ($\frac{1}{2}$ M. from the rail. station), smaller than the Nebel-Höhle, but less blackened by torches and more easily accessible (electric illumination, 40 pf. each pers.). At the station is an artificial elfin-grotto (adm. 30 pf.). About $\frac{3}{4}$ M. distant is the Source of the Echaz. — From Honau a rack-and-pinion railway (gradient 1:10; length 2300 yds.) ascends the Honauer Steige to (8 M.) Lichtenstein (2310 ft.; Restaurant). This railway penetrates the three lower strata of the White Jura and affords a fine view (r.) of the château of Lichtenstein. About 165 yds. to the N. of the upper terminus is a stake marking the point where a good echo may be roused. To the Karlshöhle (p. 68), $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. Continuation of the railway to Schelklingen, see p. 68.

FROM LICHTENSTEIN STATION (see above) the route descends past the 'Schanze' (beautiful view) and through the Dobel Tunnel; a footpath to the right at the upper end of the Dobel ravine then leads viâ the Old Lichtenstein (p. 67) to ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) the château.

ASCENT OF THE LICHTENSTEIN FROM HONAU. We proceed from the rail. station to the village, and traverse this, keeping to the right, until we reach the forest-path which ascends to the (1 hr.) castle. Another route leads from the Source of the Echaz (see above) through the Dobel ravine in $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. Either of these routes may be recommended for the descent.

ASCENT FROM UNTERHAUSEN (p. 66), $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. The route leads to the S. viâ (8 min.) Oberhausen (p. 66) and ascends to the right by a good road on the wooded W. slope; at the first bifurcation we keep to the left; after 1 hr. we leave the road at a cutting in the rock, ascend a few steps to the left, and after 8 min. in a straight direction reach the restaurant.

FROM REUTLINGEN TO LICHTENSTEIN STATION VIA THE MÄDCHENFELS AND HOLZELFINGEN, 5 hrs., attractive. We take the tramway to Enningen (p. 65), thence walk back to ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) the Spitzwiesen, where a guide-post indicates the route to the 'Übersberg', which we follow; then over pastures and a bridge to the highroad, which immediately bends to the left. Beyond a second bridge we keep to the left (to the right, path up the Ursulaberg, 2220 ft., in 2 hrs.) and ascend through beech-woods to the ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Mädchenfels (2510 ft.), commanding views of the Alb and the plain. About $\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the S.E. is the Übersberger Hof (rfmts.). Pleasant paths lead hence through meadows and woods, passing the ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Stahleck (2830 ft.), the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Eckfels, and the (10 min.) ruin of Greifenstein (2380 ft.; refuge-hut) direct (right; shady) in 25 min., or viâ the Jochimer Häule (left; view), in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr., to Holzelfingen (2296 ft.; Krone). Thence we may either follow the picturesque route viâ the Traifelberg-Felsen (2610 ft.) to the (1 hr.; with a détour to the Burgstein, $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) station of Lichtenstein (p. 66) or proceed in $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. to the station of Unterhausen (p. 66) or Honau (p. 66).

Schloss Lichtenstein (2985 ft.), a château erected in 1841 by Count William of Wurtemberg on an isolated rock, 850 ft. above the Honau valley, is one of the most attractive points in Swabia. Adjacent is the new ducal château (1901; no admission). — About 3 min. to the W. is a restaurant (D. $1\frac{1}{2}$ M.; pretty view, see below).

The château is open on week-days 8-12 and 1-6 (in winter 9-12 and 1-4), on Sun. and holidays 1-5 (1-4 in winter); adm. 80 pf., or, omitting the tower, 40 pf. No admission on Christmas Day, Easter Sunday, Whit-Sunday, or Whit-Monday.

The castle, very skilfully adapted to its site, is approached by a drawbridge, by which a cleft in the rock is crossed. The interior is tastefully fitted up in the 'Gothic' style, and contains various curiosities and old German pictures of the Swabian school. The principal attraction, however, is the *View. In fine weather, to the S. beyond the plateau of the Alb, the Swiss and Tyrolese Alps are visible; to the N., far below, the picturesque green Honauer-Tal; beyond it the Achalm and the extensive plain (panorama by E. Werner, 2 M.). — On a projecting rock, to the S.E., outside the château, Count William (see above) erected a monument to the novelist Hauff (1802-27), by whose romance the old castle of Lichtenstein has been immortalized. Beside it is a geological pyramid. About 10 min. to the S.E. is the ruin of Old Lichtenstein.

A visit to the château is usually combined with one to the Nebel-Höhle, a stalactite grotto, about 200 yds. long, 80 ft. wide, and 75 ft. high, $2\frac{1}{4}$ M. from Schloss Lichtenstein (comp. below) and as far from Oberhausen (p. 66). The brilliancy of the stalactites has been sullied by the smoke of the torches; the massive vault of rock is the most interesting feature. Adm. 40 pf. each person, guide 1 M., each torch 40 pf.; key and guides at the Hirsch at Oberhausen; the visit takes $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. A national festival is held here on Whit-Monday, when the cavern is illuminated.

FROM THE NEBEL-HÖHLE TO SCHLOSS LICHTENSTEIN, $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. On the plateau, 5 min. from the cave, we bear to the left, due S.; we bear to the left again at the cross-roads after 5 min. more; 5 min. farther on, a field, where we skirt the wood to the right; 5 min. more, we turn to the left, and cross the moor to a group of trees where the tower comes into view. — A preferable route leads via the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Giessstein (2585 ft.) and ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Linsenbühl (2680 ft.) to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Lichtenstein.

The RAILWAY TO SCHELKINGEN proceeds from (8 M.) Lichtenstein (see p. 66) across the plateau of the Alb. — $9\frac{1}{4}$ M. Klein-Engstingen (2306 ft.; Post) is the starting-point for a visit to the Karls-Höhle near Erpfringen ($1\frac{1}{2}$ M. from the cave; keys at the 'Schultheissenamt'; telephone; adm. 50 pf. and fee to attendant), $4\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the S.W., another and more interesting grotto, the stalactites being still uninjured.

FROM KLEIN-ENGSTINGEN TO SIGMARINGENDORF, 31 M., narrow-gauge railway in ca. 2 hrs. Just beyond ($\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Gross-Engstingen, the first station, the line crosses the Prussian frontier. — $2\frac{1}{2}$ M. Haidkapelle, 2 M. to the S.E. of the Karls-Höhle (see above). — 8 M. Trochtelfingen (Hirsch, R. $1-1\frac{1}{2}$ M.), a quaint little town with 1200 inhab., $1\frac{3}{4}$ M. to the S.E. of which, at Steinhilben, is the Augstberg (2780 ft.), with a belvedere. — The line now re-enters Wurtemberg and below ($9\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Mägerkingen reaches the valley of the Lauchert, which it follows, via (10 M.) Mariaberg and (12 M.) Bronnen, to ($12\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Gammertingen (2185 ft.; Post; Hirsch), a Prussian town with 1100 inhab. and the junction of a branch-line to Hechingen (see p. 72). — The Lauchert flows through Prussian territory, and its picturesque valley repays the pedestrian. Below (15 M.) Hettingen, a small town with a château, it is joined by the Vehla. Between (18 M.) Veringen-Stadt (Hirsch), with its ruined castle, and (20 M.) Veringen-Dorf the Lauchert forms a waterfall. — 22 M. Jungnau (Ochs), with the ruins of two castles. The prettiest part of the valley is at the point where it is joined by the Bittelschiesser Tälchen, $\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the S. of Hornstein, with its ruined castle. $27\frac{1}{2}$ M. Bingen. — 31 M. Sigmaringendorf (p. 77).

Near (14 M.) Offenhausen, where there is a stud-farm, is the source of the Grosse Lauter. About 1 M. to the S.E. rises the basaltic Sternberg (2770 ft.), with a belvedere. — 15 M. Gomadlingen (Adler) lies $4\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the S.W. of the Buchhalde (2854 ft.; view-platform). — The line descends the valley of the Lauter to (17 M.) Marbach (2115 ft.; Niethammer), with another stud-farm.

A pleasant excursion may be made from Marbach through the Grosse Lauter-Tal, with its numerous ruined castles, to (8 hrs.) Unter-Marchtal. The route leads past Schloss Grafeneck (on the left; see below) via (20 min.) Dapfen; 25 min. Wasserstetten; 1 hr. Buttenhausen (road to Münsingen, see below); $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. Hundersingen (Rössle); 20 min. Bichishausen (Hirsch; ruins at both); 20 min. Gundelfingen (Grüner Baum), with two ruined castles. Thence we go on past the ruin of Derneck (on the right) and the Bettelmanns-Höhle (on the left) to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Weiler; $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. Indelhausen (Schloss brewery), with the ruin of Alt-Hayingen and the Gerbers-Höhle; and ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Anhausen. Farther down we pass the ruins of Schulzburg (left), Maisenburg (right), and Wartstein and Monsberg (left). From ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Unter-Wilzingen we proceed via ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Laufenmühle, with the ruins of Reichenstein, and ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Lauterach, to ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Unter-Marchtal (p. 76).

The railway now ascends to the N.E., passing the château of Grafeneck (left), to (21 M.) Münsingen (2319 ft.; Hermann; Post), a town with 2100 inhab. and large cement-works, on the plateau of the Alb. About $2\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the E. is the Manoeuvre Ground of the Württemberg troops (Hardt Hotel, at the camp, R. 2-3 M., B. 80 pf.). Roads lead from Münsingen to the N. to (4¹/₂ M.) Seeburg (p. 65) and to the S. to (4¹/₂ M.) Bittenhausen (p. 68). — At (24 M.) Ober-Heutal the railway turns to the S. and beyond (25¹/₂ M.) Mehrstetten to the E. Near (30¹/₂ M.) Sondernach rises the Schmiech, the pretty valley of which we now descend, past the ruin of Justing (on the left) and viâ (31¹/₂ M.) Hütten, at the entrance of the wild Bären-Tal, and (32 M.) Tal-Steusslingen, with the château of Neu-Steusslingen above, on the right, to (35 M.) Schmierchen (p. 75). At (36 M.) Schelklingen our line joins the Danube Railway (p. 75).

From Reutlingen a light railway (p. 49) runs in 1 hr. to Gönningen (1758 ft.; Schwanen, at the foot of the Stöffelberg 2400 ft.; ruined castle) and about 1 hr. from the top of the Rossberg. Pedestrians follow the road to the S., passing the pomological school (p. 49) and the Gaisbühl manor and proceed through the woods in 2 hrs., or by road in 1¹/₄ hr., to the Alteburghof rfmts., behind which rises the Kugelberg (1960 ft.; view; thence, keeping to the left, they reach Gönningen in 1¹/₂ hr.

The Rossberg is ascended from the Nebel-Höhle (p. 67), from the Lichtenstein (p. 67), or from the Wackerstein (p. 66) in 1¹/₂-2 hrs., on the W. side, viâ Genkingen (2530 ft.; Rose).

The tower (80 ft. high) on the Rossberg (2855 ft.) commands a beautiful view of the Alb, the Black Forest, and the Alps. A monument on the W. peak commemorates Prof. Quenstedt (d. 1889), who devoted himself to the geology of the Alb. We may descend on the W. side to (1³/₄ hr.) Mössingen (p. 71) or (2¹/₄ hrs.) Dusslingen (p. 71). To the Bolberg (p. 72), 1¹/₂ hr. viâ Hirschhäusle.

f. Hohenzollern.

The ASCENT OF THE HOHENZOLLERN is made from Zollern Station (p. 72) by an easy carriage-road in 1 hr., passing the (5 min.) Brielhof Hotel (R. 1¹/₄-2. pens. 3-6 M.; carriage- and -pair to the castle, 6 M. and fee). Short-cuts for walkers. — From Hechingen (p. 72) the route leads by the Heilig-Kreuz-Strasse, passing the post-office, to the water-tower below the castle and thence ascends to the (1¹/₂ hr.) castle.

The castle of Hohenzollern (2837 ft.; Restaurant, see p. 70), grandly situated on an isolated wooded eminence of the Alb, was erected by Frederick William IV. in 1850-56 as a royal château.

The old castle which occupied this site, destroyed in 1423 by Countess Henrietta of Württemberg, widow of Eberhard IV., was restored for the last time in 1451 by the united efforts of the various branches of the Zollern family, but at the beginning of the 19th century little of it remained except the chapel. An inscription over the 'Adler-Tor' (Pl. 1) alludes to the history of the edifice; above it is the Prussian eagle; below it an equestrian figure representing the Elector Frederick I.

Passing through the Adler-Tor, the visitor enters the 'Rampen-turm', within the narrow limits of which three bold and ingeniously contrived curves and a winding tunnel lead to the gate-tower situated 75 ft. higher. The balustrade above the tunnel is adorned with two men-at-arms in stone (fine view). The summit of the precipitous rock is enclosed, in accordance with the ancient plan of the castle, by walls 45-65 ft. in height, in the form of a heptagon, and provided with bastions and corner-turrets. Within this enclosure stands the modern castle, a winged edifice with five towers, two of which rise to a height of 120 ft. above the external walls. The two lowest of the five stories of the building are vaulted and designed for purposes of defence. The garrison consists of a company of infantry.

To the left in the upper Burghof is the Burg-Garten, adorned with a bronze statue of Fred. William IV. (Pl. 4). Opposite, to the right, is the Wehrhaus, or barrack, containing an unpretentious restaurant. Adjoining it is the Protestant Chapel (Pl. 3), in the Gothic style. To the left (S.) rises the Michaels-Turm (Pl. 13) with the relief-portraits and armorial bearings of the different lords of the castle. To the E. of it, in the direction of the garden, is the Roman Catholic Chapel of St. Michael (Pl. 14).

A flight of steps (Pl. 5) by the Wehrhaus, adorned with a statue of the Count Zollern who rebuilt the castle in 1454, leads to the apartments of the interior (adm. 25 pf.; the visit takes 20 min.). The Stamm-baum-Halle (Pl. 6), containing genealogical trees, coats-of-arms, etc., is first entered. Then the sumptuous Grafen-Saal (Pl. 7), in the Gothic style, borne by ten columns of red marble, and overladen with gilding and painting. On the right of this saloon is the Kaiser-Halle Pl. 8, borne by a central pillar, embellished with eight painted statues of German emperors. At the end of the Grafen-Saal, also to the right, is the small Bischofs-Halle Pl. 9. Adjoining the Grafen-Saal on the W. is the Library Pl. 10, a low apartment with carved bookcases and frescoes by Peters illustrative of the history of the castle. From the library we proceed to the right to the Markgrafen-Turm Pl. 11, which contains the sitting-room and bedroom of the emperor, while to the left are the apartments of the empress Pl. 12 in the Michaels-Turm. The Roman Catholic church of St. Michael is the only complete part of the earlier structure now in existence. It contains some interesting stained glass from the monastery of Stetten.

Another attraction is the very extensive view from the terrace skirting the base of the castle to the right and left of the Adler-Tor. It embraces the green hills of Swabia: W. the towns of Balingen and Rottweil; beyond them the Black Forest, with the Feldberg, its chief mountain; S.W. the Jura; S. and E., in the immediate vicinity, the wooded slopes of the Alb.

It is an old town with 4500 inhab., situated on the abrupt slope of the valley of the Starzel. The Parish Church, erected in 1783, contains a relief by Peter Vischer (beside the high-altar), representing Count Eitel Friedrich II. of Zollern (d. 1512) and his wife Magdalena of Brandenburg (d. 1496). The Rathaus is a half-timbered edifice on a late-Gothic substructure of stone. On the S. side of the town (1 M. from the station) is the Villa Eugenia, with a park (open to visitors), the property of Prince Hohenzollern. About 1 M. farther on is the Briehof Inn (p. 69).

About $2\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the N.W. of Hechingen rises the Martinsberg (1770 ft.), with a view-tower, and $\frac{3}{4}$ M. farther to the W. is the little château of Lindich, with a park (rfmts. in summer). — Ascent of the Hohenzoller, see p. 69; of the Zellerhorn, p. 71.

Restaurant*), a manufacturing town on the Eyach, has been repeatedly burned down (last fire in 1809).

An attractive excursion may be made hence (comp. the Map, p. 54; take provisions) to the (2 hrs.) Lochenstein (3160 ft.; refuge-hut; splendid view), with a ring-wall of the Hallstatt period; and thence viâ the Schafberg (3265 ft.; with the ruin of Wenzelstein, rock-chasms, etc.) down to the Waldhaushof for the ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) ascent of the Plettenberg (3285 ft.; view). Thence we may either descend to the S. viâ ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Schömburg to ($2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) Rottweil (p. 53), or continue the walk viâ Ratshausen (2220 ft.; Sonne) and Deilingen (2710 ft.; Krone) to the (2 hrs.) Oberhohenberg and ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Lemberg (p. 54). — To Burgfelden and the Schalksburg, see p. 73.

The line now enters the highest part of the Swabian Alb. To the right rise the Plettenberg, the Schafberg, and the bold Lochenstein (p. 72). — At (29 M.) Frommern (1865 ft.) begins the hilly part of the railway, the gradients varying from 1:60 to 1:45. About $\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the W. is the Böllatfelsen (3020 ft.). From Burgfelden we may descend to the N.W., viâ the farm of Wannental (rfmts.) and Zillhausen, to ($\frac{3}{4}$ hrs.) Balingen (p. 72).

37 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Ebingen (2375 ft.; Post; Bahnhof-Hôtel), an ancient industrial town (pop. 10,000), prettily situated at a bifurcation of the valley. The tower on the Schlossfelsen (3125 ft.; good path, $\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) commands a survey of the Alps from the Zugspitze to the Bernese Oberland.

A branch-railway (25 min.) runs hence, viâ Tailfingen, a village with hosiery-manufactures, to (5 M.) Onstmettingen (2660 ft.; Sonne), near the chief source of the Schmiecha or Schmiee. To the S.E. is the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Linkenbolds-Höhle (240 yds. in length; adm. 50 pf.); to the N. the ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Raichberg (p. 71).

The train descends the winding Schmeien-Tal and crosses the Prussian frontier. 41 M. Strassberg; on a bold rock to the left is the château of that name. Below Strassberg the valley becomes wilder and more romantic. Beyond ($48\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Oberschmeien (1945 ft.) the line is carried through two tunnels and enters the valley of the Danube. Sigmaringen (1860 ft.) is a pleasant little town with 4600 inhab., the residence of Prince Hohenzollern, and seat of the Prussian administrative authorities. It is a good centre for excursions.

From the rail. station we follow the Bahnhof-Str. to the right and then the Markt-Str. to the left, passing the Karl-Str. (l.). In 4 min. we reach the handsome SCHLOSS, situated on a rock rising abruptly from the Danube and rebuilt since a fire in 1893 (portal of 1526). It contains a Museum*, chiefly formed by Prince Charles Anthony (d. 1885), and surpassing most collections of the kind both in extent and choiceness. It is admirably arranged in a fine Gothic hall, with frescoes by A. Müller, and in two cabinets. Excellent catalogues by Hofrat Lehner. The museum (adm. 40 pf.) is open daily from 10 to 12 and 2 to 4, on Sun. and festivals not till after high mass.

The COLLECTION OF PICTURES (230 works) chiefly illustrates the early German school, the Swabian masters being particularly well represented. Nos. *81-86. Wings of a large altar-piece: Annunciation, Nativity, Circumcision of Christ, Adoration of the Magi, and the Procession to Calvary, by Jörg Stocker and M. Schaffner (1496); *132-139. Scenes from the life of the Virgin, by Barth. Zeitblom: 158-164. Seven scenes from the history of the Virgin, by Hans Schülin (all masters of Ulm, see p. 43); 3. Altdorfer, Adoration of the Magi; Amberger(?), *Portraits of a man and woman. The Lower Rhenish School, especially that of Cologne, is also numerously represented (e.g. *91. B. Bruyn, Crucifixion, in an appropriate landscape). The best of the early-Flemish works are: *2 and 4. Annunciation, by Gerard David; 5. Herri met de Bles, Adoration of the Magi; 29. Virgin Mary, with a background of tapestry, and *38. Virgin Mary, in a landscape, by Rogier van der Weyden(?); 61. Gerritt van Haarlem, Crucifixion; 129. Lucas van Leyden, Adoration of the Magi. — The other sections of the museum contain specimens of mediæval and Renaissance carved work (statuettes, reliefs, furniture, especially numerous sculptures of the Lower Rhenish School, ca. 1500; small winged altar with paintings by B. Beham, etc.); *Metal-work, especially Romanesque candelabra, aquamaniles, goblets, ciboria, etc.; glass, *Enamels, and pottery (Italian and French majolica, Dutch, Rhenish, and Swiss stoneware); jewelry; *Textile works, including a series of excellently preserved Gobelins of the 14th and 15th cent., mostly with scenes from romances of the period. — In the upper rooms is an extensive Palæontological Collection (2000 objects).

The Library, with its valuable books, incunabula, and MSS., the Armoury, and the other richly furnished rooms of the palace are also worth seeing.

On the Brenzkofer Berg (2140 ft.; $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.), on the opposite (N.) bank of the Danube, is the War Monument, in memory of the Hohenzollerns who fell in the campaigns of 1866 and 1870-71. The platform commands a charming view of the town and environs, with the distant Alps. At the foot of the hill, $\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the W., is the Zollersche Hof, a favourite restaurant, with a garden. — The Mühlberg (easy path to the summit), also on the N. bank of the Danube, is another fine point of view. — To the S.W. to Inzigkofen, see p. 73.

On the outside of the W. gable is a fresco of John the Baptist (1498). The Blautopf*, a pale-blue pool (65 ft. deep, 128 yds. in circumference), behind the abbey, is the source of the Blau. On its bank is a monument to King Charles I. d. 1891. Beside the Blautopf is situated one of the pumping-stations of the Alb Water Works (Alb-Wasserversorgung), which extend over nearly the whole of the Rauhe Alb and supply drinking-water to the numerous communities situated on its arid plateau.

The line follows the windings of the Danube. Tunnel.

73 M. Beuron (2050 ft.; Gregoriushaus; Pelikan; Stern; Sonne; Klosterhof, all belonging to the convent), a charmingly situated village, contains an old Augustine monastery, founded in the end of the 11th cent., suppressed in 1802, and made over to the Benedictines in 1862 (½ M. from the rail. station; no admission). The handsome church (rebuilt in 1724-38 and restored in 1874-75) contains ceiling-paintings by Wegschneider and altarpieces by Beuron artists (see p. 78). The Gnaden-Kapelle was added in 1900. — The Sigmaringen highroad leads to the E. to (½ M.) the dairy-farm of St. Maurus im Felde. Above this is the Chapel of St. Maurus, built in 1868-70 and embellished with 'early-Christian' paintings by Lenz, Würger, and Steiner, the founders of the Beuron School of Art. — About $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the S.E. of Beuron (reached by turning to the left at the Mission Cross beyond the railway viaduct) is the Peters-Höhle, a spacious grotto entered by wooden steps. — About 2 M. to the S. of Beuron, on a wooded rock rising over the Danube, is the well-preserved château of Bronnen (2600 ft.; key kept at the 'Jägerhaus', below, on the Danube), whence an attractive path leads viâ the Scheuerlehof and the Teufelsküche (below the ruin of Kallenberg) to ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Fridingen (see below). The pretty club-path leading along the Danube to ($2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) Fridingen may also be mentioned.

Beyond Beuron the railway descends to the left bank of the Danube, then threads a tunnel (750 yds.), and crosses the Bera to (75 M.) Fridingen, 1 M. to the N. of the little town of that name (Sonne), with 1000 inhab. and an old château (now a poorhouse). Farther on we twice cross the Danube. On the wooded heights of the right bank are an ancient entrenchment, the ruin of Alt-Fridingen, and the ruined pilgrimage-church of Mariahilf. — 78 M. Mühlheim. The town (Krone, R. 1-1 $\frac{1}{4}$ M.) is picturesquely situated on an eminence to the left, with a château of Baron Enzberg.

Beyond (80 M.) Nendingen, a considerable village with the ancient chapel of St. Blasius, and the royal foundry of Ludwigstal, the train passes the station of (82 M.) Tuttlinger Vorstadt and crosses the Danube to (84 M.) Tuttlingen (see p. 55). Hence to (90 M.) Immendingen, see p. 55.

The railway from Mengen (p. 77) to Radolfzell and Constance quits the Danube and follows the Ablach-Tal. 54 M. (from Ulm) Zielfingen. — $56\frac{1}{2}$ M. Krauchenwies (Goldner Adler; Rail. Restaurant), with an old castle, the summer-home of the Prince of Hohenzollern; interesting erratic boulders on the Andelsbach, in the park. Branch-line to (6 M.) Sigmaringen (p. 74) viâ Josephslust (deer-park).

63 M. Messkirch (Löwe; Sonne), a little town with a château of Prince Fürstenberg. A monument has been erected to Konradin Kreutzer, the composer, born here in 1780 (d. 1849). The parish church contains monuments of the 16th cent. (epitaph of Count von Zimbern by Labenwolf; 1551). The altar-piece (the Magi) is the masterpiece of Jörg Ziegler, the Master of Messkirch (ca. 1540). Traces of a Roman settlement have been found in the old town. — 69 M. Schwackenreute (Rail. Restaurant).

FROM SCHWACKENREUTE TO ALTSHAUSEN, $25\frac{1}{2}$ M., railway in $3\frac{3}{4}$ - $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. — 10 M. Pfullendorf (Schwan), a very ancient town (charming excursion to Heiligenberg, see p. 88; $2\frac{1}{4}$ hrs.; diligence $1\frac{1}{2}$, carriage 12 M.). — 20 M. Hosskirch-Königsegg; $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the S.E. is the partly preserved castle of Königsegg. — $25\frac{1}{2}$ M. Altshausen (Post, R. $1\frac{1}{4}$ - $1\frac{1}{2}$ M., B. 60 pf.; Rail. Restaurant, is the junction of the Herberlingen and Memmingen line (p. 76).

At (71 M.) Mühlingen we enter the wooded ravine of the Stockach. 76 M. Stockach (Post), prettily situated, near which the French under Jourdan were defeated by Archduke Charles in 1799; fine view from the ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) ruin of Nellenburg. We now traverse smiling green valleys to (82 M.) Stahringen (p. 87) and — 86 M. Radolfzell (Schiff; Krone; Sonne), an old town of 5200 inhab., with walls and gates, situated on the Unter-See, where the line unites with the Bâle and Constance railway (to Lindau, see R. 14b). The Gothic church of 1436 contains the tomb of St. Radolf and a fine reliquary dating substantially from the 9th century. At the Villa Seehalde is a monument to its former proprietor, the poet Victor von Scheffel (d. 1886).

The railway from Radolfzell to Constance intersects the neck of land between the Unter-See and the Ueberlinger-See (p. 82). — $11\frac{1}{2}$ M. Markelfingen; $41\frac{1}{2}$ M. Allensbach; $61\frac{1}{2}$ M. Hegne. — $81\frac{1}{2}$ M. Reichenau, station for the island in the Untersee, to the right, connected with the shore by a causeway ($1\frac{1}{2}$ M.).

The island of Reichenau (3 M. long, 1 M. wide; see Map, p. 82), now belonging to Baden, was formerly the seat of a celebrated Benedictine abbey, founded in 724 and secularized in 1799. It may be visited also by rowing-boat from Hegne or Allensbach ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) or by steamer from Constance. — Approaching from the causeway, we pass the ruined tower of Schöpfeln, the abbot's residence, and reach Oberzell, a hamlet with a Romanesque church of the 9-10th cent., containing the oldest extant church-frescoes in Germany (10-11th cent.). — In the middle of the island lies its largest village (1000 inhab.), Mittelzell or Münster (Mohr; Bär), the church of which, consecrated in 806 and dating in its present basilican form from the 10-12th cent. (choir, late-Gothic, 1447-1550), was the church of the above-mentioned abbey. Charles the Fat, great-grandson of Charlemagne, who was dethroned in 887, was interred in this church. The sacristy contains some fine reliquaries. A good view is obtained from the W. tower of the Königsegg, a 16th cent. château, recently restored. — The church of Unterszell, at the N.W. end of the island, is another columned basilica of the 11-12th cent., with 11th cent. frescoes in its apse. — Fine view from the belvedere on the Friedrichshöhe (key kept at the Mohr inn at Mittelzell).

The train passes the large barracks of Petershausen, and crosses the Rhine by an iron bridge embellished with statues.

Constance (1335 ft.), a town of Baden with 24,800 inhab., has manufactures of iron and textiles. It is situated at the N.W. extremity of the Lake of Constance, or Bodensee, at the point where the Rhine emerges from it.

Constance, which ascribes its origin to Constantius Chlorus (3rd cent.), became an episcopal see in the 6th cent. and was a free town until 1548, when it was made subject to Austria. Since 1809 it has belonged to Baden. After the Reformation the bishops resided at Meersburg, and in 1827 the bishopric was merged in the archbishopric of Freiburg. The great Council of Constance, held in 1414-18 at the instance of the Emp. Sigismund, suppressed the schism of the anti-popes John XXIII., Gregory XII., and Benedict XIII., and condemned the teaching of John Huss (see below).

The *CATHEDRAL or MINSTER (Pl. C, 4), founded in 1054, was rebuilt in its present form in 1435 and 1680. Gothic tower (249 ft. high) erected in 1850-57; the perforated spire is of light grey sandstone; on either side is a platform commanding a charming view (adm. 20 pf.).

On the Doors of the principal portal are Bas-Reliefs*, in 20 compartments, representing scenes from the life of Christ, carved in oak in 1470. The organ-loft, richly ornamented in the Renaissance style, is supposed to have been designed by P. Flötner in 1518. In the nave (Romanesque), the arches of which are supported by 16 monolithic pillars (28 ft. high, 3 ft. thick), sixteen paces from the principal entrance, is a large stone slab with a white spot, on which Huss is said to have stood when the Council of 6th July, 1415, sentenced him to be burnt at the stake. The pulpit dates from the 17th century. In the choir is the tomb of Robert Hallum, Bishop of Salisbury (d. 1417). The late-Gothic choir-stalls are by the same sculptor as the reliefs on the doors. In the N. chapel, adjoining the choir, is a Death of the Virgin, with lifesize stone figures (1460). Adjacent is an elegant spiral staircase (1438?). In the last chapel of the N. aisle is a large winged altar-piece of the Swabian School (1524). — The Treasury (custodian $\frac{1}{2}$ -1 M) contains an illuminated missal (1496). — On the E. side is a CRYPT, containing the Chapel of the Holy Sepulchre, dating from the 13th century. On the exterior of the N. side stand two aisles of the elaborate late-Gothic Cloisters. Adjacent are the late-Gothic Chapel of St. Maurice and the Chapter House (1480).

The Wessenberg Haus (Pl. 6; C, 4), now the property of the town, contains the public library (Wed. & Sat. 2-4, Sun. 11-12) and the collections of J. H. von Wessenberg (d. 1860), who for many years was the vicar-general of the diocese (open free on Wed. & Sat. 2-5 and on Sun. 11-1 & 2-4; on other days, 9-12, 50 pf.).

The Church of St. Stephen (Pl. B, C, 4), a late-Gothic building begun in 1428, with a slender tower, contains stalls, tabernacle, and reliefs by H. Morink (ca. 1594; in the choir).

The Wessenberg-Strasse leads hence to the S. to the Obere Markt (Pl. B, 5), at the corner of which stands the house 'Zum Hohen Hafen' (Pl. 1), where Frederick VI., Burgrave of Nuremberg, was created Elector of Brandenburg by Emp. Sigismund, 18th April, 1417. It is adorned with frescoes by Häberlin (1906). Adjacent to it is the Hôt. Barbarossa (Pl. i), in which Emp. Frederick I. concluded peace with the Lombard towns in 1183.

The STADT-KANZLEI, or Town Hall (Pl. B, 5), rebuilt in the Renaissance style in 1592, was decorated in 1864 on the exterior with frescoes illustrative of the history of Constance. It contains the Municipal Archives, comprising 2800 documents. Fine inner court. In the lobby of the second floor are five frescoes by Häberlin (1898), also relating to the town's history. — In the ROSGARTEN (Pl. 4; C, 5), once the guild-house of the butchers, is the Rosgarten Museum, a good collection of local antiquities (from lake-dwellings, sculptures by H. Morink, etc.) and of objects of natural history (adm. 50 pf.; free on Wed., 2-5, & Sun., 10.30-12). — In the market-place stand a War Monument by Baur (Pl. 5; C, 5) and the Kaiser-Brunnen (Pl. 2; 1897).

The KAUFHAUS, or Merchants' Hall (Konzilium; Pl. C, D, 5), by the lake, erected in 1388, contains the great Council Chamber, supported by ten massive oaken pillars, where the conclave of cardinals met at the time of the Great Council (1414-18). The hall is decorated with frescoes by Pecht and Schwörer (adm. 20 pf.).

The ancient Dominican Monastery (Pl. a; C, 3, 4), in which Huss was confined in 1414-15, on an island in the lake, is now the Insel-Hotel (see p. 79). — Pleasant promenade in the Stadt-Garten on the lake (Pl. C, D, 4; band every evening in summer).

The house in which Huss was arrested, Husen-Strasse 64 (Pl. B, 5), bears a memorial tablet with his effigy, put up in 1878. Adjoining it is an old relief, dated 1415, with satirical verses. Behind it, in the 'Obere Laube' (Pl. B, 5), a bronze tablet with an inscription marks the spot where Jerome of Prague was imprisoned in 1415-16. — In the Brühl, reached viâ the Tägermoos-Str. (Pl. A, 5), is the spot where Huss and Jerome suffered martyrdom, indicated by a huge mass of rock with inscriptions ('Husenstein').

At Kreuzlingen (Löwe; Helvetia; Schweizerhof; Bellevue, for nervous patients), $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. from the S. gate, on Swiss territory (comp. inset-map on the plan), is an old Augustine abbey, now a normal school. The church contains a curious piece of wood-carving, with about 1000 small figures, executed in the 18th century.

A fine view of the lake and of the Vorarlberg and Appenzel Alps is obtained from the (1 hr.) Allmannshöhe* (1512 ft.), with belvedere, 5 min. above the village of Allmannsdorf, on the road to the Mainau. — Among other pleasant objects for a walk may be mentioned the Loretto-Kapelle ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.); the Jacob (Hôt.-Pens. Waldhaus, pens. 5-6 M.; $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.); Tabor, with a belvedere (1 hr.); and the Kleine Rigi, above Münsterlingen ($1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.).

14. The Lake of Constance.

The banks of the lake belong to five different states: Baden, Wurtemberg, Bavaria, Austria, and Switzerland. The Swiss bank, the principal steamboat-centre on which is Rorschach, is described in Baedeker's Switzerland. — The Unter-See, with the island of Reichenau, is described at p. 79.

In the following description steamboat-stations are indicated by S., railway-stations by R.

THE LAKE OF CONSTANCE (Germ. Bodensee; 1295 ft.), the Lacus Brigantinus of the Romans, is about 40 M. long, $7\frac{1}{2}$ M. in width, and at the deepest place, between Friedrichshafen and Uttwil, 826 ft. in depth (area 208 sq. M.). Its principal feeder is the Rhine, the deposits of which have formed a broad delta at its influx between Bregenz and Rorschach. This vast sheet of water, with its well-peopled banks, its high, wooded hills on the S. side, above which rise the distant Glarus and Appenzell Alps, with the generally snow-clad Sentis and, in clear weather, the snow-peaks of the Vorarlberg Alps to the S.E., presents a scene of great beauty. The E. and W. banks are almost entirely flat, while on the N. wooded mountains may be descried in the distance, on which Schloss Heiligenberg (p. 87) is conspicuous. The climatic conditions are extraordinarily favourable. — The best fish are 'Felchen', 'Sander', and trout, and the best wine grown on the banks is the 'Meersburger'.

a. Steamboats on the Lake.

STEAMBOATS (2-9 times daily): From CONSTANCE to (Meersburg) Friedrichshafen in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. (fares 2 M 35, 1 M 55 pf.); direct to Lindau in 2 hrs. (3 M 95, 2 M 60 pf.). — From FRIEDRICHSHAFEN to Romanshorn in $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. (1 M 20, 80 pf.); to Rorschach in 1 hr. (2 M, 1 M 35 pf.). — From LINDAU to Romanshorn in $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. On Sun. and holidays the single-fare tickets are good for the return also. The so-called 'kilometre tickets' (Kilometer-Karten) are convenient for those making a long stay: ticket with 200 coupons (each representing one kilometre), 1st class 9, 2nd class 6 M; family-ticket with 300 coupons, 1st class $13\frac{1}{2}$, 2nd class 9 M; on embarking the required number of coupons is detached. — The lake is neutral, but passengers' luggage is examined only on proceeding from Switzerland to Germany or Austria or vice versâ; passengers from one German port to another can have a custom-house label (gratis) pasted on their luggage before embarkation by which all trouble is avoided on landing.

Constance, see p. 79. The chief charm of the N.W. arm of the Lake of Constance, known as the Ueberlinger-See, is the attractive island of — in circumference) is connected with the mainland by an iron bridge. It is covered with charming pleasure-grounds in which favourite spots are marked with inscriptions.

Mainau (Plan, see p. 84), formerly the seat of a lodge of the Teutonic Order. Since 1853 it has been the property of the Grand-Duke of Baden, who refurnished the château (built in 1739-46; adm. to the interior in the absence of the family only). The island ($1\frac{1}{2}$ M.

STEAMBOAT from Constance via Staad in 20 min. or via Meersburg, on the N. bank, in 1 hr. Rowing Boat (in 1 hr., a pleasant trip) 5 M and gratuity. PEDESTRIANS (Map, see p. 79) may either follow the road (one-horse carr. 5-6, two-horse 10 M), a walk of $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr., or take the shorter footpaths (1 hr.). We go straight on along the Wilhelm-Str. (Pl. D, 2) to ($\frac{1}{2}$ M.) a guide-post where we diverge to the right and pass the military hospital; about $\frac{1}{2}$ M. farther on we reach another guide-post whence we may either go straight on skirting the wood and soon joining the road, or take the preferable route to the left ('Privatweg Lützelstätten') through wood and past the St. Katharina tavern.

Meersburg. — HOTELS. Seehof, at the steamboat-pier; Schiff, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$, B. $\frac{3}{4}$, pens. $4\frac{1}{2}$ -5 M; Hecht, R. $1-1\frac{1}{2}$, B. $\frac{1}{2}$ - $\frac{3}{4}$, pens. $1-1\frac{1}{2}$ M, with view-terrace; Wilder Mann, R. $1-1\frac{1}{2}$, B. $\frac{1}{2}$ - $\frac{3}{4}$, pens. $4\frac{1}{2}$ -5 $\frac{1}{2}$ M, with shady garden, these three on the lake; Löwe, in the Oberstadt. — Good Meersburger wine at the Weinstube des Winzercereins ('Zum Becher'), in the Oberstadt. — Lake Baths near the quay.

Meersburg (1465 ft.), a Baden town of 1900 inhab., with many old houses, lies picturesquely on a steep slope. The Old Château, an edifice of the 16-17th cent. on a promontory, with a mediæval keep, lies in the Oberstadt ('upper town'), which is reached in 10 min. from the harbour by following the lake-promenade to the left and the street by the Wilder Mann to the right. The old mill in the adjacent ravine (artificially made in 1334) is highly picturesque. The New Château (1750) is now a deaf-and-dumb asylum. Near it is a bronze bust of the poetess Annette von Droste-Hülshoff (d. 1848), by Stadelhofer (1898). The churchyard contains the tomb of Mesmer (d. 1815), the discoverer of mesmerism. Fine views from the Künzele, near the normal school, and (more extensive) from the Edelstein*, 1 M. from the harbour and $\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the W. of the church.

Ueberlingen. — HOTELS. Bad-Hôtel (Pl. B, 1, 2); Christophskeller, cor. of Christoph-Str. and Graben-Str. (Pl. B, 2).

Ueberlingen (1345 ft.), an ancient town of Baden with 4400 inhab., frequented for its lake-baths and mineral spring, was once a free town of the Empire. Considerable remains of the old fortifications have been preserved as well as numerous mediæval buildings, including the richly-decorated Gothic Rathaus (Pl. C, 2), with its rustica façade. The Council Chamber, with its carved *Wood-work, is an object of great interest. The 39 statuettes on the walls (about 1 ft. high), re-presenting the various elements of the German Empire, are by Jakob Rues (1494).

The adjacent Minster (Pl. B, 2), of the second half of the 14th cent., with double aisles, contains a carved altar by Jörg Zürn (1613-34), with many figures, and a fine ciborium of limestone (in front, to the left), probably by the same masters (1611). In the rich treasury is a pax of ebony and silver, an exquisite Augsburg work of 1606. Tickets of admission to the choir (50 pf.) are obtained from the sacristan, Turmgasse 283.

The Stadt-Kanzlei (Pl. C, 2), in the Münster-Platz, has a fine doorway of the end of the 16th century. — The STEINHAUS MUSEUM (Pl. B, 2) contains a Historical Collection and a Cabinet of Natural History (open daily, from July 1st to Sept. 15th, 10-12 & 2-5; 20 pf.). — The municipal pleasure-grounds (Pl. A, 2, 1), with the Uhländ-Höhe and the Galler-Turm, are worth a visit.

EXCURSIONS. To the W. to the old Silvester-Kirchlein (frescoes of the late 10th cent.?), near Goldbach. Farther to the W. to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Heidenlöcher, mentioned in Scheffel's novel 'Ekkehard'; on the hill (1740 ft.) is Schloss Spetzgart, now a hydropathic establishment, near which is a Glacier Mill. — To ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the Spetzgarter Tobel. — To ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) the Hödinger Tobel, a picturesque ravine with waterfalls, near the station of Süssenmühle (p. 87). — On the S. bank of the lake (motor-boat from Ludwigshafen in 10 min.; 15 pf.) lies Bodman (Linde), with a view-tower and the foundation-walls of a Carlovingian palace (?), from which the lake (Bodensee) is supposed to have taken its name.

Railway from Ueberlingen to Constance or Lindau, see p. 87.

On the steamboat-journey from CONSTANCE TO FRIEDRICHSHAFEN ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) we see, on the Ueberlinger-See, the picturesque little town of Meersburg (S.; p. 83), then the island of Mainau (p. 82), and in the distance Ueberlingen (p. 83). Farther on, on the N. bank, appear the village of Hagnau (S.), the châteaux of Kirchberg and Herrsberey, and the village of Immenstaad (S.). Then Manzell, with the old shed for Count Zeppelin's air-ships (p. 85).

Friedrichshafen (S. & R.). — HOTELS. Deutsches Haus (Pl. a; B. 2), by the town-station, with garden on the lake, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -3 $\frac{1}{2}$, B. 1, D. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$, pens. from 5 M; See-Hôtel (Pl. b; C, 2), at the harbour; Lamm (Pl. c; B, 2), R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2, B. $\frac{3}{4}$ M; Buchhorner Hof (Pl. d; B, 2), R. $1\frac{1}{4}$ -2 $\frac{1}{2}$, B. $\frac{3}{4}$ M, these two at the town-station, with gardens on the lake; Drei Könige (Pl. e; C, 2), by the Rathaus, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 $\frac{1}{2}$, B. $\frac{3}{4}$ M. — Kurhaus (Pl. B, 2), on the lake, with view-terrace; Railway Restaurant, by the lake-station, with a terrace. — Lake Baths, to the S. of the town-station (45 pf.).

Friedrichshafen (1320 ft.) is a busy little town on the Bodensee or Lake of Constance, with 5500 inhab. and a harbour. It was founded by King Frederick of Wurtemberg (d. 1816), who connected Buchhorn, the smallest of 'imperial cities', with the monastery of Hofen, now the palace, and gave the place its modern name. A little to the W. of the harbour is the Rathaus-Platz, on the E. side of which stands the Rathaus (Pl. 2; C, 2), built in 1907 and adorned with a fresco by Brandes (S. side). To the W. is the Imperial Bank (Reichsbank; Pl. 1), on the first floor of which are the historical, prehistoric, and natural history collections of the Bodensee-Verein (adm. 40 pf.). In the market-place, to the N., is a fountain by Diamant, erected in 1909 in honour of Count Zeppelin (see below). On the W. side of the town is the Schloss (Pl. A, 2), occupied by the king in summer. Its chapel contains stucco work by Schmuizer. The beautiful garden is open for a fee of 20 pf. About $\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the N. of the town-station is the Riedle Park, commanding a charming prospect of the lake and the Alps. To the W. of the park is the dockyard of Count Zeppelin's air-ships. A little to the E. of the harbour is the Meteorological Station (Pl. D, 2), opened in 1908.

From Friedrichshafen to Stuttgart, see R. 8; to Lindau and to Constance, see R. 14b; steamers on the Lake of Constance to Romanshorn and to Rorschach, see p. 82.

The steamer to LINDAU (1-1 $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) passes Eriskirch (S. & R.; p. 88) and the château of Montfort and reaches Langenargen (S. & R.; p. 88). Soon Kressbrunn (S.) appears on the left; 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the E. lies Nonnenhorn (R.; p. 88). We next pass Wasserburg (S. & R.; p. 86), the finely situated baths of Schachen (S.; p. 86), and Enzisweiler (R.; p. 86), and reach — Lindau (S. & R.; Plan on the Map, p. 82). — HOTELS. Bayrischer Hof* (Pl. a), on the lake, near the station, R. 3-5, B. 1 $\frac{1}{4}$, D. 3 $\frac{1}{2}$, pens. 7-10 M. — Hôtel Reutemann (Pl. b), R. 2-3, D. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$, pens. 6-7 M.; Lindauer Hof (Pl. c), R. 1 M. 60 pf., 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.; Helvetia (Pl. e), R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2 $\frac{1}{2}$ M., plain but good, these three at the harbour; Krone (Pl. d), Ludwig-Str., R. 2-2 $\frac{1}{2}$, pens. 5-6 M.; Peterhof, cor. of the Karolinen-Str. and the Schafgasse; Christliches Vereinshaus, Paradies-Platz. — RESTAURANTS. Seegarten, next the Bayrischer Hof (with rooms); Schützengarten, on the ramparts by the Römer-Turm, with view; Rail. Restaurant. — Wine at Frey's, Maximilian-Str. — Lake Baths on the N.W. side of the town on the inner arm of the lake (30 pf.), and in the military baths on the E. side in the open lake. — English Church Service in summer.

Lindau (1320 ft.; pop. 6700), formerly a free imperial town and fortress, lies on an island in the Lake of Constance (p. 82), 355 yds. from the mainland, with which it is connected by the railway-embankment and a wooden bridge. It is frequented as a summer-resort. On the quay is a Statue of King Max II. (d. 1864 in bronze, by Halbig (1856). At the end of the S. pier is a large lion (21 ft. high) in marble, also by Halbig, and on the opposite pier a lighthouse (108 ft. high; ticket, 40 pf., at the custom-house). The harbour is adjoined to the S. by the Alte Schanz, which commands a view of the Alps from the Scesaplana to the Sentis (mountain-indicator). In the neighbouring Reichs-Platz is the Reichsbrunnen, erected in 1884 from a design by Tiersch and Rümann.

The handsome Rathaus, painted both back and front, was erected in 1422-36, remodelled in the German Renaissance style in 1578, and restored in 1885-87; it contains a collection of antiquities (open 9-12 & 3-5; 30 pf.). The Church of St. Peter (now a grain-storehouse), to the N.W., contains some faded frescoes of the early 16th century.

EXCURSIONS. Beautiful view from the ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Hoierberg (1496 ft.) reached either by the path parallel with the railway, or by the road from the Landtor through Aeschach to the hamlet of Hoiren, at the foot of the vine-clad hill. Inn and a belvedere at the top. Return viâ Enzisweiler (Pens. Enzisweiler, with restaurant) and Schachen (Schlössle). Pleasant walk on the W. bank of the lake (crossing the railway-embankment, and turning to the left), to the (2 M.) charmingly situated Bad Schachen (steamer in summer; pens. $4\frac{3}{4}$ - $5\frac{3}{4}$ M.; rooms in private houses, 5-7 M. per week), with mineral and lake baths. Near it ($\frac{1}{4}$ M.) is the Lindenhof, or Villa Gruber, with a beautiful park, hot-houses, etc. (adm. 1 M. per pers., for charitable purposes). Thence along the bank of the lake, by Tegelstein (to the right the finely situated Schloss Alwind) and Mitten, to (2 M.) Wasserburg (Krone, with terrace; Aicheler Garden Restaurant, both on the lake), a small town with a château and church, situated on a peninsula. Return by steamer (p. 85) or railway (p. 88).

Railway from Lindau to Constance, see pp. 87, 88; to Bregenz (the Gebhardsberg, Pfänder, etc.), see below; steamboats on the Lake of Constance, see p. 82.

Bregenz (S. & R.). — HOTELS. Hôt. Montfort* (Pl. a; B. 2), R. 3-6, B. $1\frac{1}{2}$ K; Hôt. de l'Europe (Pl. b; B. 2), R. 2-4, B. $1\frac{1}{4}$ K, these two at the station; Oesterreichischer Hof (Pl. c; B. 2), at the harbour, R. 2-4, B. $1\frac{1}{4}$ K; Weisses Kreuz (Pl. d; B. 3), Römer-Str.; Post (Pl. e; C. 2), at the harbour; Krone (Pl. f; B. 3); Pfänder, with wine-room; Löwe (Pl. n; B. 2). — RESTAURANTS. Sporthaus (Pl. A. 2), on the Lake Promenade; Central (Bohemian beer); Weberbeck, near the harbour; Railway Restaurant; wine at F. Kinz's, Kirch-Str. (Pl. B. 3); beer at the Hirsch, at Forster's, etc.

Bregenz (1300 ft.; 8500 inhab.), the Brigantium of the Romans and the capital of the Vorarlberg, is charmingly situated at the E. end of Lake Constance. The Old, or Upper Town, of irregular quadrilateral shape, situated on a hill, occupies the site of the Roman Castrum. The Lake Promenade commands a good survey of the lake and the Appenzell Mts. (Sentis). The District Museum (Pl. B. 2; adm. 1 K) contains natural history specimens, Roman antiquities, etc.

The Gebhardsberg (1970 ft.), with the ruins of the old castle of Hohen-Bregenz, a small church, and an inn, is reached by road in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. (two-horse carr. there and back 8 K). It commands a fine view, embracing the Lake of Constance, the valley of the Rhine, and the Alps of Appenzell and Glarus.

The Pfänder (3490 ft.), to the E. of Bregenz, commands a more extensive view (mountain-railway in construction). The most convenient route ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) leads past Berg Isel (rifle-range) and then to the left to Weissenreute (farm); it then ascends to the right (white way-marks) through wood viâ Hintermoos to the Hôt.-Pens. Pfänder, 5 min. below the summit. The carriage-road is rather longer (2 hrs.; two-horse carr. there and back 20 K).

FROM BREGENZ TO BEZAU, 25 M., in 2 hrs. (fares 2 K 60, 1 K 70 h). The line follows the picturesque valley of the Bregenzer Ach. - About 21½ M. to the N. of (21 M.) Schwarzenberg (2085 ft.) is the village of the same name (Hirsch; Lamm), a summer-resort at the foot of the Hochälpele (1813 ft.), which is easily ascended in 2¼ hrs. 25 M. Bezaú (2135 ft.), whence a highroad (diligence twice daily in 3 hrs.) leads to (12½ M.) Schoppernau (2810 ft.; Krone). A cart-track also runs from Bezaú to (3½ M.) the small sulphur-baths of Hopfreben (3350 ft.), and then ascends sharply to the (1½ hr.) Schröcken* (4134 ft.; Peter's Hotel), a hamlet situated in the midst of a depression surrounded by steep mountains, which are covered nearly to their full height with woods and meadows.

A RAILWAY runs to (6 M.) Lindau (p. 85) viâ Lochau in 20 minutes.

b. Railway from Constance to Lindau.

61 M., express in 3 hrs. - Railway-tickets are partially valid by steamer, and vice versâ (see p. 82).

From Constance to Radolfzell (12½ M.), see p. 79. 17 M. Stähringen (p. 79). - Beyond (20 M.) Espasingen the line approaches the Ueberlinger-See and skirts the precipitous shore to (22 M.) Ludwigshafen (Adler; to Bodman, see p. 84). - 24½ M. Sipplingen, a finely situated market-town, with the ruin of Hohenfels (1½ M. to the N. of the rail. station) and (¼ M. farther on) the view-point of Haldenhof (2215 ft.; rfmts.). 25½ M. Süssenmühle is the station for the romantic Hödinger Tobel (p. 84; near the village of Hödingen, ½ hr.).

The rail. station of (28 M.) Ueberlingen (p. 83) lies ½ M. to the W. of the town.

The line now traverses a tunnel over 1 M. long to (29 M.) Ueberlingen East Station and skirts the lake to (30½ M.) Nussdorf. We then quit the lake. - 33½ M. Oberuhldingen, whence a branch-line runs to (2 M.) Unteruhldingen (S.). - 37½ M. Mimmenhausen-Neufrach.

FROM MIMMENHAUSEN-NEUFRACH TO FRICKINGEN, 5 M., branch-railway in 25 minutes. - 2 M. Salem (1445 ft.; Schwan). About ¾ M. to the W. of the railway is the suppressed Cistercian convent of that name, now partly occupied by Prince Max of Baden, with large halls (the finest of which is the 'Kaiser-Saal', in the baroque style), a collection of paintings, etc. The Gothic *Church of the 14th cent. was lavishly adorned within in 1774-91 with pseudo-classical alabaster sculptures (26 altars).

3½ M. Leustetten is the station for the village of Heiligenberg. 3½ M. to the E. (one-horse carr 4-5 M. per day 10 M; short-cuts for walkers, 1 hr.). - Heiligenberg (Bücheler zur Post, R. 1¼-2½, D. 2, pens. 4½-6 M, very fair; Winter, R. 1½-2¾, B. ¾, D. 1½-2½, pens. 4½-7 M; Bayer), with the extensive château and park of Prince Fürstenberg, lies picturesquely on a rocky terrace 1000 ft. above the Lake of Constance. The château (built in the 2nd half of the 16th cent.) contains a magnificent Renaissance hall, 115 ft. long and 33 ft. broad, with a beautifully-carved wooden *Ceiling, probably the finest Renaissance ceiling in Germany. The chapel (begun in 1586; restored in 1778-82) and the well-house in the court are also noteworthy. The *View from the château embraces the Lake of Constance, and the entire chain of the Vorarlberg and Swiss Alps, from the Hochvogel to the Jungfrau; still better from the 'Sieben Linden' (seven lime-trees), $\frac{3}{4}$ M. from the village. — A similar view is enjoyed from several parts of the flower-garden, on the left of the road to the castle; also from the Freundschafts-Höhlen, a number of grottoes, with seats, $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. to the N.W. of the Post Hotel. — From Heiligenberg to Pfullendorf (2 hrs.; carr. and pair 10 ℳ), see p. 78. — 5 M. Frickingen.

43 M. Markdorf, a small town with 2050 inhab., 1 hr. to the N. of which is the Göhrenberg (2475 ft.; view). — 46 M. Fischbach, near which are remains of lake-dwellings.

49 M. Friedrichshafen, see p. 84.

The line skirts the lake, affording fine glimpses of the Appenzell mountains, to Eriskirch, beyond which it crosses the Schussen, and ($55\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Langenargen. On a tongue of land to the right stands the château of Montfort. — The Argen is crossed. 58 M. Hemigkofen-Nonnenbach; 59 M. Nonnenhorn (Seewirtschaft), a prettily-situated little Bavarian town; 60 M. Wasserburg, the station for the village lying to the right on a peninsula (p. 85).

64 M. Lindau, see p. 85.

Frankfort-on-the-Main (300 ft.), with 335,000 inhab. (including 23,500 Jews), formerly a free town of the Empire and now the headquarters of the 18th Army Corps, first appears in history in connection with Charlemagne. It lies in a spacious plain bounded by mountains, on the right bank of the navigable Main. On the left bank of the river lies Sachsenhausen, a suburb connected with Frankfort by five stone bridges, and by an iron suspension-bridge. From a commercial, and still more from a financial point of view, Frankfort is one of the most important cities in Germany. The old part of the town is surrounded by 'Anlagen', or public grounds, and handsome modern quarters.

The principal approach from the imposing Central Railway Station (Pl. C, 4, 5; 1883-88) to the inner town is the busy KAISER-STRASSE, with its attractive shops. At the point where this street crosses the Gallus Promenade (Pl. D, 4), to the right, rises a Monument to Bismarck, by Siemering and Mantzel, erected in 1908; beyond it is the Schauspielhaus (Pl. E, 4). The Kaiser-Str. then leads to the ROSSTMARKT (Pl. E, 3), in the W. half of which rises the Monument of Gutenberg, a fine group on a large sandstone pedestal, designed by Ed. von der Launitz (1858).

The GOETHE-PLATZ (Pl. E, 3), which adjoins the Rossmarkt on the N., is embellished with Schwanthaler's Monument of Goethe (1844).

At Grosse Hirschgraben 23 is the Goethe House (Pl. E, 4), where the poet was born (28th August, 1749) and spent his boyhood (open on week-days 8-1 & 3-6, on Sun. 10-1; adm. 1 M). The house was purchased by the 'Deutsche Hochstift' in 1863, and has been restored to the condition in which it was after the alterations made in 1755 (see 'Dichtung und Wahrheit').

In the Börsen-Platz is the New Exchange (Neue Börse; Pl. E, 3), built by Burnitz and Sommer in 1879, with a handsome Renaissance hall (business-hours 12-2). The N.E. and W. galleries contain a Commercial Museum (adm. 50 pf.). — A little to the S.E. is the SCHILLER-PLATZ (Pl. E, 3), with the old Hauptwache (now a café), and a Statue of Schiller in bronze, by Dielmann (1863). Here begins the Zeil (Pl. F, G, 3), the old main street of Frankfort, with the handsome General Post Office, built in 1892-94. The old Palace of Prince Thurn and Taxis (to the W.; entr., Grosse Eschenheimer-Str. 26), which was the seat of the German Diet (Bundestag) down to 1866, now contains the Ethnographical Museum (open free 11-1, Sun. 10-4; at other times 50 pf.; closed on Mon.). Farther on, in the NEUE ZEIL, to the left, are the Police Headquarters (Pl. G, 3), beyond which are the Law Courts, a German Renaissance structure by Endell (1889).

In the Pauls-Platz, to the S. of the Schiller-Platz, is the Church of St. Paul (Pl. F, 4; bell to the right; adm. 20 pf.), a rotunda built in 1833, where the German parliament of 1848-49 held its meetings. In front of it is the Union Monument (1903). — To the E. is the RÖMERBERG (Pl. F, 4), the centre of the Old Town, with the Justitia Fountain, erected in 1543 and completely renewed in 1887.

The Römer (Pl. F, 4) is the name now applied to the Town Hall, which consists of a group of twelve separate old houses and various large new buildings. On the first floor is the Kaisersaal, where the new emperor dined with the electors and showed himself from the balcony to the people assembled on the Römerberg. It is embellished with modern portraits of the Emperors from Charlemagne to Francis II. (open daily 8-7, 50 pf.; Mon. & Wed. 10-1, free; tickets in the court).

The S. side of the Römerberg is bounded by the early-Gothic Nicolai-Kirche, an elegant church of the 13th cent., restored in 1842-45. — A little to the S. of the Römerberg are the old Fahr-Tor, and, adjacent, the Saalfhof (Pl. F, 4), probably occupying the site of an imperial palace, which was built by Charlemagne.

The street called the MARKT (Pl. F, 4) leads from the Römerberg towards the E. to the cathedral. No. 5 is the Goldene Wage, first mentioned in 1323, rebuilt in 1450, and restored in 1899, with a rich rusticated façade and fine skylight gratings.

The Cathedral (St. Bartholomew; Rom. Cath.; Pl. F, 4), originally founded by Lewis the German about 870 and reconsecrated in 1239, is the oldest church in the city. The short Gothic nave and aisles date from 1235-39, the choir was rebuilt in 1315-38, and the unusually long transept was erected in 1346-53. The church was seriously injured by a fire in August, 1867, but was restored in 1869-81 by Denzinger. On that occasion the unfinished tower (312 ft.) was completed. The modern stained glass and interior decorations are mainly due to Denzinger, Linnemann, and Steinle. To the right of the high-altar stands the beautiful monument of the German king Günther von Schwarzburg, who died in 1349 at Frankfort.

To the S. of the cathedral are the Municipal Record Office (Archiv-Gebäude), built in 1877 from designs by Denzinger, and the old Leinwandhaus (or Drapers' Hall), rebuilt in 1902. The lower story of the former and the entire Leinwandhaus are devoted to the *MUNICIPAL HISTORICAL MUSEUM (open free on Sun., Tues., Wed., and Frid., 10-3; other days, 50 pf.).

The Old Main Bridge (Pl. G, 4), constructed of red sandstone, is mentioned in a document of 1222, but has been several times restored. — The quay flanked with lofty houses, which extends along the right bank of the river, is called the Schöne Aussicht. At the upper end, the Upper Main Bridge (Pl. H, 4), built in 1878, crosses the river. In front of it is the TOWN LIBRARY (Pl. H, 4), inside, at the foot of the staircase, is a marble Statue of Goethe, by P. Marchesi (1838), besides which there are busts of other Frankfort celebrities. The library contains about 335,000 volumes.

The shortest way back to the Zeil crosses the Börne-Platz, with a Synagogue (1881), and then follows the Börne-Strasse, formerly the Judengasse, the dingy houses of which have been removed with the exception of the old House of the Rothschild Family (No. 26, to the right).

To the E. of the circular Eschenheimer Turm (Pl. E, F, 2), the finest of the few ancient tower-gateways of the city now extant, is the old ST. PETER'S CEMETERY (Pl. F, 2), with the Protestant Church of St. Peter.

The Hessian Monument (Pl. G, 2), outside the Friedberger-Tor, was erected by Frederick William II. of Prussia to the Hessians who fell on 2nd Dec., 1792, in the attack on Frankfort, then occupied by the French under General Custine. — Opposite is BETHMANN'S MUSEUM (Pl. G, 2; open free in summer 10-1 and 3-5, on Sun. and in winter 11-1), a circular building containing several sculptures, among them Ariadne on the panther (1814), the masterpiece of Dannecker of Stuttgart (d. 1841).

From the S.W. corner of the Rossmarkt (p. 93) the Grosse Gallus-Strasse (Pl. E, 3, 4) leads to the old Tannus Gate. To the left is the house (No. 19; memorial tablet) in which Bismarck lived when Prussian ambassador to the Diet in 1852-58. To the N., at Neue Mainzer-Str. 49, is the Museum of Art and Industry (Pl. D, 3), a collection of considerable value (open 10-1 and 3-5, on Sun. & holidays 10-1; adm. 50 pf., free on Sun. & Wed.; closed on Mon.). Farther on, at the intersection of the Junghof-Str. (leading to the Rossmarkt) and in this street, are several handsome banks.

Near the old Bockenheimer-Tor rises the magnificent Opera House (Pl. D, 2, 3), designed by Lucae (d. 1877), and opened in 1880. -- Opposite the Opera House, in the Taunus Promenade (Pl. D, 3), is a Monument to Emp. William I., by Buscher, erected in 1896.

In the Bockenheimer-Landstrasse (tramway), 1 M. from the old Bockenheimer-Tor, is situated the Palm Garden (Pl. B, 1), a pleasant park containing a large palm-house (adm. 1 M; concerts, 4-6 & 7.30-10 p. m.; good restaurant).

In the Victoria-Allée, to the S.W. of the Palm Garden, is the Senckenberg Museum of Natural History (Pl. A, 2), with important collections. In the court is the skeleton of a Diplodocus, a gigantic antediluvian lizard, from Wyoming. The museum is open free on Frid. & Sun. 11-1 and on Wed. 2-4, and for a fee of 50 pf. on Tues. & Thurs. 10-1 and Sat. 2-4. — In the Hohenzollern-Platz, extending in a wide curve to the S. of the Victoria-Allée, are the Postmaster's Office (1907) and the municipal Festhalle (Pl. A, 3, 4).

At the opposite (E.) end of the city (electric tramway) is the extensive Zoological Garden (Pl. I, 2, 3; adm. 1 M; concerts in the afternoon and evening; restaurant).

The Städel Art Institute (Pl. E, 5), founded by Johann Fried. Städel (d. 1816), occupies a handsome Renaissance building (by Sommer; 1878), on the Schaumain Quay, in Sachsenhausen. Its valuable Collection of Pictures includes important works of the early-Flemish schools (15th cent.), good specimens of the Dutch masters of the 17th cent. and the Italian masters of the Renaissance, and many modern works, mainly of the Romantic and early Düsseldorf schools. The gallery is open daily except Mon.; free on Tues., Thurs., Frid., & Sat. 10-1, Sun. 11-1, & Wed. 11-4, at other times 1 M; catalogue 1 M.

Soon after leaving the Central Station (p. 92) the train crosses the Main below Frankfort. 2½ M. Sachsenhausen, a suburb of Frankfort; 4½ M. Oberrad. — 6 M. Offenbach (Kaiser Friedrich; Stadt Kassel), a manufacturing town with 60,000 inhab., founded by French refugees at the end of the 17th century. Its leather goods rival those of Paris, Vienna, and Berlin. The old château of Prince Isenburg, on the Main, built in 1572, has a noteworthy façade and now contains a museum of natural history. — 10 M. Mühlheim; to the left, on the Main, is the village of Rumpenheim, with a château of the Landgrave of Hesse. — 13 M. Klein-Steinheim. The modern part of the town, with its straight, regular streets, owes its origin to Flemish and Walloon Protestants, who were banished from the Netherlands in 1597 on account of their creed. Of their handicrafts, the manufacture of gold and silver trinkets still flourishes; large diamond-cutting works. In the market-place of the new town is a monument to the brothers Jacob (1785-1863) and Wilhelm Grimm (1786-1859), by Eberle (1896).

*ROYAL PALACE (Pl. B, 2), a quadrangle 279 ft. in length on each side, with four corner-towers 197 ft. in height. This castle, originally known as the Johannisburg, was built in 1605-14 by Georg Riedinger in the Renaissance style and was for two centuries a favourite residence of the Electors of Mayence. THE LIBRARY (open on Wed. & Sat. 11-12) contains 30,000 printed vols., 51 MSS., and a collection of 20,000 engravings. The Dalberg-Strasse leads to the left from the S. end of the Schloss-Gasse to the Stifts-Platz, whence a double flight of steps (16th cent.) ascends to the STIFTSKIRCHE*, or *Abbey Church of SS. The church possesses a beautiful late-Romanesque W. gallery and Gothic transepts and choir of the 14th century. tower; accommodation). — On the left bank of the Main, 2 M. to the W., is the Schönbusch, a royal park with a château, orangery, and inn. — Another pleasant walk is by the ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Johannesberg (1253 ft.) to the ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Ludwigs-Turm (p. 97). Then down to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Alzenau (p. 97). — Other excursions, see p. 103.

FROM ASCHAFFENBURG TO MAYENCE, 47 M., railway in $1\frac{1}{2}$ - $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. Near ($3\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Stockstadt, on the site of a Limes fort (p. 197), we cross the Main. 9 M. Babenhausen, the junction for Hanau and Eberbach (p. 28). 26 M. Darmstadt and thence to (47 M.) Mayence, see Baedeker's Rhine.

FROM ASCHAFFENBURG TO SECKACH, $49\frac{1}{2}$ M., railway in $3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. The line sweeps round the town in a wide curve, passing the Fasanerie (p. 100) on the left, and follows the right bank of the Main as far as Wörth, through a fertile region rich in vines and fruit-trees. — $5\frac{1}{2}$ M. Sulzbach, the station for the picturesque baths of Sodental (470 ft.; Kurhaus), $3\frac{3}{4}$ M. to the E., with springs containing iodine and bromine. — 11 M. Obernburg (410 ft.), near the foot of the Elsawa-Tal: opposite, on the other side of the river, is the little town of that name (Hirsch), on the site of a fort on the Limes, still surrounded by walls. From Obernburg a branch-line ascends the Elsawa-Tal to ($10\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Heimbuchental, via (5 M.) Eschau and (8 M.) Hobbach (see p. 104). — At (15 M.) Wörth the train crosses the Main. — 16 M. Klingenberg (385 ft.; Ochs, R. 2-3 M.; Fränkischer Hof); the small town, with its ruined castle, lies in a picturesque gorge on the opposite bank. Excursions, see p. 104. — $18\frac{1}{2}$ M. Laudenbach, with a Schloss and park. — $20\frac{1}{2}$ M. Klein-Heubach, with a château and park of Prince Löwenstein-Wertheim-Rosenberg (chapel with frescoes by E. Steinle). On the opposite bank lies Gross-Heubach, 1 M. to the S.E. of which is the high-lying Franciscan monastery of Engelsberg, with a pilgrimage-church. In a wood $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the S. of Klein-Heubach are the so-called Hain- or Heunen-Säulen, Roman, huge columns of sandstone, remains of an ancient quarry of the Roman period, which seems to have been suddenly abandoned. A marked path leads via these columns from Miltenberg to Michelstadt (p. 28).

$22\frac{1}{2}$ M. Miltenberg (425 ft.; Riese; Engel, very fair), a little town of 3900 inhab., in a charming situation, stretches for a considerable distance between the river and the wooded height on its bank. Its quarries of variegated sandstone were known in the time of the Romans. Above the town is the old Schloss of the Electors of Mayence, built in the 15th cent., destroyed in 1552, and rebuilt in recent times. In the town are several interesting timber-built houses, chiefly of the 16th century. — Farther on in the Mudbach-Tal is (28 M.) Amorbach (545 ft.; Badischer Hof, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. B. 80 pf.; Post, R. $1\frac{1}{4}$ -2 M. B. 70 pf.), a small town with 2260 inhabitants. The old Benedictine abbey, the chief parts of which date from the 17-18th cent., is now the seat of the Prince of Leiningen. The Library (ca. 1790) is especially noteworthy. The abbey-church (Prot.), originally Romanesque but rebuilt in 1742-47, is tastefully fitted up in the rococo style, with stucco-work by Feichtmayer and Uebelher and ceiling-paintings by Guenther (fine organ). The abbey-mill and other Gothic edifices in the town should be noticed. Hence to the Odenwald, see Baedeker's Rhine. — $37\frac{1}{2}$ M. Walldürn, with 3600 inhab. and a pilgrimage-church. — $49\frac{1}{2}$ M. Seckach (p. 118).

FROM MILTENBERG TO STADTPROZELTEN, 13 M., railway in 1 hr. — The line crosses the Main and follows its right bank through the fertile and well-wooded valley, dotted here and there with ruined castles. Near (2 M.) Bürgstadt, on the Wannenberg, are an ancient Germanic rampart and a deserted Roman quarry. — $5\frac{1}{2}$ M. Freudenberg. The town (Rose), a picturesque little place, with the ruins of a castle of the 12-15th cent. destroyed in the Thirty Years' War, lies on the left bank (bridge). — 9 M. Reistenhausen-Echenbach, with large sandstone-quarries, beyond which is the ruined Kollenberg. — 13 M. Stadtprozelten (Adler), with a castle of the now extinct Schenks of Klingenberg, destroyed by the French in 1688. The line is being continued to Wertheim (see p. 102).

Beyond Aschaffenburg the line to Würzburg ascends by (33 M.) Hösbach and (35½ M.) Laufach to the tunnel ($\frac{3}{4}$ M. long) which penetrates the Schwarzkopf just short of (40 M.) Heigenbrücken (910 ft.; Löwengrube; Hochspessart). About 3½ M. to the N., above Jakobstal, is the Steigkoppe (p. 97). The line here enters the higher regions of the Spessart (see below), winds through the wooded and grassy Lohrbach-Tal, and runs across numerous bridges and through many cuttings in the red sandstone to (48½ M.) Partenstein and (52 M.) Lohr station (rail. restaurant), on the Main. — About 1 M. to the S. is Lohr (560 ft.; Krone, near the church; Hirsch, in the market-place, R. 1-1½ M., B. 60 pf.), a prettily situated little town with 4900 inhabitants. In the market-place, 4 min. from the rail. station of Lohr-Stadt (see below), is the Rathaus (1601), with modern upper stories. About 3 min. farther on is the Parish Church, originally Romanesque but remodelled in the late-Gothic period; the choir contains monuments of the Counts of Rieneck. Excursions, see p. 103.

FROM LOHR TO WERTHEIM, 23 M. (railway in 1½-1¾ hr.). The train descends the pleasant valley of the Main, following the right bank of the winding river. — 1 M. Lohr-Stadt (see above); ½ M. Neustadt am Main (575 ft.), with the Romanesque brick church of an old Benedictine monastery. — ½ M. Rotenfels (710 ft.; Anker), with a château of Prince Löwenstein-Wertheim-Rosenberg. — 1½ M. Marktheidenfeld (510 ft.; Post), with 2000 inhab., on the left bank of the Main. To Aschaffenburg, see p. 103. — Nearing (16 M.) Trennfeld, we observe on the right Schloss Triefenstein (585 ft.), once an Augustine abbey, now the property of Prince Löwenstein-Wertheim-Freudenberg. On the left bank are Homburg, with a ruined castle on a rock, and the Burkardus-Höhle, the cave in which St. Burkhard (p. 107) died in 754. Beyond a tunnel is (21 M.) Kreuz-Wertheim, with the Renaissance château of Prince Löwenstein-Wertheim-Freudenberg. Tunnel. — 23 M. Wertheim (475 ft.; Held, on the Main, with garden, R. 1¾-3, B. ¾ M., well spoken of; Löwensteiner Hof, at the station, R. 1½-2 M.; Badischer Hof, at the Tauber-Brücke; Löwe), an old town of 3800 inhab., with two châteaux belonging to Prince Löwenstein, is prettily situated at the influx of the Tauber into the Main, at the foot of a wooded hill (262 ft. above the Main), crowned by the extensive ruins of the ancestral castle of the Counts of Wertheim, destroyed in the Thirty Years' War. Several quaint houses of the 16th century. Walking to the left from the rail. station, we cross (4 min.; l.) the Tauber-Brücke, follow the Brückengasse, and traverse (r.) the market-place, at (4 min.) the S. end of which is the Engels-Brunnen (1574). In front of us is the Parish Church (Prot.), founded in 1383, with a handsome oriel-window on the tower. In the choir are fine monuments of the Counts of Wertheim (15-17th cent.). Adjacent is the late-Gothic St. Kilians-Kapelle (end of the 15th cent.), containing a collection of antiquities (tickets at the adjacent Rathaus; 25 pf.). We ascend hence in 6 min. to the Ruined Castle (see above; rfmts.; fine view from the terrace and the keep). Excursions, see p. 103. — Branch-line to the S. from Wertheim to Lauda, see p. 117.

The Spessart.

The Spessart, one of the finest and most extensive forest-districts in Germany, noted for its gigantic oaks and beeches, lies within the bend made by the Main between Gemünden and Hanau, and is bounded on the N. by the Kinzig and on the N.E. by the Sinn, both tributaries of the Main. Geologically it belongs mainly to the new red sandstone system. The S. part of this region (see the Map, p. 101) is especially worth a visit. Almost in the centre of this district rises the Geyersberg (1920 ft.), from which long hills radiate to the W., S., and E., on the crests of which we may walk in the delicious leafy shade for hours at a time. — The Verein der Spessart-Freunde, which maintains and marks the various paths, has published a map of the district, with a key to the marking of the various tourist-routes ($1\frac{1}{2}$ M.). Comp. Schober's Führer durch den Spessart (5th edit., Aschaffenburg, 1908).

The most enjoyable trips are probably those from Lohr and Aschaffenburg to ROHRBRUNN, the central point of the S. part of the Spessart.

FROM LOHR (p. 102) TO ROHRBRUNN, $5\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. A path (yellow way-marks) leads through wood viâ the Valentinusberg and Schwarzkopf to (2 hrs.) Lohrerstrasse (inn); descends thence (red way-marks) to the S. through forest to (1 hr.) Lichtenau (785 ft.; good inn), a summer-resort prettily situated in the wooded valley of the Hafenlohr; and finally leads to the S.W. viâ ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the forester's house of Jägerverein (1680 ft.) to (1 hr.) Rohrbrunn. — From Lichtenau pleasant paths (white marks) lead to the N. to (3 hrs.) Heigenbrücken (p. 97), and to the S.E. to ($3\frac{1}{4}$ hrs.) Rotenfels (p. 102).

FROM ASCHAFFENBURG (p. 97) TO ROHRBRUNN, 6 hrs. (carr. 12, with two horses 16 M.). We proceed either viâ Schweinheim and Sodental (p. 101; path indicated by red rings), or by following the Würzburg road for 2 M. and then taking the footpath (white marks) to the right to ($3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) the forester's house of Hohe Warte (1300 ft.; rfmts. on Sun.). Thence we descend to the S.E. to ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Neudorf ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the N. of which is Hessental, see below) and past the mortuary chapel of the Counts Ingelheim, to ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) the charmingly situated Mespelbrunn (935 ft.; rfmts. at the forester's; p. 104), the ancestral castle of the founder of Würzburg University (p. 111). A path now ascends to the N.E. to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) forester's house of Echterspfahl ('Jockel'; no rfmts.), whence the highroad runs to the S.E. to (3 M.) Rohrbrunn. — From Echterspfahl a path (blue marks) leads through the woods to ($3\frac{1}{4}$ hrs.) Heigenbrücken (p. 97).

FROM ASCHAFFENBURG TO MARKTHEIDENFELD (p. 102), 26 M. A carriage-road leads through the centre of the Spessart viâ ($9\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Hessental, a pilgrim-resort with a church containing the interesting 16th cent. tombs of the Echter von Mespelbrunn family, (17 M.) Rohrbrunn (p. 104), to which a diligence plies daily in 4 hrs., and Esselbach.

FROM WERTHEIM (p. 102) TO ROHRBRUNN, 5 hrs. We ferry across the Main to Kreuz-Wertheim (p. 102) and turn to the left to the carriage-road; in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. we take the footpath to the left, which returns to the road in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. more. Beyond ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Hassloch (453 ft.) we ascend the right bank of the Hassloch-Bach, passing a powder-mill and some iron-works, beyond the latter of which we cross to the left bank and thence follow the highroad to (4 hrs.) Rohrbrunn.

FROM KLINGENBERG (p. 101) TO ROHRBRUNN, $4\frac{1}{4}$ - $5\frac{1}{4}$ hrs. We follow the road to the N.E. viâ Streit to ($4\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Eschau (580 ft.; Krone). Thence we may ascend the Elsawa-Tal by railway (starting from Obernburg, see p. 101) as far as Heimbuchental, $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the S. of Mespelbrunn, or we may take the road (to the left) leading viâ (3 M.) Hobbach (Villa Elsawa, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 M., B. 60-80 pf., pens. 4-5 M., very fair) and ($7\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Mespelbrunn (p. 103) to (11 M.) Rohrbrunn. Or we may follow the paths (right; red way-marks) viâ the ruin of Wildenstein, the ($1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Geishöhe (1705 ft.; belvedere), Krausenbach ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.; 750 ft.; inn), and the Damm-bach-Tal to ($2\frac{3}{4}$ hrs.) Rohrbrunn.

Rohrbrunn (1522 ft.), situated on the W. slope of the Geyersberg (p. 103), is a summer-resort consisting of two forester's houses and the Gasthof zum Hochspessart (R. $1\frac{1}{2}$, B. $\frac{1}{2}$, pens. 3-4 M.), and a good centre for exploring the Spessart. It is mentioned in a tale by Hauff. About $\frac{1}{2}$ M. off is a hunting-lodge of Prince-Regent Luitpold, behind the forester's house of Diana, where the wild swine are fed in the afternoon. To the N.E. (20 min.) is the Luitpold-Höhe, with view-tower, whence we survey the vast leafy ocean of the Spessart. We may also visit a venerable oak, 1000 years old, 8-10 min. to the S.W. amidst splendid oaks and beeches. — To Mespelbrunn, see above.

58 M. Langenprozelten. We cross the Fränkische Saale, which here falls into the Main. — 61 M. Gemünden (Rail. Restaurant; Koppen, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 M.; Deutscher Kaiser, R. 1-2 M.), a little town (2400 inhab.) lying picturesquely at the foot of wooded hills, is commanded by the ruins of the Scherenburg. From the rail. station we take to the left and in 12 min. reach the Bayerische Hof (inn), where we obtain the key to the ruin. Here we turn to the right and gain the top in 8 min. more (fine view).

FROM GEMÜNDEN TO ELM, $28\frac{1}{2}$ M. (railway in 1-2 hr.). The line runs through the pleasant Sinnthal. $14\frac{1}{2}$ M. Jossa (to Brückenau, see p. 132). 21 M. Sterbfritz; to the right is the ruined castle of Schwarzenfels. Near (24 M.) Vollmerz, to the E., are the ruins of the Steckelburg, once the seat of Ulrich von Hutten. — $28\frac{1}{2}$ M. Elm, a station of the Bebra-Hanau Railway (see Baedeker's Northern Germany; shortest route from Cassel, Hanover, etc., to Munich).

FROM GEMÜNDEN TO HAMMELBURG ($17\frac{1}{2}$ M.), railway in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. through the pretty Saale-Tal, with its vines. 3 M. Schönau, with a secularized Cistercian nunnery. — Hammelburg (595 ft.; Post, R. from $1\frac{1}{2}$, D. $1\frac{1}{2}$ M., B. 60 pf.; Schwarzer Adler, R. from 1 M. 20, B. 60 pf.), an ancient town (pop. 3000), is picturesquely situated on the right bank of the Saale. On the opposite bank, on a wooded hill, rises the ruined castle of Saaleck (925 ft.). To the S. of the town is a manœuvre-ground. From Hammelburg to ($13\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Kissingen (p. 129), diligence twice daily in $3\frac{1}{4}$ hrs. (railway projected) viâ Fuchsstadt, Trimberg (with a ruined castle; view), and Euerdorf (Stern). The following is an attractive walk of 4 hrs.: from Hammelburg along the right bank of the Saale to Elfershausen and ($2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) Aura, with the ruins of a Benedictine convent (rfmts.); then up to the left, through wood and over the hill, to (1¼ hr.) Garitz (Kurbau and Café-Restaurant), with a dilapidated church (17th cent.) and a view; finally down to (¼ hr.) Kissingen.

FROM GEMÜNDEN TO SCHWEINFURT (Kissingen), 31½ M., railway in 1½-2 hrs. — From (2 M.) Wernfeld (see below) the line ascends the fertile and smiling Werntal. — 4½ M. Gössenheim, 2½ M. to the N. of which is the ruined castle of Homburg; 12 M. Thüngen, with a château. — 17½ M. Arnstein (Goldnes Lamm), with 1800 inhab. and quaint timbered dwellings. The parish-church has a handsome organ-case (ca. 1700). In the vicinity is the church of Maria-Sondheim, with the interesting tombs of the Hutten and Zobel families. — 21 M. Mühlhausen. — The line quits the Werntal, and at (25 M.) Waigolshausen joins the railway from Würzburg to (31½ M.) Schweinfurt (p. 128).

62½ M. Wernfeld (see above). — 69 M. Karlstadt (535 ft.; Lamm), a small town with 3100 inhab., is still surrounded with walls and towers. Professor Bodenstein, the instigator of the Puritanical iconoclasm, was born here, and has thence been surnamed 'Karlstadt' (d. 1541). From the rail. station we proceed first in a straight direction and then to the left along the main street to (4 min.) the market-place, with the Rathaus (15th cent.), which has a double flight of steps and a crow-stepped gable. The council-room has elaborate panelling and carved cupboards (17th cent.). The Gothic Parish Church has a Romanesque tower and a figure of Christ (13th cent.?) in a niche to the right of the portal. On the hill on the left bank of the Main is the ruined Karlsburg (1¼ M. from the rail. station). — Farther on (r.) is Laudenbach, with a ruined château of Prince Wertheim.

80 M. Veitshöchheim, with a small royal château (opposite the station, erected early in the 18th cent. by Jos. Greising?) and gardens laid out on the model of those at Versailles (1755-79; restaurant; sculptures by J. P. Wagner and others).

81½ M. Würzburg-Zell. The village (Rose; Brewery) lies on the opposite (left) bank of the Main. Beside it is the former Præmonstratensian convent of Oberzell, founded in 1128, with an originally Romanesque church and fine abbey-buildings erected by J. B. Neumann (p. 107; noteworthy staircase). — To the right, near Würzburg, is König & Bauer's well-known manufactory of printing-presses, and farther on (l.) the vine-clad Steinberg (p. 111).

84½ M. Würzburg. Continuation of the railway viâ Ansbach to Munich, see R. 30.

Würzburg (575 ft.; 83,000 inhab., 16,000 Prot.), the ancient capital of an episcopal principality, and now that of the Bavarian province of Unterfranken or Lower Franconia, is the seat of a university (ca. 1350 students) and of a bishop, and the headquarters of the II. Bavarian army-corps. It is charmingly situated in the vine-clad valley of the Main, which here expands somewhat. The town is dominated by the old fortress of Marienberg, on the left bank of the river. encircled with well-kept promenades. The industrial products of Würzburg include printing-presses (comp. p. 105), tobacco, and sparkling wine; it is the centre of the Franconian wine-trade.

Würzburg, first mentioned as Castellum Virteburh in a document of 701, has been the seat of a bishop since 741, when St. Burkardus (d. 754), the first bishop, was consecrated by St. Boniface. The bishops soon attained to great wealth and power, and were created dukes of Franconia about 1120, a dignity confirmed to Bishop Herold by Emp. Frederick I. in 1168. The efforts of the citizens to shake off the authority of the bishops were in vain, and although Würzburg was recognized by King Wenzel in 1397 as a free city of the empire, their hopes were finally shattered by the battle of Bergtheim in 1400. Their participation in the Peasants' War (1524-25), during which the Marienberg was several times assaulted in vain by the insurgents, led to the extinction of the last vestiges of liberty. Julius Echter von Mespelbrunn (1573-1617), the most famous of the prince-bishops, distinguished himself by establishing the Julius Hospital in 1576 and by refounding (in 1582) the university, which had previously existed from 1102 to 1113, but he is also known as an ally of the Jesuits in the relentless extermination of Protestantism in 1584-86. Würzburg was occupied by the Swedish in 1632-34. During the 18th cent. the bishops, whose sway often included the see of Bamberg also, added many new buildings; and the city is especially indebted to the brothers Schönborn (Johann Philipp Franz, 1719-24; Friedrich Karl, 1729-46), under whom flourished the celebrated architect Johann Balthasar Neumann (1687-1753), a native of Eger. The victory of the Archduke Charles in 1796 freed Würzburg only temporarily from the French invasion; the bishopric was incorporated with the Bavarian Palatinate in 1803, and from 1806 to 1814 Würzburg was the capital of a grand-duchy of the Rhenish Confederation, under Ferdinand, previously Grand-Duke of Tuscany. In 1866 the campaign of the Prussian army of the Main concluded here with the bombardment of the Marienberg (July 27th).

a. Right Bank of the Main.

From the Bahnhof-Platz (Pl. D, 1), where the St. Kilian-Fountain was erected in 1895 and a Statue of Prince Regent Luitpold in 1903, the Kaiser-Strasse (Pl. D, 1, 2) and Theater-Strasse (Pl. D, 2, 3) lead to the (10 min.) Residenz-Platz.

The Hauger Pfarrgasse, diverging to the left opposite the Julius Promenade (p. 111), about halfway, leads to the Stiftanger Church (Pl. D, 2), with two towers and a massive dome, built in 1670-91 in the baroque style by Antonio Petrini, who has obviously been influenced by the church of the Gesù at Rome. The consistently baroque interior contains a fine pulpit. — In the Theater-Strasse, to the left, at the corner of the Semmel-Strasse, is the Bürger-spital (Pl. D, 2), with its popular wine-room (p. 106), supplied from its own vineyards.

The quiet and spacious RESIDENZ-PLATZ (Pl. D, E, 3) is embellished by the Luitpold or Franconia Fountain, designed by F. von Miller and erected in 1894.

The extensive royal, formerly episcopal, Palace (Residenz), one of the grandest and most effective of 18th cent. edifices of the kind, was erected in 1720-44 in a free baroque style from Neumann's designs. With its central structure and wings, it is 550 ft. long, 290 ft. deep, and 70 ft. high, and contains 7 courts, 5 halls, 312 rooms, a chapel, and a theatre. The frescoes of G. B. Tiepolo of Venice, dating from 1751-53, mark the end of the period of florid rococo decoration; the staircase and some of the rooms are in the style of Louis XVI (e. g. the 'Ingelheimer Bau', in the N. wing), while other rooms were redecorated in the Empire style by N. A. de Salins in 1807-14. — The palace is shown daily 10-12 (Sun. 9-12) and 2-3 for a fee of 50 pf. each, at other times for 1 M. The visit takes $1\frac{2}{3}$ hr. Visitors ring for the castellan in the back-court (N.).

From the back-court of the left (N.) wing we enter the spacious HALL of the central edifice and reach the principal *STAIRCASE (always accessible), the lofty ceiling of which is adorned with a fresco by G. B. Tiepolo, representing Olympus and the four quarters of the globe (1752-53). The garden-saloon, behind the central edifice, has a ceiling-painting by Joh. Zick (d. 1762).

From the staircase we are conducted to the apartments on the upper floor. The WHITE ROOM, with elaborate stucco ornamentation in the rococo style, is followed by eight rooms in the elegant Empire style. — From the corridor we obtain a view of the sumptuous PALACE CHAPEL, which contains two altar-pieces by Tiepolo (Assumption and Fall of the Rebel Angels). — Next come the BANQUET HALL and a number of apartments in the Empire style, then the *MIRROR ROOM, the THRONE ROOM, and the RECEPTION ROOM (with fine tapestry, Battle of Alexander), all in the rococo style. — The octagonal KAISER-SAAL, overlooking the garden, contains three *Frescoes by Tiepolo (1751-52): Marriage of Emp. Frederick I. and Beatrix of Burgundy, which took place at Würzburg in 1156; Investiture of Bishop Herold (p. 107); on the ceiling, Apollo in the chariot of the sun conducting the bride to the emperor. — After visiting several rococo rooms with tapestries, groups of porcelain and tiled stoves, and the magnificent CARD ROOM, we reach the four rooms devoted to the PICTURE GALLERY (catalogue of 1902, 20 pf.), the contents of which are mainly by Dutch and Flemish masters.

The so-called Carrousel Room, in the middle pavilion of the N. wing, contains the Collections of the Historical Society (open free from June to Sept. on Sun., 10-12; at other times through the keeper, Julius Promenade 2 $\frac{1}{2}$, fee 50 pf.). The collections include architectural fragments, works in pewter, glass, fayence, stoneware, paintings, and sculptures (mainly of the 15-16th cent.). — In the S. wing is the picture gallery of the Kunstverein or Art Union (open 10.30-3, on Sun. 10-3; 50 pf.; closed on Tues.). — The PALACE CELLARS, beneath the Schloss, contain Franconian wine produced by the royal vineyards (adm. on application; fee; entr. from the court of the N. wing).

The Hof-Garten, at the back of the palace, laid out in 1720, has fine wrought-iron gates and contains a large Orangery (adm., in winter, 20 pf.), some pieces of sculpture, and fountains.

The broad HOF-STRASSE (Pl. D, 3) leads to the W. from the palace to the cathedral. At No. 4 in the adjoining Max-Strasse is the Frankish Museum, containing the Collections of the City of Würzburg and of the Frankish Art & Antiquarian Society (open free in summer, on Sun. and holidays, 10 to 1; at other times adm. 50 pf.).

FIRST FLOOR. To the right, Room 1. Domestic and kitchen utensils. — Room 3. Würzburg coins and medals. — Room 4. Renaissance furniture; engraved glass. — Room 6. Baroque and rococo furniture; original models of the sculptor J. P. Wagner (1730-1809). — Room 7 is fitted up as a reception room of a Würzburg house of the first half of the 18th century. — Room 8. Ecclesiastical vessels, chiefly of the 18th century. — Room 9. Frescoes from Urlaub. — Room 10. Panelled rococo room from the Palais Hutten. — Room 12. Round table with limestone top. — Room 14. Fragments of Romanesque buildings. — Room 15. Weapons and armour; fire-arms of the 19th century. — Room 16. Japanese Collection. — Room 17. Stucco ceilings from the Sandhof (p. 111).

STAIRCASE. Rococo altar from Sulzfeld.

SECOND FLOOR. Frankish costumes; peasant's room from the upper Main district; room from the end of the 18th cent.; works in iron; excellent S. German fayence from Bayreuth, Ansbach, Nuremberg, Hanau, Ludwigsburg, Schrattenhofen, and Höchst.

We cross the Parade-Platz (Pl. D, 3) to the KÜRSCHNERHOF, in which stand the cathedral and the Neumünster-Kirche.

The Cathedral (Pl. C, D, 3), a cruciform basilica in the Romanesque style, begun in 1042, was carried on towards completion under Bishops Embricho (1125-47) and Hermann (1225-54). The interior was fitted up in the baroque style in 1701, the choir was lowered in 1749, and the exterior was restored in 1879-85.

The INTERIOR is open until noon only; after that visitors apply to the sacristan in the annexe next the Schönborn chapel (fee 50 pf.). In a recess at the end of the right aisle, near the entrance, is a group in sandstone of the Death of the Virgin, dating from ca. 1470; in front are two Romanesque columns of the 11th century. By the second pillar is the Renaissance tomb of the jurist Sebastian Echter von Mespelbrunn (1546-75). — The bronze font in the nave is by Eckhard of Worms (1279); by the two first pillars on each side are statues by Tilman Riemenschneider, from the Marien-Kapelle (p. 110): Christ, St. Peter, St. Andrew, and St. John the Evangelist. By the third pillar on the N. are Mary and the Magi, a group of the end of the 13th century. — The church contains many tombs of bishops, of which we may specially mention those of Bibra (d. 1519) and Scherenberg (d. 1495), by the 6th and 7th pillars on the right, both executed by Riemenschneider, and that of Konrad von Thüngen (d. 1540), on the wall of the choir, by Loy Hering. — In the richly decorated choir (elegant rococo screen) are beautiful rococo stalls (1750); from the roof hangs a large crucifix (2nd half of the 15th cent.).

From the S. transept we enter the Cloisters (1424-53, with the alabaster tomb of Col. von Eiseneck (d. 1621) by M. Kern, and the cenotaph of Margrave Frederick of Brandenburg (d. 1536) by Loy Hering. — The late-Gothic Sepultur (1491; closed), adjoining the E. walk of the cloisters, contains tombs of canons. — Adjoining the N. transept is the Schönborn Mortuary Chapel (1721-36; closed), a good rococo structure by J. B. Neumann (p. 107). — The Vestment Room, to the S. of the choir, contains handsome vestments and tapestry from Antwerp (legend of St. Kilian).

The tombstone of Riemenschneider, with his portrait in relief, may be seen on the exterior wall of the N. aisle (between the 2nd and 3rd pillar).

Adjoining the cathedral on the N. rises the Neumünster Church (Pl. C, D, 3), founded about 1010, but rebuilt in the transition style ca. 1223-47, with a fine Romanesque tower. The red rococo façade was constructed in 1711 to 1719; the dome was added in 1736 (sacristan, Parade-Platz 2).

The well-proportioned INTERIOR was altered in the 18th century. It contains a charming sandstone figure of the Madonna (1493) and (to the right of the main entrance) the tomb of Abbot Trithemius (d. 1516), the celebrated humanist, both by Riemenschneider. — The Romanesque EAST CRYPT dates from the 11th cent.; the WEST CRYPT (always open), beneath which SS. Kilian, Kolonat, and Totnan, the three apostles of Franconia, are said to be interred, contains busts of the three saints by Riemenschneider (badly lighted). Festival, July 8th.

On the outside wall of the S. aisle, near the choir, is a tablet with a Latin and a German inscription (the latter by King Lewis I.), erected in 1843 to the memory of Walther von der Vogelweide (d. about 1230), the greatest of the mediæval German poets, who was interred in the old cloisters (pulled down in 1883).

At Herren-Str. No. 8 is the Canonry, rebuilt in the Renaissance style in 1594, with a tasteful oriel-window. Since 1817 the building has been occupied as the Bishop's Palace (Pl. D, 3). The chapel contains an alabaster altar by M. Kern.

The busy Dom-Strasse (Pl. C, 3), with quaint houses, leads to the W. from the cathedral to the Old Main Bridge (p. 113). At the end, to the right, opposite the Vierröhren-Brunnen (1766), rises the Old Rathaus (Pl. C, 3), the oldest part of which, the so-called Grafen-Eckards-Turm, dates from the Romanesque period (remodelled in 1453-56). The Council Room, or King Wenzel's Room, in the interior, an important monument of mediæval secular architecture, has been completely altered. — Behind, in the Karmeliteugasse, is the imposing New Rathaus, in the Renaissance style (1898-99).

In the Fischmarkt (Pl. C, 3), a few paces to the N., is a Fountain by Köhler (1770); and on the right (No. 20) is the imposing baroque Hof zum Rückermain, built in 1715-20 by Greising.

Hence we proceed to the E. to the MARKT (Pl. C, 3), in which rises the elegant Gothic Marien-Kapelle, erected in 1377-1447, and restored in 1857, when the perforated spire was added.

The reliefs on the three portals (Last Judgment, Annunciation, Virgin enthroned) date from the first half of the 15th century. The 11 statues on the buttresses (six replaced by copies; comp. p. 109) are from Riemenschneider's Studio (1500-1506). In the interior are the tombstone of a knight (1499) and wooden *Statues (SS. Dorothea and Margaretha) by Riemenschneider.

To the E. of the Marien-Kapelle is the Haus zum Falken, with graceful rococo decoration (ca. 1735).

From the Markt we follow the SCHÖNBORN-STRASSE (Pl. C, 2) to the N. The Sandhof (No. 3; court), to the left, retains its picturesque Renaissance interior of about 1600. In the Dominikaner-Platz rises the—Dominican Church (Pl. C, D, 2), rebuilt in 1743-62 by Neumann, with elaborate altars, and stucco embellishments and rococo ceiling-paintings.

In the JULIUS PROMENADE (p. 107), behind the bronze statue (by M. Widmann; 1847) of Bishop Julius Echter von Mespelbrunn (p. 107), lies the extensive and admirably organized Julius Hospital (Pl. C, D, 2; wine-room, see p. 106), a pile of buildings dating from the 17-18th cent. (visitors admitted). The rear-building to the right, completed in 1704 from Petrini's design, contains the quaint old Apotheke (1732). The central corridor contains an interesting relief from a portal of 1580. In the garden beyond are two large fountain-groups and a tasteful Pavilion, erected in 1705 and used as an anatomical theatre from 1724 to 1853.

From the W. end of the Julius Promenade the KRANEN-QUAI (Pl. B, C, 2) descends the bank of the Main to the Luitpold Bridge (Pl. B, 1), passing the old crane ('Mainkran'; ca. 1773), bearing the well-preserved arms of the prince-bishops. — In the PLEICHER RING (Pl. C, D, 1), leading to the E. from the bridge to the Kaiser-Platz and the railway-station (Bahnhof-Platz, see p. 107), are most of the Medical Institutes of the university, the Physical Institute (with a tablet to Prof. Röntgen, discoverer of the Röntgen-rays), and the Botanical Garden (interesting glass-houses).

An excellent view of the town and vicinity is obtained from the Steinberg (940 ft.: Steinburg Restaurant, p. 106), which is ascended in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. by crossing the railway to the N. of the Pleicher Ring and following a path leading to the W. past the gas-works. At the top is a Bismarck Tower (1905). We may descend on the N. to (10 min.) Unter-Dürnbach (615 ft.; Adler; Stern), situated in the charming valley of the Dürnbach and much frequented in the vintage-season. Hence back to (3 M.) Würzburg by road.

From the Dom-Strasse (p. 110) the Augustiner-Str. (Pl. C, 3, 4), passing the Ehemann'sche Haus (No. 1₂; half-timbered edifice of 1547 in the court), leads to the S. to the NEUBAU-STRASSE (Pl. C, D, 4), which also contains some ancient houses (e. g. No. 2, on the right, with a timber façade of the middle of the 17th cent.; No. 7, on the left, with rococo decorations). — On the left, farther on, is the — Old University (Pl. D, 4; entrance, Domerschulgasse 16), built by Adam Kahl in 1582-91, with a fine Renaissance quadrangle. The University Church or Neubau-Kirche, restored after 1695, is built in a curiously mixed Gothic and Renaissance style. The tower (272 ft.; added in 1701) is used as an Observatory (Sat., 2-4). The Old University now contains the Museum of Historical Art (open free on Sun., 10-1; at other times on application, 50 pf.) and the University Library.

An important collection of MSS. from the 5th cent. onwards (some with ivory-carvings), early specimens of printing, book-bindings, and book-plates is exhibited on the groundfloor. Adm. on application at the office.

From the Neubau-Strasse the Peter-Strasse leads to the S. to the Peters-Kirche (Pl. D, 4), originally Romanesque but in its present form baroque (1717-20), with a Gothic choir. Within is a fine rococo pulpit, ascribed to Balth. Esterbauer. On the E. side of the Peters-Platz is the Regierungs-Gebäude (Pl. D, 4), or government offices, once a Benedictine abbey, the church of which (St. Stephen's), now Protestant, was tastefully decorated in the interior in the pseudo-classical style in 1781-89. The Reuerer-Kirche or Carmelite Church (Pl. C, 4), in the Sander-Str., is a baroque structure by A. Petrini (1662-69).

From this point the Peterspfarrgasse and the Münz-Strasse lead to the S. to the Sander-Ring-Strasse, on the left side of which rises the New University (Pl. D, 4), commonly known as the 'Neue Kollegienhaus', a modern Renaissance edifice by Horstig (1892-96). — In the garden between this building and the Justiz-Gebäude (Pl. D, 4; law-courts), built in 1892-95, is a bust of P. F. von Siebold, the naturalist and traveller (1796-1866).

A little to the S. of the Sander-Ring, in the Weingarten-Str., is the Church of St. Adalbero (Pl. D, 5), a Romanesque building from a design by Denzinger (1894-99). — The Hutten-Schlösschen, Sander-Ring 50 (Pl. C, 5), an elegant little palace built by Neumann in 1725 for Bishop von Hutten, now belongs to the University society 'Rhenania'.

From the Sander-Ring we may return to the railway-station via the pretty gardens on the Rennweger Ring (Pl. E, 2, 3) and the Hauger Ring (Pl. D, E, 1). In the former are two Hercules Groups by J. W. van der Auvera (d. 1756).

The Dom-Strasse (p. 110) leads to the Old Main Bridge (Pl. B, C, 3), 644 ft. in length, constructed in 1474-1607, and adorned with statues of saints. It commands a good view, with the Steinburg (p. 111) in the distance, to the right. On the left bank, immediately to the right, is the small Hofspital-Kirche (Pl. B, 3), containing the '14 helpers in time of need' carved about 1530. The Gothic Deutschhaus-Kirche (Pl. B, 3), in the Zeller-Str., now used for military purposes, was built in 1287-1303 (?). A little to the N. is the Schotten-Kirche, a Romanesque basilica (1146), with later modifications.

A pleasant walk may be taken hence down the Main to the Zeller Waldspitze and the (1 hr.) König'sche Park (views).

The 'Erste Schlossgasse', a few paces to the right of the Hofspital-Kirche, ascends to the left in 12 min. to the former fortress of Marienberg (873 ft.; Pl. A, B, 4), 425 ft. above the river. This was the earliest settlement at Würzburg (comp. p. 107), and from 1250 till the completion of the palace was the residence of the prince-bishops. It is now an artillery dépôt. Visitors obtain tickets (20 pf.) from the sentry and are admitted from 8 to 12 and from 2 till dusk (on Sun. & holidays in afternoon only). The Echter-Tor (1606) and the Neu-Tor (1657) are specially noteworthy. The so-called 'Alarm-Batterie' commands a good view of the town.

In the Burkarder-Strasse, to the left, 5 min. above the Old Main Bridge, rise the grey towers of St. Burkard (Pl. B, 4), the only old church in Würzburg of intact exterior, erected in 1033-42 (?) in the Romanesque style and restored in 1168, with a late-Gothic choir of 1494-97, beneath which the street runs. The N. transept contains a late-Romanesque offertory-box in sandstone, and the S. transept a bust of the Madonna by Riemenschneider and a carved altar of 1590.

The Nikolaus-Strasse, the second street to the right outside the Burkarder-Tor (Pl. B, 4), ascends in a curve to the (8 min.) garden-restaurants of Nikolausburg and Ludwigs-Terrassen, both with views. A Station Path, with good sculptures by J. P. Wagner and Anvera, goes on to (6 min.) the octagonal Käppele (Pl. B, 5) on the Nikolausberg, a pilgrimage-chapel, built in 1747-92. Beautiful *View of the town and its lights in the evening.

On the top of the Nikolausberg (1090 ft.; 25 min. to the W. of the chapel) is the Frankenwarte, a view-tower 90 ft. high, erected in 1894 and commanding a fine view of the valley of the Main, the Frankenwald, Steigerwald, Spessart, and Rhön (adm. 10 pf.; restaurant). We may return by a good path through the Anna-Schlucht to the Steinbach-Tal (electric tramway, p. 106), with its pleasure-grounds and restaurants. Hence we regain the (1 hr.) town by following the new promenade (Mergentheimer-Str.), passing the tasteful Walhalla Club (1907), and crossing the Ludwigs-Brücke (Pl. B, C, 5; 1895).

To the left in the distance is the abbey of Himmelkron (p. 142).

135 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Neuenmarkt-Wirsberg (1150 ft.; Bahnhofs-Hôtel, R. 1-1 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.; Rail. Restaurant; junction for Bayreuth and Bischofsgrün, see pp. 138, 142); 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the N.E. is Wirsberg (1470 ft.; Hôt. Werner, etc.), a health-resort, with pretty walks. — 139 M. Unter-Steinach; 3 M. to the N. lies Stadt-Steinach (1155 ft.), a summer-resort.

143 M. Kulmbach (1004 ft.; Goldner Hirsch, Langgasse, R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2, B. $\frac{3}{4}$ M.; Goldner Löwe, Bahnhof-Str.; Rail. Restaurant), a town on the Weisse Main, with 10,600 inhab. and famed for its beer, is commanded by the Plassenburg (see below). From the railway-station we proceed in a straight direction through the Bahnhof-Str., after 3 min. cross the street named 'Kressenstein' to the left, and follow the Langgasse to the right to the (5 min.) market-place, in which stand the Vereinshaus and (behind, to the right) the Rathaus, with a façade of the middle of the 18th century. We then proceed to the E. through the Obere Stadt-Str. and ascend to the left, through the Rentamtsgässchen, passing the Rentamt, a baroque building of 1694, to the (10 min.) Plassenburg (1391 ft.), formerly the residence of the Margraves of Brandenburg-Kulmbach, and now used as barracks. The main part of the building was erected in 1559-69. In the outer court is the arsenal, with a portal of 1607, adorned with an alto-relief of Margrave Christian on horseback. The inner court is surrounded on three sides with arcades (adm. on application to the governor of the prison). A good view is obtained from the 'rondell' to the W. of the castle.

A branch-line runs to the S. from Kulmbach to Thurnau, a town with 1300 inhab., a château of Count Giech, and a parish-church of ca. 1700, with a fine stucco-ceiling. From Thurnau to Bayreuth, see p. 141.

Near ($146\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Mainleus (995 ft.) the Weisse and Rote Main unite to form the Main. — 153 M. Burgkundstadt (920 ft.), a little town with a picturesque timbered Rathaus (17th cent.). — $156\frac{1}{2}$ M. Hochstadt-Marktzeuln (885 ft.; rail. restaurant), junction of the Probstzella, Saalfeld, and Berlin line (p. 119).

FROM HOCHSTADT TO SAALFELD, $49\frac{1}{2}$ M., railway in $2\frac{1}{4}$ -3 hrs. through the pretty Rodach-Tal. — 6 M. Küps, a considerable village with a porcelain-factory and a château of Herr von Redwitz. — 10 M. Kronach (1000 ft.; Sonne, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 M., B. 70 pf.; Goldener Wagen), a small town (5200 inhab.) on a terrace at the confluence of the Hasslach and Rodach, was the birthplace of the painter Lucas Müller, known as Cranach (1472-1553). The Gothic church (11-16th cent.) stands at the S. end of the town, near the rail. station. On a lofty rock at the N. end of the town rises the imposing and well-preserved fortress of Rosenberg (1240 ft.; 16th cent.), now a pleasure-resort, with a restaurant and a small historical museum.

Thence through the Hasslach-Tal to ($15\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Stockheim, with valuable coal-mines in the vicinity. The line now ascends to (26 M.) Steinbach (1950 ft.), on the watershed between the Rhine and the Elbe, and descends into the Loquitz-Tal to (30 M.) Ludwigsstadt (branch-line to Lehesten, with extensive slate-quarries). — $31\frac{1}{2}$ M. Lauenstein, 1 M. from which is the well-preserved castle of the same name (adm. 50 pf.). — The train quits Bavaria, enters Saxe-Meiningen, and reaches (34 M.) Probstzella (Rail. Restaurant), where it joins the Prussian State railway. — 50 M. Saalfeld, junction of the lines to Jena, Gross-Heringen, Halle, and Berlin, and to Weida, Zeitz, and Weissenfels or Leipzig: see Baedeker's Northern Germany.

161 M. Lichtenfels (880 ft.; Krone, in the market, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2, B. $\frac{3}{4}$ M.; Bahnhofs-Hôtel, R. $1\frac{1}{4}$ -5, B. $\frac{3}{4}$ M.; Railway Restaurant), with 4200 inhab. and a basket-weaving school, is the junction of the Werra line (see Baedeker's N. Germany).

FROM LICHTENFELS TO BANZ, $3\frac{1}{2}$ M. From the railway-station we first proceed in a straight direction, turning to the right after 2 min. into the Bamberger-Str. In 9 min. more we take the road to the right, cross the railway, and traverse meadows, with the Main to our left, to (2 M.) the ferry at Hausen. We then cross the river (fare 5 pf.) to the Restaurant Fährhaus, on the right bank, and ascend thence through the wood to (1 M.) Banz. — Carriage from Lichtenfels and back 6 M.

The once celebrated Benedictine Abbey of Banz* (1380 ft.), founded in 1096, was dissolved in 1803. The extensive buildings, on a wooded height 400 ft. above the Main, date from the 18th cent. and now belong to Duke Lewis William of Bavaria. The interior (parties shown round every $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.; fee) contains a valuable collection of fossils found in the lias of the neighbourhood (fine saurians, ammonites, etc.). A Descent from the Cross, a relief in silver in the private chapel, presented by Pope Pius VI. to his godson Duke Pius of Bavaria, is erroneously attributed to Benv. Cellini. The interior of the baroque abbey-church (1710-18) is skilfully arranged for picturesque effect (best view at the entrance, whence no windows are visible). The terrace on the S. side of the abbey affords a delightful view, with Vierzehnheiligen and the Staffelberg in the foreground. — Adjacent is a very fair Hotel (pens. 4-5 M.). — From Banz we may descend viâ Unnersdorf to Staffelstein station (see below) in $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. (up in 1 hr.).

Opposite Banz, on the left bank of the Main (a walk of 1 br. from Lichtenfels; carr. there & back $4\frac{1}{2}$ M.), is Vierzehnheiligen (1270 ft.; Hirsch, R. $\frac{3}{4}$ - $1\frac{1}{2}$ M.), the most frequented shrine in Franconia, visited by about 50,000 pilgrims annually. The church was begun in the rococo style in 1743 by J. B. Neumann (p. 107) and completed in 1772 after his death. The arrangement of the interior is even more bizarre than that of the Banz church (p. 122). An altar in the centre of the nave marks the spot, where, according to the legend, the 14 'Nothelfer' ('helpers in need') appeared to a shepherd-boy in 1416, and gave rise to the foundation of the church.

Farther to the S. rise the precipitous limestone cliffs of the Staffelberg (1770 ft.), ascended from Vierzehnheiligen in $1\frac{1}{2}$, from Staffelstein (see below) in $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. by a somewhat steep and rough path. It is noted for its fossils and is surmounted by a chapel of St. Adelgundis and a hermitage (rfmts.). The fine view has been celebrated by Victor von Scheffel: to the N. lie the Thuringian Forest, with the fortress of Coburg in the foreground, and the Franconian Forest; to the E. stretch the Fichtel-Gebirge (with the Schneeburg and Ochsenkopf) and the Franconian Jura; to the S. we see the Altenburg near Bamberg, with the Steigerwald behind it; and to the W., at our feet, is the valley of the Main, with Banz opposite to us, and the Grabfeldgau and Rhön-Gebirge beyond.

As we continue our journey, we see Vierzehnheiligen and the Staffelberg to the left, and the stately abbey of Banz to the right. — 166 M. Staffelstein (866 ft.; Post, at the rail. station; Bear, in the market-place, $\frac{3}{4}$ M. to the S.E.), a small and ancient town (1800 inhab.) at the foot of the Staffelberg (see above), was the native place of Adam Riese (1492-1559), the arithmetician. — To the left, at (169 M.) Ebensfeld, rises the Veitsberg (1515 ft.), with a chapel and ruined castle. 177 M. Breitengüßsbach. On a height to the left stands the château of Giech (p. 138).

181 M. Bamberg (Rail. Restaurant), see R. 22. — The line from Schweinfurt (Kissingen; R. 21) joins ours on the right. — Pine-plantations and hop-gardens are traversed. The railway, highroad, Regnitz, and Ludwigs-Canal run parallel. — 186 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Strullendorf.

FROM STRULLENDORF TO SCHLÜSSELFELD, 20 M., branch-railway in 2 hrs. — The railway follows the valley of the Rauhe Ebrach to (5 M.) Frensdorf. Beyond (7 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Wingersdorf it follows the valley of the Reiche Ebrach. 10 M. Steybach-Pommersfelden. To the S. of the village of Pommersfelden and $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. from the railway-station is Count von Schönborn's château of Weissenstein*, built by Joh. Dientzenhofer in the baroque style in 1711-18, and accounted one of the finest châteaux of the 18th century. The chief features of the interior are the magnificent staircase and the banqueting-hall (open in summer on Sat. and Sun., in winter daily). Large park. About $4\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the S. lies Höchststadt (p. 122). — 20 M. Schlüsselheld.

FROM STRULLENDORF TO EBRACH, 22 $\frac{1}{2}$ M., railway in 2 hrs. This line diverges at (5 M.) Frensdorf from that above described. Beyond

(10 M.) Untermeuses, we follow the valley of the Mittel-Ebrach. — 22½ M. Ebrach (Steigerwald), with a celebrated Cistercian Abbey, now a prison. The church, originally built in 1200-1282, was at one time the finest early-Gothic structure in Germany, but near the end of the 18th cent. its interior was entirely remodelled in the baroque style, by Bossi. The extensive conventual buildings were reconstructed by Leonh. Dientzenhofer in 1687-98 and were enlarged by B. Neumann in 1716. Diligences run from Ebrach to Wiesentheid (p. 115) and to Gerolzhofen (p. 115).

196 M. Forchheim (870 ft.; Hirsch; Zur Eisenbahn; Zettelmaier, all at the station), a town with 8400 inhab. on the Wiesent, near its confluence with the Regnitz, and on the Ludwigs-Canal, was already a place of some importance as far back as the time of Charlemagne. It carries on weaving, spinning, paper-making, and other industries. Remains of the fortifications are still extant, including the Nürnberger-Tor (1698), a little to the S. of the Parade-Platz. At the railway-station we turn to the right, after a few paces turn to the left, cross the canal to the Eisenbahn-Str., and then follow the Kloster-Str. to the Parade-Platz. Farther on we take the main street to the right, which leads to (¼ hr.) the old market-place. Here, to the left, stands the Rathaus, a building of the 14-16th centuries. Beyond is the Gothic Church of St. Martin, with eight scenes from the Passion, of Wohlgemut's school, on the pillars of the nave. A little to the W. of the Carlovingian Palace is the spacious Schloss of the Bishops of Bamberg, dating from the end of the 14th century. It contains the collections of the Historical Society and some mural paintings of the 14th cent. (in a chapel). About 1¼ M. to the E. of the town are some popular beer-gardens. — Excursion to the Franconian Switzerland, see p. 146.

A branch-railway runs to the W. in ¼ hr. to (1½ M.) Höchstadten-der-Aisch, an old walled town (1900 inhab.), with a Schloss (now offices).

205½ M. Erlangen. — Railway Restaurant. — HOTELS. Schwan (Pl. a; A, 2). Haupt-Str. 12. R. 2-3 M.; Blaue Glocke (Pl. b; A, 1), Haupt-Str. 46; Walfisch (Pl. c; A, 2), Walfisch-Str. 5; Kaiserhof (Pl. d; A, 2), Goethe-Str., these two near the station; Erlanger Hof (Pl. e; A, 2), at the station, R. 1¾-2½ M. B. 60 pf. — WINE at Rimrod's, Schloss-Platz 3 (Pl. A. 1, 2). — BEER. Gute Quelle, Heuweg-Str. 11 (Pl. A, 1); Oppelei, Halbmond-Str. 4; Wolf, Engel-Str. 18 (Pl. A, 1). — POST OFFICE (Pl. A, 2), Luitpold-Platz.

Erlangen (918 ft.), with 23,700 inhab. (7300 Rom. Cath.), owes its prosperity mainly to French Protestants, exiled by the revocation of the Edict of Nantes (1685), who transferred their industries hither, and also to German Protestants who took refuge here when the French devastated the Palatinate. The University (1050 students) was founded in 1743 by Margrave Frederick Alexander of Brandenburg-Bayreuth.

From the Bahnhof-Platz (Pl. A, 2) we proceed straight on, passing the French Reformed Church (1692), to the Luitpold-Platz (Pl. A, 2), with a monument to Prof. Herz (1816-71). To the left the Haupt-Str., which intersects the square, leads to the N. to the former Palace (Pl. A, 1, 2) of the margraves, built in 1700-04. In front of the building is a Statue of the founder of the university (p. 124) by Schwanthaler (1843). In the market-place opposite rises the modern Pauli Fountain (1889), with Tritons, Nereids, and bronze figures of Erlanga and Alma Mater. In the Palace is the University Library, containing 242,000 vols. and several rarities, including a manuscript Bible of the 12th cent., and a valuable collection of drawings by Netherlandish and German masters of the 15-16th cent. (perhaps originally collected by Sandrart, p. 172), including sketches by Dürer (about 20) and Peter Flötner. The beautiful Palace Garden, behind the palace, contains an unfinished statue in sandstone of the Great Elector (1703) and a fountain with statuettes (1706), said to be portraits of the first French refugees who settled here. The garden is surrounded by handsome buildings, mainly university institutions, chief of which is the Kollegienhaus (Pl. B, 2), on the S. side of the garden, erected by Scharf in 1889. On the N. side of the garden is the Botanic Garden (Pl. B, 1; open 6-12 & 1.30-6, Sun. 8-1; closed on Sat. at 4), on the W. side of which is a miniature reproduction of the Jura. Farther to the W. is the Old Orangery (Pl. A, B, 1; 1704), with the royal picture-gallery, containing 125 works by old masters (open free on Sun., 11-1; at other times through the keeper, fee; catalogue 20 pf.).

Pleasant walks on the Ratsberg (belvedere and restaurant), to the N.E., and the Burgberg, to the N. of the Altstadt, a spur of the Jura, at the foot of which a fair is held at Whitsuntide.

BRANCH RAILWAY to the E., viâ (12 M.) Eschenau (p. 171), to (17½ M.) Gräfenberg (1127 ft.; Post), a little town with a Schloss, prettily situated at the foot of the Eberhartsberg, a fine point of view. (Entrance to Franconian Switzerland by the Egloffstein, p. 147, 1½ hr. to the N.) -- Another branch-railway runs to the W. from Erlangen to (7½ M., in 37 min.) Herzogen-Aurach, near which is Münch-Aurach, with an interesting church (12th cent.).

Near (208½ M.) Eltersdorf, to the left, lies the château of Grossgründlach (formerly the Himmelsthron Convent, burial-place of the 'White Lady', p. 142). The line crosses the Ludwigs-Canal (p. 133) to (211 M.) Vach and then crosses the Regnitz. -- Before reaching the bridge over the Rednitz it joins the Würzburg railway (see p. 116); to the right rises the Alte Feste (p. 173). -- 215½ M. Fürth, see p. 173. -- 216½ M. Doos (p. 116).

220 M. Nuremberg, see p. 149.

The railway to Munich again crosses the Ludwigs-Canal, separates from the Ansbach and Stuttgart line (on the right), and turns towards the S. -- Beyond (225½ M.) Reichelsdorf, with a large summer beer-garden, the Rednitz is crossed.

230 M. Schwabach (1120 ft.; Goldner Engel, R. 1¼-1¾ M., B. 60 pf.; Rose), an old town with 10,300 inhabitants. From the rail. station we proceed in a straight direction to (13 min.) the late-Gothic church of St. John, erected in 1469-95 (Prot.), which contains a grand altar-piece with *Carving by Veit Stoss and paintings from Wohlgemut's studio (1507). In the Rosenberg chapel, to the left of the choir, are paintings by Martin Schaffner (?; Virgin in a garland of roses) and others. Adjacent is a Gothic ciborium (1505). (The sacristan lives in the Kirch-Platz, in a small house to the left of the bookseller's.) The Schöne Brunnen in the market-place, erected in 1716, was restored in 1856. 'Schwabach type' is an old German text lately revived. The 'Articles of Schwabach' form the Protestant creed adopted in 1528-29.

The railway ascends the valley of the Rednitz. -- Near (236 M.) Rot-am-Sand (1108 ft.; Goldene Krone) is the château of Ratibor, dating from the close of the 16th century.

FROM ROT-AM-SAND TO GREDDING, 24½ M., railway in 2 hrs. -- The line leads through the Rot-Tal to (7 M.) Hilpoltstein (1256 ft.), a prettily situated little town with 1530 inhabitants. It then ascends circuitously through a wooded hill-country. Beyond (21 M.) Höbging the train follows the valley of the Schwarzach to (24½ M.) Greding, a pleasant village 5 M. to the W. of Beitnigries (p. 116).

About 6 M. to the W. of Rot (diligence twice daily in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) lies Abenberg (1440 ft.; Post, R. 1-2 M), a little town with an old château.

Near (241 M.) Georgensgmünd the Swabian and Franconian Rezat unite to form the Rednitz.

A branch-line runs to the W. to ($4\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Spalt (1170 ft.), a small town (1800 inhab.) prettily situated on the Swabian Rezat, the birthplace of G. Spalatin (1484-1515), the friend of Luther and Melancthon.

The line now ascends the course of the Swabian Rezat.

247 M. Pleinfeld (1215 ft.; Railway Restaurant) is the junction of the Augsburg and Nuremberg line (R. 27). On a wooded eminence to the N.E. rises Schloss Sandsee (1490 ft.), the property of Prince Wrede. — 250 M. Ellingen (Römischer Kaiser), an old town with 1700 inhab., formerly a commandery of the Teutonic Order, contains a large Château of Prince Wrede (rebuilt in the 1st half of the 18th cent.), a handsome Rathaus of 1746, and other rococo edifices.

253 M. Weissenburg-am-Sand (1330 ft.; Rose, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 M, B. 70 pf., D. 1 M 80 pf.; Post), a picturesque old town (6700 inhab.) on the W. slope of the Franconian Jura, was a free city of the empire from 1306 to 1806. We follow the Schanz-Str. and then the Spital-Str. (to the left), with the Spital-Tor, to the market-place, in which rises the handsome late-Gothic Rathaus, with a portal of 1474. About 100 paces to the right is the late-Gothic Carmelite Church (2nd half of the 15th cent.). The adjacent Ellinger-Tor has a well-preserved keep. The 'Limes' fort of Biriciana (comp. p. 197), exhumed immediately behind the railway-station, and the Collection of Antiquities in the grammar-school deserve notice.

On a mountain-spur $2\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the E. is the old fortress of Wülzburg (2060 ft.; remts.), commanding a fine view of the town and its environs. It was founded as a convent in the Carlovingian era, annexed by the Margrave of Ansbach in 1540, and converted to military purposes in 1589.

Kissingen (660 ft.), the most frequented watering-place in Bavaria (5500 inhab.), lies picturesquely in the valley of the Fränkische Saale, enclosed by wooded hills. The sanatory properties of the waters were known as early as the 16th cent., and the Prince Bishops of Würzburg took the place under their protection; but at the beginning of the 19th century it was still a mere village. The growing repute of the springs and increasing number of visitors have now converted the place into a handsome and well-built little town, which is visited by over 28,000 patients annually, many of whom are English and Russians. The waters are efficacious in affections of the heart and digestive organs.

The extensive Kur-Garten (Pl. B, C, 3, 4) between the Kurhaus and Conversationssaal, the principal promenade, is shaded by maples and chestnuts, and contains statues and groups by Knoll (Lewis I.; 1891) and Arnold, a native of the place (Hygieia, Maximilian II.). On the S. side, under an iron colonnade, are the chief drinking-springs, the Rakoczy and the Pandur. On the N. side is the Maxbrunnen, resembling Selters water. From 6 to 8 a.m., the hours for drinking the waters, the Kur-Garten presents a lively scene, and a good band plays. From 5 to 7 p.m. the band again plays, and the fashionable world re-assembles.

Opposite the garden, on the right bank of the Saale, stands the Royal Bath House (Prinzregent-Luitpold-Bad; Pl. B, 4), a large edifice of red sandstone, with two wings (left, baths for ladies; right, for gentlemen). Adjacent is the Casino, with reading-room, restaurant, etc. — A tablet on the house of Dr. Diruf, also on the right bank (Bismarckhaus, Pl. A 3), commemorates the attempted assassination of Prince Bismarck in 1874.

The Saline Springs with the extensive evaporating-sheds, situated on the Saale, 1½ M. to the N., are reached by walks on both banks. A small steamboat plies on the Saale to the springs every 20 min. (fare 30, return-fare 50 pf.). A handsome bath-house (Salinenbad) has been erected over the Artesian Well, which is 330 ft. in depth (containing two per cent of salt; temperature 61° Fahr.). Beside it is a café-restaurant. Near it is a Statue of Prince Bismarck, who frequently resided at the Obere Saline, $\frac{1}{4}$ M. farther on (house shown 3-7 p.m.; 50 pf.) — At the village of Hausen, $\frac{3}{4}$ M. farther on, is the Schönbornsprudel, a shaft upwards of 2000 ft. in depth. A square tower, 100 ft. in height, built over the shaft, is open to visitors from 4 to 6 p.m.

A pretty walk, beginning beyond the first house in the Hain-Str. (Pl. D, 5) and ascending the steps to the left, leads to the ruins of (25 min.) Bodenlaube (1128 ft.), the N. tower of which commands a fine view (restaurant, below the ruin). We may return by the road leading through Unter-Bodenlauben, with its interesting old lime-tree. — A fine view is obtained from the Ludwigs-Turm (1263 ft.; 25 min. to the N.W.; rfmts.). The path ascends to the right from the Schweizerhaus (Pl. A, 2), keeps to the left at (10 min.) the fork, and leads past the Jagdhaus (r.) to ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) the tower. — Above the station, on the E., is the Balling-Hain, with a monument to Dr. Balling (d. 1875). — Well-kept walks lead to the Lindes-Mühle (10 min. to the S.); to the Altenberg ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr. to the S.W.); to Garitz (p. 104; $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. to the S.W.) and the monastery of Aura (p. 104; $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. farther on); to the Scheinberg (1315 ft.; $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the S.), with a lofty tower (wide panorama); to the Kaskaden-Tal and Altenburger Haus ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr. to the N.); to the Klaushof (restaurant, $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. to the N.; station of the motor-bus to Brückenau); and to the Klaushöhe (1340 ft.; 20 min. farther on). — Kreuzberg, see p. 132.

On 10th July, 1866, Kissingen was the scene of a sharp engagement between the Prussians and Bavarians. The latter were, however, eventually obliged to yield. Near the cemetery, $\frac{1}{2}$ M. from the Kur-Garten, is a handsome monument in memory of the fallen, by Arnold.

Bocklet (690 ft.), another watering-place with powerful chalybeate springs and mud-baths (150 patients annually), is prettily situated on the Saale, 7 M. to the N. of Kissingen motor-bus, see p. 130), in a green valley surrounded by wooded hills. Rooms at the Royal Kurhaus, in Plank's Hotel, and in various villas. Between the Kurhaus and the Badhaus with its Trinkhalle are pleasant grounds with fine old trees.

Schloss Aschach, on the Saale, $\frac{3}{4}$ M. to the S. of Bocklet, restored in the mediæval style, the property of Count Luxburg, contains a collection of old goblets, carvings, etc. (fee). — Attractive excursion through the valley of the Saale to (9 M.) Neustadt (p. 132).

The third of these Franconian baths (20 M. to the N.W. of Kissingen; motor-bus, see p. 130) is —

Bad Brückenau. — HOTELS. Royal Kur-Hôtel*, with eight dépendances, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -6. B. 1. D. 2 & 3, pens. $6\frac{1}{2}$ -12 M.; Schloss-Hôtel*,

Bad Brückenau (985 ft.) lies in the grassy valley of the Sinn, enclosed by wooded hills, 2 M. to the W. of the little town of Brückenau (Bayrischer Hof or Post). In front of the Kursaal (restaurant) is a seated bronze figure of King Lewis I., by Ferd. von Miller (1897). The Stahl, Wernarzer, and Sinnberger Springs, impregnated with carbonic acid, are beneficial in cases of kidney disease, female complaints, etc. About 4000 patients annually.

Beautiful walks in the environs. Shady paths lead to the N. through the Harthwald to (1 $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Kloster Volkersberg; to the W. to (2 hrs.) Schwarzenfels, with its old castle; to the S. by the Sinnberg to the (2 hrs.) Dreistelzberg (2165 ft.), with belvedere tower. — Finest of all the excursions is the ascent of the Kreuzberg (3060 ft.), the highest but one of the Rhön Mts., crowned with a Franciscan monastery (to the N.E., 5 hrs.). Road, following the Sinn, as far as (6 M.) Oberbach (railway also to this point); thence to (2 $\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) the top by a path with red and white way-marks. Extensive view of N. Franconia as far as the Fichtel-Gebirge, to the W. as far as the Taunus, and to the E. as far as the fortress of Coburg. The hills around Würzburg and the Steigerwald close the view towards the S., and the Thuringian Forest and the hills of Fulda to the N. The descent may be made (blue and white marks) to Wildflecken, whence we return to Brückenau by railway. — For details of the Rhön district, see Baedeker's Northern Germany.

FROM KISSINGEN TO MEININGEN, 46 M., railway in 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2 $\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. — 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Ebenhausen (p. 129); the line diverges here to the N. from the Schweinfurt railway, and leads viâ (9 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Rottershausen to (15 M.) Münnerstadt (Fränkischer Hof; Adler), an ancient town (2200 inhab.) on the Lauer. The late-Romanesque and late-Gothic parish-church contains a modern altar incorporating four statues from the old altar (early works of T. Riemenschneider) and an alto-relief of the Crucifixion, ascribed to Veit Stoss. — 22 M. Neustadt (767 ft.; Goldner Mann, R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2 M., B. 60 pf., very fair), an antiquated town of 2200 inhab., prettily situated high above the Saale and enclosed by a wall with lofty towers. On the hill to the E. is (1 $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the Salzburg, an ancient palace in the Romanesque style, probably built by Charles Martel, now one of the largest ruins in Germany. At the foot of the hill lies Bad Neuhaus (Schlöss-Hôtel & Kurhaus, pens. 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ -6 M.), with salt and carbonic acid springs.

[FROM NEUSTADT TO BISCHOFSHHEIM, 12 M., local railway in 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. — The line traverses the wooded Brendtal, passing Brendlorenzen (with a Romanesque church). Bischofsheim 'vor der Rhön' (Rhönlust; Adler; Löwe), an ancient town with 1350 inhab., lies at the N. foot of the Kreuzberg (see above), which may be ascended hence viâ Haselbach in 1 $\frac{3}{4}$ -2 hrs.]

[FROM NEUSTADT TO KÖNIGSHOFEN, 14 $\frac{1}{2}$ M., local railway in 1 $\frac{1}{3}$ hr., through the attractive valley of the Fränkische Saale. — Königshofen (Schlundhaus) in the Grabfeld is a quaint old town with 1800 inhab. and an interesting late-Gothic church (1442-96).]

A little beyond Neustadt the line quits the Saale-Tal and turns to the left into the valley of the Streu. At (36 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Rentwertshausen we cross the low watershed between the Saale and the Werra, and descend to (41 M.) Ritschenhausen and (46 M.) Meiningen (see Baedeker's N. Germany).

Bamberg (785 ft.), a town with 45,300 inhab., lies in a fertile district on both banks of the Regnitz (here separated into several branches), at its junction with the Ludwigs-Canal (connecting the Main and the Danube) and 3 M. above its confluence with the Main. The town already enjoyed municipal privileges in 973, was erected into a bishopric by Emp. Henry II. in 1007 (archbishopric since 1817), and since 1802 has belonged to Bavaria. Its industries include cotton-spinning, brewing, and market-gardening.

The Luitpold-Strasse lead from the station to the town (to the cathedral $1\frac{1}{2}$ M.). In the St. Gangolphs-Platz, on the left, is the church of St. Gangolph (Pl. C, 1), founded in 1063, originally Romanesque, with a Gothic choir, but disfigured by alterations.

We next follow the Obere König-Str. to the Ludwigs-Brücke (Pl. C, 2), an important artery of traffic, from which the Hauptwach-Strasse leads to the S. to the Maximilians-Platz and the Grüne Markt.

In the MAXIMILIANS-PLATZ (Pl. B, C, 2) rises the imposing Maximilian Fountain (Pl. 13), executed in 1880 by Miller, with bronze statues of Maximilian I. of Bavaria, Emp. Henry II., his wife Kunigunde, Bishop Otho the Saint, and King Conrad III.

Farther on is the GRÜNE MARKT (Pl. B, 2, 3), where the well-stocked vegetable-market is held in the forenoon. On the right is the church of St. Martin (Pl. 1), built in the baroque style in 1686-93. The nave has a waggon-vault ceiling; the crossing is adorned with deceptive architectural painting in the style of Andrea Pozzo. The tower, 180 ft. high, affords a good survey of the town. Adjoining the church is the Royal Lyceum (Pl. 4), formerly a university (1648 to 1803) and Jesuit college. The entrance, Jesuiten-Str. 2, leads into a court, in the arcades at the back of which are the entrances to the Linder Cabinet of Natural History (on the right; parties conducted at 10 & 11 on Sun.; gratuity) and to the Royal Library (Pl. 5, B 2; on the left). The latter, formed by the union of the Jesuits' library with collections from several convents, now contains ca. 300,000 vols., 3000 incunabula, and 4500 MSS.

The library is open daily (except Sun., holidays, and Sat. afternoons), 9-12 and 2-4; closed 16th Aug.-15th Oct. Some of its most interesting contents are exhibited under glass in the principal hall: fragments of a MS. of Livy (5th cent.; beginning of left row); fine parchments from the library bequeathed by the Emp. Henry II. to the chapter of Bamberg (from the 6th cent. onwards), including the so-called 'Bible of Alcuin', probably written at Tours (Case XV), and the prayer-books of Henry II. and his wife Kunigunde, with fine Byzantine ivory diptychs of the 11th cent. (Case XVI); also numerous miniatures, rare printed works, interesting drawings, water-colours, etc.

The Grüne Markt, in which rises the Neptune Fountain ('Gabélmann'; Pl. 14), erected in 1698, and the Obstmarkt lead to the Obere Brücke (Pl. B, 3), a bridge over the left arm of the Regnitz, completed in 1455, with a stone Crucifix of 1715. On a artificial island halfway across stands the Rathaus (Pl. 7), rebuilt in 1744 to 1756, and adorned externally with allegorical frescoes by Anwander. The old tower covering the entrance to the bridge is adorned with two rococo balconies. Fine view of the river and the picturesque houses on its banks. — From the Upper Bridge the Karolinen-Str. ascends to the KAROLINEN-PLATZ, a square enclosed by the cathedral, the old palace, and the new palace. At the E. end of the cathedral stands a good bronze equestrian statue of Prince-Regent Luitpold (1899), designed by Miller. In front of the old palace is a bronze statue of Franz Ludwig von Erthal (d. 1797; Pl. 15), the meritorious prince-bishop, by Widmann (1865).

The Cathedral (Pl. B, 3) with its four conspicuous eight-storied towers (265 ft. in height), one of the grandest Romanesque edifices in Germany (312 ft. long, 93 ft. wide, and 83 ft. high), was founded by Emp. Henry II. in 1004. The original building was a flat-roofed basilica, but in its present form it dates from the 13th century. The two towers at the E. end are in pure Romanesque, but the open-work turrets on the W. towers reveal the influence of the early French-Gothic style, which is also apparent in the W. choir and the transept in front of it. The Sculptures are among the best examples of German plastic art between the late-Romanesque and the early-Renaissance periods. Comp. also p. xix.

The sculptures on the recessed PRINCIPAL PORTAL (Fürstentür; N.W., facing the Karolinen-Platz), which resembles the 'Goldene Pforte' of Freiberg Cathedral, represent the Last Judgment (above the architrave), the Apostles standing on the shoulders of the Prophets, and symbolical figures of Church (l.) and Synagogue (r.; the last with its eyes bandaged). The two portals to the right and left of the E. CHOIR are also embellished with sculptures: on the S.E. portal (the marriage-door or 'Adam's door') are figures of Adam and Eve, SS. Peter and Stephen, and the Emp. Henry II. and his consort Kunigunde (middle of the 13th cent.); the N.E. door (the 'Mother of God' or 'Grace' door) has fine columns with elaborate capitals; above the architrave, the Virgin worshipped by saints.

The *Interior (open 5.30-12 and from 2 till the evening-service) was restored by King Lewis I. in 1828-37. (The sacristan, who shows the choirs, crypt, and treasury, lives to the S. of the W. choir by which we enter the church; fee $\frac{1}{2}$ -1 M.)

In the centre of the NAVE is the *Sarcophagus of the founder Henry II. (d. 1024) and his consort Kunigunde (d. 1038), executed, in a fine-grained limestone resembling marble, by Tilman Riemenschneider (p. 109). On the highly ornate sarcophagus repose the emperor and empress, over lifesize, in the fantastic costumes of the 15th century. The reliefs on the sides represent scenes from their lives: 1. The Empress proves her innocence by walking over red-hot ploughshares; 2. She deals with a request for higher wages from the workmen who erected the church of St. Stephen; 3. The Emperor cured of an illness by St. Benedict; 4. The Archangel Michael weighing the soul of the Emperor; 5. Death of the Emperor.

By the pillar to the left of the approach to the St. George's or E. CHOIR is an Equestrian Figure of Emp. Conrad III., who died at Bamberg in 1152 and was buried in the cathedral (or perhaps of Stephen, King of Hungary, who is said to have been baptized here). — The stone screens separating the E. choir from the aisles are adorned with interesting sculptures, all of the early 13th cent. and clearly revealing French influence. In six niches on the S. side are figures in relief of the twelve Apostles, in attitudes expressive of calm realization, while in the seventh niche is St. Michael fighting with the Dragon. In similar niches on the N. side are twelve Prophets, in attitudes of eager expectancy, and the Annunciation. Also, on the N. side, on the intervening pillars, are three beautiful figures of the Madonna, St. Anna, and an angel. — The E. CHOIR contains, on the right, the monument of the prince-bishop George II. (d. 1505), from Peter Vischer's studio, and the sarcophagi of Bishop Otho II. (d. 1196; Romanesque) and Bishop Günther (d. 1065; 13th century). The figure of Christ, in bronze, over the altar, was designed by Schwanthaler, as were also the 22 reliefs of saints on the altar. The choir-stalls are modern. — The CRYPT, below the E. choir, is severely Romanesque; the vaulting is borne by 14 round and octagonal columns. It contains the simple sandstone sarcophagus of Emp. Conrad III. and a well.

In the St. Peter's or W. CHOIR is the low marble sarcophagus of Pope Clement II. (d. 1047), once Bishop of Bamberg, with reliefs probably of the 13th century. On the walls are the monuments of the prince-bishops Schaumburg (d. 1475), Gross-Trockau (d. 1501), Pommersfelden (d. 1503), the last two being from Peter Vischer's studio, and George III. of Limburg (d. 1522), by Loyen Hering, in marble. The choir-stalls date from the close of the 14th century.

In the S. TRANSEPT, to the left of the W. choir, is an ivory crucifix said to date from the 4th cent., and presented to the church by Emp. Henry II. in 1008. — The two doors in the S. transept (opened, if necessary, by the sacristan) lead to the sacristy and to the NAGEL-KAPELLE (Chapel of the Nail), added in the 15th cent., which contains 64 monumental brasses of canons (15-17th cent.), a carved reredos of the 15th cent., and an Entombment after Ann. Caracci; it is divided into two aisles by three columns and two pillars. The adjacent ANTONIUS-KAPELLE contains an altar-piece by Lucas Cranach the Elder representing the Madonna with the rosary, with saints and portraits of Emp. Max I., Pope Leo X., and other princes of that period. — The TREASURY contains costly vestments, a nail of the True Cross in a mounting of the 15th cent., the skulls of Emp. Henry II. and Kunigunde, the Emperor's crown, his sword, mantle, drinking-horn, and knife, combs of the Empress, a chasuble embroidered by her, the enamelled head of St. Otho's crozier, and a tall Romanesque candlestick in bronze.

The W. side of the Karolinen-Platz is bounded by the picturesque Alte Hofhaltung or Alte Residenz (Pl. A, B, 3), with a lofty gable and handsome jutting window and portal (by which the quaint court is entered), built ca. 1570 on the site of an older palace of the Counts of Babenberg, in which Count Palatine Otho of Wittelsbach slew King Philip of Swabia in 1208.

The N. and half of the E. side of the Karolinen-Platz are occupied by the Neue Residenz, or New Palace, erected by Bishop von Schönborn in 1698-1704. Here, on 6th Oct., 1806, Napoleon issued his declaration of war against Prussia. The palace is open (entr. by the portal on the E. side) 8-12 & 2-6 (in winter 9-12 & 2-5), on Sun. & holidays 10-12 & 2-3 (50 pf.). — In the E. wing is the Museum of the Historical Society (open in summer on Sun., 10-12; 20 pf.).

The Obere Karolinen-Strasse, between the two palaces, leads from the Karolinen-Platz to the Jakobsberg and the St. Jakobs-Kirche (Pl. A, 3), a flat-roofed Romanesque church of the 11th cent., with a Gothic W. choir and an E. choir which was transformed in 1771 into a rococo façade, all tastefully restored in 1866.

A little to the N. of St. Jakob's is the Michaelsberger-Str., by which we ascend to the Michaelsberg (Pl. A, 2), with its conspicuous church and other buildings of a Benedictine abbey founded by Emp. Henry II. The court, which we enter by the W. gateway, affords a good picture of a mediæval convent on a large scale, though the present buildings are later than 1696. — A staircase ascends to the CHURCH OF ST. MICHAEL, a Romanesque edifice of the 12th cent., with Gothic additions, restored in 1722-23 in the baroque style, and recently entirely renovated in the interior; it has two towers.

The INTERIOR contains many monuments of bishops (16-18th cent.), of little artistic value, transferred hither from the cathedral. Behind the Otto-altar, at the end of the nave, in a sort of crypt, is that of St. Otho (d. 1139), dating from the 14th cent.; at the back is a painted statue of the saints, probably a relic of an earlier monument. Handsome rococo choir-stalls of the 18th century.

The S.E. wing of the abbey-building now contains the 'MUSEUM' or MUNICIPAL GALLERY OF ART (open on Sun., 10-12, free; weekdays, all day except 12-1, adm. 50 pf.; catalogue in preparation).

of 1500-1580, including paintings by M. Wohlgemut, Hans von Kulmbach, Hans Baldung Grien, B. Strigel, H. Schaufelein, and Lucas Cranach the Elder (57. SS. Willibald and Walburg adored by Bishop Eib of Eichstätt). — RR. IV-VIII. Dutch and Flemish Masters of the 16-18th centuries. — RR. IX & X. Italian Schools of 1450-1780. — R. XI. Works by Ribera and other Spanish painters of the 16-18th centuries. — R. XII. French School of the 17-18th centuries. — R. XIII. Various Schools. — R. XIV. Objects of art, models, and designs. — R. XV. Various Schools. — R. XVI. German Schools of 1580-1780. — R. XVIII. Works of early and modern Masters. — R. XIX. Bamberg Room, with paintings in oil and on porcelain. — The rooms to the left of the entrance contain the Ethnographical Collection, the most interesting objects in which are those from Japan.

On the W. side of the church is the old abbey, now the Bürger-spital or poor-house. To the left are the secular buildings, with a brewery. Passing the terrace of the restaurant, we reach the Monastery Garden, laid out in the early 18th cent., where an avenue of limes affords charming views of the town (café-restaurant, much frequented in the afternoon).

From the Michaelsberg we may go to the W., through the St. Getreu-Str. and then to the left to (6 min.) the Villa Remeis, now the property of the town, which commands a fine panorama. — From the St. Jakobs-Kirche the Aufsess-Str., Elisabeth-Str., and Obere Sand-Str. descend to the Rathaus, passing a series of Stations of the Cross, by a sculptor of the same type as Adam Krafft.

To the W. of the Upper Bridge (p. 134), at the corner of the Karolinen-Str., the Lugbank ascends to the left to the Pfahl-Platz and the Kaulberg. On the Untere Kaulberg, to the left, stands the Gothic Obere Pfarrkirche zu Unserer Lieben Frauen (Pl. 2; B, 3), erected in the second half of the 14th cent., rebuilt in the baroque style in the 18th century. Three good wood-carvings by Veit Stoss (1523) behind the high-altar, in the passage round the Gothic choir. On the N. side is the Brauttür ('bridal-gate'), with an elegant porch borne by two slender columns and containing figures of the Wise and Foolish Virgins.

From the Pfahl-Platz (see above) we may go to the S. through the Alte Juden-Str., which contains the former Prell'sche Haus (No. 14), in the richest baroque style, to the Concordia, a picturesque building on the river, with terraces, by J. B. Neumann (?; p. 107). We then ascend the Stephansberg, with its beer-gardens among the rocks, to the Observatory ('Sternwarte'; Pl. B, 4), with its two towers (fine view). It was built with a bequest of the late Dr. Remeis (comp. above).

The Theresienhain and Luisenhain (Pl. C, 4), with their promenades skirting the Regnitz for 1½ M., afford pleasant walks, especially along the embankment beside the river (bathing-establishments). In the Theresienhain is a bronze Statue of King Lewis II., by Kittler (1909). Near the centre of the park is a café, and there is another at the end of it, 2 M. from the town, in the little village of Bug (pron. 'book'). — On the right bank of the Regnitz, to the S. of the station, lies the suburb of Wunderburg, with its extensive market-gardens.

Beautiful walk up the Kaulberg, past the Carmelite Convent (Pl. A, 4; fine Romanesque cloisters), then down a little to the right, and lastly to the left (blue notice-boards) straight up the hill to the (40 min.) Altenburg* (1265 ft.). The castle, probably founded in the 10th cent., was a stronghold of the prince-bishops from 1251, and was destroyed in 1553 by Margrave Albert of Bayreuth, but afterwards partly restored. The new building of 1902 is occupied by a hotel-restaurant (R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ M). Fine view from the tower (162 steps; afternoon light best). The chapel, restored in 1834, contains monuments of the 16th cent. and old stained glass.

Interesting excursion to Banz and Vierzehnheiligen, see pp. 122, 123. — Franconian Switzerland, see R. 24.

About 8 M. to the N.E. of Bamberg lies Peulendorf (1310 ft.), with the large episcopal hunting-seat of Giech, now a Kurhaus (pens. from 5 M) frequented in summer. Excursions may be made hence to the ruin of Giech (1715 ft.), on a steep hill; to Weingarten and the pilgrimage-chapel of Gügel; to Pünzendorf and the Pünzendorfer Felsen; and to the Stammberg (1835 ft.), a plateau with a forester's house (rfmts.) and many good points of view.

Rooms may be advantageously obtained through the 'Wohnungs-Comité'.

RESTAURANTS. Festspielhaus; Riebenstahl, opposite the Villa Wahnfried (see p. 139), tasteful rooms, charges rather high; these two open during the Wagner Performances only. — BEER at the Bahnhof, Post, and Schwarzes Ross Hotels; Railway Restaurant; Vogel, Luitpold-Platz 11 (Pl. Bayreuth (1120 ft.), with 32,000 inhab., the capital of Upper Franconia, in the broad valley of the Rote Main, was the residence of the Margraves of Brandenburg-Kulmbach from 1603 to 1769, and has been Bavarian since 1810. It is mainly indebted for its present appearance to Margrave Christian (d. 1655), who transferred his seat from Kulmbach hither, to George William (d. 1726), and to Frederick (d. 1763), husband of Wilhelmine, the talented sister of Frederick the Great.

At the end of the street ascending to the right as we quit the station is seen the Richard Wagner Theatre ('Festspielhaus'; p. 140). To the left the Bahnhof-Str. leads to the Luitpold-Platz. Farther on, to the left, is the Opern-Strasse, with the Opera House (Pl. C, 4; 1744-48), richly decorated in the interior in the Italian baroque style by Bibiena (shown daily, 11-1; 30 pf.). At the end of the Opern-Str. is the Maximilian-Platz, whence the Maximilian-Str. diverges to the W., the Ludwig-Str. to the S., the Bad-Str. and the Richard-Wagner-Str. to the E. The House of Richard Wagner (no admission), Richard-Wagner-Strasse 48, built in 1874 by Wölfel, bears the inscription: 'Hier wo mein Wännen Frieden fand, Wahnfried sei dieses Haus von mir benannt'. Above is a sgraffito by Krausse, representing Wotan as a wanderer. In front of the house is a bust of King Lewis II. Wagner (d. 1883) is buried in the garden (entered from the Hofgarten, during the 'Festspiel', 11-12). At the corner of Wahnfried-Str. and Liszt-Str., to the S.E. of the Villa Wahnfried, is the house in which Franz Liszt died in 1886.

The Ludwig-Str. (see above) leads to the Residenz-Platz, in which is the New Palace (Pl. 9), now a royal residence, erected in 1754-73 in the baroque style. The left wing now contains the picture-gallery of the Kunst-Verein and the collections of the Historical Society (shown on application). The Palace Garden and Park, laid in the French style, are used as public promenades (military band on Sun. and holidays). The large Fountain in front of the Palace bears an equestrian Statue of Margrave Christian Ernest (d. 1712), a marshal in the imperial service, erected in 1700.

At the S. end of the Ludwig-Strasse rises Schwanthaler's Statue of Jean Paul Friedrich Richter (d. 1825; Pl. 2), whose house is in the Friedrich-Strasse (No. 5).

From the N. end of the Friedrich-Str. the Kanzlei-Str. leads to the right to the Maximilian-Str. and the old palace. The Gothic Stadt-Pfarrkirche (Prot.; Pl. 7), built in 1438-68, contains an admirable high-altar of 1615. Beneath the church is the Fürstengruft, in which most of the princes from the 17th to the 18th cent. are interred.

The Old Palace (Pl. 8), begun in 1454, burned down in 1758, and soon after rebuilt, is now occupied by public offices. The octagonal Tower in the inner court (1603), with a spiral staircase and fine balustrade, affords a good survey of the town and environs; key in the sacristy of the Rom. Cath. church (see below) or in the Rom. Cath. clergy-house (Pl. C, 4; fee). In front of the Old Palace rises a Statue of Maximilian II. (Pl. 3) in bronze, by Brugger (1860).

The Roman Catholic Church (Pl. 6; B, 4) beside the palace (formerly the palace-church) contains the tombs of Margrave Frederick and his consort Wilhelmine (p. 139; under the organ). — The Maximilian-Str. (market-place) is embellished with three fountains. Many of the houses possess tasteful oriel-windows. — In the cemetery to the W. of the town (Erlanger-Str.) are the graves of Jean Paul Friedrich Richter (p. 139) and Franz Liszt (see p. 139).

To the N. of the town, $\frac{3}{4}$ M. from the station, on the hill below the Bürgerreuth, stands the WAGNER THEATRE (Festspielhaus; Pl. C, 2; 1246 ft.), where the 'Nibelungen-Ring' was first performed in 1876 and 'Parsifal' in 1882. The theatre, built by Brückwald, contains 1650 seats. About 5 min. higher up is the Bürgerreuth, a restaurant which commands a fine view. About $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. above the Bürgerreuth towers the Hohe Warte (1525 ft.), on which rises the Siegesturm (55 ft.), commanding an extensive view.

St. Georgen, commonly called the 'Brandenburger', situated to the N.E. of the rail. station, is a suburb of Bayreuth, founded by Margr. George William (d. 1726) at the beginning of the 18th century. On its N. side (Pl. D, 2) is the former Chapter House of the knights of an 'Ordre de la Sincérité', instituted in 1712 by George William and changed to the Order of the Red Eagle (Roter Adler-Orden) in 1734 by Margrave George Frederick Charles. The meetings of the order were held in the church of St. Georgen (still called 'Ordenskirche'; Pl. D, 3), built in 1705-18. The balustrade of the gallery is adorned with the arms of the knights down to 1767.

The Eremitage, 3 M. to the E. of Bayreuth (comp. Pl. D, 5), a château with gardens, fountains, artificial ruins, etc., was erected by George William ca. 1720 (open daily, 9-12 & 2-5; adm. to the château and temple of the Sun 50 pf., to the fountains 50 pf., on Sun. 20 pf.). The upper Schloss (1250 ft.) contains a handsome rococo music-room and a number of family-portraits, including Frederick the Great, as a child, and as king, and his sister the Margravine Wilhelmine, who wrote her memoirs here. Among the portraits in the lower Schloss, the so-called Sonnen-Tempel (temple of the Sun), is that of the Countess Orlamünde (the 'White Lady', p. 112). In the vicinity is the 'Grosse Bassin', an imitation of that at Versailles, surrounded by the temple of the Sun and its two wings. The walls of these buildings are fantastically inlaid with coloured stones, rock-crystal, etc. The interior of the temple is sumptuously fitted up, and contains handsome columns of striped marble. Between the upper Schloss and the offices is a pretty pleasure-ground, with a restaurant. Adjacent are the Roman Theatre and the large water-tower, containing water for the fountains. These play on Sundays in summer about 5 p.m. (adm. gratis; notice is given by the sound of a bell) and may be seen at other times for a fee of 2 M.

About halfway to the Eremitage, at the point where the road turns at a right angle to the N., is a small inn, called Rollwenzel's Haus, with a room where Jean Paul Richter used to write.

The Fantaisie, a château $3\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the W. of Bayreuth, built in 1765, is now private property (no admission). The pretty park is entered from the Hôtel Fantaisie. By descending through the park we reach (20 min.) the station of Fantaisie-Eckersdorf (see below). Beyond the château, in Donndorf, is the Pfau, a good inn.

FROM BAYREUTH TO HOLLFELD, $20\frac{1}{2}$ M., branch-railway in 2 hrs. — $11\frac{1}{2}$ M. Fantaisie-Eckersdorf, see above. From ($9\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Mistelgau a pleasant route for pedestrians leads viâ Glashütten, Volsbach, and Kirchahorn to Rabenstein (p. 149; 3 hrs.). Or we turn to the right at Volsbach and follow the Waischenfeld road for $1\frac{1}{4}$ M., ascending to the left at a lime-tree, just before it dips into the Zenbach-Tal. From the top of the ridge we have a fine view of the whole Franconian Switzerland. Thence to Waischenfeld (p. 149) viâ Hannberg. — $15\frac{1}{2}$ M. Plankenfels. A road runs hence to the S. to ($4\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Waischenfeld (p. 149). — $20\frac{1}{2}$ M. Hollfeld.

FROM BAYREUTH TO WARMENSTEINACH, $14\frac{1}{2}$ M., local railway in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. through the Steinach-Tal, passing Weidenberg (1423 ft.), at the foot of the Bocksleite (1873 ft.; $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.; view), and other stations. — Warmensteinach, see p. 143.

Another branch-railway runs from Bayreuth to ($17\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Thurnau (p. 121) in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.

To the left, as Bayreuth is quitted, are St. Georgen and the Eremitage, to the right wooded hills. — 25 M. Kirchenlaibach (Rail. Restaurant; junction for the Nuremberg and Eger Railway, p. 175). — 29 M. Kemnath-Neustadt (1470 ft.); on the right the Rauhe Kulm (2240 ft.; view-tower), to which beautiful wood-paths ascend in $\frac{3}{4}$ hr., on the left the S. spurs of the Fichtel-Gebirge. We follow the valley of the Haidenaab. — 40 M. Schwarzenbach, in the Upper Palatinate. Thence through extensive pine-forests (Parksteiner and Mantler Wald) to (42 M.) Parksteinhütten, $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. to the N.E. of which lies the market-town of Parkstein (1950 ft.), situated round the summit of a hill of beautifully formed columnar basalt. — 49 M. Weiden (p. 210).

The Fichtel-Gebirge.

The Fichtel-Gebirge, a mountain-system in Upper Franconia, consists principally of granite, gneiss, and crystalline slates, and forms a watershed between the affluents of the Elbe (Eger, Saale), the Rhine (Weisse Main), and the Danube (Naab). It abounds in pleasant valleys, massive crags amidst fine forest-scenery, and heights commanding beautiful views.

The most convenient approaches to this district are those from Neuenmarkt-Wirsberg (p. 121; branch-railway to Bischofsgrün), Bayreuth (p. 138; branch-line to Warmensteinach), and Hof (p. 120; railway to Zell viâ Münchberg, to Weissenstadt and Wunsiedel). — Two days, starting from Neuenmarkt, may be spent as follows: 1st Day. By rail to Berneck and (1½ hr.) Bischofsgrün; then on foot over the Ochsenkopf and Schneeberg to Weissenstadt in 6 hrs. [Or we may go by train from Bayreuth to Warmensteinach in 1½ hr., and walk by the Ochsenkopf and Schneeberg to Weissenstadt in 6 hrs.]. 2nd Day. Walk to the top of the Waldstein and back (2½ hrs.); by rail from Weissenstadt viâ Kirchenlamitz to Wunsiedel or on foot viâ Birk in 2½ hrs.; ascend the Luisenburg with guide and descend to Alexandersbad (2½ hrs.). Diligence or carriage in 1 hr. from Alexandersbad to Markt-Redwitz, a station on the Hof and Weiden railway (p. 210), or return viâ the Katharinenberg to (40 min.) Wunsiedel.

Carriage and pair from Berneck to Alexandersbad by Silberhaus, Tröstau, Schönbrunn, and Wunsiedel in 8-9 hrs., 25-30 M. — The paths and routes are practically throughout well provided with guide-posts.

From Neuenmarkt-Wirsberg (p. 121) to Bischofsgrün, 13 M., railway in 1¼ hr. — The railway diverges to the left from the Bayreuth line and enters the valley of the Weisse Main at (3 M.) Himmelkron (1092 ft.), with a former Cistercian convent, known for the legend of Countess Kunigunde of Orlamünde (d. ca. 1350; see p. 126), the 'White Lady'. Remains of late-Gothic cloisters and the burial-vaults of the counts.

7 M. Berneck.—HOTELS. Bube, R. 1¼-2½, B. ¾ M., with garden-restaurant; Hirsch, R. 1½-2½, B. ¾ M., very fair; Post, R. 1-1½ M., D. 1 M. 40 pf.; Stalt Bayreuth, moderate charges. — RESTAURANTS. Kurhaus, see below; Schmidt's, in the market-place; Bäreneck, with pretty view. — Visitors' Tax (first five days free) 4 M., 2 pers. 6 M.

Berneck (1275 ft.), a small town (1700 inhab.) picturesquely situated in a narrow valley watered by the Oelsnitz, is a favourite summer-resort. In the main street is the Kurhaus, with reading-room, garden, and restaurant. On the Oelsnitz, at the foot of the Schlossberg, is the Kur-Colonnade, where a band plays daily, 8-10 & 4-6. On the steep hill above the town are the ruins of two castles and of a chapel. A pleasant path along the Oelsnitz gradually ascends the wooded hill in 20 min. to the Obere Burg (1548 ft.), destroyed by the Hussites in 1430. Fine view hence; still finer from the Engelsburg, 10 min. farther on, and the adjacent Kirchleite (1935 ft.; belvedere).

Another excursion is to (¾ hr.) the ruined castle of Stein (1765 ft.), romantically situated in the valley of the Oelsnitz. Thence we may walk through the valleys of the Oelsnitz and the Lübnitz, past the ruin of Grünstein, to (¾ hr.) Gefrees (p. 121). — Pearl-mussels (Unio margaritifer) are found in the Oelsnitz in considerable quantities; the shells are opened and the pearls removed every 6-7 years by a government official.

The railway (also fine drive) crosses the Oelsnitz. (On the hillside is the Blüchersruhe, with its belvedere.) It then follows the pretty Goldmühl-Tal, or valley of the Weisse Main, to (8 M.) Goldmühl (1350 ft.; Heisinger; Zapf; Schwarzes Ross); hence to 0.000 1 2 3 4 5 Engl. Miles

Wagner & Debes, Leipzig

Warmensteinach, see below. — We now ascend to (13 M.) Bischofsgrün (station 2126 ft., church 2228 ft.; Goldner Löwe, R. 1-1 $\frac{1}{2}$ M., pens. 3-4 M., plain but good; Mainstal; Post, R. 1-1 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.; Villa Helene, pens. 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.), conspicuously situated at the N. base of the Ochsenkopf, with manufactories of beads, a very ancient industry here.

The Schneeberg (p. 144) may be ascended from Bischofsgrün in 2 hrs. (numerous guide-posts).

The path to the Ochsenkopf (3360 ft.; ascent 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) leads through wood, and, except at one place, the ascent is gradual. At the top it traverses blocks of granite and passes the Schneeloch, a hollow (deserted shaft; 16 ft. deep) where snow lies till June. From the view-tower we gain an extensive view of the Fichtel-Gebirge, including the Thuringian Forest. About 5 min. to the S. of the tower is a spot known as the 'Aussicht' (view), commanding a picturesque glimpse.

The route by Warmensteinach to the Ochsenkopf, 2 hrs. longer than the above, is preferable. The road quits the valley of the Main beyond Goldmühl, and ascends to the right in the valley of the Zoppatenbach to (20 min.) Brandholz (1710 ft.). [About $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. higher up is the Fürstenstein, affording a fine panorama.] About $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. beyond Brandholz we ascend the road to the right. In a few minutes more, where the path divides, the branch to the left leads viâ the Hohe Wacht (view) to (1 hr.) Warmensteinach (2065 ft.; Krug, above the station, R. 1-1 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.; Zur Eisenbahn, at the station; Trassl, below the church), prettily situated, the terminus of a railway from Bayreuth (see p. 142). Bead-making and glass-polishing are the chief industries. — The summit of the Ochsenkopf may be reached hence either by the direct path viâ Flechl (2 hrs.), or through the Löchle-Tal, a narrow wooded ravine (tavern), to (1 hr.) Grassemann (2405 ft.; inn), a former mining settlement, situated on an open plateau. Before reaching the village we pass the Ludwigs-Quelle on the left. Thence to the (1 $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) summit of the Ochsenkopf (see above; path indicated by white marks).

From Warmensteinach a road leads to the E. to (6 M.) Fichtelberg (2243 ft.; Post, Zur Eisenbahn, at both R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2, B. $\frac{1}{2}$, pens. 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ -4 M.), the terminus of a branch-line from Neusorg (p. 175). An attractive route leads hence to the (1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2 hrs.) Ochsenkopf viâ Neubau, the Weissmainfelsen, and the Weissmainquelle (see below).

FROM THE OCHSENKOPF TO THE SCHNEEBERG, 2 $\frac{1}{4}$ hrs. We descend the saddle to the E., which connects the Ochsenkopf and Schneeberg; 20 min., Source of the Main (Weissmainquelle: 2910 ft.), with its stone parapet, above which is a portion of the earlier parapet with the arms of the Bavarian Electors; 10 min., the Weissmainfelsen (3050 ft.), a group of rocks which has been made accessible and affords a view of the Schneeberg and Nusshardt, etc. We then descend to (1 $\frac{1}{4}$ M.) Karches (2410 ft.; rfmts.), near which begins the peat-moor of Seelohe, occupying the site of the vanished Fichtel Lake, a small relic of which is, however, still extant about 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. farther on.

From Karches roads lead to the N.W. to (3 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Bischofsgrün (see above), to the S.E. to (4 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Silberhaus (p. 145), and to the S. to (3 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Fichtelberg (see above).

We now again ascend through wood to (1 hr.) the Nusshardt

(3190 ft.), a group of huge blocks of granite. The nine round hollows on the top are called the 'Druids' Dishes'. The ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the N.) Schneeberg (3454 ft.), the highest summit of the Fichtel-Gebirge, is crowned with a group of rocks, 23 ft. high, named the Backöfele ('oven'). On the top is a hut (no inn). The panorama includes the distant Erzgebirge on the N.E.; the Rudolfstein, Weissenstadt, and the Waldstein to the N.; the Thuringian Mts. and the Gleichberge to the N.W.; and the Ochsenkopf to the S.W.

FROM THE SCHNEEBERG TO WEISSENSTADT, $1\frac{3}{4}$ hr. We descend to the N.E. through wood to (40 min.) the 'Drei Brüder' (2736 ft.), three lofty groups of granite slabs; 7 min., the Rudolfstein (2840 ft.), a huge group of granite slabs, the highest point commanding a good view. We descend for $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. more through wood, passing near a spring, then follow a path to the right, past several rock-cellars, to ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Weissenstadt (2070 ft.; Löwe; Reichsadler or Alte Post), a small town with 2700 inhab., on the Eger, which rises 2 M. to the S.W. — Railway to ($7\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Kirchenlamitz (p. 210). To Wunsiedel and Alexandersbad, see below.

ASCENT OF THE WALDSTEIN FROM WEISSENSTADT, $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. The road diverges to the left at the rail. station and leads into the wood to a (2 M.) finger-post on the left, 'zum Waldstein'; hence to the top $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. more. A footpath (shorter) starts at the W. end of the village.

Ascent of the Waldstein from Münchberg viâ Zell, see p. 121.

The Grosse Waldstein (2880 ft.) is another group of granite rocks, made accessible by paths and steps, and crowned with a pavilion (on the highest point, to the S.E.); extensive panorama. The castle of Waldstein, a robbers' stronghold, of which fragments remain, was destroyed by the Swabian League in 1523. Adjacent is the finely situated Waldhaus (2830 ft.; inn). About 200 paces to the N.W. is the Bärenfang, on the way to Zell (p. 121).

A marked path, running first to the N.W., then to the E., and crossing the road from Weissenstadt to Sparneck, leads through wood from the Waldhaus to the ($1\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Epprechtstein (2620 ft.; no inn), with a ruined castle and a beautiful view; thence to the railway-station of Kirchenlamitz or to Buchhaus (p. 210), $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.

The shadeless road from WEISSENSTADT to ($8\frac{1}{2}$ M.) WUNSIEDEL is unattractive to walkers. (Carr. to Alexandersbad in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr., 7-8 M; diligence to Röslau, p. 210, 6 M., twice daily in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.). The route viâ Birk ($2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) is preferable. — FROM HOLENBRUNN, a station on the railway from Hof to Wiesau (p. 210), TO WUNSIEDEL, $2\frac{1}{4}$ M., branch-line in 10 minutes.

Wunsiedel. — HOTELS. Kronprinz von Bayern, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 M, B. 70 pf.; D. $1\frac{1}{2}$ M; Einhorn, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ M, B. 50 pf.; Grüner Baum, with garden, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. — Wine at Fr. Opel's; beer at Porsch's; Wartburg Garden Restaurant. — One-horse carr. to Alexandersbad 3, two-horse 5 M.

Wunsiedel (1800 ft.), a town with 5800 inhab., on the Rösla or Röslau, was the birthplace of Jean Paul Friedrich Richter (p. 139), whose bust by Schwanthaler has been placed in front of the house where he was born, adjoining the church. The old lyceum contains a Local Museum. The Katharinenberg (2020 ft.), 1 M. to the S.E., with a ruined church, commands a pretty view. — An avenue flanked with lime-trees and chestnut-trees leads to the S.E. to ($1\frac{3}{4}$ M.; diligence twice daily) —

Alexandersbad (1935 ft.; Kurhaus, open in summer, R. from 6 M, board 30 M a week; Weber; Rogler; Lang; visitors' tax 10-18 M; chalybeate bath $1\frac{1}{2}$ M), which is named after the last Margrave of Ansbach-Bayreuth (1783). The chalybeate springs and the pine-cone and mud baths, combined with the pleasant scenery, attract numerous visitors.

The Luisenburg (2568 ft.), the most striking point in the environs, so named after the visit of Queen Louisa of Prussia in 1805, formerly called Luchsburg, with a few traces of an old castle, lies $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the W. of Alexandersbad and 2 M. to the S. of Wunsiedel, and was first made accessible in 1790.

The Luisenburg is, as it were, a mountain in ruins. Huge masses of granite of fantastic form are piled together in wild confusion, the result of disintegration; they are partly overgrown with thick moss, interspersed with pines and bushes, and are rendered accessible by steps, bridges, etc.

At the entrance to the labyrinth is a Hotel-Restaurant (2255 ft.; R. $1-1\frac{1}{2}$, B. $\frac{1}{2}$, pens. $3\frac{1}{2}-4$ M). Numerous inscriptions on the rocks. This rocky labyrinth affords a beautiful walk, ascending in about 1 hr. to the Kaiser-Wilhelm-Felsen (2675 ft.). The finest point is the Burgstein (2858 ft.), 20 min. farther on, a group of rocks on the top of the hill, with an open view towards the E., N., and W. Guide (obtained at the hotel) 2 M.

The Habersteine (2785 ft.), $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. farther on, consist of four lofty rocks, of which two form the Grosse Haberstein and two the Kleine Haberstein (the latter inaccessible); the view is similar to that from the Burgstein (magnificent woods). The Kösseine (3084 ft.), $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. from the Habersteine ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. direct from Alexandersbad, 2 hrs. from Wunsiedel), commands the finest and most extensive view in the Fichtel-Gebirge, embracing the greater part of the Upper Palatinate towards the S. (temple at the top; a little below it is a shelter with eleven beds, $1\frac{1}{2}$ M; good water 10 min. below the summit on the E. side). — From this point a path leads by the Mätze (2665 ft.) and the Girgelstein (2485 ft.) to the (2 hrs.) Silberhaus (2330 ft.; good rfmts.; comp. p. 143), whence we may ascend by the forester's house of (1 hr.) Seehaus (3120 ft.; rfmts.) to the Nusshardt and the (1 hr.) Schneeberg (p. 144). — From the Kösseine a path (white marks) descends in 2 hrs. to Neusorg (p. 175).

Diligence from Alexandersbad twice daily in 1 hr., viâ Sichersreuth, to ($3\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Markt-Redwitz on the railway from Hof to Munich and Nuremberg (p. 210). The footpath (not much shorter) leads partly through wood.

24. Franconian Switzerland.

The small hilly district dignified with this title (1600-1900 ft. above the sea-level), with its pretty valleys watered by the Wiesent and its tributaries, its wooded heights, forming the N.E. spurs of the Franconian Jura, and lying nearly in the centre of a triangle formed by Nuremberg, Bamberg, and Bayreuth, owes its reputation chiefly to its STALACTITE CAVERNS, containing remains of antediluvian animals, specimens of which are preserved in almost every museum in Europe. These wild beasts probably lived in the caves, to which they brought their prey and where they afterwards themselves died. The 'Jura' limestone and dolomite rock-formations are also picturesque, occasionally assuming the most grotesque shapes.

Carriage with one horse, 10-12 M per day, 6-8 M per half-day; with two horses, 20 and 10 M. — The paths are maintained and provided with guide-posts by the Fränkische Schweiz-Verein.

The following excursion of two days from Ebermannstadt is recommended. 1st Day. On foot viâ (1 hr.) Streitberg (with the Binghöhle) to (1 hr.) Muggendorf and the (1½ hr.) Stempfer-Mühle (with a deviation of ¼ hr. to *Gösswein*stein and back) and on to (¼ hr.) Behringers-Mühle and (1½ hr.) Pottenstein. — 2nd Day. Cross the plateau to (2 hrs.) Rabenstein (comp. p. 149), visiting the Sophien-Höhle (1 hr.); thence proceed to (1 hr.) Rabeneck and (¾ hr.) Doos, and viâ the Riesenburg to (2 hrs.) Muggendorf, whence we return by carriage or omnibus to (¼ hr.) Ebermannstadt. — A good run for cyclists is from Ebermannstadt to (15 M.) Pottenstein and (9½ M.) Pegnitz.

From Forchheim (see p. 124) to Ebermannstadt, 9½ M., railway in ¾ hr. — The line leads in a wide curve to the E. into the pleasant Wiesent-Tal. 2 M. Pinzberg (Terrasse Inn, ½ M. from the station, very fair, R. 1-1½, pens. 3½-4½ M). — About 2 M. to the E. of (¾ M.) Wiesenthau is the Ehrenbürg or Walberla (1745 ft.), a view-point with a chapel. — 5½ M. Kirch Ehrenbach (Frey, pens. 3½-5 M). — From (7½ M.) Pretzfeld a road leads to the S. through the Trubach-Tal to (6 M.) Egloffstein (p. 126). It passes Wambach, whence a cross-road leads to (6 M.) *Gösswein*stein (p. 148). — 9½ M. Ebermannstadt (957 ft.; Zur Eisenbahn, R. 1½, B. ½ M; Müller's Restaurant), a little town with 800 inhabitants.

POST OMNIBUS from Ebermannstadt viâ Streitberg, Muggendorf, and Behringersmühle to Pottenstein (15 M.) in 4 hrs.; to Waischenfeld (17½ M.) in 6 hrs.; from Pottenstein to Pegnitz, twice daily in 2¼ hrs.

Streitberg (1045 ft.), a picturesquely situated village, is frequented as a summer-resort. The Bing-Höhle, a cavern lighted by electricity, is worth a visit (adm. 1 M each, with minimum of 3 M). Pretty walks to the Muschelquelle, ¼ hr., and to the Schauer-Tal, 10 min. to the N.E. Fine views from the (¼ hr.) ancient Streitburg and the (½ hr.) ruin of Neideck, opposite; still finer from the Hunnenstein, $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. to the W., and from the Guckhüll, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the N.E. Pleasant excursions through the Lange-Tal and the 'Felsenschlucht' to the (1 hr.) Schönstein-Höhle, a grotto with fine stalactites (guide for 1-2 pers. 3, 3-5 pers. $3\frac{1}{2}$, larger party 4 M), and (close by) the Brunnenstein-Höhle, and through the Leinleiter-Tal to (1 hr.) Unter-Leinleiter, with the château and park of Baron Seckendorf.

The road goes on from Streitberg, on the right bank of the Wiesent, to ($2\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Muggendorf (1060 ft.; Kurhaus & Hôtel Schüler, with reading-room, very fair; Stern, R. 1-1 $\frac{1}{4}$, D. 1 M 60 pf.; Schwan, R. 1-1 $\frac{1}{4}$, D. 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ M; Sonne, Türkei, less pretending; restaurants Rosenau and Kohlmann; wine-room and café Feiler), a pleasant market-town, frequented in summer, and a good centre for excursions (visitors' tax 2, families 4 M). Shady promenades on the opposite bank of the Wiesent.

To the W. of Muggendorf ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) is the Rosenmüllers-Höhle, the entrance to which is visible to the left from the road (guide lives in house No. 26; for 1-5 pers. 2 M). It contains fine stalactites and fossil remains of animals. The Oswalds-Höhle ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the E.) may be visited also, if time permit. Near it are the Wunders-Höhle and Witzen-Höhle. The latter is said to contain a heathen altar(?). The Koppenburg, near the Rosenmüllers-Höhle, the Hohenstein, and the Hohe Wacht, above the Oswalds-Höhle, are good points of view. The village of Wichsenstein (1925 ft.), commanding an extensive panorama, may be reached from Muggendorf in $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs., viâ Windisch-Gailenreuth. In the Trubach-Tal, 3 M. to the S., is the picturesque château of Egloffstein (1148 ft.; p. 126).

From Muggendorf viâ the Riesenburg to Doos, see p. 148.

FROM MUGGENDORF TO BURG GAILENREUTH, $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. We follow the Behringersmühle road (see p. 148) for $\frac{1}{2}$ hr., cross the Wiesent, and take the road ascending the hill, whence a footpath, diverging to the left, leads to Burg Gailenreuth (1558 ft.), belonging to Baron Horneck. The forester here dispenses modest refreshments and shows the adjoining Gailenreuther Zoolithen-Höhle (1-3 pers. 1 M each, 4-6 pers. 50 pf. each, larger parties 25 pf. each; light 10 pf. for each pers.), which has attained a European celebrity owing to the investigations of Esper, Rosenmüller, Cuvier, and Goldfuss, but is now little visited by tourists. It consists of four stories, one above the other, each containing chambers which were filled with remains of bears, lions, wolves, hyænas, etc. There are several other caverns here of the same character, such as the Kapps-Höhle (difficult of access), containing fine stalactites, and the Esper-Höhle. — From Burg Gailenreuth to Gössweinsteinst (p. 148), $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.; to Wichsenstein (see above), $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. (marked path).

From Muggendorf the road leads to the S.E. through the Wiesent-Tal, past Burg Gailenreuth (see above; to the right, on the hill) and the ($4\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Stempfer-Mühle (restaurant), with the Drei Quellen, whence Gössweinsteinst (p. 148), on the height to the right, may be reached in 25 minutes. About $\frac{3}{4}$ M. farther on is Behringersmühle (1120 ft.; Post; Heinlein; Stern, all three fair), a village much frequented as a summer-resort, charmingly situated at the junction of the Wiesent-Tal, the Ailsbach-Tal, and the Püttlach-Tal. The Pfaffensteinst, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the W., commands a fine view. To Doos, see p. 148; to Rabensteinst, see p. 149.

The road crosses the Wiesent and divides, the left branch leading to ($4\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Pottenstein (comp. below). The road to the right ascends rapidly to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Gössweinstein (1617 ft.; Kur-Hôtel; Distler, with garden, R. 1, pens. $3\frac{1}{4}$ M; Zur Fränkischen Schweiz; Löwe; Rose; Sonne), a small market-village with 600 inhab., a large pilgrimage-church built by Neumann in 1730-39, and a Castle (on a high rock), completely restored in the Gothic style (visitors admitted in the absence of the family; fee 40 pf.). The castle, the Kreuz behind the church, and the Wagnershöhe, all command a view of the greater part of the Franconian Switzerland, including the valleys of the Ailsbach, Wiesent, and Püttlach, which converge at Behringersmühle. Through the grounds in the government-forest we descend in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the Stempfer-Mühle (p. 147). About $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the W. of Gösswein is the Gailenreuther Höhle (p. 147).

FROM BEHRINGERSMÜHLE TO POTTENSTEIN, $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. The road (see above) leads through the romantic Püttlach-Tal to ($1\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Tüchersfeld (two plain Inns), a picturesque village, commanded by lofty pinnacles of rock. Thence to Pottenstein (1164 ft.; Distler; Anker; Krone; Schmitt), a beautifully situated little town, with a château. Diligence twice daily in $2\frac{1}{4}$ hrs. to Pegnitz (p. 175); to Rabenstein, see p. 149.

Pleasant excursion to the S. through the romantic Schütter-Tal or Weihers-Tal, past the ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Schütter-Mühle (good inn; close by are the Teufels-Höhle, 330 ft. long, and the forester's house of Altenhof, rfmts.), to ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Kühlenfels. Back by Kirchenbirkig to ($3\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Pottenstein.

FROM MUGGENDORF TO DOOS, $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. The road, to the left, crosses the hills towards the E. From this road another leads to the right, just beyond Muggendorf, to (2 M.) Engelhardsberg (Wunder; key of the Riesenburg, see below).

About $\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the S. rises the bold Adlerstein (1740 ft.), commanding an extensive view, and $\frac{1}{2}$ M. farther on is the Quackenschloss, a jagged grauwacke rock.

The road leads on towards the N. to ($3\frac{1}{4}$ M.) the Riesenburg*, a wild group of dolomite rocks with natural arches and towers, rendered accessible by paths and bridges (adm. 50 pf., 2 pers. 75 pf., each pers. addit. 20 pf.). Charming view of the Schotter-Tal (see below). We descend into this valley, turn to the left, and in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. reach the Doos or Toos Inn (1118 ft.), where also a key of the Riesenburg is kept.

FROM BEHRINGERSMÜHLE (p. 147) TO DOOS, 3 M. The road leads to the N. through the Schotter-Tal or Schauder-Tal, one of the most beautiful valleys in this district. It is watered by the Wiesent. Halfway is the Schotter-Mühle (Inn, R. $1-1\frac{1}{2}$, pens. 4-5 M). -- Doos, see above.

At Doos begins the picturesque Rabenecker-Tal, watered by the Wiesent. We quit the road (which goes on to Waischenfeld, see below, 2 M.) at a mill ($1\frac{3}{4}$ M.), and beyond the Wiesent ascend to the right, past the partly preserved Burg Rabeneck, to a lofty plain; we then take the path to the left by the wood, turning off to the right after a few yards, and passing (25 min.) Schönhof, reach ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Burg Rabenstein (1456 ft.), a pinnacled castle belonging to Count Schönborn and partly restored, looking down upon the Ailsbach-Tal and the Ahorn-Tal, 160 feet below. In the first-named valley, at the foot of the hill, lies the Neumühle (rfmts.). The custodian conducts the visitor to the (10 min.) Sophien-Höhle or Rabenstein Cavern, which is interesting both for the abundance of its fossil bones and for the perfection of its stalactites. An hour is required to explore it (guide & lights for 1-4 pers. 2 M 40 pf., for 5 or more 60 pf. each; full illumination 10 M; magnesium wire 50 pf. extra for each of the three chambers). From Rabenstein to Pottenstein and Behringersmühle, see below; to Bayreuth, see p. 141.

Those whom time permits may now cross the hill to the N.W. separating the Ahorn-Tal and Wiesent-Tal and descend viâ Langenlo to ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Waischenfeld (1137 ft.; Post), a small town pleasantly situated on the Wiesent, with a ruined castle on the hill above. The Försters-Höhle (20 min.; key at Lang's; one pers. 1 M, each additional visitor 50 pf.), a dome-shaped vault (65 ft. high, 85 ft. long, 33 ft. wide), contains fine stalactites. — From Waischenfeld to Bayreuth, see p. 141.

Walkers may go from Rabenstein across the tableland direct in 2 hrs. to Pottenstein (p. 148; yellow way-marks); by the Neumühle (see above) we cross the bridge and ascend to the left to Zauppenberg; then, leaving the village of Kleinlesau on the right (see finger-posts), we reach, beyond Weidmannsgesees, the road leading from Ober-Ailsfeld to Pottenstein. — To reach (2 hrs.) Behringersmühle (p. 147) we proceed through the pretty valley of the Ailsbach viâ Ober-Ailsfeld and Unter-Ailsfeld (whence a direct path leads to Tüchersfeld, p. 148). From Behringersmühle to Tüchersfeld and Gössweinstein, see p. 148.

Nuremberg, Germ. Nürnberg (level of the Pegnitz 960 ft., castle-yard 1150 ft.), a free city of the Empire down to 1806, has since belonged to Bavaria and is the headquarters of the 3rd Bavarian army-corps. Pop. 294,000 (87,000 Rom. Cath., 7000 Jews). It lies in the middle of a sandy plain, partly clothed with fir-trees and intersected by the Pegnitz, which divides the old town into two nearly equal parts, the Lawrence and the Sebald sides, the latter being the older and more interesting. There is probably no city in Germany still so mediæval in appearance, or so suggestive of the wealth, importance, and artistic taste of a 'City of the Empire'. The Altstadt, dominated by the citadel, is still enclosed by a wall, towers, and a broad, dry moat. Nuremberg is also the chief commercial and manufacturing town in S. Germany. Machinery, toys, metal wares, lead pencils, and beer are among its chief industrial products; and it is also famous for its gingerbread (Lebkuchen). It carries on a large trade in hops. The local line to Fürth (p. 173) is the oldest railway in Germany (1835).

History. The first historical mention of the castle of Nuremberg occurs in a document of 1050. In 1105 the fortress afforded protection for two months to Emp. Henry IV., against his rebellious son, afterwards Emp. Henry V. It subsequently passed by inheritance to the Hohenstaufens, Friedrich and Conrad, and in 1127 successfully defied the attacks of the Emp. Lothair. Since that date, with the exception of a brief period under the rule of Henry the Proud (1130-38), Nuremberg maintained its independence as a free city of the Empire down to the year 1806. Conrad III. and Frederick Barbarossa frequently occupied the castle, and the privileges accorded to the town by these and other emperors greatly promoted its progress, which was accelerated by its adherence to the League of Rhenish Towns. From the S. slope of the castle-hill it gradually extended down to and beyond the Pegnitz. The government was originally vested in the patrician families ('Geschlechter'), and though these were expelled by the artisans in 1348 they returned in the following year and with the aid of Charles IV. obtained a firmer grasp of power. That emperor cherished a special affection for Nuremberg, and in his Golden Bull of 1356 ordained that every emperor should hold his first diet in the ancient city. In 1424, during the Hussite war in the reign of his son the Emp. Sigismund, the imperial regalia were transferred to Nuremberg, whence they were removed to Vienna in 1796.

The early history of Nuremberg is closely interwoven with that of the Hohenzollern family. The office of Burgrave, originally a deputy governing in the name of the emperor, was first held by Frederick I. (d. 1218) of this family. About 1227 the Hohenzollerns divided into the Franconian and the Swabian lines, and after the 13th cent. the chief residence of the family was at Kadolzburg (p. 173), and after 1363 at Ansbach. When Frederick VI. was invested by the Emp. Sigismund with the Mark of Brandenburg in 1415, the Hohenzollerns formally ceded to the town their castle, which stood near the imperial castle, but they endeavoured to retain their other rights in Nuremberg. The bitter feuds with the Margraves of Ansbach, Albert Achilles (1449), and Casimir (1502), did not prevent the continuous growth of the town, which at the beginning of the 16th cent. had become, like Augsburg, one of the chief depôts of the trade between Germany, Venice, and the East. At this period, too, it was eminent as a centre of learning and took an active part in the introduction of the Reformation. Regiomontanus, the mathematician (p. 129), Martin Behaim, the explorer, Christoph Scheurl and Willibald Pirckheimer, the scholars, and Hans Sachs the poet, all resided at Nuremberg.

The discovery of the sea-route to India somewhat impaired the prosperity of the town; it suffered still more severely from its feud with Margrave Albert Alcibiades (1552-54), and during the Thirty Years' War and in the 18th cent., its decline was hastened by the feeble rule of the patrician families. Since 1806, however, when Nuremberg became a Bavarian city, it has prospered greatly, thanks to its favourable situation on the great routes of traffic.

Art History (comp. pp. xxiii-xxv). The principal churches, built of red sandstone, date from the 13-15th cent., but the SECULAR BUILDINGS, which render Nuremberg so quaint and picturesque, were erected mainly in the 16th and early 17th cent., with the exception of a few older houses of stone (e.g. the Nassauer Haus) and a number of half-timbered edifices with wooden galleries. In the domestic architecture of Nuremberg, one of the most characteristic expressions of the German Renaissance, special attention is given to the elegant oriel-windows ('Chörlein') and to the artistic embellishment of the interior courts.

The zeal with which the art of SCULPTURE was cultivated at a very early period is exemplified by the astonishing wealth of carving in the churches and by the beautiful fountain-figures, as well as by the numerous interesting signs and figures of saints, of the 14-16th cent., with which the houses are embellished. Few authenticated names of artists have come down to us from the earlier period; and for a long time it was customary to refer all works of art to one or other of the three great masters Adam Kraft (ca. 1450-1509), the 'stone-mason', Veit Stoss (ca. 1450-1533), the wood-carver, and Peter Vischer the Elder (ca. 1455-1529), the brass-founder. Kraft's principal works are the Stations on the way to St. John's Cemetery, the tasteful tabernacle in St. Lawrence's, and the Schreyer monument in the St. Sebaldus-Kirche. The works of the first great creative period (1477-96) of Veit Stoss are to be sought for in Cracow. Both of these masters are rooted in the traditions of mediæval art, and of conservative tendencies. Peter Vischer, on the other hand, endowed with a delicate sense of form, illustrates in the Shrine of St. Sebald the triumph of the spirit of the Renaissance, to which he was probably introduced by his sons, Peter Vischer the Younger (d. 1528), an artist of versatile imagination, who visited Upper Italy in 1508, and Hermann (d. 1516), who was in Rome the year before his death. The foundry of the Vischers was the most famous in Germany, and after it closed much meritorious work was produced by Pancraz Labenwolf (1492-1563), a pupil of the elder Vischer (Gansehämmchen and other popular fountain-figures).

The Nuremberg school of PAINTING, influenced at first by the early masters of Prague and later by the Netherlandish schools, finds its first important representatives in the anonymous painters of the Imhoff, Tucher (Hans Peurl?), and Löffelholz altar-pieces, dating from the beginning of the 15th century. In the latter half of the same century Hans Pleydenwurff (d. 1472; influenced by Roger van der Weyden) and Michael Wohlgemut (1434-1519) were the most prominent of Nuremberg painters. The characteristic tendency to depth of meaning shows itself, even more distinctly than in painted pictures, in the wood-cuts and engravings of Albrecht Dürer (1471-1528), a pupil of Wohlgemut, and the greatest painter whom Nuremberg has produced. His best works, however, must be sought for at Vienna, Munich, and Berlin. The only certified examples of his brush in his native town are the 'Hercules' (an early work), portraits of the Emperors Charlemagne, Sigismund, and Maximilian, a Pietà, and the cover of the Munich portrait of Oswald Krell, with two savages as heraldic supporters (all in the Germanic Museum). The most important of Dürer's numerous pupils, the so-called 'little masters', Georg Penz (ca. 1500-50), Hans Sebald Beham (1500-50), and Barthel Beham (1502-10), were also prominent as engravers. In other departments of art the most famous names are those of Veit Hirschvogel the Elder and the Younger, painters upon glass, the versatile Augustin Hirschvogel, and Albrecht and Nikolaus Glockendon, the book-illustrators.

Painting now rapidly declined in Nuremberg. On the other hand the ARTISTIC HANDICRAFTS flourished here till far on in the 18th century. Among the specialities of Nuremberg in this direction were the production of artistic cabinets, pottery, and iron-work, pewter-work (Hans Lobsinger; Kaspar Enderlein), and, above all, the casting of medals and goldsmith's work. The most celebrated die-cutters were Ludwig Krug (d. 1532) and the versatile Peter Flötner (d. 1546); the most renowned goldsmiths Wenzel Jamnitzer (1508-85), Hans Lenker (d. 1585), and Eliaa Lenker (d. 1591).

a. From the Railway Station to the Castle Hill. Centre of the Town.

To the S. of the Altstadt lies the Central Railway Station (Pl. E, 3; II), re-erected from the designs of Von Zenger in 1901 et seq.; the waiting room for first and second class passengers was fitted up by Bruno Paul. In front of the station is a bronze Equestrian Statue of Prince-Regent Luitpold by W. von Rümman (1901). A little farther to the N. is the Frauen-Tor (p. 171). To the right of this gate is the Künstlerhaus (Pl. E, 3; II), erected by K. Walther in 1908.

In the tower-chamber, immediately to the right of the entrance, is a statuette of St. Maurice by P. Vischer the Elder. — The MUNICIPAL PICTURE GALLERY occupies the ground-floor and part of the upper floor. Among its chief treasures are the following: Joachim von Sandrart, Banquet in the Rathaus at Nuremberg on Sept. 25th, 1619; P. C. Geissler, Popular festival on the Peterheide in 1833; C. Jäger, Emperor Maximilian at the house of A. Dürer; Ans. Feuerbach, *Battle of Amazons; A. Bauer, Corpse of Otho III. brought back to Germany over the Alps; P. Ritter, Bringing in the Imperial Regalia on March 22nd, 1424 (see p. 152); Werner Schuch, Removal of the corpse of Gustavus Adolphus to Wolgast; F. von Lenbach, Baron Theodore von Cramer-Klett; F. von Stuck, Prince-Regent Luitpold. The upper floor also accommodates the Exhibition of the ALBERT DÜRER ASSOCIATION (modern paintings), which, however, is open to members only.

Farther on we reach the KÖNIG-STRASSE (Pl. D, E, 3; II), the busiest street in Nuremberg, traversing the entire 'Lawrence side' (p. 152). To the left rises the little Church of St. Clara (Pl. D, E, 3, II; Rom. Cath.), an early-Gothic structure, consecrated in 1273 but rebuilt in 1428-34. — Farther on, on the same side, is the late-Gothic Custom House (Mauthalle; Pl. D 3, II), originally a corn-magazine, erected in 1498-1502 above the inner town-moat and now a warehouse. The relief above the E. portal, from Adam Kraft's workshop, and the lofty gable should be noticed. No. 32, the Mohren-Apotheke (druggist's shop), has a brick gable and a statue of the Madonna (15th cent.).

In the Lorenzer-Platz (Pl. D, E, 3; II), 5 min. from the railway-station, rises the Gothic church of St. Lawrence (Pl. D 3, II; Prot.), the finest in Nuremberg. It was begun about 1278 (?). In 1403-45 the nave was enlarged, and in 1445-72 the choir was rebuilt on a larger scale by Konrad Roritzer (p. 187). The whole edifice was restored in 1905 et seq. by Jos. Schmitz. Above the W. Portal (14th cent.), with its numerous sculptures, is a rose-window, 30 ft. in diameter. The N. Tower, with its roof of gilded copper, 233 ft. in height, has been re-erected in its original form since a fire in 1865.

INTERIOR (adm., see p. 152). The numerous Altars of the 15-16th cent. afford an interesting survey of the development of art in Nuremberg. In the gallery (usually closed) over the N. entrance is the Imhoff Altar (ca. 1420), with the Coronation of the Virgin as altar-piece. The Wolfgang Altar (No. 38), in the last chapel, also dates from about the same period. On the pillar opposite is the large Deokarus Altar (No. 42), with animated figures of the Apostles (1406). Behind it is (No. 1) an Adoration of the Magi, which, along with the four fine winged pictures (Nos. 2, 3) on the pillar opposite (Annunciation, Adoration of the Child, Flight into Egypt, and Massacre of the Innocents), is by the Master of the Löffelholz Altar (p. 158). Near the latter, close to the fine two-storied sacristy (1463) and the tower with the spiral staircase (1519), which ascends to the gallery, are three altars ascribed to the studio of Wohlgemut: No. 16. St. Catharine, No. 12. St. Rochus (1499), No. 18. St. Martha. The Krell Altar (No. 5; end of the 15th century), in the ambulatory, behind the high-altar, bears the earliest known representation of the town; the St. Anna Altar (No. 4; 1521) has winged paintings by Hans von Kulmbach.

The Choir, like the chapels, is hung with the epitaphs of patrician families. The Gothic brass candelabrum is by P. Vischer the Elder (1489), and the Renaissance brass (1513) of Provost Anton Kress is from his foundry also. The finest work of art in the church is the CIBORIUM, or receptacle for the host, in the choir, beautifully and elaborately executed in stone, in the form of a tower, 65 ft. in height, and enriched with many sculptures of scenes from the life of Christ. The apex of the tower is bent like a bishop's staff. It rests upon the three kneeling figures of the sculptor Adam Kraft and his two assistants, who were engaged in the work from 1493 to 1498. In front of the altar (1839), suspended from the roof, is a *Work in carved wood by Veit Stoss, representing the Annunciation, enclosed in a garland of roses with reliefs of the Seven Joys of the Virgin.

Seven of the beautiful stained-glass *Windows in the choir date from the 15-17th cent.: the finest are the 1st to the right, or 'Tucher window', by Jak. Springlin of Zürich (1601), and the 4th or 'Volkamer window', representing the genealogy of Christ with the portrait of the donor (1493). The four Apostles (after Dürer; comp. p. 251) in the 3rd window are modern, as also the 2nd ('Kaiserfenster'), put up in 1881 in memory of the 84th birthday of Emp. William I.

The Tugendbrunnen, a fountain on the N.W. side of the church, with numerous figures in bronze, was executed in 1585-89 by Benedikt Wurzelbauer. To the left of it, at the corner of the Karolinen-Str. (p. 164), is the so-called Nassauer Haus (Pl. D, 3; II), erected in the Gothic style (lower part in the 13th cent., upper part in 1422-31), with a tasteful oriel, a gallery with coats-of-arms, and corner turrets.

Farther on the König-Strasse descends to the Pegnitz, passing the Adler-Strasse (left; see p. 165) and Kaiser-Strasse. The Museum Bridge (Pl. D, 2; II), rebuilt in 1700, commands a picturesque view of both banks. Thence the short Plobenhof-Strasse leads to the quaint old —

MARKET PLACE (Pl. D, 2; II), the centre of traffic on the 'Sebald side' (p. 152).

The Gothic Liebfrauen-Kirche or Church of Our Lady (Pl. D 2, II; Rom. Cath. since 1816., on the E. side of the market-place, was erected in 1355-61 and tactfully restored in 1879-81 by Essenwein. Over the portal of the W. portico, with its rich sculpturing, on the wall of St. Michael's chapel (1411?), is a curious old clock, known as the 'Männleinlaufen', skillfully reconstructed in 1506-9 by G. Heuss and Seb. Lindenast, with moving figures of the seven German electors around the Emp. Charles IV. (seen daily at noon). The clock commemorates the 'Golden Bull' (p. 152) of the emperor.

The INTERIOR (adm., see p. 152) has recently been redecorated. At the end of the N. aisle is the *Tomb of the Peringsdörfer family of 1198(?), by A. Kraft, with a relief of the Madonna as Mother of Mercy, formerly in the Augustinian monastery (p. 160). Adjacent is the *Tucher Altar, with a winged picture on a gold ground, one of the finest works of the Nuremberg school about 1440-50 (perhaps by Hans Pearl?). To the right of the latter, beside the triumphal arch, is the *Tomb of Hans Rebeck (d. 1500), by A. Kraft, formerly in the Dominican monastery (p. 160). At the sides, 14th cent. frescoes. Old stained glass in the choir, with the armorial bearings of many Nuremberg families.

In the Gänsemarkt, behind the Liebfrauen-Kirche, is a quaint fountain-figure in bronze, by Pancraz Labenwolf (p. 153), called the Gänsemännchen* ('little goose-man'; Pl. D, E, 2, II), a peasant carrying a goose under each arm (ca. 1550). — Fruit Market (Obst-Markt), see p. 163.

The centre of the market-place is occupied by a copy (by Chr. Lenz; 1902) of the Neptune Fountain. The original (by G. Schweigger and Chris. Ritter), though completed in 1661-69, was never erected in Nuremberg and having been sold in 1797 now graces the Peterhof near St. Petersburg.

The Schöne Brunnen (Pl. D, 2; II), on the N. side of the market-place, erected ca. 1360 (probably by Meister Heinrich, the 'Palier'), was restored in 1903 by H. Wallraff and painted according to a coloured drawing of the original by G. Penz (1541). The Gothic pyramid, 63 ft. in height, is adorned with numerous figures. The statues below represent seven electors and the nine worthies (viz. Charlemagne, Godfrey de Bouillon, Clovis, the Christian worthies; Judas Maccabæus, Joshua, David, the Jewish worthies; Cæsar, Alexander, Hector, the pagan worthies); those above, Moses and the seven prophets (originals in the Germanic Museum, p. 168). There are other seated figures of the Evangelists, Church Fathers, etc. The forged-iron railing round the fountain is Gothic in its lower part; the upper part, in the Renaissance style, is a replica of an addition (now lost) made in 1587 by Paulus Küha, a blacksmith of Augsburg.

The long Gothic House, to the N. of the Schöne Brunnen, is said to date from the 14th century. — No. 19, Hauptmarkt (tablet), was the residence of the celebrated humanist Pirkheimer (1470-1530; p. 207). No. 15, adorned with frescoes designed by Wanderer (1886), is the house in which Martin Behaim, the cosmographer (1459-1507), was born. Until 1523 the crown-jewels (comp. p. 152) were exhibited annually in front of this house, known as the 'Heil-tums-Kammer'. — The attractive Relief of the Madonna on the house No. 11, is attributed to Adam Kraft.

A few yards to the N.W. of the market-place lies the Rathaus-Platz (Pl. D, 2; II), with the Rathaus and the church of St. Sebaldus. A band plays here on Sun. at noon.

The Rathaus (Pl. D, 2; II) was originally a Gothic edifice of 1332-40, but of this only the Saalbau on the S., with the skilfully restored lofty E. gable in the Rathaus-Gässchen, now remains. Hans Beheim the Elder erected a late-Gothic addition in the rear in 1515; and in 1616-22 the whole structure was practically rebuilt in the Italian Renaissance style by Jacob Wolf the Younger. The façade, 280 ft. in length, has three fine portals with sculptures designed by Christoph Jamnitzer. The tasteful bronze fountain in the interesting old court is by Pancraz Labenwolf (1557). In the S.E. corner of the court, on Beheim's addition, is a gallery with Gothic balustrades, resting upon curious carved brackets. The late-Gothic part of the building to the E., with a fine façade towards the Theresien-Str., was added by Essenwein in 1884-89. In the small court is a bronze figure of Apollo, by P. Vischer the Elder and Hans Vischer (1532).

INTERIOR (adm., see p. 151; entrance opposite St. Sebald's; bell for the custodian on the first floor, to the right). The chief attraction is the GREAT HALL, on the first floor, 128 ft. long and 36 ft. broad, with its timber roof. The decoration of this hall, which was thoroughly restored in 1903, dates from the 16-17th cent., with the exception of two reliefs of 1340 on the E. wall (Emp. Lewis the Bavarian enthroned; Allegorical representation of the commercial league between Nuremberg and the Flemish cities). Only three of the famous frescoes executed here in 1522 by G. Penz (?) from Dürer's designs have survived, and these were retouched in 1613, viz. (on the N. wall), Triumphant procession of the Emp. Maximilian, Town Musicians, and Calumny (after Apelles). Above the door under the first of these is the motto 'Eins manns red ist ein halbe red, man soll die teyl verhören bed'.

On the ceiling of the long corridor in the second floor is a relief in stucco representing a tournament held at Nuremberg in 1446, executed by Hans and Heinrich Kuhn in 1621. — The so-called Small Hall has a timber-ceiling by Hans Wilh. Beheim (d. 1619), and contains paintings by Wanderer (1901) and a reproduction of Wenzel Jamnitzer's famous table-service (now in Paris). — The registrar's office, with a portal of 1622, has (left side) a tasteful Renaissance door, by Peter Flötner, from the Lorenzer-Schulhaus.

Beneath the small court-yard are some old Dungeons (Lach-Gefängnisse), of the 11th century. Subterranean Passages, once used for the water-supply, led hence in various directions. The passage leading to the casemates beneath the imperial castle was constructed for defensive purposes in 1543.

An archway connects the Rathaus with the Municipal Court (Pl. D, 2; II), a modern Renaissance edifice (1896-99) in the Fünfer-Platz (p. 163). — Rathaus-Keller, see p. 150.

The church of St. Sebaldus (Pl. D 2, II; Prot.) was begun soon after 1250 and dedicated in 1274. The elevated W. choir with the Löffelholz Chapel and the nave, which was widened by a Gothic architect in 1309, date from this first church, which was in the transition style. The towers, begun respectively in 1300 and 1345, were not completed until 1483. In 1361-77 the church was provided with a Gothic E. choir, an imposing erection with aisles and an ambulatory. The exterior of the church, carefully restored in 1894-1902 by G. Hauberrisser (p. 224) and Schmitz, is distinguished by an unusual wealth of decorative *Sculptures. Over the S.W. portal (14th cent.) is the Last Judgment, and at the sides are fine statues of SS. Peter and Catharine (copy). At the S.E. portal (the 'Schau-Tür') is another representation of the Last Judgment, by Veit Stoss (1485). By the N.E. portal ('Bride's Door') appear the Wise and Foolish Virgins (early 14th cent.); and by the N.W. portal ('Anschreibe-Tür') are reliefs of the Death, Burial, and Coronation of the Virgin, all dating from the beginning of the 15th century. On the W. choir is a colossal statue of St. Christopher (1442). The 'Schreyer Monument', on the E. choir, with numerous lifesize figures in stone, representing the Bearing of the Cross, the Entombment, and the Resurrection, executed in 1492 by Adam Kraft, is one of the richest and most important of his works.

The Interior (adm., see p. 152) was restored in 1903-6. The W. Choir contains a Gothic bronze font, by Hermann Vischer the Elder (?; middle of the 15th cent.). The Löffelholz Altar, with carvings and paintings betraying Netherlandish influence, dates from 1453.

On the pillars of the NAVE are numerous statues of the 11th century. The Haller altar-piece, by the 2nd pillar on the left, is an early work by the Master of the Tucher Altar (p. 156). Beside the 6th pillar on the left is a wooden *Statue of the Madonna (ca. 1150), under its original canopy, with admirably preserved gilding and painting. — Over the Schau-Tür (see above), near the modern late-Gothic pulpit (1839), is a relief of the Madonna, retaining the original colouring, perhaps an early work from the studio of Wohlgemut.

EAST CHOIR. St. Sebald's Shrine ('Sebaldus-Grab'; p. xxiv), the masterpiece of Peter Vischer, the celebrated artist in bronze, was completed by him with the aid of his five sons in 1519, after eleven years' labour. This is one of the most important monuments of German art, in which ancient traditional German conceptions and ideas are blended with elements suggested by the humanists of Nuremberg or borrowed from the Lombard sculptors of the Renaissance. From a platform borne by twelve snails rises a Gothic canopy surmounted by three domes and enclosing the Gothic silver sarcophagus (restored in 1506) in which are preserved the relics of the saint. On the sides of the sarcophagus are four *Reliefs, representing the miracles of St. Sebald and heads in the antique style; at the W. end is St. Sebald, at the E. end Peter Vischer with apron and chisel, two beautiful statuettes. The canopy displays an astonishing wealth of charming Renaissance ornamentation and carving of every description; pagan deities (Zeus, Venus, etc.) and other figures of classical mythology (centaurs, tritons, nereids, sirens) appear side by side with putti playing with lions and dogs and with representations of the four Christian cardinal virtues (between the central pillars); in niches round the sarcophagus are the twelve *Apostles; on the top are statuettes of prophets of the old dispensation; and on the central dome appears the Infant Christ with the terrestrial globe. — Over the late-Gothic high-altar is a *Crucifixion by Veit Stoss (1520). By one of the pillars is a statuette of the Madonna, by Stephan Godl (ca. 1529).

In the AMBULATORY are numerous 15th cent. statues of saints, including several by Veit Stoss. To the left is the *Tucher Altar-piece, painted in 1513 by Hans von Kulmbach, from drawings by Dürer: the central painting, the Virgin enthroned, with SS. Catharine and Barbara and angelic musicians, breathes quite a Venetian spirit. Farther on are a richly sculptured Gothic ciborium (end of the 14th cent.) and three reliefs by Veit Stoss (1449): Last Supper, Christ on the Mt. of Olives, and the Kiss of Judas. — The stained-glass windows, the earliest of which date from the 14th cent., are, like those in St. Lawrence's church, among the finest in Germany. Over the central altar is the *Maximilian Window, by Veit Hirschvogel (1514), with portraits of Emp. Maximilian, the donor, his first wife Maria of Burgundy (d. 1482), his son Philip the Fair, and Joanna of Castile. To the right are the Bamberg Window, designed by Wolfgang Katzheimer (1501); the *Margrave Window (designed by Hans von Kulmbach) presented by Margrave Frederick of Ansbach and Bayreuth, and the Pfinzing Window, both executed by Veit Hirschvogel (1515); and the Volkamer Window (ca. 1495), perhaps an early work of Hirschvogel.

The Parsonage of St. Sebald, on the N. side of the church, has a fine Gothic 'Chörlein' (oriel; p. 153) of ca. 1361, restored in 1902 by Schmitz (the original is now in the Germanic Museum, p. 168). The house was once occupied by Melchior Pfinzing (d. 1535), provost of St. Sebald, and author of the 'Teuerdank', an allegorical narrative of the wooing of Mary of Burgundy by Emp. Maximilian I. — Opposite St. Sebald's, on the N., is the Gothic Chapel of St. Moritz (Pl. D, 2; II), built in 1313, and recently restored by Jos. Schmitz in such a way as to reveal the original brick architecture. Adjoining is the Bratwurst-Glöcklein (p. 150), mentioned as early as 1519.

To the S.W. of St. Sebald's, Winkler-Str. 29, is Palm's House (Pl. 3, D 2; II), with the inscription: 'Here dwelt John Palm, bookseller, who fell a victim to the tyranny of Napoleon in 1806'. The patriotic Palm had published a pamphlet on the 'Degradation of Germany', written in a tone derogatory to France, for which the Emperor caused him to be condemned by a court-martial and shot (p. 322). — At the corner of the adjacent Augustiner-Strasse, on the site of an Augustine monastery, stand the Courts of Law (Pl. D, 2; II), erected by Solger in 1877. The Commercial Court contains a large painting by A. Feuerbach (1877), representing Nuremberg merchants receiving a charter from Emp. Lewis the Bavarian. — Opposite Palm's house, over the gateway of the Stadtwaage (built by H. Behem the Elder in 1497), is a good *Relief by Adam Kraft (1497), who executed also the Annunciation (1504) on No. 24. Near this (Winkler-Strasse 20) is the house in which Dürer was born, with an inscription. The houses Nos. 5 and 1 have tasteful courtyards, dating respectively from 1496 and 1516.

We now cross the Weinmarkt (Pl. D, 2; II) to the N.W., noting the fine Statues of the Madonna on Nos. 12a and 12, and enter the Albrecht-Dürer-Strasse. No. 39 in this street, near the Tiergärtner-Tor (p. 171), is Dürer's House (Pl. D, 2; II), a Gothic half-timbered building (15th cent.), now the property of the city. It contains a collection of antique furniture and utensils, and also numerous copies of Dürer's paintings. Adm., see p. 151.

We return to the Rathaus (p. 157), on the S.E., viâ the Berg-Strasse and the Albrecht-Dürer-Platz (Pl. D, 2; II), in which is Rauch's Statue of Dürer, in bronze (1840).

On the right side of the BURG-STRASSE (No. 4), at the corner of the Theresien-Str. (p. 163), is the old Dominican Monastery, containing the Municipal Archives on the groundfloor. The upper floor contains the Municipal Library (Pl. D 2, II; adm., see p. 151), of 100,000 vols. and 2000 MSS., including a missal with fine miniatures by the brothers Glockendon (p. 154); also early specimens of typography, e.g. the Rationale of Durandus (1459), printed by Fust at Mayence; autographs of Luther, Melanchthon, Ulrich von Hutten, Hans Sachs, etc.

No. 15 in the Burg-Strasse (left) is the Fembo-Haus, a Renaissance edifice of the early 17th cent.; No. 21 was Wohlgemut's House; No. 10, the Scheurl-Haus (1482), has a room with fine Gothic panelling.

The Burg-Strasse ascends the Burg-Hügel or Castle Hill (1151 ft.; Pl. D 2, II) to the N., a sandstone rock on the N.W. side of the old town, on which stand the Imperial Castle, the remains of the small Burgraves' Castle (p. 152), destroyed in the war of 1420, and two municipal edifices. Three routes lead to the top: the 'Himmels-Weg' (Pl. 15), to the left, leads viâ the Hasenburg (Pl. 11; a square tower) direct to the Kaiserburg (p. 161); the path to the right leads to the imperial stables (p. 161); that in the centre ascends to the — • Burggrafenburg, or Burgrave's Castle. Of this stronghold the only remains are the Pentagonal Tower ('Alt-Nürnberg'; Pl. 10), the oldest building in the town (11th cent.; upper parts of the 14th or 15th cent.); the St. Ottmar's or Walpurgis Chapel (Pl. 21), a Romanesque structure rebuilt after 1420; and the Amtmann's Wohnung (Pl. 6), probably erected as early as 1273 as a guard for the Kaiserburg.

The tower (adm. 30 pf.) contains a torture-chamber with the 'Iron Virgin', a hollow figure with iron spikes in the interior, into which the victim was thrust, and a collection of antiquities. From beside the tower we command a view of the wide moat and the N. suburbs. On the parapet are shown two hoof-shaped impressions, which are said to have been left by the horse of a captive robber-knight in the 16th cent., who escaped by leaping over the moat. — We then pass through the W. gate to the Freiung (Pl. 9) or 'Liberty', so called from the right of asylum exercised by the burgraves, commanding a good view of the old town. — Another gateway brings us to the round Sinwell or Vestner Turm (Pl. 19), with a cornice and roof dating from 1561 (view from the top; 10 pf.), and farther on is the Deep Well (Pl. 20), the depth of which (338 ft.) is shown by lowering candles into it, or by reflecting the daylight upon the surface of the water by means of a mirror (10 pf.)

Straight on is the Kaiserburg, or Imperial Castle (Pl. 17), probably founded in the 11th cent., enlarged by Frederick Barbarossa in the 12th, and often remodelled at later dates. It was almost wholly modernized in the 19th cent. (ring at the gate; fee $\frac{1}{2}$ -1 M.).

The Inner Gateway, adjoining the Heidenturm (see below), is a Renaissance building of 1562. In the Inner Court (Pl. 16), altered in 1833 by Heideloff, is the stump of a venerable lime-tree, said to have been planted by the Empress Kunigunde, wife of Emp. Henry II. (1002-24). In the old Palas the only points of interest are the Chapel, built into the Heidenturm, and the royal apartments. The Chapel (Pl. 8) is a double Romanesque structure of the 12th cent.; above is the Kaiser-Kapelle, with some sculptures and paintings, below is St. Margaret's Chapel, probably originally used as a burial-vault. The Royal Apartments, fitted up in a modern Gothic style in 1851-56, contain several Renaissance tile-stoves. The ceiling of the audience-chamber, painted in 1520 by Hans Springinklee, a pupil of Dürer, shows coats-of-arms with the motto of Charles V.; on the timber ceiling of the study (end of 14th cent.) appears the imperial eagle. — The modern Romanesque balcony of the W. Wing of the castle (erected in 1861-66 on the site of the 'Kemenate', affords splendid views of the city and environs. — The castle-enclosure (now a royal garden), on the W. side of the Kaiserburg, is open to the public. It is supposed to have been laid out in 1487 by the Emperor Frederick III.

Next the Pentagonal Tower (see above), on the right, is the old granary, built by Hans Beheim the Elder in 1494-95, now known as the KAISER-STALLUNG (Pl. D 2, II; 'imperial stables'), with a coat-of-arms by A. Kraft. To the E. of this is the Luginsland (Pl. 18), with turrets at its four corners, erected in 1377.

b. The E. Quarters of the Old Town.

In the PANIERS-PLATZ (Pl. E, 2; II), a few paces to the E. of the castle-hill, rises the Toppler House (Pl. 5), a Renaissance edifice of 1590-97. No. 9 in the same square has a Gothic tower with a spiral staircase; No. 20 is a Gothic timber-framed building.

At No. 12 Schildgasse, farther down, in the house known as 'Zur Blume', is the Natural History Museum (adm., see p. 151). The collections are to be transferred to the Luitpold-Haus (Pl. E, 3; II). At the House with the Golden Shield, opposite (No. 23; Pl. D 2, II), the first twenty-three articles of the Golden Bull (p. 152) were composed in 1356.

Turning to the E. out of the Paniers-Platz, we pass the former Max-Tor (Pl. E, 2; II) and traverse the Sieben Zeilen (Pl. E, 2; II), i.e. seven rows of weavers' houses, erected in 1488 on the site of the old town-moat, to the HIRSCHELGASSE (Pl. E, 2; II). No. 11, on the left, is the Tucher Landhaus, erected in 1534-44 and tastefully restored by Gabr. Seidl, with an interesting courtyard. -- The Hirschvogel House (No. 21, Pl. E 2, II; since 1905 the property of the town), farther on, contains at the back a hall in the early-Renaissance style by P. Flötner (1534; open 9-12 & 3-6, Sun. and holidays 9-12; 20 pf.).

Retracing our steps, we cross the Webers-Platz to the Landauer Brüder-Kloster (Pl. E, 2; II), now a Real-Gymnasium (boys' school). The fine vaulting of the late-Gothic chapel (1506; gratuity 30 pf.) is borne by two spiral columns. For this chapel, in 1511, Dürer painted his celebrated All Saints altar-piece, now at Vienna. A few paces lower down is the Lauferschlag-Turm (Pl. E 2, II; reconstructed in 1508 and 1561), a remnant of the town-wall (p. 171).

In the EGIDIEN-PLATZ (Pl. E, 2; II), to the W. of the Landauer Kloster, rises the Protestant Church of St. Ægidius (adm., see p. 151), originally a Romanesque basilica belonging to the Schotten-Kloster, the oldest monastery in the town; the church was burned down in 1696 and rebuilt in 1711-18 from designs by J. Trost.

Three chapels dating from the original church have been preserved: the Gothic Tetzl-Kapelle (1315), containing numerous hatchments of the Tetzl family, and the tomb (injured in the fire) of the Landauer family, by Adam Kraft (1501), and adorned on the exterior with a statue of the Virgin, perhaps an early work by Adam Kraft(?); the Romanesque Eucharis-Kapelle (12-13th cent.); and the Gothic Wolfgangs-Kapelle, with a large group of the Entombment (1446).

The church is peculiar in having an oval nave. The decoration illustrates the transition from the baroque to the rococo style. To the left, behind the high-altar, is the brass of the Eisen family, in the Renaissance style, with a Pietà in relief, by Peter Vischer (1522).

On the W. side of the church stands a bronze Equestrian Statue of Emp. William I., by Rümman (1905). — The Peller House (No. 23; Pl. E 2, II), now the property of Eysser, the art-dealer (p. 151), on the N. side of the place, was erected in 1605 by Jakob Wolf the Elder. It is the finest late-Renaissance building in Nuremberg, with a beautiful three-storied court (gratuity).

No. 13 Egidien-Platz, on the W. side, was the house of the famous printer Anton Koberger ca. 1440-1513. — Opposite is a Statue of Melanchthon, by J. D. Burgschmiet 1826, in front of the Gymnasium organized by him in 1526.

Adjoining on the S.W. is the little THERESIEN-PLATZ Pl. E. 2: II, with a bronze statue of Martin Behaim p. 157, by Rössler 1890, whence the Bindergasse and the Theresien-Str. lead to the W. to the Rathaus p. 157. Bindergasse No. 20 and Theresien-Str. No. 23 are adorned with *Reliefs by A. Kraft (Joshua and Caleb, and St. George and the Dragon). — Kraft's House, Theresien-Str. 7, probably erected by Hans Behaim the Elder about 1510, has a fine two-storied court.

Adam Kraft's Statue of the Virgin at Bindergasse 1, corner of the Funfer-Platz, and the Statue of the Madonna at Obst-Markt 16 have been disfigured by painting. — Close by, at the back of the municipal court p. 158, is a fine Statue of St. Helena 15th cent.

The TUCHER-STRASSE Pl. E. 2: II, to the E. of the Obst-Markt, possesses three of the finest Courts in Nuremberg, at Nos. 15, 20 'Historischer Hof', and 21. — At the corner of this street and the Neue Gasse is the Grübel Fountain Pl. E. 2: II, by Wanderer 1881, with a figure of Konrad Grübel 1736-1809, a popular poet of Nuremberg. — Not far to the W., at the corner of the Ebnersgasse and the Heugasschen, is the bronze Bagpiper Fountain Pl. E. 2: II, a copy of a Renaissance model in the Germanic Museum.

The SPITAL-PLATZ Pl. E. 2: II is adorned with a bronze Statue of Hans Sachs 1494-1576, by J. K. Krausser (1874). The house in which the poet was born is in the adjacent Hans-Sachs-Gasse (No. 17).

On the S. side of the Spital-Platz stands the Protestant Heiliggeist-Kirche Pl. E 2, II: adm., see p. 151, a Gothic structure 1331-41, belonging to the neighbouring hospital, and formerly the depository of the imperial regalia p. 152. The interior, remodelled in the baroque style in 1663, contains a fine crucifix, in the style of Veit Stoss, and old frescoes 14-15th cent. in the aisles. In the choir is the tomb of Konrad Gross d. 1356, the founder of the hospital. At the E. end of the N. aisle is the altar-tomb of Herdegen Valzner (d. 1418). — In the anterior court of the Hospital is the Hansel Fountain, with a Renaissance railing, and in an adjoining court (entr. to the E. through the Noris-Stift) is a Chapel built in 1459 on the model of the Holy Sepulchre.

Turning to the S. from the Spital-Platz, we cross the Spital-Brücke to the island of Schütt (Pl. E. 2: II, with the Männer-schuld-Turm; view to the left of the picturesque row of houses on the Pegnitz. Thence the Heu-Brücke leads to the Peter-Vischer-Strasse, containing the house in which Peter Vischer the Elder lived (Pl. 4, E 3, II; No. 23).

Retracing our steps we turn to the right viâ the Katharinen-gasse to the Gothic CHURCH OF ST. CATHARINE (Pl. E 3, II; adm., see p. 152), of the beginning of the 14th cent., used by the Meistersingers as their school from 1620 onwards. It contains a painting by W. Ritter, representing the town and castle of Nuremberg in the 17th century. — To the left, at the end of the street, rises the — Bavarian Industrial Museum (Pl. E, 3; II), consisting of a main building (1894-96), in the baroque style, and an addition of 1900. Adm., see p. 151.

c. The S.W. Quarters of the Old Town.

The main thoroughfares between the Lorenzer-Platz (p. 155) and the Spittler-Tor (p. 171) are the KAROLINEN-STRASSE (Pl. D, 3; II) and the LUDWIG-STRASSE (Pl. D, 3; II).

No. 30 Karolinen-Str. has a graceful oriel-window (Chörlein; after 1700), and No. 34 has a Renaissance gable and court (16th cent.). No. 36, the General Post Office, is by L. Ullmann (1905). — In the Hefners-Platz (Pl. D, 3; II) stands a monument (1905; by M. Meissner) to Peter Henlein (1480-1542), who is supposed to have been the inventor of watches ('Nuremberg eggs').

The Ludwig-Strasse leads past the Weisse Turm (Pl. D, 3; II), a relic of the town-wall (p. 171), to the —

JAKOBS-PLATZ (Pl. C, D, 3; II), where, on the right, stand the old Deutsche Haus, or Teutonic Lodge, now the office of the commanding general, and the Roman Catholic Church of St. Elizabeth, built in 1785-1802 by the Knights of the Teutonic Order in a classical style, and restored in 1903. — In the middle of the Platz rises the —

St. Jakobs-Kirche (Pl. C, D, 3, II; Prot.), founded in 1209 as the church of the Teutonic Order. The present building, dating from the middle of the 14th cent., was restored by Heideloff in 1824-25, with but moderate success.

The INTERIOR (adm., see p. 151) contains many fine sculptures in wood and stone (14-16th cent.). To the right and left of the W. portal, the Virgin and St. John, figures from a group of the Crucifixion in the style of Veit Stoss. — In the N. aisle, *Lamentation for Christ (Virgin, with the body of Christ, and St. John), a large group by Veit Stoss, to whom also is ascribed the group of St. Anna, the Virgin, and Child, on a winged altar in the Dillherr Chapel. This aisle contains also remains of frescoes (1510), and a famous *Pietà (the Virgin kneeling before the body of Christ), a group closely allied in style to the Nuremberg Madonna (p. 168). — In the S. aisle is a small statue of the Virgin by Veit Stoss, who executed also the relief of the Last Judgment in the Egloffstein Chapel. — The fine choir, adorned with many hatchments of Teutonic Knights, contains good statues of saints (14th cent.) and a Gothic high-altar (ca. 1400) with winged paintings (retouched) and four admirable figures of Apostles in terracotta (six others of the series being now in the Germanic Museum, p. 168).

From the Jakobs-Platz we may follow the Jakob-Str. to the E. to the Corn Market (Pl. D, 3; II), to the left of which, along the inner town-wall, are a row of Corn Magazines, now used by the hop-merchants, and the old Arsenal, with a portal of 1588. From the Corn Market the Vordere Kartäusergasse leads to the right to the Germanic Museum (p. 166).

We turn to the N.E., in the direction of the inner town-wall, and follow the Weizen-Str. (Pl. C, D, 3; II) past the Weizen-Gebäude, an extensive baroque building of 1672 (now the Tucher brewery), to the Unschlitt-Platz (Pl. D, 2; II), with the old Unschlitt-Haus (1491), originally a granary, now a pawn-broking office.

Superb *Views of the town (particularly fine by moonlight) are afforded by the four lower Bridges over the Pegnitz (comp. Pl. D, 2; II): the Max-Brücke, rebuilt in 1852-53 by B. Solger; the Kettensteg (1824), the first suspension-bridge in Germany, beside the present town-wall (p. 171); the iron Henkersteg; and the Derrer-Brücke (1486), between the Trödelmarkt Island and the Karl-Strasse.

In the grounds of the Maximilian-Platz (Pl. D, 2; II), near the Henkersteg, is the Triton Fountain, by Bromig (1687). — In the court of No. 23 Karl-Str. are some realistic Carvings, in the style of Hans Sebald Beham (p. 154), representing a village church-festival, etc. — The one-arched Fleisch-Brücke (Pl. D, 2; II), rebuilt in 1596-98, near the central market-place (p. 156), is a copy of the Rialto bridge in Venice.

In the ADLER-STRASSE (Pl. D, 3; II), the rococo façade (18th cent.) of No. 21 should be noticed. In the Gothic court of No. 19 is a small relief (Adoration of the Child) by Adam Kraft (1498); and on No. 28 is a Statue of the Madonna (14th cent.).

e. The Town Wall and Outer Quarters.

The Town Walls, built in 1345-1452 and greatly strengthened in the 16-17th cent., form the most interesting feature of the town: though they have unfortunately been removed at places to meet the requirements of modern traffic, they still bear clear testimony to the military strength of the old imperial city.

The earliest fortifications consisted of a wall averaging 22 ft. in height with a protected passage, strengthened with a fort (now almost vanished) 55 ft. broad and numerous square towers placed at intervals of 50 yards. Outside was a dry moat, 30 ft. deep and 90 ft. broad. The four main gates (Frauen-Tor, Pl. E 3, II; Spittler-Tor, Pl. C 3, II; Neu-Tor, Pl. D 2, II; and the rased Laufer-Tor, Pl. E. F. 2, II), were defended by strong outworks. Of the four smaller gates (Holler-Tor, Pl. D 2, II; Tiergärtner-Tor, Pl. D 2, II; Vestner-Tor, Pl. D 2, II; and the rased Währder-Tor, Pl. F 2, II) the second alone belongs to the older fortifications completed in 1332. When gunpowder became a feature of warfare, a number of smaller forts were erected so as to enfilade the moat, and these were soon reinforced by escarp-galleries and, after 1500, by round forts with cannon (Streichwehre), especially in the Vestner-Tor-Graben and at the points where the Pognitz entered and quitted the town. The last two additions were made in conformity with the theory of fortification propounded by Dürer. In 1538-43 Antonio Fazuni of Malta erected the great polygonal Burgbastei between the Tiergärtner-Tor and the Vestner-Tor, with two casemated side-bastions. In 1556-61 the towers of the four main town-gates received their present circular shape (walls, 19 ft. thick), from the designs of Georg Unger. The works constructed shortly before and during the Thirty Years' War have vanished. — The most picturesque portion of the fortifications is on the W. side, between the Spittler-Tor (Pl. C. 3; II, and the site of the Max-Tor Pl. E. 2; II). The protected passage (Wehrgang) on the inside of the wall is well seen at the Ludwigs-Tor and the Neu-Tor.

In the Frauentor-Graben, between the Frauen-Tor and Spittler-Tor, and opposite the Germanic Museum, is the New Municipal Theatre (Pl. D. 3; II), built in 1902-5. A little to the W. is the home of the Society of Industrial Progress (Industrie und Kulturverein; Pl. D 3, II), by Th. von Kramer (1905). — In the Melanchthon-Platz (Pl. C, D, 4, 5; I, to the S., beyond the railway, is a Monumental Fountain, by Kindler (1908).

In the Plärrer (Pl. C, 3; II), between the Spittler-Tor and the Ludwigs-Bahnhof (Pl. C, 3; II), another Monumental Fountain (1890) commemorates the opening of the first German railway (1835; p. 152).

In the Rotenburger-Str., to the S.W. of the Plärrer, is the old Cemetery of St. Rochus (Pl. B, 3; I, with the grave of Peter Vischer the Elder (d. 1529) and his sons Hermann and Peter (No. 90, ninth stone on the right). The Rochus-Kapelle, erected in 1519-21 by Paul Beheim, contains stained-glass windows from the workshop of Veit Hirschvogel, resembling Dürer's work. A little to the S.W. is the Harbour of the Ludwigs-Canal (p. 133), 370 yds. long.

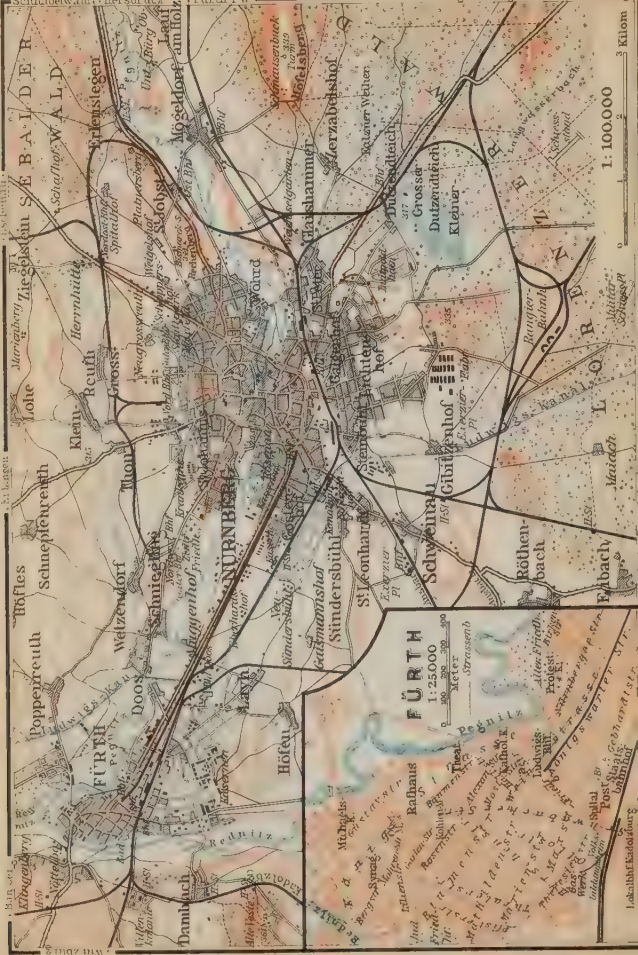

To the W. of the Spittler-Tor-Graben lies the Rosenau (Pl. C, 3; II), with the pleasure-resort mentioned at p. 150. -- In the Prater-Anlage (Pl. C, 3; II) is the Minnesdinger-Brunnen, by Kittler (1905).

Outside the Neu-Tor, in the JOHANNIS-STRASSE (tramway No. 6, see p. 151), which leads to the cemetery of St. John (see below), is the graceful Heiligkreuz-Kapelle (Pl. C 2, II; No. 24, on the right; adm., see p. 151), containing numerous hatchments of the Haller family and a large altar from Wohlgenut's workshop, with a group of the Descent from the Cross, and painted double wings.

In the Burgschmiet-Str., which runs from the Tiergärtner-Tor (p. 171) to St. John's Cemetery, stands on the right the Bronze Foundry of Prof. Lenz (formerly Burgschmiet; Pl. D 2, II), with a collection of models (visitors admitted). The road leads on past the Stations of the Cross, consisting of seven sandstone pillars (1506) with reliefs of the Passion, and, in the cemetery of St. John, the Calvarienberg, all by Adam Kraft (the latter now replaced by copies; originals in the Germanic Museum).

St. John's Cemetery (Pl. B, C, 1, 2; I), first laid out in 1518 and containing fine brasses, is well worth a visit (the wife of the chief sexton affords all information and also opens the Holzschuher Chapel; 50 pf.).

The late-Gothic Holzschuher Chapel, to the left of the entrance near the Calvarienberg (see above), contains a large Entombment, Adam Kraft's last work (1508). -- In the 6th row from the entrance, five graves to the N.E. of the Holzschuher chapel, is Pirkheimer's tomb (No. 1144; p. 157). On the path leading to the church of St. John (see below) rises the Müntzer Tomb (1560; 25 ft. in height). In the 6th row behind it is the grave of Albrecht Dürer (No. 619, the 11th stone to the left of the path; 'quicquid Alberti Dureri mortale fuit, sub hoc conditur tumulo; emigravit VIII Idus Aprilis 1528', i.e. 6th April, 1528). About 50 paces to the S. of Dürer's grave is that (No. 503) of the confectioner Hans Sachs and his descendants, perhaps including the poet Hans Sachs (p. 163). A few paces to the right (N.E.) of Dürer's grave is that of Wenzel Jamnitzer (d. 1585; No. 665), with a fine epitaph by Jost Amman. In the row in front lie the painter Anselm Feuerbach (d. 1880; No. 715) and A. von Essenwein (p. 166; No. 720). Eight rows to the W. of Dürer, in the direction of the church, rests Veit Stoss (d. 1533; No. 268), and farther on lies the popular poet Grübel (p. 163; No. 200). Four rows farther to the N.W., opposite St. John's church, is Pannofeltner's grave (d. 1679), with a large bronze skull; and in the second row farther to the N.W., on the paved side-walk, a little to the right of the church, is that of Joachim von Sandrart the painter (d. 1688), with the order of the 'Fruit-Bringing Society'. -- The Gothic Church of St. John (11-15th cent.; opened by the town-sacristan, 30 pf.) contains a winged altar by the Master of the Tucher Altar (p. 156; on the left); the main altar is by Dürer's contemporary Wolf Traut.

The Western Cemetery (comp. Pl. A, 1; I), to the N.W., also in the Johannis suburb, has a fine portal by Hase (1879).

The most popular pleasure-ground at Nuremberg is the Stadt-Park (Pl. F, 1; I), on the N. side (restaurant; music, see p. 150; tramways Nos. 1, 3, and 5, p. 150), with a Schiller Monument by A. Hildebrand (1909).

f. Environs of Nuremberg. Fürth.

A tramway (No. 2, p. 150) runs to the S.E. from Nuremberg to Dutzendteich (Pl. I 5, I; Dutzendteich, Bellevue, and Walldust Restaurants), with a large pond for bathing and boating, gardens, etc. Thence a beautiful walk through wood leads viâ the Falzner Weiher (restaurant; water-shoot) and Schmausenbuck (1275 ft.; restaurant), with its view-tower (20 pf.), to Mögeldorf (station; see p. 322). — Near the Erlenstegen terminus of tramway No. 6 (p. 151) is the Platnersberg, an old town-park with garden-restaurant (fine views).

Excursion to the Nuremberg Switzerland, see p. 174.

For an excursion to Fürth (4½ M.) we may use either the state-railway (p. 116), the local Ludwigs-Bahn (p. 149; 12 min.; fares 20, 15, 10 pf.), or the tramway (No. 1, p. 150; from the Nuremberg central station to the Ludwigsbahn station at Fürth, 1½ hr.; fare 15 pf.).

Fürth (964 ft.; National, Pl. a, at the cor. of the Wein-Str. and Friedrich-Str., with café, R. 2-3, B. 1 H; Kütt, Pl. b, Friedrich-Str., both at the Ludwigsbahn station), a busy town with 60,600 inhab., vies with Nuremberg in its staple commodities of toys and fancy-articles, and possesses very extensive manufactories of gold-leaf and of mirrors. In front of the station of the State Railway is a Monumental Fountain, by Maison (1890). In the Hall-Platz is the Theatre, by Fellner & Helmer (1902). To the N.W. stands the modern Rathaus, with its lofty tower. The Gothic Church of St. Michael (14th cent.) contains a beautiful late-Gothic ciborium, 25 ft. high. The Rednitz, which joins the Pegnitz below the town to form the Regnitz, is crossed by a railway and a suspension bridge.

FROM FÜRTH TO KADOLZBURG, 8 M., local railway in 35 min. (fares 70, 40 pf.). — 2½ M. Alte Feste. At the Alte Feste (1184 ft.), on a wooded hill on the Rednitz, ½ M. to the W., the battle between Gustavus Adolphus and Wallenstein, which compelled the Swedish monarch to retreat, was fought on 4th Sept., 1632. Extensive view from the tower. The adjoining restaurant is a favourite resort of the Nurembergers. — The line proceeds viâ Zirndorf (brewery) to (8 M.) Kadolzburg (1746 ft.; Inn), a market-village with 1500 inhabitants. Leaving the station we turn to the right and then, almost at once to the left. After ¼ hr. we may either proceed to the left to (5 min.) the view-tower (141 ft. high; 10 pf.), passing the house of its keeper (right), or we may keep to the right, pass (2 min.) the old town-gate, and reach the old castle of the Burgraves of Nuremberg (now offices). The castle consists of the outer and inner castle, the latter including the old building (2nd half of the 15th cent.), the chapel, and the new building (after 1500).

FROM NUREMBERG TO ESCHENAU, 12 M., railway in 1 hr. The trains start from the N.E. Station (bey. Pl. F, 1; I). — 8½ M. Kalchreuth (1361 ft.; Müller), with 950 inhab. and a 15th cent. church containing a ciborium from A. Kraft's workshop (early 16th cent.). View from the tower of the foothills of the Jura. — 12 M. Eschenau (1119 ft.; Schwan). To Erlangen or Gräfenberg, see p. 126.

26. From Nuremberg to Eger by Schnabelwaid.

91 M. RAILWAY in 3¼-5¼ hrs. (express to Prague in 9 hrs.).

Nuremberg, see p. 149. Soon after leaving the station the train diverges to the left from the lines to Ratisbon and Amberg, and crosses the Pegnitz-Tal by means of a long embankment and several bridges to (2¼ M.) Nuremberg East Station. It then skirts the hills on the N. side of the Pegnitz-Tal, running parallel with the Amberg railway (p. 322) on the S. side, ½-1¼ M. off. — 8 M. Rückersdorf (3 M. to the N. is the Ludwigshöhe, a summer-resort with view-tower); 10¼ M. Lauf (Rail. Restaurant), with a château, on the Pegnitz (½ M. to the S. is the station of the Amberg line, p. 322). — 12½ M. Schnaittach.

Branch-line to the N. viâ (3 M.) Markt Schnaittach, with the ruin of Rottenberg (1825 ft.; view) rising above it, to (6 M.) Simmelsdorf-Hüttenbach.

15 M. Reichenschwand, at the base of the Hansgörgl-Berg (see below), with a château and park.

The Michelsberg (1120 ft.), ascended from the right bank station in ¼ hr., affords a survey of the town and district. A still finer point of view is the Hansgörgl-Berg (1975 ft.), 1 hr. from Reichenschwand (see above), or 1¼ hr. from Hersbruck. On the top is a pavilion.

At (20¼ M.) Hohenstadt the line turns to the N. and enters the narrow and tortuous Upper Pegnitz-Tal; to the right, prettily situated at the mouth of the Hirschbach-Tal, lies the summer-resort of Eschenbach (1140 ft.), with a Schloss. — We cross the Pegnitz twice, and pass Alfalter on the left. 25 M. Vorra (1160 ft.); ¼ M. up the valley lies Astelshofen (Hirsch), in a picturesque situation. — Then five bridges and two short tunnels. — 27¼ M. Rupprechtstegen (1184 ft.; Inn 'Zur Fränkischen Schweiz', with a huge lime-tree), the centre of the 'Nuremberg Switzerland'. The imposing Kur-Hôtel Rupprechtstegen* (pens. 5-6 M), pleasantly situated on the slope to the left, is a favourite resort in summer.

The Anka-Tal, to the W., with its beautiful woods and picturesque groups of rocks (e.g. the Andreas-Kirche), affords a pleasant walk. The path then crosses a lofty plain to ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the ruin of Hohenstein (2080 ft.), rising above the village of that name (Inn zur Felsburg); fine view from the wooden belvedere (key at the village). — Walk to the E. to the (1 hr.) ruin of Hartenstein (1815 ft.), mentioned in the 'Parzival' of Wolfram von Eschenbach.

Ten bridges and five tunnels in rapid succession. The walk through the Pegnitz-Tal to Velden is interesting. — 29 M. Velden, a picturesquely-situated town (1235 ft.; Krone), with an ancient gate, lies $1\frac{1}{3}$ M. to the N.W. of the station. The valley now expands. 31 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Neuhans an der Pegnitz (Rossbach's Inn, at the station, R. 1-1 $\frac{1}{4}$ M.), commanded by the watch-tower of the old castle of Veldenstein (1423 ft.) on a lofty conical hill.

Near the village of Krottensee (Zur Grotte), $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the E., is the Maximilians-Grotte, a large stalactite grotto (adm. 1 pers. 75 pf., 2 pers. 1 M., etc.; guide necessary; magnesium wire 75 pf. extra). The most beautiful part is called the 'Crystal Palace'.

We cross and recross the Pegnitz several times. — 41 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Pegnitz (1380 ft.; Lamm; Ross), a little town on the Pegnitz, which rises at Lindenhardt, 9 M. to the N. (diligence twice daily in 3 $\frac{3}{4}$ hrs. viâ Pottenstein to Gössweinstein, p. 148). — The train now ascends to (46 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Schnabelwaid (1466 ft.).

BRANCH RAILWAY TO BAYREUTH (11 M.) viâ (31 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Kreussen, an old town in the valley of the Rote Main, noted for its earthenware, and (6 M.) Neuenreuth. 11 M. Bayreuth (see p. 138).

The train turns to the E., and near (49 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Engelmannsreuth (1610 ft.) passes through the watershed between the Pegnitz and the Naab by a cutting 875 yds. long. Beyond (53 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Vorbach the Hard is penetrated by a tunnel of 490 yds.

58 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Kirchenlaibach (1510 ft.; Rail. Restaurant), the junction for the Neuenmarkt and Weiden line (p. 141). The train pursues a N.E. direction. — Near (63 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Immenreuth it crosses the Haidenaab by a bridge 56 ft. high, and at Oberwappenöst (1900 ft.) it passes under the watershed between the Haidnaab and the Fichtelnaab by a tunnel of 930 yds. The valley of the latter stream is crossed near Riglasreuth by an iron viaduct 130 ft. high.

— 70 M. Nensorg (1827 ft.); branch hence to (9 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Fichtelberg, see p. 143. Near Langenteilen the watershed between the Naab and the Röslau is pierced by another long tunnel ($1\frac{1}{2}$ M.). 75 M. Waldershof (1805 ft.); 2 hrs. to the W. is the Kösseine (p. 145..

77 M. Markt-Redwitz (1765 ft.; Anker, at the station, R. 1 $\frac{3}{4}$ -2 $\frac{1}{2}$ M., B. 80 pf.; Kaiserhof), a busy little town on the Kösseine, junction of the line from Hof to Wiesau (p. 210).

The line now crosses the Röslau twice. Before reaching (88 $\frac{1}{2}$ M., Mühlbach we enter Austrian territory. The train now follows the Eger, intersects the plateau to the S. of Eger at a depth of 56 ft., and enters the station of (94 M.) Eger (see p. 119).

27. From Nuremberg to Augsburg.

105 M. Railway in 6 hrs. fares 10 M 50, 6 M 70, 4 M 30 pf. — The express-trains run viâ Treuchtlingen and Donauwörth, without touching Nördlingen.

Nuremberg, see p. 149. Thence to 27 M. Pleinfeld Rail. Restaurant, the junction of the line to Munich viâ Treuchtlingen, see p. 127.

37 M. Gunzenhausen 795 ft.; Rail. Restaurant, on the Altmühl, junction of the Würzburg and Munich line — see p. 206. Beyond 42 M. Kronheim the line reaches the Wörnitz. From 46 M. Wassertrüdingen Sonne an excursion may be made to the Hesselberg 2270 ft.; rfmts. in fine weather, a spur of the Jura. 51 $\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the N.W., with prehistoric dykes and moats — extensive view. — 54 M. Oettingen, a small town with 2900 inhab., on the Wörnitz, residence of the Prince of Oettingen-Spielberg. — The train quits the Wörnitz. Beyond 57 M. Dürrenzimmer, the Ip p. 37 becomes conspicuous on the W. The village on the right near Nördlingen is Wallerstein (p. 177), with a ruined castle.

62 M. Nördlingen 1410 ft.: Krone, Pl. a. B 2, in the Holzmarkt, R. 1³ $\frac{1}{4}$ 3, B. 3 $\frac{1}{4}$ 4 M ; Bahnhof-Hotel, Pl. b. D 2; Railway Restaurant, on the Eger, formerly an imperial town, is still surrounded with walls and towers. Pop. 8500. From the Railway Station Pl. D, 2 we turn to the right, then proceed to the left through the Deininger-Tor, pass the old Corn Exchange (1606), and reach the 10 min. Rüben-Markt Pl. B, 2. Here stands a tasteful war monument in the form of a fountain by Wrba 1902; Pl. 2. The Gothic Church of St. George Pl. B, 2; sexton, Pfarrgasse A 6, opposite the S. side, was erected in 1427-1505, and remodelled in 1877-87. Adjoining the baroque high-altar (1683) is a fine wood-carved Crucifixion of the end of the 15th cent.; on the wall behind are paintings of the School of Herlin. The church also contains a late-Gothic ciborium (1511-25), a stone pulpit (1499), and a curious winding staircase to the organ-loft. In the baptistery, adjoining the N. aisle, is a Pietà by Schäufelein (1521). The tower (290 ft. high; 365 steps commands an extensive prospect of the Ries p. 178, with the Ip p. 37 rising to the W. centr. at the N.W. corner; small fee to the fire-watchers at the top). A little to the N. is the late-Gothic Rathaus (Pl. B, 2), with a fine covered staircase of 1618 at the S.E. corner. On the upper floor is the Municipal Museum (always open), containing a large mural painting by Schäufelein (Judith and Holofernes: 1515), other pictures by Schäufelein (four *Wings of an altar, F. Herlin, and others, autographs, coins, and local antiquities. In the grounds to the S.W. of the railway-station is a bronze bust of the poet Melchior Meyr (d. 1871), author of 'Erzählungen aus dem Ries'. Visitors should walk round the pro-ted passage on the well-preserved town-walls (14-15th cent.), the imposing gate-towers of which are by Wolf Waldberger (d. 1613). — During the Thirty Years' War the Imperial General Ferdinand of Hungary gained a signal victory a little to the S. of Nördlingen over the Swedes under Bernhard of Weimar and Horn, 6th Sept., 1634.

A branch-railway runs from Nördlingen viâ (10 M.) Wildbad Wenning, with a sulphurous spring, to (10½ M.) Wemding (1480 ft.; Kreuz, a little town on the Dosbach).

Railway from Nördlingen to Stuttgart, see R. 7.

FROM NÖRDLINGEN TO DOMBÜHL, 33½ M., railway in 2-3¼ hrs. — 2¼ M. Wallerstein, with a large ruined castle, and a cliff commanding a fine view. — About 1 M. to the E. of (5½ M.) Marktöffingen lies Maihingen, formerly a convent, with the valuable library and collections of Prince Oettingen-Wallerstein (shown on application to the steward; fee). — 14 M. Wilburgstetten, 1½ M. to the E. of which is Weiltingen, the residence of the extinct Dukes of Württemberg-Weiltingen in 1650-1705, but incorporated with Bavaria in 1810. In the woods between Wilburgstetten and Weiltingen the Limes (p. 197) is in good preservation.

18½ M. Dinkelsbühl (1460 ft.; see Plan, p. 176; Goldue Kanne, Pl. a, B 2, R. & B. from 2½ M.; Goldue Rose, Pl. b, B 2, R. 1¾-2½, B. ¾, D. 1½-2 M., both well spoken of), an old imperial town with 4650 inhab., on the Wörnitz, on a flat site, partly surrounded with water. Situated, like Rotenburg (p. 199), on the ancient road between Augsburg and Würzburg, Dinkelsbühl, with its well-preserved walls and towers of the 15th cent., its moats, and its gabled houses, presents an unusually complete view of a mediæval town. From the Railway Station (Pl. D, 2) we proceed to the right, enjoying a good view of the town, cross the Wörnitz, and pass through the Wörnitz-Tor (Pl. C, 2). This leads us to the market-place, in which are a modern Fountain (Pl. 1) and a monument to Christoph von Schmid (1768-1854; Pl. 3, B 2), a popular writer for the young, who was a native of the town. The late-Gothic Church of St. George* (Pl. B, 2), built in 1448-92, is the finest church of its type in S. Germany. It contains a ciborium of 1498, and old carved altars. The tower (190 ft.) affords a fine view (key kept by the sexton at No. 50, on the N. side of the church). On the W. side of the place is the Deutsche Haus (Pl. B, 2), a fine timbered structure of the 17th cent., now an inn. The collections of the Historical Society are partly at No. 73, Rotenburger-Str. (key kept by the porter of the hospital in the court to the left, Pl. B 1) and partly in the old sacristy of the Dreikönigs-Kapelle adjoining the Segringer-Tor (Pl. A, 2; key in the shop to the left). Both collections are open daily, 9-4 (adm. 20 pf.). A very interesting *Walk (1 hr.) may be made round the old town-walls, the most picturesque parts of which are those at the Stadt-Park (Pl. A, 1) and the Stadt-Mühle (Pl. C, D, 3; 1490). — On the third Mon. in July a popular festival, known as 'Die Kinderzeche', is held in the Schraune (Pl. B, 2) and at the Old Rathaus (Pl. B, C, 2), commemorating the escape of the town from pillage by the Swedes in 1632.

26 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Feuchtwangen (Post), a small and ancient town of 2400 inhab., with a Gothic abbey and a local museum. — 33 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Dombühl, see p. 34.

Beyond Nördlingen (p. 176) we enter the Ries, a fertile tract, doubtless once the bed of a lake; eruptive and volcanic rocks occur on its margins. 72 M. Harburg, a little town of 1480 inhab., with a well-preserved castle, picturesquely perched on a rock. The train again follows the fertile valley of the winding Wörnitz.

79 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Donauwörth (1322 ft.; Krebs, by the bridge), an old town on the Danube, has 4700 inhabitants. From the Railway Station we at first follow a straight direction, then (after 2 min.) turn to the right and pass through the Rieder-Tor to the (9 min.) Rathaus. The Reichs-Str. leads hence to the left, passing (4 min.; 1.) the Gothic Parish Church (1444-67), with a fine ciborium in its choir (1503). About 3 min. to the W. of the church lies the suppressed Benedictine Abbey of the Holy Cross, which now contains the Cassianum, an institution for the improvement of Roman Catholic education, with a boys' school, a library of 70,000 vols., various collections, and a printing and publishing office. In the baroque Abbey Church (1722) is the sarcophagus (early 14th cent.) of the ill-fated Mary of Brabant, consort of Duke Lewis of Bavaria, by whose order she was beheaded in 1256 on a groundless suspicion of infidelity.

FROM DONAUWÖRTH TO NEU-OFFINGEN, 27 $\frac{1}{2}$ M., railway in 1 $\frac{1}{3}$ hr. (to Ulm in 2-3 hrs.). The line turns to the S.W. and traverses the valley of the tortuous Danube. — 9 M. Blindeheim or Blenheim; 12 M. Höchstädt. Each of these names recalls more than one fiercely contested battle. Here in 1083 Guelph I. of Bavaria was defeated and deprived of his duchy by Emp. Henry IV. In 1703 Elector Max Emmanuel of Bavaria and Marshal Villars gained a victory at Höchstädt over the Imperial troops under Count Styrum; but the Elector and Marshal Tallard were signally defeated, at Blenheim, by Prince Eugene and the Duke of Marlborough, on 13th Aug., 1704. Nearly a century later, on 19th June, 1800, the Austrians under Kray engaged the French under Moreau at Höchstädt. — 16 M. Dillingen (Bayrischer Hof, R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -3 M., B. 70 pf.), a thriving town of 6200 inhab., was formerly the seat of a university (1554-1804). The old château once belonged to the bishops of Augsburg. There are some good buildings in the main street. Branch-line to Aalen, see p. 37. — 19 M. Lauingen (1123 ft.; Drei Mohren, R. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -2, B. 60 pf.), a busy town of 4100 inhab., the residence during the middle ages of the Bavarian dukes of Pfalz-Neuburg, whose burial-vault is below the Roman Catholic church. The isolated Hof-Turm, 180 ft. high, in sixteen stories, was erected in 1178. A bronze statue (by F. von Miller) of the celebrated scholar Albertus Magnus (Count Albert of Bollstädt; 1193-1280), a native of Lauingen, stands in the market-place. At Fäiningen, 1 M. to the W., at the junction of the Brenz and the Danube, are a Roman castrum and other remains. — 23 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Gundelfingen, a small town (2830 inhab.) on the Brenz. — The

Augsburg (1625 ft.), with 98,600 inhab. (⅓ Prot.), the Roman Augusta Vindelicorum, situated at the confluence of the Wertach and the Lech, is one of the most important towns in S. Germany. Elaborate Renaissance structures give the town its chief architectural stamp and recall its former importance. Its beautiful fountains are celebrated, and some of the gates of the old fortifications are still extant (see pp. 181, 185). Its abundant water-power, utilized by canals traversing the town, has given rise to various industries (weaving, cotton-spinning, machine-factories, chiefly outside the town).

Augusta Vindelicorum was founded as a military colony about 15 B.C. and soon attained commercial importance. In the middle ages (from 1268) Augsburg was a free imperial city, and the great centre of the traffic between N. Europe, Italy, and the Levant. It reached the height of its prosperity in the 15th and 16th centuries, and several of its citizens enjoyed princely wealth and power. Three daughters of Augsburgers were married to princes: Clara von Detten to Elector Frederick the Victorious of the Palatinate; Agnes Bernauer, the beautiful daughter of a barber, to Duke Albert III. of Bavaria (p. 325); and Philippina Welser to Archduke Ferdinand of Austria. Bartholomew Welser, another citizen, fitted out a squadron to take possession of Venezuela, which had been assigned to him as a pledge by Emp. Charles V. The Fugger family raised themselves within a century from the condition of poor weavers to that of the wealthiest merchants at Augsburg, or perhaps in Europe. They were the Rothschilds of their age, and like them ennobled; and they frequently replenished the exhausted coffers of the emperors Maximilian I. and Charles V. — At Augsburg Charles V. held the diet of 1530, at which the Protestant princes presented to the Emperor and the estates the 'Augsburg Confession', a reformed creed framed by Melancthon; while the diet of 1555, by which a religious peace was concluded, was also held here by his brother Ferdinand, acting as the imperial representative. The delivery of the Confession took place in a hall of the episcopal palace, which later on became a royal residence (p. 181). — Hans Holbein the Elder and Hans Burgkmair flourished at Augsburg about 1500; comp. also p. xxii.

The principal street is the broad Maximilian-Strasse (Pl. C, 4, 5), between the Maximilian-Platz and the Ludwigs-Platz, with its continuation, the Karolinen-Strasse (Pl. C, 3). At the N. end of the latter rises the Cathedral (Pl. B, C, 2, 3), an irregular Gothic pile, originally a Romanesque basilica, begun in 995, consecrated in 1006, and altered in 1321-1431. It now consists of a nave with low vaulting, borne by square pillars, double aisles separated by slender columns with foliage-capitals, an E. and a W. choir, and a chevet of chapels. The curious bronze doors of the S. aisle contain representations of Adam and Eve, the Serpent, Centaurs, etc., in thirty-five sections (11th cent.). The N. and S. portals of the E. choir, with sculptures of the 14th cent., are also remarkable.

INTERIOR. The W. choir contains an episcopal throne in marble, resting on two lions (12th cent.), and a Gothic reredos of brass (1447). In the nave hangs a fine brass candelabrum of ca. 1500. The pulpit and the high-altar in the E. choir are modern and richly carved in the Gothic style. Fine stained glass, ancient and modern; the S. windows of the nave (11th cent.) are among the oldest in existence. The *Altarpieces of the first four side altars are by Holbein the Elder (1493; scenes from the Life of the Virgin); those of the other four belong to the School of Zeitblom. In the ambulatory, in the Chapel of St. Wolfgang (1st on the left), is a fine altar-piece by Christoph Amberger (Madonna and Child and angels, with SS. Ulrich and Afra on the wings: 1554). The choir-chapels, containing the tombs of many bishops, are separated from the choir by tasteful iron screens. The fine late-Gothic cloisters on the N. side (1479-1510) contain tombstones, some of them very old; entr. through house D 110, by the N. portal. The same approach serves for the old hall of the chapter, containing the Episcopal Museum. The collections, including ecclesiastical vestments and vessels (some of the Romanesque period), the helmet and sword of Charles V., paintings, miniatures, etc., are about to be transferred to the Maximilian Museum (p. 182).

To the W. of the cathedral, in the Fronhof, with its War Monument by Zumbusch (1876), is the Royal Palace (Pl. B, 2, 3), now government-offices; to the E., in the Karolinen-Platz, is the Episcopal Palace (Pl. C, 3). To the W. of the Fronhof stands the Heiligkreuz-Kirche (Pl. A, B, 3), used both by Roman Catholics and Protestants. The Roman Catholic part of the building, dating from 1502, but remodelled in the baroque style in 1716-19, contains (at a side-altar to the N.) an Assumption by Rubens (studio-piece, ca. 1625). — A little to the S.E., in the old Von Stetten house, are the Natural History Collections (Pl. B, 3), the first floor containing those of palæontology, mineralogy, ethnology, and botany, while the second floor is devoted to zoology. The collections are open in summer 10-1 & 2-5, in winter 10-12 & 2-4 (closed on Sat. and Sun., in the afternoon); adm. 30 pf.

At the S. end of the Karolinen-Str. is the LUDWIGS-PLATZ (Pl. C, 3, 4), usually called 'Eiermarkt' or 'Am Perlach', the busiest part of the city. In the centre of it rises the Fountain of Augustus* (Pl. 1; C, 3), the founder of the city, whose statue was cast by the Dutch master Gerhard in 1589-94. On the right is the Exchange; on the left the Perlach-Turm (256 ft. high; Pl. 7, C 3), originally erected as a watch-tower, heightened in 1615 and converted into a belfry, and now a fire-station (fine view from the top; entr. at the N.W. angle. — To the E. of the Perlach-Turm is the METZG-PLATZ, adjoining which on the N. is the Metzg (Pl. C, 3), the Butchers' House, erected in 1609 by Elias Holl. Farther to the E. rises the Barfüsser-Kirche (Pl. C, 3; Prot.), remodelled ca. 1398 and 1723. It contains pictures by S. German masters of the 17th and 18th cent. and an excellent organ. — The Jakober-Strasse, the E. continuation of the Barfüssergasse, is an admirable example of a mediæval street. It ends at the Jakober-Tor (Pl. E, 3). To the right is the entrance to the Fuggerei (Pl. D, 4), a separate quarter of Augsburg founded by Jakob Fugger 'the Rich' (d. 1519) in 1519, closed by its own gates, and consisting of fifty-three small houses for indigent citizens. The St. Jakobs-Kirche (Pl. D, 3) contains a picture of the Annunciation by an Upper German master (beginning of the 16th cent.).

The Rathaus (Pl. C, 4), a handsome Renaissance edifice with no exterior ornamentation, was erected in 1615-20 by Elias Holl. On the gable in front is a large pine-cone in bronze, the heraldic emblem of the city. The lower vestibule contains an eagle (1606) and busts of Roman emperors. An antechamber on the first floor, borne by eight columns of red marble, has a fine wooden ceiling and a statue of Chr. von Schmid (d. 1854; see p. 177), the educational writer. On the second floor is the Golden Hall*, 108 by 56 ft., and 46 ft. in height, one of the finest halls in Germany, with baroque decorations recalling those of the Doge's palace at Venice and with mural and ceiling paintings by Kager (after designs by Peter Candid). The adjoining Fürstenzimmer also have fine wooden ceilings, wall-panelling, and artistic stoves. Visitors are admitted to all these rooms on the second floor daily, 8-12 & 1-6 (in winter 9-12 & 1-4), on Sun. 12-1 & 2-5 (Oct.-May 10-12); fee for 1-2 pers. 50 pf., 3 or more 25 pf. each (free on the first Sun. in the month). — On the third floor is a collection of models of buildings and machines (open on week-days, 8-12; on the first Sun. in the month 10-12; gratuity).

At the S.W. angle of the Ludwigs-Platz begins the Philippine-Welser-Strasse (Pl. C, 4), in which a Statue of Joh. Jak. Fugger (1516-1575) was erected in 1857. To the E. of the monument is the handsome house in which Philippina Welser lived from 1530 to 1550 (now the 'Deutsche Bank'; Pl. 8, C 4). — To the W. is the Maximilian Museum (Pl. B, 4), accommodated in the Boeck House (1544-46) and containing the collections of the Historical Society and of the City of Augsburg. Visitors are admitted on week-days, except Mon., 9-1 & 2-5 (in winter 10-1 & 2-4), on Sun. 9-1 (10-1); fee 50 pf., on Sun. 20 pf., at other times 1 M (free on the first and third Sun. in the month). On the groundfloor are Roman and mediæval sculptures. On the first floor are the prehistoric and Roman antiquities (Vestibule); Augsburg gold and silver ware (E. Central Saloon); objects in pewter and porcelain (adjoining rooms to the left and right); a collection of coins (over 11 000; N. Wing); a reproduction of a Gothic guild-room, arms and armour (W. Wing); copies of painted façades in Augsburg (at one time very numerous), paintings by Christoph Amberger (Conrad Peutinger and his wife) and Lucas Cranach (S. Wing). On the second floor are original models of buildings by Elias Holl (p. 181), mathematical instruments and globes, locksmith's work, earthenware, majolica, and glass, drawings and paintings by Augsburg masters, etc. Episcopal Collection, see p. 181.

In the neighbouring St. Anna-Strasse is the church of St. Anna (Pl. B, 4; Prot.), founded in 1321 and altered in the late-Gothic style in 1487-97, with a central part altered to the Renaissance style.

INTERIOR (sexton, St. Anna-Platz D 227). The nave contains a fine pulpit of 1682. In the Gothic E. choir are some paintings: altar-piece (Jesus receiving little children), and portraits of Luther and Elector John Frederick of Saxony, by Cranach the Younger; the Wise and Foolish Virgins, by Amberger (1560); Feeding of the four thousand, by Rottenhammer; Christ in Hades, by Burgkmair the Younger (1531). To the left of the altar is a fine relief in stone of the Raising of Lazarus (16th cent.). At the W. end is the elaborate burial-chapel of the Fugger family, the earliest Renaissance architectural monument in Germany, built by Jakob Fugger the Rich (p. 181) in 1509-12, in a Venetian style. The large stone reliefs behind its high-altar (Samson and the Philistines, Resurrection) are based on drawings by Dürer. The paintings on the wings of the large organ are perhaps by Burgkmair the Younger. On the N. side of the E. choir is the Goldsmiths' Chapel, with frescoes of the 15-16th centuries. — Numerous tombstones in the cloisters. — The church belonged to the Carmelite monastery of which Luther was an inmate in 1518, when he refused to recant at the summons of Cajetan, the Papal Legate.

We return hence to the Maximilian-Strasse (p. 180), where there are two fountains, the Mercury and the Hercules (Pl. 4 & 3; C, 4, 5), by Adr. de Vries, erected in 1599 and 1602. Opposite the former is the Church of St. Maurice (Pl. C, 4), an edifice of the 15th cent., decorated in the baroque style in 1714 and containing some interesting tombstones. — On the right is the Fuggerhaus (Pl. C, 4), the property of Prince Fugger von Babenhausen, adorned with frescoes (history of Augsburg) by F. Wagner in 1860-63. The Drei Mohren hotel (p. 179), with a façade of 1722, was formerly one of the Fugger houses.

In the Zeng-Platz (No. B 208), at the corner of the Apotheker-gässchen, is the entrance to the Fugger Museum, which is installed in the so-called Fugger Bath Rooms, sumptuously decorated rooms in the Italian Renaissance style, fitted up in 1570-73 for Hans Fugger by Fried. Sustris and Ant. Ponzano, and once used for a library. The museum contains the art-treasures of the family of Fugger-Babenhausen, and is open on week-days 10-12 and 2-4, on Sun. 10-12 (on application to the attendant in Prince Fugger's estate office; 1 M).

Room I. In the middle, arms and armour, including a sumptuous shield in embossed Augsburg work. — Room II. Glass cases with ecclesiastical vessels (including a Byzantine Crucifix of the 10th cent.; golden vessels of Augsburg work: Case 2 contains a painted wooden relief by Hans Daucher (1515), and a wooden medallion with a portrait of George Fugger (1557). In Case 3 is a bronze door-knocker by Hub. Gerhard (p. 181). By the right wall are coins and medals, cast by the Fuggers from metal found in their own mines. — Room III. Fire-arms, glass, and other objects.

Opposite is the Arsenal (Pl. B, C, 4), an imposing edifice with a Renaissance façade by Elias Holl (p. 181; 1602-7). Above the portal is a bronze group, by Reichel, of St. Michael smiting Satan (1607).

At the S. end of the Maximilian-Strasse are the two churches of St. Ulrich (Pl. C, 5, 6), one Protestant, the other, the interesting old conventual Church of St. Ulrich and St. Afra*, Roman Catholic. The lofty nave of the latter was erected in 1467-99 by Burkard Engelberger, and in 1500 the foundation of the choir was laid by Emp. Maximilian I. The pentagonal porch of the N. portal was added in 1881. The tower (269 ft.), completed in 1594, commands a fine view (entr. in the Peter-Kötzer-Gasse; ticket, 20 pf., obtained at the shop opposite, No. A 234).

INTERIOR (always open). The nave and aisles are shut off by a highly elaborate iron screen, of 1712, which when seen from the choir produces a striking effect of perspective. The Fugger Chapel, between the 2nd and 3rd pillar on the left, with its fine iron railing of 1588, contains the *Tomb of Hans Fugger (1598), a marble sarcophagus with recumbent figure by A. Colin of Malines, transferred from Schloss Kirchheim in 1877; also an altar with fine early-German carvings (16th cent.). In the chapel of St. Bartholomew (left aisle) is a Roman sarcophagus, said to be that of St. Afra. The three handsome baroque altars date from 1601-7. Below that to the right is a vault with the marble sarcophagus (18th cent.) of Bishop Ulrich (10th cent.), patron of the see of Augsburg. In the S. aisle, the fine screens of the chapels are adorned with lattice-work (16th cent.). Finely carved confessionals of the beginning of the 18th century. In the nave is a Crucifixion in bronze by Reichel and Neidhardt (1605). The 16th cent. paintings above the choir-stalls represent the foundation of the choir and the procession of the emperor and estates. The large organ (1903) is played at the chief services and on Frid., 11-12. — The sacristy, in the Renaissance style, contains good stained glass by Holbein the Elder and some valuable reliquaries. A winding stair ascends to the so-called 'Schnecken-Kapelle', containing a Gothic altar (1570, and some old pictures.

To the W. of the Hercules Fountain opens the Katharinengasse, at the corner of which stands the Schützler-Palais (Pl. C, 5; numbered B 16, with a fine rococo hall of 1770 (opened by the steward; fee.

In the Katharinengasse is situated the Royal Picture Gallery (Pl. B, C, 5), in the old church of St. Catharine. The collection is chiefly interesting for its early-German masters, in particular for the works of Hans Holbein the Elder and H. Burgkmair, whose names mark the zenith of art in Augsburg (beginning of 16th cent.). Many of the pictures are from suppressed churches and convents. The gallery is open free on week-days 9-1 (Wed. & Sat. also 2-4) and on Sun. and holidays 10-1 & 2-4; catalogue (1905) 50 pf.

Ratisbon, Germ. Regensburg (1115 ft.), situated at the confluence of the Danube and Regen, with 48,500 inhab. (6000 Prot.), the Regina Castra of the Romans, the Celtic Rat'shona, and since the 8th cent. the seat of an episcopal see founded by St. Boniface, was from the 11th to the 14th cent. one of the most flourishing and populous cities of S. Germany. At an early period it was a free town of the Empire, and from 1663 to 1806 the permanent seat of the Imperial Diet. In 1803 it was adjudged to the Primate Dalberg; and in 1810 it became Bavarian, after the disastrous defeat of the Austrians beneath its walls the preceding year, when part of the town had been reduced to ashes.

Of the extant remains of Regina Castra, which occupied a rectangle 585 yds. long by 480 yds. broad, the most important are the Porta Praetoria and a considerable fragment of the walls preserved in the garden of the Vereinshaus St. Erhard (p. 189). The foundations of an earlier Roman building, dating from the reign of Domitian (81-96 A.D.), were excavated in 1885 to the W. of the railway station. During the construction of the station (1870-71) and in the Straubinger-Strasse (Pl. F. 3) Roman and German graves were discovered, the objects found in which are now in the museum of the Historical Society.

The oldest Christian structures in Ratisbon date back to the late Carolingian period, and for the student of the art-history of the early middle ages Ratisbon is almost as important as Nuremberg is for the study of the subsequent centuries (comp. also p. xix). The Adelsburgen (Geschlechterhäuser), or mansions of the old patrician families, with their towers of defence, dating from the 13th cent., are a reminiscence of early-German civic life now preserved at Ratisbon alone. The town-wall was pulled down in 1858-68, with the exception of three of the gateways — the Prebrunn-Tor, St. Emmerams-Tor, and Osten-Tor.

The traffic of the town centres in the DOM-PLATZ (Pl. C, 2) and the Dom-Freiheit, to the S.E., in which is an equestrian Statue of Lewis I., by Fr. von Miller (1902).

The Cathedral (Pl. D, 2), dedicated to St. Peter, was begun by Bishop Leo Thundorffer on the site of an earlier edifice in 1275, and completed during the following centuries (down to 1524), with the exception of the towers. The material is greenish-yellow sandstone from Kapfelberg (p. 195). Of the architects employed the best-known are Konrad Roritzer (after 1450) and his sons Matthaeus and Wolfgang (d. 1514). The W. façade, with the chief portal and a curious triangular porch, is due to M. Roritzer (1482-86). The elegant open-work *Towers (331 ft. high) were completed in 1859-69 by Denzinger. A gallery, with open stone balustrade, is carried round the roof, and affords a good survey of the town. On the N. side of the transept rises the Eselsturm, or Asses' Tower, a relic of the original Romanesque edifice, containing a winding inclined plane. Length of interior 275 ft., breadth 121 ft., height 98 ft. — Admission from 10 a.m. on week-days, from 11 a.m. on Sun., by the N.E. portal in the Domgarten; the sacristan's house is Domgarten 125, at the back of the choir. Good music on Sun. and festivals, 9-10.30 a.m.

Interior. The symmetrical proportions recall St. Urbain at Troyes or Strassburg Cathedral. Peculiarities of construction are that the transept does not project beyond the sides of the aisles, and that the choir is destitute of the ambulatory and chapels usual in Gothic churches. The choir has a triforium-gallery, which is continued round the entire church. The stained-glass windows in the transepts, the right aisle, and over the W. portal are modern.

NAVE. On the W. wall, next the portal, are early-Gothic equestrian statues of SS. Maurice and Martin (early 11th cent.). The late-Gothic pulpit (canopy modern) dates from 1482. The nave contains also the bronze monument of Bishop and Cardinal Philip (1579-98), son of Duke William of Bavaria. — In the AISLES are five Gothic altars with modern paintings, the finest in the N. aisle, with statues of Emp. Henry II. and Empress Kunigunde. In a niche in the N. aisle, partly concealed from view, is the monument of the Primate Prince Dalberg (d. 1817), designed by Canova, and executed in white marble. Opposite is the beautiful Renaissance tomb of Ursula Aquila (d. 1547).

CHOIR. On the N. side, to the left, is the bronze *Monument of Margaretha Tucher, by P. Vischer (1521), in the Renaissance style, representing Christ taking leave of Mary. The high-altar, presented in 1785 by Bishop Count Fugger, is entirely covered with silver plating; adjoining it is the elegant *Ciborium, 56 ft. in height, with numerous statuettes, begun in 1493 by M. Roritzer and completed in 1510-14 by his brother Wolfgang. The stained-glass windows date from the 13-14th centuries.

The RIGHT TRANSEPT contains the tomb of Bishop M. von Sailer (p. 191.), by K. Eberhard. By the portal is a well 66 ft. in depth, with an elegant covering sculptured in stone, executed in 1501 by Wolfgang Roritzer.

The TREASURY (shown by the sacristan) contains valuable church-plate, etc., including an early-Gothic *Altar Cross, originally in the possession of King Ottocar of Bohemia (d. 1278), a silver-gilt statuette of St. Sebastian (after 1500), and the 'rationale' of Bishop Berthold von Eichstatt (1351-65).

The Cloisters on the N.E. side of the cathedral (shown by the sacristan; fee 1/2 N) date in their present form mainly from the 14-16th centuries. The central hall contains beautifully-sculptured windows displaying a union of Gothic and Renaissance forms; the pavement is formed by the tombstones of canons and patricians of Ratisbon. — Adjoining this hall on the E. is the Romanesque All Saints' Chapel, erected in 1161, with the remains of early frescoes and an interesting Romanesque altar. — On the N. side of the cloisters is St. Stephen's Chapel, erroneously known as the Old Cathedral, probably built about the middle of the 11th cent. as the chapel of the Bischofshof (see below). It forms a vaulted rectangle, with apsidal recesses in the sides and the W. gallery. The early-Romanesque altar is a block of stone partly hollowed out, with elegant little round-arched windows, in which the relics of St. Wolfgang (p. 192) were formerly preserved. St. Michael's Chapel, on the S. side of the cloisters, has interesting vaulting.

On the N. side of the cathedral, next the Church of St. John, is the former Bischofshof (Pl. 8; C, D, 2), or Episcopal Palace, built about 975 by St. Wolfgang (p. 192), rebuilt in the 13th and 16th cent., and frequently occupied by the emperors on their visits to Ratisbon. — In the street 'Unter den Schwibbögen', built into the N. side of the Bischofshof, is the ancient PORTA PRÆTORIA (Pl. 7, D, 2; p. 186), of which the archway of massive limestone blocks and the E. tower (adjacent, to the left) are preserved.

Since 1821 the Bishop's Residence (Pl. D, 2) has been in the former nunnery of NIEDERMÜNSTER, between the above-mentioned street and the Domgarten, founded in the 9th century. The Parish Church, restored after the fire of 1152 and now almost entirely modernized, has a Romanesque portal in the vestibule and a Crucifixion (early 14th cent.). On the S. wall of the choir there is a good stone Madonna (14th cent.). — In the Niedermünstergasse, behind the church, is the early-Romanesque Chapel of St. Erhard (key kept by the caretaker of the R. C. Vereinshaus, p. 189; 30 pf.).

On the S. side of the Domgarten, just beyond the cathedral, is the Church of St. Ulrich or the Alte Pfarre (Pl. 1; D, 2), an early-Gothic rectangular building, with reminiscences of the Romanesque style (ca. 1250), surrounded by galleries. It contains the most important part (comp. p. 189) of the collections of the Historical Society (adm. all day in summer, 20 pf.; catalogue 30 pf.).

The NAVE is adorned with mural paintings of 1571. In front are sculptures of the Merovingian period (?), and mediæval sculptures and architectural fragments (3. Romanesque astrolabe from St. Emmeram's, ca. 1200; 157. Small stone figure from the Stone Bridge; 191. Catapult from a tower of defence). Farther on are Roman monuments in stone, dedication-stones (No. 12), sarcophagi, etc.; on the wall to the left are remains of the inscription on the Porta Principalis Dextra, of 179 A.D. In the GALLERIES are valuable prehistoric and Germanic objects from tombs, and W. side, Roman *Glass Mirrors, greaves, gold coins, etc.

At few paces to the S.E. of the church of St. Ulrich is the MOLTKE-PLATZ (Pl. D, 3; formerly the old corn-market). On the W. side are the Herzogshof (now occupied by officials; Pl. 6, mentioned as early as 988, and the so-called Römerturm, an early-mediæval tower with a Romanesque upper story; on the S. side, beside the Maximilian-Str., which leads to the railway station, is the Alte Kapelle (founded in the 9th cent.), originally a Romanesque church, with a Gothic choir (1441) and a detached belfry built of Roman freestone, modernized in the interior in 1748 in a sumptuous baroque style; on the E. side is the Carmelite Church (after 1660), in the Italian baroque style. — Beyond it, in the Minoriten-Platz, rises the Gothic Minorite Church, of the 13-14th cent., with a fine lofty choir. It is now used as a military gymnasium, and the adjacent monastery is now a barrack.

On the left side of the Kallmünzergasse, which diverges to the N. from the Minoriten-Platz, is the new Roman Catholic VEREINSHAUS ST. ERHARD, with a fine Gothic hall from the former Dollinger-Haus (ca. 1300., containing some curious reliefs (Dollinger's battle with the giant Krakó, etc.). On the upper floor are some of the collections (comp. above) of the Historical Society adm. Wed. & Sat. 11-12; apply to the society's attendant in St. Ulrich's church.

Near the entrance are old plans of Ratisbon (1614 and 1615). Farther to the left, Work in iron; instruments of torture; tilting-saddles of the Paulsdorfer family (15th cent.). Among the pictures: Lucas Cranach the Elder, Pieta; remains of frescoes (Susanna at the bath, Lovers, etc.) from a bathroom in the emperor's apartments at the Bischofshof (16th cent.); Alb. Altdorfer, David and Bathsheba, a winged altar-piece (1517); Mich. Ostendorfer, Altar-piece (1555) and Portrait (1533); three portraits of the Memminger family (1642). Also, fine stained glass (15-16th cent.); three stoves in the Empire style from the Elefanten-Apotheke, etc.

In the court are remains of the walls of Regina Castra (comp. p. 186).

From the N. end of the Kallmünzergasse the Ostengasse leads to the Osten-Tor (Pl. E, 3; 14th cent.) and the Royal Villa (Pl. E, F, 2, 3), the latter built in 1853, in the modern Gothic style, on an old bastion commanding a fine view. — In the Reichs-Str., beside the Church of St. Cecilia (Pl. F, 3), is a Roman Catholic School of Church Music.

A few paces to the N.W. of the Dom-Platz, in the street 'Beim Goliath' and in the Wat-Markt (Pl. C, 2), is situated the Thundorffer-Haus (reconstructed in 1897), with a fresco (David and Goliath) and an old tower of defence (Streit-Turm). — In the Wahlen-Str. (Pl. C, 2, 3), which runs to the S. from the adjacent coal-market, rises the Goldene Turm (175 ft.), the highest of the characteristic towers of Ratisbon. — In the opposite direction we reach the Fisch-Markt and (left) the quaint Kepler-Str. (Pl. C, 2), with the house (D 104, on the left) in which Kepler the astronomer (b. 1571) died in 1630. Adjacent is the Haus zum Pelikan (D 103), with a tower and an interesting courtyard.

The Rathaus (Pl. C, 2) is a picturesque, irregular pile. The older or W. portion, dating from the 14th cent., presents a Gothic façade towards the Rathaus-Platz, with an elegant oriel-window and a fine portal; the newer portion, extending to the coal-market, was erected in 1660-1723. Open daily (incl. Sun.) 8-12 & 2-6 (2-4 in winter); cards of admission (50 pf.) at the police guard-room (in the new wing).

The large Hall of the Imperial Diet, in which the German Parliament met from 1663 to 1806, contains frescoes by Boxberger (1573) and a wooden ceiling of 1408. The stained glass in the oriel exhibits the armorial bearings of Emp. Charles V. — The Fürsten-Collegium contains a model of the Walhalla. Here also is preserved some very valuable *Tapestry of the 14-16th cent.: Twenty-four pairs of lovers (14th cent.), Contest of the virtues and the vices (15th cent.), etc. — The Fürstliche Nebenzimmer contains old flags, portraits of patricians, the canopy under which Emp. Matthias entered Ratisbon in 1613, a rich collection of Ratisbon coins, etc. — In the Model Room are models of buildings in Ratisbon (incl. a model for the Kapelle zur schönen Maria, p. 193, showing a curious blending of Gothic and Renaissance forms, by Hans Hüber of Augsburg, 1519), guild antiquities, etc. — On the groundfloor are old cannon, two dungeons, the torture-chamber, with the judge's seat behind a lattice, and the condemned cell.

Farther to the W. is the HAID-PLATZ (Pl. C, 2), on the E. side of which (left) is the old Imperial Library, a building with towers, in which the religious disputation between Eck and Melancthon took place in 1541. On the N. side is the KRAFFT HOUSE* (formerly the Goldnes Kreuz Hotel; Pl. G. K.), with a massive tower of defence bearing a medallion-portrait of Don John of Austria (modern).

Don John of Austria, a natural son of Emp. Charles V. and Barbara Blomberg, was born at Ratisbon on 25th Feb., 1547 (d. 1578). Charles V. lodged, during the diet of 1546 (also previously in 1532 and 1511), at the house of Bernard Krafft (see above), but that Don John was born there is a fiction.

Going hence through the Ludwig-Str. to the Arnulfs-Platz, and turning to the left, past the Neue Haus with the Theatre (Pl. B, 2), we reach —

St. Jakobs-Kirche or the Schotten-Kirche (Pl. B, 3), a Romanesque basilica consecrated in 1110 and reconstructed about 1152-84. The North Portal is adorned with curious and fantastic sculptured figures of men and animals, perhaps symbolical of the rescue of souls from the Evil One; above are figures of Christ and the Twelve Apostles. The monastery, founded by Scottish (i.e.

Irish) monks, was suppressed in 1862 and is now a Seminary for Priests. — In the vicinity, outside the new Jakobs-Tor, is a richly carved Gothic Column of 1459.

To the N.W., in the former Westner suburb, are the Heiligkreuz-Kloster (Pl. A, 2; no adm.), a Dominican nunnery of the 12th cent., the Church of St. Leonard (Pl. A, 2; 13th cent.), with a good carved altar (1505), and the Prebrunn-Tor (13th cent.), in the garden of the Duchess of Wurtemberg's palace.

To the E. of St. Jakobs-Kirche is the BISMARCK-PLATZ (Pl. B, 3; formerly the Jakobs-Platz), on the S.E. side of which rises the early-Gothic Dominican Church (Pl. B, 3; St. Blasius), begun ca. 1260 but not completed till about 1400. By the central pillars to the left in the interior, which is notable for the elegance of its proportions, are the admirable tombstones of Jörg Schenk von Neideck (d. 1504; Gothic) and Fuchs von Schneeberg (d. 1526; Renaissance). The walls of the nave and aisles are adorned with frescoes of the beginning of the 14th century. The sacristan bell at the W. portal of the church, shows the Cloisters (15th cent.), the W. walk of which is adjoined by the Albertus-Kapelle, the so-called Schola Alberti Magni, in which Albert (p. 178), afterwards Bishop of Ratisbon (1260-62), is said to have lectured about 1235. It is really a lecture-room of the 15th cent., afterwards converted into a chapel, and contains an old professorial chair. The monastery now accommodates the Lyceum, with philosophical and theological faculties; the Collections of the Natural History Society (open Sun. 10-12 in summer), which are preserved here, include a noteworthy geological section.

THE GESANDTEN-STRASSE (Pl. B, C, 3) leads to the E. from the Bismarck-Platz to the Neupfarr-Platz (p. 193), passing on the right the Prot. DREIEINIGKEITS-KIRCHE (Trinity Church; 1627-31), consisting of a nave with massive barrel-vaulting and a lofty gable but without aisles or columns (key next door, C 91). Behind it, in the former graveyard, a number of interesting tombstones, including some of representatives to the imperial diet, are built into the wall (visible from the street).

The Bereiter-Weg leads to the S. from the Bismarck-Platz, passing the Präsidial-Gebäude (Pl. 4; B, 3), formerly the palace of the French ambassador, to the — EGIDIEN-PLATZ (Pl. B, 3), where is situated the Gothic Egidien-Kirche or St. Gilgen-Kirche of the 13-14th cent., till 1809 the church of the Teutonic Order. — The Marschall-Str. to the left leads thence past the Regierungs-Gebäude to the EMMERAMS-PLATZ (Pl. C, 3, embellished with a statue of Bishop M. von Sailer (d. 1832), in bronze, by M. Widmann (1868).

The old Benedictine abbey of St. Emmeram (Pl. C, 3, 4), one of the oldest in Germany, was founded in the 7th cent., and suppressed in 1803. The Romanesque church, with two choirs and crypts, was reconsecrated in 1052, rebuilt after the fires of 1163 and 1189, and modernized in 1731-33, largely in the baroque style. It is adjoined on the N. by the late-Gothic St. Rupert-Kirche (now a parish-church), which was completed in 1501. St. Emmeram's is open only during divine service; the bell for the sacristan (gratuity 50 pf.) is beside the belfry (restored in 1575-79).

In the ANTERIOR COURT, which occupies the site of the vestibule ('Paradise'), destroyed all but two bays, is a group of the Crucifixion (1513). — The DOUBLE PORTAL of the church, with two semicircular niches in an antique style, is adorned with stiff figures in relief of Christ and SS. Emmeram (left), and Dionysius (right); on Christ's footstool is the bust of the builder of the church, the Abbot Reginward (1049-61).

INTERIOR. The principal altar-piece is a painting by Joachim von Sandrart, representing the martyrdom of St. Emmeram (d. 715?). Two slabs in the pavement in front mark the tombs of the emperors Arnulf (887-899) and Lewis the Child (900-911). Beneath the high-altar is the silver sarcophagus of St. Emmeram (1123). — The chief objects of interest are the tombstones, which were mostly restored in the 13th & 14th centuries. Left aisle, beside the altar of St. Dionysius, *Tombstone of Empress Uta, wife of Arnulf; farther on, in front of the entrance to the St. Rupert-Kirche, the alleged grave of Count Warmund of Wasserburg (d. 1010); in the chapel to the left of the choir, Monuments of Duke Henry the Quarrelsome of Bavaria (d. 995), and *St. Aurelia (d. 1027), said to be a daughter of Hugh Capet (erected in 1335); opposite, at the entrance to the choir, Tombstone of Duke Arnulf (d. 937); in the chapel on the right of the choir, Large Gothic monument of St. Emmeram, in red marble; in the S. aisle, beside the altar of St. Calcedonius, *Monument of St. Wolfgang (d. 994; beneath an iron grating), and the simple tombstone of Bishop Tuto (d. 930). — The modernized E. crypt contains the stone coffin of the builder, St. Ramwold (975-1001). — The interesting W. crypt, with its double aisles, wall-niches, and columns, dates from 1052 and was restored in 1878. On the altar is a modern shrine, containing the relics of St. Wolfgang. In the central niche is an ancient stone seat, known as the Heinrichs-Stuhl.

The Residence of the Princes of Thurn and Taxis (Pl. B, C, 4), which has occupied the site of the abbey-buildings since 1812, encloses the fine Cloisters on the S. side of the church of St. Emmeram. The cloisters (open daily, 11-12), erected after 1250 in the transition style, with a fine N. portal and a modern-Gothic mausoleum (1835-41), are reached by turning to the right from the church, past the royal Reitbahn, or riding-school (with reliefs by Schwanthaler); then through a portal to the left into the large court, with the so-called Kaiserbrunnen (1694), and again to the left where we find the porter (gratuity 50 pf.).

The adjacent abbey-church of Obermünster (Pl. C, 3), a few paces to the S. of the Obermünster-Str., is a Romanesque basilica of the 11th cent., resembling St. Emmeram's, but like it completely remodelled in the baroque style with the exception of the detached belfry. It contains a Mount of Olives (1470) in the vestibule, a fine Renaissance altar (ca. 1540) in the N. aisle, and tombstones of abbesses in the S. aisle. The convent, till 1803 subject to the emperor alone, dated from the Carolingian period; it is now an episcopal School for Boys.

The Maler-Str. leads hence to the N., past the completely modernized church of St. Cassian, to the NEUPFARR-PLATZ (Pl. C, 3), constructed in 1519 on the site of the former Jewish quarter. In it stands the Protestant Neupfarr-Kirche, erected in 1519-40 as the 'Kapelle zur schönen Maria'. — We may return to the Dom-Platz, on the N.E., past the former residence of Prince Dalberg.

The Anlagen, or pleasure-grounds, laid out on the site of the old ramparts, are embellished with an Obelisk, erected in 1806 to the 'first founder', Prince Charles Anselm of Thurn and Taxis, the Prediger-Säule ('preacher's column'; Pl. D, 4), a Romanesque column of the 13th cent., a circular temple, erected in 1808, with a marble bust of Kepler (p. 190), and other monuments.

The Stone Bridge over the Danube (Pl. C, 2, 1; tramway, see p. 186), 350 yds. long and 23 ft. wide, with sixteen arches, dates from 1135-46 (?; the only remaining S. tower was restored in 1648 and was much admired in the middle ages. It connects Ratisbon with Stadt-am-Hof, an ancient Bavarian town on the left bank, which was destroyed by the Swedes in 1633, and almost entirely burned down by the Austrians in 1809. Below Stadt-am-Hof the Regen empties its turbid water into the Danube.

Pleasant walk across the stone bridge and to the N. through Stadt-am-Hof to the (20 min.) Dreifaltigkeitsberg, and then to the N.W. across the ravine to the (20 min.) Seidenplantage (restaurant; view, best by evening-light).

TO THE WALHALLA, a most attractive excursion (steam-tramway, motor-omnibus, or carriage, see p. 186). The WALHALLA-BAHN traverses Stadt-am-Hof, crosses the Regen, and intersects the railway at the station of Walhalla-Strasse (see below). Thence it crosses the plain of the Danube, viâ Schwabelweis and Tegernheim, to (5 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Donaustauf or Stauf (1079 ft.; Restaurant zur Walhalla, at the upper end). On a limestone rock above the long village rise the ruins of the castle of Stauf (1385 ft.; 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. from the tramway-station), said to have been founded by St. Tuto (p. 192) and destroyed by the Swedes in 1634, with pleasure-grounds (view finer than from the Walhalla). — The tramway skirts the S. side of the village. — 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Walhalla Station.

Two routes ascend from the station to the Walhalla. The one to the left, diverging to the W. (guide-post) from the highroad in 3 min., below the Salvator-Kirche, and running through wood (at first a carriage-road, then ascending in steps and by a footpath to the right, past the house of the custodian), is easier (12 min.) and preferable for the view suddenly disclosed. The other (8 min.), a footpath, ascends direct to the grand flight of 240 steps, divided into terraces, by which the edifice is approached from the Danube. The sculptures in the S. tympanum are seen to advantage only from the upper part of the flight of steps.

The Walhalla (i.e. 'Hall of the Chosen', the Paradise of the ancient Germanic tribes), a German 'Temple of Fame', stands very conspicuously on a hill planted with trees, 315 ft. above the Danube (1348 ft. above the sea-level). This magnificent edifice, founded by King Lewis I. in 1830, and designed by Klenze, was completed in 1842. Admission on week-days from April 1st to Sept. 1st, 9-12.30 and 2-7; in March and Sept. 9-12.30 and 2-6; in Oct. 9-12.30 and 2-5; other months 9-12.30 and 2-4 free; on general holidays not open till 10 a.m.; on Sun. in afternoon only).

The EXTERIOR (220 ft. long, 105 ft. broad, 65 ft. high), surrounded by fifty-two fluted columns 30 ft. in height, a fine example of the purest Doric order, closely resembling the Parthenon at Athens, is massively constructed of unpolished grey marble (most of it quarried at the Untersberg). The PEDIMENTS both in front and at the back contain groups in marble: S., towards the Danube, Germania, regaining her liberty after the battle of Leipzig; N. the 'Hermannschlacht', or Battle of Arminius, both by Schwanthaler. The roof is of iron, covered with plates of copper.

The INTERIOR, of the Ionic order, consists of a superb hall 157 ft. long, 16 ft. broad, and 52 ft. high, with a coffered bronze ceiling, richly decorated and gilded (the compartments painted blue with stars of platinum), and lighted from above. The pavement is of marble-mosaic. The lateral walls are divided into six sections by means of projecting buttresses, two on each side, and are lined with reddish-brown marble. Vertically the four walls are divided into two sections by a cornice; the richly adorned architrave is supported by 14 painted Walkyries (warrior-virgins of the ancient German Paradise), by Schwanthaler. Around the entire hall runs a frieze, executed by Wagner, representing in 8 sections the history and life of the Germanic race down to the introduction of Christianity. Above the cornice are 61 marble tablets bearing the names of famous Germans of whom no portrait has been preserved, and three commemorating celebrities whose names even are unknown (the Writer of the Nibelungen-Lied, the Architect of Cologne Cathedral, the Three Men of the Rütli). Marble busts (101 at the present time), by Tieck, Schadow, Rauch, and others, represent celebrated Germans who were deemed worthy by the illustrious founder to grace his temple of fame. Emp. William I. 'the Victorious' was added in 1898, Prince Bismarck in 1908, and Count Moltke in 1909. Some of the busts have curious inscriptions chosen by King Lewis. In the centre of each of the six sections of the walls is a *Victory by Rauch. Round the walls are twelve marble seats and eight candelabra. In front of the small square chamber ('opisthodomos') at the N. end, opposite the entrance, is a seated marble statue of King Lewis I., by F. von Miller 1890. The general effect of the interior is grand and impressive, although the association of classical Greek architecture with an ancient barbarian Paradise and modern German celebrities may appear somewhat incongruous.

The fine Deer Park of Prince Thurn und Taxis, with its numerous red-deer and a hunting-lodge, is best visited from Salzbach p. 186; adm. on application at the forester's house. From 15th May to 15th Aug. visitors are restricted to the carriage-road.

29. From Ratisbon to Donauwörth (and Augsburg).

RAILWAY to (18 M.) Kelheim in 1 hr. (see Map, p. 193); to (46 M.) Ingolstadt in 2 hrs.; to (79 M.) Donauwörth in 3½ hrs.; to (87½ M.) Augsburg in 4-5 hrs.

The line passes under the Nuremberg and Ratisbon railway at Prüfening (p. 117) and crosses the Danube (bridge 295 yds. long), which is here flanked by the spurs of the Franconian Jura. — 3½ M. Sinzling, at the mouth of the Schwarze Laber. Then on the left bank of the Danube; pretty scenery. — Opposite (9½ M.) Gundelshausen lies Oberndorf, where Count Palatine Otho of Wittelsbach, the murderer of the German Emperor Philip (p. 136), was overtaken and slain in 1208. Farther on is the market-village of Abbach (1215 ft.; Kurhaus), the birthplace of Emperor Henry the Saint (1002-24), with sulphur-baths and a ruined castle. We then cross the Danube (to the left are two stone lions commemorating the making of the road in 1794) to (12 M.) the station of Abbach, 2 M. from the village; opposite, on the left bank, is Kapfelberg, with large limestone quarries. — The train skirts the Teufelsfelsen. On the Ringberg (left) is an extensive circular rampart. — 15½ M. Saal (1130 ft.). The Befreiungs-Halle becomes visible on the right front.

To KELHEIM (3 M.), branch-railway in ¼ hr. The terminus lies on the right bank of the Danube. On the left bank are the government-offices, in an old castle of the Dukes of Bavaria; in the garden are the remains of a Roman watch-tower.

Kelheim (1161 ft.; see inset-map, p. 193; Ehrnthaller, Pl. a, in the main street. R. 1-1½, D. 1¼ M: Goldenes Kreuz, adjacent; Rosengarten, at the rail. station, unpretending; Klosterbräu, Lang, Pl. b & c, restaurants with gardens; carr. with one horse to the Befreiungs-Halle and back to the station, 1½ hr., 3 M) is a busy little town (3800 inhab.) with partly preserved walls and gates, at the influx of the Altmühl, and through it of the Ludwigs-Canal (p. 133, into the Danube. At the entrance to the town is a monument (1905) to the butcher Matthias Kraus, who saved it in 1705. The market is adorned with a Marien-Säule of 1700 and with statues of Lewis I. and Maximilian II. by Habbig.

The Befreiungs-Halle ('Hall of Liberation': 1480 ft.), on the Michaelsberg, to the W. of the town (2¼ M. from the station by road, 1¾ M. by footpath on the E. side), a magnificent classical edifice, designed by Gärtner and Klenze, was founded by Lewis I. in 1812, and inaugurated on 18th Oct., 1863, the 50th anniversary of the Battle of Leipzig. A rotunda, 193 ft. in height, is borne by a substruction 26 ft. high, and is reached by a flight of 84 steps. On the exterior are 18 colossal female figures, emblematical of different German provinces; in front of, and below these, 18 candelabra; on the coping above the external arcade, 18 trophies. The interior, which is entirely lined with coloured marble, contains 34 Victories in Carrara marble by Schwanthaler; between these are 17 bronze shields made of the metal of captured French guns, bearing names of victories. Above the arcades are the names of 16 German generals on white marble tablets; higher up, the names of 18 captured fortresses. Below these is a gallery borne by 72 granite columns, 20 ft. in height. The richly-fretted dome, 70 ft. in height and 105 ft. in width, is lighted by a cupola 19 ft. in diameter. Opposite the portal is a staircase ascending to the inner gallery, which affords a good survey of the interior (echo). A narrow staircase leads thence to the outer gallery, where a view of the valleys of the Danube and Altmühl is enjoyed. — Admission daily 8-12 and 2-6 o'clock (in winter 10-12 and 2-4), free (adm. to the gallery, 20 pf.). Visitors knock at the door.

The Valley of the Danube between Kelheim and Weltenburg, 3 M. farther up, is very picturesque and affords a pleasant boat-trip (downstream). The barren and rugged rocks (300-400 ft. in height), the gorges and summits of which are wooded, rise so abruptly from the river that no room is left even for a footpath, and iron rings have had to be attached to their sides to help the boatmen in going upstream. Each of the more conspicuous rocks is named from some fanciful resemblance or from some legend, such as the Three Brothers, Maiden, Peter and Paul, Pulpit, Napoleon, etc. Three so-called 'Roman Walls' (of pre-Roman origin) cross the ridge between the valleys of the Danube and the Altmühl; one of them is upwards of 2 M. long. The Benedictine Abbey of Weltenburg, founded by Duke Tassilo III. of Bavaria in 775, possesses a *Church which, though outwardly unassuming, ranks as a triumph of the German baroque style owing to the interior decoration by C. D. Asam (1717-21). The best plan is to follow the good forest-path (red marks) from the custodian's cottage behind the Befreiungs-Halle, passing the Roman walls (tablets) and reaching the Danube opposite (1 hr.) Weltenburg. Ferry hence to the Abbey (restaurant). We then descend the river in a small boat (1-6 pers. to the Klösterl 3, to Kelheim $3\frac{1}{2}$ M.) to the monastery ('Klösterl'), romantically situated on the left bank (pleasant garden-restaurant), whence a walk of 20 min. through wood brings us to the Befreiungs-Halle, or to Kelheim.

Pleasant excursion from Kelheim up the Altmühl-Tal to ($10\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Riedenburg (diligence twice daily in $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs., 1 M. 40 pf.; carr., in $1\frac{3}{4}$ hr., 6 M., with two horses 9 M.). The road follows the left bank of the Altmühl, skirting a bare slope, with Neu-Kelheim and the extensive Kelheim Quarries, and passes Gronsdorf and ($2\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Oberau. To the right, halfway up the hill, is the Schullerloch, a large cavern affording a fine view of the valleys of the Altmühl and the Danube (restaurant). [Pedestrians should follow the road to the Befreiungs-Halle on the right bank of the Altmühl, as far as the first kilomètre-stone, and take the path to the right, skirting the wood, to the Schottenhof, above which, at the Hesslberger in the Au, is a ferry to the Schullerloch.] $4\frac{1}{2}$ M. Neu-Essing (brewery), commanded on the N. by the ruin of Randeck. About $\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the S. is a stalactite cavern (adm. on application to Herr Wiedemann, the brewer). — $7\frac{1}{2}$ M. Nusshausen (brewery); to the right, on a precipitous and isolated rock, the château of Pruun. To the left diverges a footpath to the Klamm, a mass of rock towering amid the woods on the hillside to the right, and affording a good survey of the Altmühl-Tal (direct and shady footpath hence to Riedenburg). — $10\frac{1}{2}$ M. Riedenburg, see p. 208.

The line quits the Danube and runs to the S.W. through a wooded and hilly district to the valley of the Hopfenbach. 20 M. Thaldorf. Then through the N. part of the Holledau, an extensive hop-growing district. — 25 M. Abensberg (1213 ft.; Kuchlbauer, R. 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ - 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.), a town of 2300 inhab. on the Abensfluss, with an interesting Carmelite church in the Gothic style, was the birthplace of the Bavarian historian Johann Thurmayr, surnamed Aventinus (1477-1534), to whom a monument has been erected in front of the law courts. About $1\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the S. is the pilgrimage-church of Allers- dorf, dating from the 17th cent., and about 1 M. farther to the S. is the Romanesque abbey-church of Biburg (second half of the 12th cent.). A road leads from Abensberg to the N.W. through wood to ($4\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Eining (see below).

Nearly 10 M. to the S.E. of Abensberg (diligence daily in 2 hrs.) lies Rohr, with an interesting abbey-church built in the baroque style by E. Asam in 1722.

28 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Neustadt-an-der-Donau (1168 ft.; Polt), a little town with 1800 inhabitants.

From Neustadt a road, affording good views, leads to the N. viâ Gögging (Hotel Römerbad), a village with a strong sulphur spring and an old Romanesque church-portal (on the N. side of the church), to ($3\frac{3}{4}$ M.) Eining, on the Danube, near which (to the S.) are the interesting remains of the Roman frontier-station Abusina, one of the chief Roman military posts in Bavaria (key kept by the schoolmaster). The Romans recognized the importance of Eining as the junction of the military roads connecting the Danube territories with the Rhine and with Gaul, and as soon as they had conquered the district (B. C. 15) they established a station here, which they maintained, with three interruptions, down to the end of their sway (5th cent.).

From Eining (inn; better, Stipberger's Brewery, in Hienheim, opposite) we may ascend the Danube by boat to (5 M.) Weltenburg (1-6 pers. 5 M. each addit. pers. 60 pf.) and Kelheim. On the left bank, about $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. below Hienheim, begins the Pfahl-Graben (Limes Romanus), a frontier-rampart with forts and ditch, 342 M. long, constructed in the 2nd or 3rd cent. A.D. to protect the Roman Empire against the incursions of the Germans. This rampart, under the name of the Rhaetian or Danube Limes, extended westwards from the Danube, past Weissenburg am Sand (p. 127), to Lorch (p. 35), and thence, as the Germanic or Rhenish Limes, was carried to the N.W. through the hilly districts of the Neckar and the Odenwald to the Main near Miltenberg, and finally, crossing the Wetterau and the Taunus, descended to the Rhine near Rheinbrohl. — Pleasant walk from Hienheim across the Pfahl-Graben through the Hienheimer Forest, with its huge oaks, and past the forester's house Am Schlott (rfmts.), to the Klamm and ($3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) Riedenburg or (3 hrs.) Neu-Essing in the Altmühl-Tal (p. 196).

Beyond Neustadt the country becomes flatter. The train skirts the extensive forest of Dürrnbach. 33 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Münchsmünster, on the Ilm, formerly a Benedictine abbey. 37 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Vohburg; the village, with an extensive ruined castle, the ancestral seat of the Margraves of Vohburg, lies on the Danube, 3 M. to the N.E. — 46 M. Ingolstadt (central station; p. 208).

FROM INGOLSTADT TO AUGSBERG, 41 $\frac{1}{2}$ M., railway in 2 hrs. 16 M. Schrobenhausen (1345 ft.), a town on the Paar, with a late-Gothic brick church of the 15th century. — Near ($25\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Aichach, to the N.E., is the ruined castle of Wittelsbach, the ancestral seat of the reigning house of Bavaria, destroyed in 1209, with an obelisk (50 ft. high) erected in 1832. — 36 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Friedberg, an ancient little town on the Ach, with a modern church, decorated with frescoes by F. Wagner; 38 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Hochzoll (p. 209). The train then crosses the Lech and reaches Augsburg (p. 179).

The railway to Donauwörth traverses the Donaumoos, an extensive marshy district, now for the most part rendered cultivable.

58 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Neuburg (1320 ft.; Krone, at the Danube bridge, R. 1-1 $\frac{1}{2}$ M., B. 70, omn. 40 pf.), formerly the capital of a principality of the same name, is a town of 8500 inhab., pleasantly situated on a hill rising from the Danube. From the rail. station we proceed directly through the Bahnhof-Str., the street called Schöngnadeneegg, and the Ludwig-Str. to the Obere Tor (1540). Beyond this, to the right, we follow the Amalien-Str. to (20 min.) the Schloss, passing the library, the Rathaus, and the Hof-Kirche on the left, and the building of the Harmonic Club, with the collections of the Historical Society, on the right. The Library was built in 1730 in the baroque style. The most interesting feature of the Rathaus, which dates from 1613, is the equipment of the so-called 'Representation Room'. The Hofkirche, re-erected in 1607-16, is embellished with stucco adornments by Castelli (1620) and contains a valuable collection of ecclesiastical vessels. Among the collections of the Historical Society special mention may be made of the prehistoric objects, four pieces of Gobelins tapestry (16th cent.), and some antependia. The older part of the large Schloss is now a barrack. The W. wing ('Otto-Heinrichsbau'), in the Renaissance style, added by Elector Otho Henry in 1530-38, is in better preservation and contains the district-archives. From the Schloss we descend to the left to the bridge over the Danube. From the N. end of the bridge we follow the road in a straight direction for a few paces, then turn to the right, and proceed by the walk across the meadows to ($3\frac{1}{4}$ M.) the little château of Arco (inn), which affords a good view of the town and the Schloss.

The line now traverses an uninteresting district, running 1-3 M. from the right bank of the Danube. From ($62\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Unterhausen Count Arco-Steppberg's château of Steppberg is seen in the distance to the right, on the wooded left bank of the river. Farther on is Bertoldsheim, the Schloss of Count Dumoulin. - 71 M. Rain, where Tilly, at the age of 73, was mortally wounded in 1632 while defending the passage of the Lech against Gustavus Adolphus. - The line crosses the Lech to ($72\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Genderkingen, and crosses the Danube and the Danube Canal to — 79 M. Donauwörth (p. 178).

30. From Würzburg (Frankfort) to Munich viâ Ansbach. Rotenburg.

172 M. RAILWAY. Express in $4\frac{1}{2}$ - $5\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. (fares 23 M 10, 15 M 10, 9 M 60 pf.); ordinary train in $7\frac{1}{2}$ -8 hrs. (fares 21 M 10, 13 M 40, 8 M 60 pf.). From Frankfort to Munich, $256\frac{1}{2}$ M.; express in $6\frac{3}{4}$ -8 hrs. (fares 33 M 40, 21 M 50, 13 M 90 pf.); ordinary train in 10-11 hrs. (fares 31 M 40, 19 M 50, 12 M 90 pf.). As far as ($184\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Würzburg, see R. 15.

Würzburg, see R. 16. The Munich line skirts the N. and E. sides of Würzburg, passing ($1\frac{1}{4}$ M.) Würzburg-Sanderau (Pl. E, 4), and crosses the Main before reaching ($3\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Heidingsfeld, a small town (4500 inhab.) with a well-preserved wall. The choir of the Romanesque parish-church contains a relief (Pietà) by Riemen-schneider (1568). Railway to Heidelberg, see p. 117. — Farther on we skirt the Main (to the left).

13 M. Ochsenfurt (545 ft.; Schnecke, in the market-place), a little town with 3300 inhab. and a wall strengthened with numerous towers. From the railway-station we proceed to the left to (7 min.) the market-place. Here, to the right, is the Rathaus, a building of 1488-99 with a Gothic flight of steps, above which (to the right) is a stone figure of the Madonna in the style of Riemen-schneider. The main street leads hence to the W. to the Gothic Parish Church, dating from the end of the 14th century. To the right of the choir is a brazen font of ca. 1510, to the left a stone ciborium of ca. 1500. Beyond the church, to the S., is the late-Gothic Chapel of St. Michael, built in the middle of the 15th cent., with a relief of the Last Judgment in the tympanum of the portal.

From Ochsenfurt a branch-line runs to (17 M.) Röttingen 'Zur Eisenbahn', an antiquated little town, with fortifications and some quaint old houses. Hence a railway is in progress to Weikersheim (p. 33), in the Tauber-Tal.

Between Ochsenfurt and Marktbreit, on the right bank of the Main and to the left of the railway, is the picturesque little town of Frickenhansen, with a wall, a parish-church of the 15th cent., and numerous houses of the 16-17th centuries. It may be reached from Ochsenfurt in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.

16 M. Marktbreit (Löwe; pop. 2350), with its old town-wall, contains an interesting Rathaus in the German Renaissance style (end of the 16th cent.), with a large hall and a panelled council chamber. The adjoining Main-Tor is in good preservation. — We now quit the Main and approach the S.W. slopes of the Steigerwald. — 35 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Steinach (Goldenes Kreuz, R. 1-1 $\frac{1}{2}$ M., B. 70 pf., unpretending but good; Rail. Restaurant).

From STEINACH to NEUSTADT-AN-DER-AISCH, 18 M., branch-railway in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. — 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Windsheim, 1070 ft.; Goldene Gans, an old imperial town with 3600 inhab., situated on a hill on the left bank of the Aisch. From the railway-station we follow the Johannitergasse in a straight direction to (7 min.) the Kirch-Platz, on the right side of which stands the Local Museum. To the S. is the Parish Church, originally a Gothic building, but altered in the baroque style after a fire in 1750. Just to the S. of the church, in the market-place, is the Rathaus, an edifice of the beginning of the 18th cent., with a handsome façade. On the S. side of the market-place is a beautiful fountain of the end of the 16th cent., with a statue of Emp. Charles VI. A little to the N. of the station is the Kurhaus, with mineral and saline baths. — 18 M. Neustadt-an-der-Aisch (p. 116).

BRANCH RAILWAY from Steinach in 27-38 min. to (7 M.) —

Rotenburg-ob-der-Tauber. — HOTELS. Wildbad* (Pl. B, C, 4), to the S. of the town, with iron and sulphur baths. Photographic Materials, at the Marien-Apotheke (p. 201).

Rotenburg-ob-der-Tauber (1395 ft.), situated on the W. margin of a plateau descending abruptly to the Tauber, is a charming mediæval town (8400 inhab.), with red-tiled, gabled houses and well-preserved fortifications. As in Nuremberg the churches are Gothic, the secular buildings Renaissance (comp. p. xxix). Rotenburg is already spoken of as a town in a document of 942, and from 1172 to 1803 it was a free city of the Empire. In the end of the 14th cent. it was an energetic member of the Franconian League, in 1525 it joined the insurgent peasantry, and in 1544 embraced the Reformation. During the Thirty Years' War the town was besieged and taken in 1631 and 1645.

In its wealth of architectural beauties and in its abundance of picturesque mediæval streets Rotenburg is unapproached by any other town in Germany. Among the most characteristic points may be mentioned the Röder-Tor, with the view of its enclosure; the Röder-Bogen and Markus-Turm (from both sides); the view from the market-place of the Herren-Strasse, Schmied-Strasse, and Hofbrunnengasse; the E. choir of the Jakobs-Kirche, the Gymnasium, and the Clergy House; the passage through the Jakobs-Kirche, with view of the Klostergasse and Klingen-Strasse; the Klingen-Turm and the Straf-Turm; the rotunda of the Klingen-Bastei; the Weisse Turm with the Stein House (from both sides); Münlein with the Cobolzeller-Tor and Siebers-Turm; the Spitalhof; and the Spital-Bastei. — The visitor should walk round the inside of the city-wall from the Spital-Tor viâ the Röder-Tor to the Klingen-Tor. — The grounds between the Cobolzeller-Tor and the Stöberleins-Turm command a view of the town from the S., especially fine in the evening or by moonlight.

From the railway-station we proceed to (6 min.) the Röder-Tor (Pl. D, 2), the E. entrance of the town, and thence follow the picturesque Röder-Strasse and Hafengasse to (5 min.) the MARKET (Pl. B, C, 2). On the way we pass under the Röder-Bogen, beside the Markus-Turm, a relic of the earliest town-wall, pulled down in the 13th century. In front of us is the broad Herren-Strasse; to the left diverges the Schmied-Strasse (p. 202). At the beginning of the latter, to the left, is the Fountain of St. George, or Herterich-Brunnen, erected in 1608 (restored in 1886), behind which (No. 75) rises the so-called Fleisch-Haus or Tanz-Haus, occupying the site of the original Rathaus, which was burned down in 1240. The building now contains a small local museum (adm. 20 pf.). No. 74 in this street, the old Jagstheimer Haus, now a chemist's shop 'Marien-Apotheke', dates from 1488. To the right rises the —

*RATHAUS (Pl. B. 2, the older part of which is in the Gothic style 1240-50 with a tower 165 ft. high, while the original E. wing, burned down in 1501, was replaced in 1572-75 by a beautiful Renaissance structure, with a projecting rustica portico and balcony both of 1681, an oriel, and an elaborate spiral staircase.

The staircase in the interior of the newer building ascends to a vestibule with a fine timber-roof supported by Ionic columns. Beyond this is the spacious Court Room now 'Kaisersaal', with a judges' bench and a jury-box. This is the scene of the Whitsuntide festival mentioned at p. 200. Paintings by Birkmeyer and by Schuch in the Council Room, on the upper floor of the new Rathaus, refer to the capture of the town by Tilly in 1631. In the cellars are torture-chambers and dungeons, where, among others, the burgo-master Toppler, accused of treason, perished in 1498. The court contains an antique Renaissance portal (1598). — The tower of the old Rathaus (193 steps) commands a splendid view of the town and the Tauber-Tal.

In the Kirch-Platz, a few paces to the N., is the old Gymnasium of 1589-92, which is still used as a school (Pl. B. 1); it has a good staircase turret.

The neighbouring church of *St. JAMES Jakobs-Kirche: Pl. B. 1; Prot., with its towers and a choir at each end, built in 1373-1471, was restored in 1851-57 in a pure Gothic style. The sacristan 'Stadtkirchner', who also opens the Chapel of the Holy Blood, lives opposite the E. choir (fee 50 pf., members of a party 30 pf. each).

The INTERIOR is remarkable for its fine proportions. In the E. choir is the *High Altar of the twelve messengers', with carvings of the Crucifixion with six saints and four hovering angels, etc., by an unknown Swabian master; on the exterior of the wings are scenes from the life of the Madonna, by Friedrich Herlin 1465. Below are Christ and the Twelve Apostles. The ciborium, to the left, bears a remarkable representation of the Trinity. The stained-glass *Windows of the choir date from the end of the 14th cent. and were restored in 1856: scenes from the life of Christ and from the Old Testament. To the right of the choir is the *Altar of the Holy Blood, with carvings by Tilman Riemenschneider: Last Supper, Entry into Jerusalem, Christ on the Mount of Olives, which was dedicated in 1478. On the predella is the Baptism of Christ. To the left is the Altar of the Virgin, from the Spital-Kirche, carved by an unknown Franconian master not before 1520. — In the 1st chapel of the S. aisle is a statue of the Madonna dating from ca. 1480-90, and in the 2nd or Toppler Chapel is the tomb of the burgo-master mentioned above.

Beyond the Klingen-Strasse, which passes beneath the W. choir of St. James's church, is the Gothic Chapel of the Holy Blood

Pl. B. 1, rebuilt after 1453, with a Mount of Olives 1506-7, three paintings by Fr. Herlin, etc. — Close by, at the corner of the Kloster-gasse, is the Von Köchert House now the parsonage, an ancient patrician mansion with a Renaissance oriel and handsome stucco ceilings.

In the N.W. part of the town, in the Klosterhof, is the former Dominican Nunnery (Pl. B. 1; now a fiscal office) founded in 1258, with a mediæval kitchen (seldom shown). Adjacent, to the S., is the Bettelvogt-Turm (entr. at the W. end of the Klostergasse), with a torture-chamber (25 pf.). — At the corner of the Klingen-Str. and the Klosterhof is the house of the baker Feuerlein, with a tasteful oriel. — The Klingen-Strasse ends, to the N., at the Klingen-Tor (Pl. B, 1), the tower of which was once used as a reservoir. Beyond is the small Gothic Church of St. Wolfgang (Pl. B, 1), or Schüfer-Kirche, of 1173-83, the N. side of which abuts on a bastion (1536) of the town-wall. — A pleasant promenade outside the wall leads to the left, past the Strof-Turm (Pl. A, B, 1), to the (8 min.) Burg-Garten (see below).

The Georgen-Strasse runs to the E. from the church of St. James, passing the Schmidt Haus (1550; restored 1902), to the Weisse Turm (Pl. C, 1), a survival from the earliest town-wall, and the Stein Haus. In the Kapellen-Platz (Pl. C, 2), a little to the S., is the Seel Fountain (1626).

From the market-place (p. 200) the Schmied-Strasse (Pl. C, 2, 3) descends to the S. part of the town, known as the Kappenzipfel. Immediately on the left (No. 343) is the so-called Haus des Baumeisters ('Architect's House'), by L. Weidmann (1596), with a handsome façade adorned with Caryatides and an interesting court (café). The Goldene Greif, adjoining (No. 342), was the house of Burgomaster Toppler (p. 201). On the right is the Gothic Church of St. John (Pl. C, 2; Rom. Cath.), dating from 1393-1403, with the Johanniterhof (now district offices).

Beyond the Plönlein and the Siebers-Turm (Pl. C, 3), in the Spitalgasse, rises the HOSPITAL (Pl. C, 4), rebuilt by Weidmann in 1574-78, with an early-Gothic Church (1280-1300), containing a beautiful ciborium. In the court stands the old Hegereiter-Häuschen (1591). — Outside the Spital-Tor (Pl. C, 4) projects a circular bastion (1572-86), still mounting some ancient cannon. — From this gate we may return to the Röder-Tor (p. 200), by skirting the old Moat and passing the Faul-Tor.

From the Spital-Tor we proceed to the W. to the Essigkrug (Pl. B, 4), a projecting hill, on which rises the Wildbad-Turm (Pl. B, 4), the only relic of a castle destroyed by an earthquake in 1356. Thence, skirting the town-wall, we reach the (10 min.) —

BURG-GARTEN (Pl. A, 2), laid out on a hill once occupied by a Castle of the Hohenstaufen, built in 1146 to replace the stronghold of the Counts of Rotenburg, who became extinct in 1108. This was almost totally destroyed by the earthquake of 1358, only a part of the Castle Chapel, dedicated to St. Blasius, escaping destruction. The gardens command a fine *View of the town and of the deep Tauber-Tal. Below, to the N.W., is the white castellated Toppler-Schlösschen (also called Kaiserstuhl), built in 1388 by Burgomaster Toppler.

We now return through the Outer Burg-Tor (Pl. A, 2) to the Herren-Strasse, which leads back to the market-place (p. 200). This street passes the early-Gothic FRANCISCAN CHURCH (Pl. B, 2; Prot.) built in 1285-1309 (keys kept by the 'Stadtkirchner', see p. 201; adm. 40 pf., a party 20 pf. each).

INTERIOR. Many interesting tombs. In the left aisle, beneath a Gothic statue of the Madonna, is the tomb of *Peter von Creglingen

(d. 1404); by a round pillar in front of the painted choir-screen is that of Hans von Beulendorf (d. 1501) and his wife (d. 1496); and to the right of the entrance to the choir is the monument of Dietrich von Berlichingen (d. 1481), grandfather of Götz. The statue of St. Liborius on the choir-screen is from the studio of Riemenschneider (1492).

Among the many houses of patricians of Rotenburg in this street we may mention the Staudt'sche Haus (No. 19, on the left), with a curious old court. The Bermeter'sche Haus (No. 44, on the right) has a lofty Gothic gable.

Environs. The following walk ($1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) is recommended. From the Essigkrug (p. 202) we descend the Neue Steig (views) into the Tauber-Tal, where we reach the late-Gothic Cobolzeller Kirche of 1172-79 (Pl. B, 3; Rom. Cath.: shut), and the old double bridge (1330) over the Tauber (beyond the bridge two taverns). We continue to follow the Tauber-Tal to the Toppler-Schlösschen (p. 202) and the old village of Dettwang (Zur Pulvermühle), with a very fine carved *Altar by Riemenschneider (key kept by the schoolmaster, opposite the church), and return to the Klingen-Tor.

A visit to the hill to the W., beyond the Tauber, commanding fine views of the town (best in the afternoon), may easily be combined with the preceding walk. From the old castle (p. 202), we follow the promenade to the N., descend the Kurze Steig (Pl. A, 1), cross the Tauber near the Bronnenmühle and then the romantic Vorbach Valley, and ascend the Engelsburg (with a circular entrenchment) by woodland paths. At the top we proceed to the S., either by the road or by easily found paths through the woods, to the above-mentioned double bridge.

DILIGENCE twice daily in $2\frac{3}{4}$ hrs. from Rotenburg, via Tauberscheckenbach (below the Burgstall, with Celtic fortifications), to ($11\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Creglingen (Lamm, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ - $2\frac{1}{2}$ M.). The adjacent Herrgotts-Kirche ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) contains a carved *Altar by Riemenschneider (after 1500). (The old road to Creglingen commands, near Schwarzenbronn, charming surveys of Rotenburg.) From Creglingen a railway runs in 50 min. to (11 M.) Weikersheim (p. 33; carr. and pair from Rotenburg in 3- $3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.), via (6 M.) Röttingen (p. 199). — A diligence also runs from Rotenburg daily in 3 hrs. to (13 M.) Rot am See (p. 33).

Branch-railway via (11 M.) Schillingsfürst (Stein, R. 1-2 M.), with a château of Prince Hohenlohe, to ($15\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Dombühl (p. 34). Thence to Dinkelsbühl, see p. 178.

RAILWAY TO MUNICH (continued). — At (43 M.) Oberdachstetten we enter the valley of the Franconian Rezat. The Petersberg (1624 ft.), visible to the left, may be ascended hence by woodland paths in 1 hr. (view).

$54\frac{1}{2}$ M. Ansbach. — HOTELS. Goldener Stern (Pl. a; B, 2), corner of the Promenade and Karl-Str., with garden, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ - $2\frac{1}{2}$ M., very fair; Goldener Zirkel (Pl. b; A, 2), Maximilian-Str.; Deutscher Kaiser (Pl. c; B, 2), Karl-Str., R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 M.; Goldene Krone (Pl. d; B, 1), Untere Markt; Bayerischer Hof (Pl. e; B, 2), opposite the station, unpretentious. — RESTAURANTS. Schwarzer Bär, Uz-Str. 21 (Pl. A, B, 1); Schwarzer Bock, Pfarr-Str. 31 (Pl. B, 1); Railway Restaurant. Wine Rooms. Benkher, Büttel-Str. 20 (Pl. A, 1); Wedel-Probst, Uz-Str. 19 (also hot meals). — Café Roth, Untere Markt 10 (Pl. B, 1). — POST & TELEGRAPH OFFICE (Pl. C, 2), near the station. — Municipal Baths near the Rezat.

Ansbach (1348 ft.), with 18,500 inhab., the capital of Central Franconia, is situated on the Franconian Rezat, amidst park-like woods. From 1363 it belonged to the Burgraves of Nuremberg (p. 152), in 1603-1791 it was the seat of the Margraves of Brandenburg-Ansbach, and since 1806 it has belonged to Bavaria. — Quitting the Railway Station (Pl. B, C, 2), we turn to the right, then to the left, and follow the Theresien-Strasse to the (5 min.) Schloss, in front of which are a Statue of August von Platen (p. 205) and the Luitpold Fountain (Pl. 1), with a group by Behn (1908).

The *SCHLOSS (Pl. B, 1), begun in 1713 from plans by Gabriel de Gabriellis and completed by Zocha in 1723-32, is a veritable treasure-house of baroque and rococo art (open in summer 8-12 & 2-6, in winter 9-12 & 2-5, on Sun. and holidays 10-12 & 2-3; tickets, 50 pf., to the right in the gateway).

The FÜRSTEN-ZIMMER, on the first floor, are decorated in the most beautiful and purest early-rococo style. The stucco embellishments are by Diego Carlone and Joh. Schnell of Brussels; the frescoes mainly by Carlo Carlone. The visit occupies about half-an-hour. — The following apartments are especially worthy of note: the bedroom, with fine stucco ornamentation; the ancestral hall, with portraits of King Frederick William I. of Prussia and his family; the porcelain-room, with fayence-panelling; the picture-gallery (the actual pictures of no importance); the portrait-room, with portraits of the margraves; the Large Hall, with a superb ceiling; the White Room; the library; the marble cabinet; the *Mirror Room, with old Dresden and Berlin porcelain; the audience-chamber of the margravine, with a fine porcelain candelabrum (Berlin; 1772).

The N. wing of the château contains the COLLECTIONS OF THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF MIDDLE FRANCONIA (adm., Sun. 11-12.30, 20 pf., at other times 50 pf.); here also are numerous portraits of margraves and Brandenburg rulers.

The Hof-Garten (Pl. C, 1, 2), to the E. of the Schloss, a well-kept park with a double avenue of lime-trees, contains an old orangery, in which are a restaurant and a room with ten frescoes by Heideloff (1827). Farther to the S.E. is a monument to the poet Uz (d. 1796; Pl. C, 2), by Heideloff (1835), and another marking the spot where Caspar Hauser was found dead, with the inscription: 'Hic occultus occulto occisus 14. Dec. 1833' (Pl. C, 1).

It was long believed that this mysterious foundling was a victim, throughout his life and in his death, to the unscrupulous ambition of some noble family to whose dignities he was the lawful heir. It is more probable that he was a half-lunatic impostor, and accidentally killed himself in an effort to rekindle public sympathy.

From the Schloss we proceed to the W. viâ the Promenade, No. 20 in which contains the Municipal Collections of Coins, Engravings, and Antiquities (adm., May-Oct., 20 pf.; free on Thurs. & Sun., 10-12). The Uz-Strasse leads to the right from the Promenade to the (10 min.) Untere Markt, on the N. side of which rises the Protestant GUMBERTUS-KIRCHE (Pl. B, 1), originally a Romanesque edifice of the 12th cent., with three Gothic W. towers (1483-93 and 1597) and a late-Gothic choir (1523). The nave dates from 1732-34.

The choir, known as the 'Schwanritter-Kapelle', contains stone monuments of knights of the Order of the Swan, transferred in 1825 from a now partly walled-up chapel of St. George, which the Elector Albert Achilles meant to make the central point of the order in S. Germany. The chief of these is the High Altar, erected by Albert Achilles in 1485 (restored), with carvings and paintings of the school of Wohlgenut. On the walls are hatchments of Knights of the Swan and an altar-piece (Christ in the winepress; comp. Isaiah LXIII, 2 & 3), perhaps by H. Baldung Grien. The stained glass dates from the 15-16th centuries. The sexton is to be found at Pfarr-Str. 33.

On the N. side of the church is the Hofkanzlei, now law-courts (Pl. B, 1), an imposing though unpretentious gabled edifice of 1563. Opposite, to the W., is the old Landhaus (now a druggist's), a Renaissance edifice of 1535, with windows in a Gothic style. In front, in the Obere Markt, is a fountain with a statue of Margrave George the Pious (d. 1543; Pl. 2), who introduced the Reformation into Franconia.

In the Obere Markt, to the W. of the Untere Markt, is the Protestant ST. JOHANNIS-KIRCHE (Pl. A, B, 1), a Gothic structure of 1441, with two towers of unequal height. Below the choir is the burial-vault of the Margraves, originally constructed in 1660. — At Platen-Str. 17 (Pl. A, 1), to the S. of the St. Johannis-Kirche, is the house in which Aug. von Platen (1796-1835), the poet, was born (comp. p. 204).

About $\frac{3}{4}$ M. to the N. of the Schloss is the Drechsels-Garten, a restaurant commanding a view of the town and its environs. Near it is a Bismarck Column (1903).

From Ansbach to Heilsbrunn and Nuremberg, see p. 31; to Crailsheim and Stuttgart, see pp. 31-32; to Rothenburg (viâ Steinach), see pp. 203, 199.

64¹/₂ M. Triesdorf. About 1¹/₄ M. to the W. is the former château of the Margraves, dating from the end of the 17th cent., and standing in a fine park.

About 3 M. to the N.E. of the railway-station is the quaint little town of Eschenbach (Joseph Bauer's Inn), with 950 inhab., the home of the poet Wolfram von Eschenbach (d. ca. 1220), who is commemorated by a fountain erected in 1861. The mediæval town-wall is in perfect preservation, and there are also many interesting timbered houses. The early-Gothic church of the Teutonic Order was spoiled in 1878 by a so-called 'restoration'. The old Rathaus dates from 1171; the new Rathaus, formerly a lodge of the Order, has a Renaissance façade.

72 M. Gunzenhausen (p. 176; Rail. Restaurant; Post), junction for Augsburg and Nuremberg (R. 27). The line crosses the Altmühl and follows its valley to Eichstätt. — 87 M. Treuchtlingen (1030 ft.; Rail. Restaurant), junction of the line from Munich to Nuremberg (p. 127).

From Treuchtlingen another line, used by express-trains, runs to (86 M.) Munich viâ (22 M.) Donauwörth (p. 178) and (47 M.) Augsburg (p. 179).

The Altmühl is crossed twice. — 90¹/₂ M. Pappenheim (1330 ft.; Krone), charmingly situated, is commanded by the ruins of a castle of the ancient counts of that name (view; key with the overseer at the 'monastery'). The town contains two châteaux of Count Pappenheim. — Beyond a tunnel the line crosses and recrosses the Altmühl.

94 M. Solnhofen, pleasantly situated on both sides of the river. In the main street is a monument, by H. Maidron (1904), to Aloys Senefelder (1771-1834), the inventor of lithography. About 1 M. to the S. of the station are extensive slate-quarries, once-worked by the Romans, where upwards of 3000 workmen are employed. The slate, used for lithographing purposes, table-slabs, etc., is largely exported. Numerous fossils. — A long tunnel. Then (98¹/₂ M.) Dollnstein, a small and old town, still surrounded by walls. On the left bank of the Altmühl rises the conspicuous, serrated Burgstein. Farther on (1.) is the pretty village of Ober-Eichstätt. The line quits the valley of the Altmühl and reaches the (105 M.) station of Eichstätt (Rail. Restaurant).

BRANCH RAILWAY in (20 min.) to (3 M.) the town of Eichstätt. Walkers (³/₄ hr.) ascend to the left about 250 yds. to the S. of the station. Good view of Eichstätt in descending. Before beginning the descent, they may diverge to the left for a visit to the Willibaldsburg (see p. 207).

Eichstätt (1270 ft.; Adler, in the market-place, R. 1¹/₂-2¹/₂ M., B. 80 pf.; Bär, Grosse Marktgasse), a quiet little town with 7900 inhab., on the left bank of the Altmühl, is the seat of an ancient episcopal see founded in 741 by St. Willibald, a companion of St. Boniface.

A little to the E. of the railway-station, beyond the river, lies the CATHEDRAL, consecrated by Bishop Gundekar II. in 1060. The two towers are Romanesque; the W. choir is in the Transition style (1269); the Gothic nave and E. choir were begun in 1354; the interior has been restored in the Gothic style since 1880.

The new high-altar in the E. choir is adorned with old wood-carvings: in the middle, the Virgin and four saints, by Meister Hans (end of 15th cent.); at the top, the Crucifixion with the Virgin and St. John. By the S. wall is the tomb of the Prince-Bishop von Gemmingen (d. 1612) attributed to P. Candid, with a recumbent figure in bronze. — By the wall of the N. transept is the Pappenheim altar, of sandstone, with a relief of the Crucifixion, containing numerous figures (end of the 15th cent.). — In the choir of St. Willibald (at the W. end of the church), on the back of the marble altar, is a seated stone figure of St. Willibald, probably by Loy Hering (1511). To the left of the altar is the tomb of the Prince-Bishop von Reichenau (d. 1196), in red marble. — From the S. transept we enter the beautiful late-Gothic cloisters, which date from the middle of the 14th cent. and have two stories. In the W. walk (Mortuarium; 1487), which has two aisles, are the tombs of the canons and a stone crucifix, possibly by Loy Hering (S. wall).

Adjoining the Cathedral on the S. is the old Archiepiscopal Palace, built in the 18th cent. and now containing the law courts. Its most noteworthy features are the staircase and the so-called 'mirror-room'. In front of the Palace, in the Residenz-Platz, is a 'Mariensäule', 62 ft. high, with a gilded figure of the Virgin (1777). — A little to the E. is the Leonrod-Platz, with the Wittelsbach Fountain (1906); on the E. side is the Schutzengel-Kirche, formerly the church of the Jesuits (17th cent.). From this point the Osten-Str. leads to the (3 min.) old Summer Palace of the Archbishops, built in 1735, from the plans of Effner, now containing the Government Library and a Diocesan Museum. Behind it is the Hof-Gartey.

A little to the N. of the Cathedral, in the market-place, is a fountain with a bronze statue of St. Willibald, by J. Engel (end of the 17th cent.). — From this point we proceed through the Westen-Str., passing the house (No. B 218; 1.) in which Willibald Pirckheimer (see p. 157) was born, and then ascend to the (3 min.) Walpurgis-Kirche (1631). Behind the high-altar is the burial-vault of St. Walpurgis, with five old life-size, wooden statues. The church is visited by numerous pilgrims on May 1st (St. Walpurgis Day).

About 1 M. to the N.W. of the railway-station, on the right bank of the Altmühl, rises the extensive but dilapidated Willibaldsburg, the residence of the bishops down to 1730; the newer part was built in 1609-19 by Elias Holl. The tower commands a striking view, best in the evening (apply to the castellan); the ascent is difficult and not recommended to ladies. The well is 295 ft. deep.

On the Blumenberg, 3 M. to the N.W., numerous rare fossils (pterodactyl, archæopteryx) have been found.

FROM EICHSTÄTT TO KINDING. 21½ M., railway in 1½ hr. — 4½ M. Pfünz, with extensive remains of the Roman Vetonianis, a fort on the Pfahl-Graben (p. 197); 12 M. Arnsberg, with a ruined château (view); 15 M. Kipfenberg (Post, R. 1-1¼ M.), a picturesque little town, with a ruined castle on a lofty rock, situated at the point where the Roman 'limes' crosses the Altmühl. — $21\frac{1}{2}$ M. Kinding (Alte Post, plain) has a fortified churchyard of the 17th century.

Beyond (119 M.) Ingolstadt-Nord-Bahnhof the line skirts the fortifications of Ingolstadt and crosses the Danube.

122 M. Ingolstadt. — HOTELS. Adler, Theresien-Str. 22, R. $1\frac{3}{4}$, 3. B. 1 ℥; Wittelsbacher Hof, Donau-Str. 14, R. $1-1\frac{3}{4}$, B. $\frac{3}{4}$ ℥; Bär, Theresien-Str. 6; Uhlmann, near the station, plain. — Railway Restaurant. — Tramway to the town (2 M.; 20 pf.).

Ingolstadt (1197 ft.), with 23,500 inhab., a fortified town on the Danube, once the seat of a famous university, founded in 1472 by Duke Lewis the Rich, and transferred to Landshut in 1800 and to Munich in 1826 (p. 240). At the end of the 16th cent. it was attended by 4000 students. The Jesuits' College, founded in 1555, was the first established in Germany. Coming from the railway-station, we enter the town through the Danube Gate. From the gate the Donau-Str., the Moritz-Str., and the street called Am Stein lead direct to the (8 min.) Garrison Church (14th cent.), containing some interesting tombs. We then retrace our steps through the street Am Stein and follow the Theresien-Str. to the right to the (5 min.) Frauen-Kirche or Ober-Pfarr-Kirche, a building of 1439, with two massive towers in front. Inside are the tomb of Dr. Eck (d. 1543; in the chapel to the left of the high-altar), the opponent of Luther, and monuments to Tilly (who was buried at Alt-Oetting, see p. 314) and the Bavarian General Mercy, who fell at Allersheim in 1645. The elaborate high-altar and the fine stained-glass windows (beginning of the 16th cent.) may also be mentioned. A little to the W. is the Kreuz-Tor (1383). The Konviktgasse leads to the N. to the Maria de Victoria Congregation Hall, a masterpiece of the Bavarian rococo of 1736, with ceiling-paintings by the brothers Asam. From the Frauen-Kirche we return to the Theresien-Str., continuing in a straight direction to the (9 min.) old Château (15th cent.).

FROM INGOLSTADT TO RIEDENBURG, 26 M., railway in 2 hrs. Beyond (18 M.) Sandorsdorf the line follows the charming Schambach-Tal. — 26 M. Riedenburg (Schwan, R. from 80 pf. to 1 ℥ 60 pf.), a small town with three castles (Rosenburg, Rabenstein, and Tachenstein) on projecting rocks, which seem to close the Altmühl-Tal. Hence we descend the Altmühl-Tal to Kehlheim, see p. 196.

Railway to Donauwörth, Augsburg, and Regensburg, see R. 29.

From (134 M.) Wolnzach a branch-line ($14\frac{1}{2}$ M.) runs to Mainburg (p. 214). — 141 M. Pfaffenhofen, a small town with 3300 inhab., on the Ilm, which the line now follows. — Beyond $144\frac{1}{2}$ M. Reichertshausen the line reaches the Glon, an affluent of the Amper. — $154\frac{1}{2}$ M. Röhrmoos. Then down the Amper-Tal, crossing the river, to (161 M.) Dachau (p. 282). — The railway intersects the extensive Dachauer Moos, crosses the Wurm at (165 M.) Allach, skirts the Park of Nymphenburg (p. 280), and reaches — 172 M. Munich (p. 214).

31. From Stuttgart to Munich.

149 M. RAILWAY. Express in $4\frac{43}{4}$ hrs. (fares 20 M 50, 13 M 70, 8 M 50 pf.); ordinary train in $7\frac{1}{2}$ -9 hrs. (fares 18 M 50, 11 M 70, 7 M 50 pf.).

From Stuttgart to ($58\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Ulm, see R. 8. The line here crosses the Danube, and enters the Bavarian dominions, to which ($59\frac{3}{4}$ M.) Neu-Ulm (Bahnhofs-Hôtel) belongs. $64\frac{1}{2}$ M. Burlafingen. The town and abbey of Elchingen are seen on the opposite bank (comp. p. 37).

74 M. Günzburg (Münzbräu; Rail. Restaurant), the Roman Gundia, a town with 5200 inhab., lies picturesquely on a hill, at the confluence of the Günz and Danube. The large château dates from the 16th cent.; the beautiful Frauen-Kirche was built by D. Zimmermann in 1735-40. — We next notice a range of wooded hills to the right, crowned by the castle of Reisensburg. — 79 M. Neu-Offingen (Rail. Landshut (1290 ft.), with 24,100 inhab., the capital of the district of Lower Bavaria, with handsome brick churches and gabled houses, lies picturesquely on the Isar, which forms an island within the town. The quarter on this island is called Zwischen-Brücken. To the S. rises the Trausnitz. The chief attractions are in the broad main street, named the 'Altstadt'. From 1255 to 1504 Landshut was the capital of the Duchy of Bayern-Landshut, and in 1800-26 it was the seat of a University (comp. p. 208). An historical festival ('Landshuter Hochzeit') is celebrated every summer in memory of the marriage of Duke George with the Polish Princess Hedwig in 1475.

The Railway Station (Pl. A, 1) lies on the left bank of the Isar, in the suburb of St. Nikola, 1 M. from the N. end of the 'Altstadt'. The church of the Cistercian convent of Seligen-Tal (Pl. B, C, 2) which was founded in 1232, was rebuilt by Dom. Zimmermann (?) in 1729-38. Its chief features of interest are the fine stucco decorations in the early-rococo style and a wood-carving of the Descent from the Cross (ca. 1525; on the S.E. wall). Adjacent is the Gothic Church of St. Afra, originally built in the Romanesque style. — Beyond the Kleine Isar is the small Church of St. Sebastian, practically rebuilt in 1666 (Pl. C, 2, 3).

On the right bank of the Isar, at the beginning of the 'Altstadt' (p. 211), is the Church of the Holy Ghost (Heil. Geist-Kirche; Pl. C, 3) or Hospital Church, an elegant brick building of 1407-62. — Farther to the S., on the left, is the RATHAUS (Pl. C, 4), built in 1446 and remodelled in a modern Gothic style in 1860-61. The large hall on the first floor (bell for janitor to the right), fitted up by Hauberrisser, is adorned with frescoes relating to the 'Landshuter Hochzeit' (p. 211) by Spiess, Seitz, and others. In front of the Rathaus stands a bronze Statue of Maximilian II. (Pl. 3), by Bernhard (1868).

The Renaissance PALACE (Pl. C, 4), opposite the Rathaus, was begun by German architects in 1536, and completed by Italian architects in 1643. The E. façade was entirely remodelled in 1780. The main W. building has an open colonnade on the side next the court, and a closed façade towards the Ländgasse. The rooms of the interior have vaulted ceilings with stucco decorations and frescoes. Castellan in the portal to the right (ticket 20 pf.). — Adjoining the palace is the Pappenberg House, with an interesting court.

The *CHURCH OF ST. MARTIN (Pl. C, 4), a little farther to the S., a late-Gothic building with slender pillars, was begun before 1392 by Meister Hans Stethaimer, and completed about 1432. On the W. side is a high tower (436 ft.) erected ca. 1500, one of the highest mediæval church-towers in Germany. The portals are elaborately decorated. Outside the S. wall, protected by a railing, is the tomb of Hans Stethaimer, the builder of the church, with his bust and a half-length figure of the Saviour. Inside the chief points of interest are the pulpit with its stone canopy (1422), a large wooden Crucifix (ca. 1500; to the left of the W. portal), and the stone high-altar in the choir (1424).

Opposite St. Martin's, on the W. side of the 'Altstadt', is the old Post Office (Pl. 4; C, 4), formerly the House of the Estates, with 16th cent. portraits of the Bavarian sovereigns from Otho I. to Maximilian I. (restored). — In front of the district-court (Pl. C, 4) is a bronze Statue of Duke Lewis the Rich (d. 1479; Pl. 2), founder of the University (p. 211), by Fr. Brugger (1858).

Above the town to the S. rises the old castle of *BURG LANDSHUT OR TRAUSNITZ (1522 ft.; Pl. C, 5), formerly the residence of the Dukes of Lower Bavaria, begun by Duke Lewis of Kelheim in 1204 (comp. p. xxviii). The two main buildings stand at right angles to each other, and on the side facing the court are furnished with arcades above the groundfloor (ca. 1578). The approach to the castle is just to the S.W. of the district-court (see above; 8 min.). The castellan is to be found at the second gate to the left (¹, 2-1 M.).

The late-Romanesque chapel, built at the beginning of the 13th cent. and lately restored, is the only part of the original structure. It contains interesting seated figures in stucco of Christ, the Virgin, and the Apostles (on the balustrade of the choir), a relief of the Annunciation, some mural paintings (in the altar-recess, and a ciborium of 1471. Some of the apartments were painted in the Renaissance style of 1577-80 from designs by Fr. Sustris. The mural paintings on the Fools' Staircase represent scenes from Italian comedies. Part of the upper floor has been fitted up for the reception of the King of Bavaria. In the court is a well, surmounted by a wrought-iron framework; the pails in bronze (executed, according to the inscription, in 1558) are now kept inside the castle. Conradin, the last of the Hohenstaufen, was born at the neighbouring castle of Wolfstein (now a ruin) in 1252 and spent a great part of his childhood at the Trausnitz.

To the W. of the 'Altstadt' is the Länd-Tor (Pl. 5; C, 4), with the Collections of the Historical Society of Lower Bavaria (open free on Sun. 11-12; keeper next door). — To the E. of the 'Altstadt', at the S. end of the 'Neustadt', is the old Church of the Jesuits (Pl. C, 4), completed in 1640 and containing a large high-altar. — The Church of St. Jodok (Pl. D, 3), a brick edifice of ca. 1338, contains the tomb of P. von Altenhaus, in red marble (beginning of the 16th cent.; in the baptistry). The old Dominican Church (Pl. D, 3) contains some interesting choir-stalls behind the high-altar.

Near the Jesuit Church (see above) is the approach to the Hof-Garten (Pl. D, 4), laid out on the slope of the castle-hill and containing many shady walks. — Beyond the Trausnitz lies the village of Hofberg (Mariawaberl), visited as a summer-resort, and possessing an early-Gothic parish-church. It is separated from (1 $\frac{1}{4}$ M.) Landshut by the Hof-Garten. — From the garden-restaurant on the (1 $\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the S.) Klausenberg, a fine view is obtained of the town, the castle, and the valley; it is reached by following the Freising high-road to the flood-arch of the Rott-Tal railway to Neumarkt (see below), and ascending to the left immediately beyond it.

Branch-lines run from Landshut to the E., on the left bank of the Isar, to (28 M.) Landau (p. 333; the shortest route from Munich to Eisenstein, Pilsen, and Prague), to the S.E. to (24 M.) Neumarkt an der Rott (p. 332), and to the N.W. to (17 M.) Rottenburg, on the Grosse Laber.

The railway ascends the left bank of the Isar. 257 M. Gündlkofen; to the left, Schloss Kronwinkel. 259 M. Bruckberg, with a small château to the right of the line; then on the right Schloss Isareck. The Amper is crossed. — 263 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Moosburg (1380 ft.), an ancient town (pop. 3200) on the Isar; the Romanesque church contains an interesting late-Gothic reredos; 49 ft. high, with sculptures by Hans Leinberger (ca. 1520). The Alps soon become visible on the left.

274 M. Freising (1380 ft.; Bayerischer Hof; Furtnerbräu; Rail. Restaurant), a town with 13,500 inhab., on the left bank of the Isar, and partly on a hill (Domberg), has been the seat of an episcopal see (now Munich-Freising and located in Munich) from the 8th cent. to the present day. Otto von Freising, the historian, was bishop here from 1137 to 1158 (statue in the Domhof). — Leaving the railway-station, we almost at once turn into the Münchener-Str. to the right and cross the Moosach. In 10 min. we ascend to the right to (3 min.) the Dom-Platz. The Romanesque Cathedral, with its two towers, double aisles, and galleries (screen), was begun in 1159, provided with a vaulted roof in 1480, and wholly remodelled in 1620-24. In 1723 the interior was decorated by the brothers Asam with painting and stucco-work. We should notice the late-Romanesque portal (partly disfigured) and the curious quadruple crypt, the vaulting of which rests on short round and polygonal columns, with rich capitals. In the raised vestibule, to the left on entering, are statuettes of Frederick Barbarossa and his wife Beatrix, of 1161. Gothic choir-stalls (1488). The Church of St. Benedict, connected with the cathedral by cloisters, contains a stained-glass window of 1391. The Clerical Seminary, opposite the cathedral on the W., contains early-German paintings, sculptures, etc. — To the W. lies (1 M.) the loftily-situated Weihenstephan (1625 ft.), formerly an abbey, now an agricultural college and brewery (restaurant).

Munich (1703 ft.), the capital of Bavaria and the residence of the Bavarian court, with 565,000 inhab., lies on the S. side of a sterile plain, chiefly on the left bank of the Isar, which emerges from a narrow gorge (10 M. long) about $4\frac{1}{2}$ M. above the city. The largest city in the German Empire but two, it is the headquarters of the 1st Bavarian army-corps, the seat of a university and a technical college, and one of the chief centres of art in Germany. The lofty situation of the city and its proximity to the Alps render it liable to sudden changes of temperature, against which visitors should be on their guard, especially towards evening. The high mountains, about 25 M. to the S. of the city, become very distinct after a thunder-storm or on the approach of bad weather. As Munich had only 40,000 inhab. in 1800 and did not attain its present importance until the 19th cent., it is preëminently a modern city. Among its chief business-thoroughfares are the Neuhauser-Str. (Pl. E, 6; II), the Kaufinger-Str. (Pl. E, F, 6; II), and the Wein-Str. (Pl. F, 6; II). The most important industry is brewing, but the manufacture of objects of industrial art is also notable.

Munich owes its foundation as a city to Henry the Lion, who established a market-place and a mint here in 1158 and constructed a bridge across the Isar in order to levy toll on the salt coming from Reichenhall. At a still earlier era a village stood on this site, belonging to the monks of Tegernsee or Schäftlarn, which is the origin of the name Muniha and of the monk in the city's coat-of-arms ('Münchener Kindl'). At the Imperial Diet held at Ratisbon in 1180 Henry the Lion was put under ban, and Bavaria was assigned to the Count Palatine Otho of Wittelsbach. Lewis the Severe (1253-94) transferred his residence to Munich. Under Emp. Lewis the Bavarian (1294-1347, in 1319, was begun the construction of the second city-wall, which marked the limits of the city down to the 19th cent.; the wall extended from the Isar-Tor through the Blumen-Str. to the Karls-Tor on the W., then made a circuit to enclose the Royal Palace on the N., and finally followed the line of the Herren-Str. back to the Isar-Tor. The emperor also almost entirely re-erected the city, which was loyally attached to him, after a fire in 1327 (his tomb in the Frauen-Kirche, see p. 227). Duke Albert V. (1550-79) founded the Library and the Kunstkammer, to which latter the Antiquarium, cabinet of coins, and part of the National Museum owe their origin. His son, William V. (1579-97), a pupil of the Jesuits, erected the Jesuit or Court Church of St. Michael. Maximilian I. (1597-1651), the first Bavarian Elector (created 1623), renewed the fortifications of the city in 1619-38, built the Old Palace, and was a diligent collector of the works of Dürer. The central part of the château of Nymphenburg was built by Barelli for the Savoyard Princess Henrietta Adelaide, wife of the Elector Ferdinand Maria (1651-79). Under Max II. Emmanuel (1679-1726), who spent the years from 1704 to 1714 as a refugee at the court of Louis XIV., began the triumphal progress of the rococo style, with the erection of the château of Schleissheim at Munich by Zuccali and Effner. This progress went on with great brilliance under Charles Albert (1726-45), afterwards Emperor Charles VII., as is testified by the richly-decorated chambers of the Royal Palace and the Amalienburg in the park of Nymphenburg, both due to the genius of François Cavelliés. Elector Maximilian III. Joseph (1745-77) founded the Academy (p. 226) in 1759, and his successor Charles Theodore of the Palatinate (1777-99) removed the old fortifications. King Maximilian I. Joseph (1799-1825) contributed materially to the improvement of the city by the dissolution of the religious houses and the erection of new buildings.

The real creator of modern Munich was, however, KING LEWIS I. (1825-48; d. 1868), who built the Glyptothek and the Old and New Pinakotheks and raised the city to the foremost rank as a school of German art. The twin tendencies of the age found expression here also; the 'classicist' school is represented in the secular buildings of Leo von Klenze (1784-1861), for which the indefatigable L. von Schwanthaler (1802-48) provided the plastic embellishment, while the influence of the romantic school produced the modern-Romanesque and Gothic churches by Gärtner, Ohlmüller, and Ziebland. — The Maximilian-Strasse, with the old National Museum and with the Maximilianeum filling in the vista at the end, was laid out by Maximilian II. (1818-64) as a pendant to the Ludwig-Strasse. Lewis II. (1864-86) displayed his love of art, so far as architecture was concerned, mainly in the building and embellishment of royal palaces beyond the bounds of the city (pp. 293, 300, 312). — In consequence of the rapid growth of the town, the reign of Prince-Regent Luitpold (since 1886) has coincided with a fresh architectural impulse, which has displayed a certain homogeneity of character and a harmonious adaption of the new structures to the existing conditions such as has probably never been excelled in any city. The majority of the new buildings are elaborate structures in a style developed from Renaissance and baroque models; others display a development of Romanesque, Gothic, or classic forms; while a third group betrays the endeavour to take into account modern requirements and materials in modern forms and decoration. Among the best-known architects are G. Neureuther (d. 1887; Technical College, Academy of Fine Art); G. Hauberrisser (Rathaus; St. Paul's Church); Fr. Thiersch (Palace of Justice); H. von Schmidt (St. Maximilian's Church); Gabr. Seidl (National Museum; Künstlerhaus; St. Anna's Church; new German Museum); Em. Seidl (Augustiner Ausschank; Palais Matuschka, Brienner Str. 46); Hocheder (Müllersches Volksbad; School, Bavaria-Ring 40); Littmann (Prince Regent Theatre; Hofbräuhaus; Schauspielhaus; Künstler-Theater); Dülfer (now in Dresden; Tonhalle); Grössel (Cemeteries of Schwabing and Giesing; Wald-Friedhof; Orphanage at the Grünwald Park); Th. Fischer (Schools and Church of the Redeemer at Schwabing; Bismarck Column on the Starnberger-See; bridges).

In the domain of PAINTING Munich has seen, perhaps more markedly than any other art-centre, the most diverse tendencies in German art expressing themselves side by side. The masters of the 'classic' period (Peter von Cornelius, Buonapventura Genelli, Karl Rottmann, the landscape-painter), who cheerfully neglected all the technical achievements of the past, and the 'Nazarenes', who were characteristically represented at Munich, for a brief period only, by L. Schnorr von Carolsfeld, were succeeded by the school of W. von Kaulbach (1805-74), whose clever art long enjoyed an undeserved reputation. Moritz von Schwind (1804-71; b. at Vienna), who drew his inspiration from popular tales, and the humorist Karl Spitzweg (1805-85) were genuine German painters. Historical painting, introduced into Germany from Belgium only in 1842, found one of its most influential champions in Karl von Piloty (1826-86), for many years the head of the Munich School, which fixed its attention on the lost art of colouring, based on the study of the old masters. At the same time Munich rivalled Düsseldorf in the development of genre paintings. The best-known masters of this period are W. Diez (1839-1907), the painter of 'historical' genre scenes; Franz Defregger (b. 1835), the creator of idealized scenes of peasant-life; Grützner (b. 1846), whose works display a marked 'literary' interest; and Gabriel Max (b. 1840 in Prague), noted for his inclination towards mysticism. The celebrated portrait-painter Franz von Lenbach (1836-1904) elaborated a scheme of colouring of his own, from the study of Titian, Rembrandt, and Velazquez. Fr. A. von Kaulbach (b. 1850) is another successful painter of portraits. The stern realist W. Leibl (1841-1900) occupies a place by himself. The modern tendency, introduced into Munich from Paris by Fritz von Uhde (b. 1848), which lays special stress upon technical perfection while recognizing the full individual liberty of each artist, found eager support in the 'Secession' at Munich in 1892; the artists' colony at Dachau (p. 282) owes its existence to the preference for landscape. Among other living artists we may note Baron Hugo von Habermann (b. 1849), Albert von Keller (b. 1845), and Leo Samberger (b. 1861), the portrait-painters; Ludwig Dill (b. 1848; now in Carlsruhe), the landscape-painter; H. Zügel (b. 1850), the eminent animal-painter; and Franz Stuck (b. 1863), the 'modern idealist', who is also a sculptor. — Since the death of W. von Rümmer in 1906 the leading sculptor of Munich is A. von Hildebrand (b. 1847), whose work is inspired by the spirit of antique art. Younger sculptors are Jos. Flossman (b. 1862), Hermann Hahn (b. 1868), and Hubert Netzer (b. 1865).

INDUSTRIAL ART at Munich, after adopting the various historical styles in turn, has struck out a line for it itself; its aim now is the creation of a German home, founded on the practical and æsthetic requirements of the present. Representatives of this aim are Riemerschmid, W. von Beckerath, A. Niemeyer, and other members of the 'United Studios for Artistic Handiwork' (Vereinigte Werkstätten für Kunst im Handwerk). — The well-known comic papers 'Fliegende Blätter', 'Jugend', and 'Simplizissimus' are all published in Munich.

a. Karls-Platz. Frauen-Kirche. Marien-Platz. South Part of the Inner Town.

To the W. of the inner town lie the Karls-Platz and the Bahnhof-Platz, two of the chief intersecting points of the tramway system (p. 218). On the W. side of the BAHNHOF-PLATZ (Pl. E, 5; II) is the Central Railway Station (p. 214), built by Von Graff in 1876-84, while on the E. is the large Tietz Warehouse, built by Heilmann & Littmann in 1905. To the W. of the railway-station is the extensive new Office of the Minister of Railways ('Verkehrs-Ministerium'; Pl. D 5, II), erected from the designs of Hocheder. — From the Bahnhof-Platz three short streets lead to the E. to the Karls-Platz: the Prielmayer-Str., containing the Courts of Justice (see below); the Schützen-Str.; and the Bayer-Str., the last containing the large saloon of the Mathäuser Brewery.

On the W. side of the busy KARLS-PLATZ (Pl. E, 5, 6; II) stand the Courts of Justice, an imposing baroque building by Thiersch, completed in 1897. The most interesting parts of the interior are the Central Court (with its huge dome of glass), the High Court, the Jury Court, and the Library (open in summer on Wed., 12.30-2.30).

Adjacent to the W. are the NEW COURTS OF JUSTICE, built by the same architect (1905); they are Gothic in style, with mouldings and other details in coloured tiles. (Crystal Palace, see p. 241.) — On the N. side of the square, in front of the Courts of Justice, is the Nornen-Brunnen, by Netzer (1907). Lenbach-Platz, see p. 229. On the S. side are the Gasteiger-Brunnen ('Brunnenbuberl'), presented by Gasteiger, the sculptor, and the Protestant Church of St. Matthew, by Pertsch (1832).

From the E. side of the Karls-Platz we pass through the Karls-Tor (Pl. E, 5, 6; II) into the inner town. The NEUHAUSER-STRASSE and its prolongation the KAUFINGER-STRASSE lead hence to the E. to the Marien-Platz (p. 227). On the left side of the Neuhauser-Str., at the corner of the Herzog-Max-Str., is the Oberpollinger Warehouse, erected in 1905 by Heilmann & Littmann. Farther on (No. 48) is the Bürgersaal, an oratory erected by Viscardi in 1710. The hall on the upper floor contains a large but dilapidated fresco of the Assumption by M. Knoller (1774). A little farther on is the old Jesuit College, built in the baroque style by Sustris(?) in 1585-90 and now containing the — Academy of Science (Pl. E, 6; II), with its important Natural History Collections (adm., see p. 221).

The Palæontological Collection* is exhibited in nine rooms, the specimens from the animal kingdom being arranged zoologically, those of plants, geologically. — The Prehistoric Collection contains many objects of the stone period and interesting relics of lake-dwellings from the Starnberger-See and Robenhausen, and also others of the La Tène period, found at Manching, near Ingolstadt. — The Collection of Minerals* is unequalled in the world for its complete representation of Alpine minerals. Special collections illustrate the characteristics and crystalline formations of minerals (by the windows), their chemical formation (in the central glass-cases), their origin (wall-cases to the right of the door), and their industrial uses (to the left of the door). Catalogue 2 M. — The most noteworthy features of the Zoological-Zootomical Collection are the birds (Sturm collection of humming-birds), the skeletons, and the extinct species (quagga, great auk). Printed guide 50 pf. — Of ancient Greek coins alone the Cabinet of Coins contains 20,000.

Adjoining the Academy rises the Church of St. Michael (Hofkirche; Pl. E, 5, 6, II; adm., see p. 221; sexton in the rear), formerly a church of the Jesuits, built in 1583-97 in the German Renaissance style, by Sustris(?), with grand barrel-vaulting. Its erection marked an epoch in the history of Roman Catholic church-building in S. Germany. The front is adorned with a St. Michael in bronze, by Hubert Gerhard (1592). The interior is 285 ft. in length and 69 ft. in width. The left transept contains the Monument of Eugène Beauharnais* (d. 1824), Duke of Leuchtenberg, and once vice-king of Italy, by Thorvaldsen. The Fall of the Angels, at the high-altar, is by Christ. Schwarz (d. 1597). In the royal burial-vault under the choir reposes King Lewis II. (1886). Church-music, see p. 219.

To the E. of St. Michael's is the Mauthalle or Custom House (Pl. E, 6; II), an old Augustine church, founded in 1240, restored in 1327, and remodelled in the baroque style in 1620. — Farther on is the Augustiner-Str., leading to the left from the Neuhauser-Str. to the —

Frauen-Kirche (Pl. F, 6; II), or Church of Our Lady, the cathedral of the Archbishopric of Munich and Freising, a brick edifice (320 ft. long, 118 ft. broad; vaulting 108 ft. high) in the late-Gothic style, erected by Jörg Ganghofer in 1468-88 and restored in 1858-68. The two uncompleted towers, 318 ft. high, were covered at the beginning of the 16th cent. with clumsy helmet-shaped roofs (ticket for ascent of the N. tower, 40 pf., obtained from the sexton). On the outside walls of the church are many ancient tombstones.

INTERIOR (adm., see p. 221; music, see p. 219). The nave and aisles are of equal height, borne by twenty-two slender octagonal pillars: rich groined vaulting. The windows, each 65 ft. high, are filled with fine stained glass, including the remains (sometimes wrongly arranged) of the old glazing of the 15-16th centuries. On the back of the choir-stalls are carved wooden figures by Erasmus Grasser (1502). — In the Chapel of the Mater Dolorosa are five bronze reliefs from the studio of Hans Krümpel. — At the W. end of the nave, under the organ-loft, is the *Monument of Emp. Lewis the Bavarian (d. 1347), erected in 1622 by Elector Maximilian I. (designed by P. Candid), a catafalque in dark marble, with figures and decorations in bronze; four knights at the corners guard the tomb; at the side are statues of the Wittelsbach princes Albert V. and William IV. Inserted in the pedestal is a slab of red marble with interesting old reliefs and an inscription (ca. 1490). The treasury contains a bust of St. Benno (beginning of the 17th cent.) and a chalice of the end of the 16th century.

The Kaufinger-Str. ends at the MARIEN-PLATZ (Pl. F, 6; II), which is adorned with a Column of the Madonna, erected in 1638 by Elector Maximilian I. to commemorate the victory on the Weisse Berg near Prague (1620). Enthroned on the column is the Virgin, the tutelary saint of Bavaria; four genii at the corners contend against a viper, a basilisk, a lion, and a dragon (plague, war, famine, and heresy). — At the N.E. corner of the square rises the Fischbrunnen, in bronze, designed by Knoll (1865). The figures allude to an old Munich custom called the 'Metzgersprung'.

The Old Rathaus (Pl. F 6, II; open all day, on Sun. 2-3 p.m. only; visitors ring the bell at Burg-Str. 18), on the E. side of the Platz, dates from the 14th cent. and was restored in 1865. The tower, under which runs the road to the Tal (p. 228), is adorned with paintings by F. Seitz. The great hall, restored in 1898, has a vaulted wooden ceiling and frieze with coats-of-arms and good figures of dancers carved in wood (15th cent.); on the walls are 23 standards of the Munich guilds (17-18th cent.). — On the N. side of the Platz is the New Rathaus (Pl. F, 6; II), a handsome Gothic edifice by Hauberrisser. The E. portion (of brick) was completed in 1874, the W. portion (of stone) in 1905. The façade

On the second floor are the Council Chambers, on the left that of the town-council, on the right that of the magistrates (adm., see p. 221; entr. by door No. 208 or on application to the keeper). In the former, filling the whole wall, is a large allegorical painting of 'Munichia' by K. von Piloty, illustrating the history of Munich (explanation of the portraits on the table); also portraits of Lewis II. by F. Piloty and Prince-Regent Luitpold by Kaulbach. The Magistrates' Room is adorned with a mural painting by W. Lindenschmit (progress of Munich under Lewis I.) and stained-glass windows by R. Seitz. Portrait of Lewis II. by Lenbach. Splendid carved timber ceiling, fine mantelpiece and chandelier. — In the sunk-floor (entrance in the Diener-Str.) is the Ratskeller (p. 216).

A room in the W. wing contains the Prince Regent Luitpold Military Museum, a collection of arms of Bavarian veterans (open free on weekdays, 2-3; entr. in the passage between the E. and W. wings).

A few paces to the S. E. of the Marien-Platz is the Church of St. Peter (Pl. F, 6; II), erected in 1181 as the first parish-church of Munich, but since repeatedly restored and remodelled (last in 1750). The main tower, which dates from 1379-86, affords a magnificent panorama (adm. 40 pf., ticket from verger; the white signal indicates that the Alps are visible). Inside, to the left of the main entrance, is the tomb of Ulrich Aresinger (d. 1485), in red marble, while to the right is that of Balthasar Böttschner and his wife, both by Erasmus Grasser (1482 and 1505). In the last chapel of the N. aisle is a reredos of painted sandstone with reliefs, presented by Barthold Schrenk (ca. 1400). The large high-altar dates from 1730.

From the Marien-Platz the Wein-Str. and Theatiner-Str. (p. 230) lead to the N. to the Ludwig-Str. (p. 238), while the Diener-Str. leads in much the same direction to the Max-Joseph-Platz (p. 230). No. 11 in the Wein-Str. is the Police Headquarters. — Passing to the E., through the archway in the tower of the old Rathaus, we reach the wide street named the TAL (Pl. F, 6; II). Immediately to the right is the Church of the Holy Ghost (Heilige Geist-kirche), originally erected in the 15th cent., but entirely remodelled in 1724-30 and 1885-88. Below the altar is the admirable brass of Duke Ferdinand of Bavaria (d. 1608). On the E. the Tal ends at the Isar-Tor (Pl. F, 6; II), a gate of 1314, arbitrarily restored in 1833, with a fresco by Bernhard Neher (1831), representing the triumphal entry of Emp. Lewis the Bavarian after the battle of Ampfing. In the Isar-Tor-Platz is the Fountain of Fortune, by K. Killer (1907). Ludwigs-Brücke, see p. 280.

To the S. of the Holy Ghost Church (p. 228) extends the Viktualien-Markt or Provision Market (Pl. F, 6; II), on the S. side of which is the large Grain Hall ('Schrannen-Halle'; Pl. E, F, 6, II), built by Muffat in 1853. — At St. Jakobs-Platz No. 1 is the City Historical Museum (Pl. F 6, II; adm., see p. 220), containing the Maillinger Collection, illustrative of the history of Munich. — At Sendlinger-Str. No. 80 is the office of the newspaper named the Münchener Neuesten Nachrichten, built by Heilmann & Littmann in 1906. A little farther to the S.W. is the Church of St. John Nepomuk (Pl. E, 6; II), also known as the Little Asam Church, built by the brothers Asam at their own expense in 1733-46. The interior is fantastically decorated with gilding, frescoes, and imitation marble. Adjacent, to the left, is the house in which the brothers Asam once lived. On the S. W. the street ends at the Sendlinger-Tor (Pl. E, 6; II), dating from the close of the 14th century. Sendlinger-Tor-Platz, see p. 279; Southern Cemetery, p. 281.

b. Lenbach-Platz. Maximilians-Platz. Maximilian-Strasse. German Museum.

The Karls-Platz (p. 225) is adjoined on the N. E. by the Lenbach-Platz and the Maximilians-Platz. The LENBACH-PLATZ (Pl. E, 5; II) is adorned with a Statue of Goethe, by Widmann (1869), and on the S. side of it rises the Künstlerhaus (Pl. E, 5; II), built in 1896-1900 by Gabriel von Seidl, and artistically fitted up in the interior (shown 10-6, in winter 10-5, Sun. 10-2; adm. 1 M; restaurant). Opposite, to the E, is the Synagogue, a Romanesque building by Albert Schmidt (1887). On the E. side of the square is the Herzog-Max-Burg, mentioned at p. 230. On the W. side are the German Bank and the Bavarian Bank, both built by Albert Schmidt in 1902, and between these is the Bernheimer-Haus, built in the baroque style by Friedrich von Thiersch in 1890.

The pleasure-grounds of the MAXIMILIANS-PLATZ (Pl. E, F, 5; II) were laid out by K. von Effner. At the S. W. end of the square rises the handsome Wittelsbach Fountain, erected by A. von Hildebrand in 1895 as an ornamental terminus of the city aqueduct. The lowest part of the fountain consists of a basin 82 ft. in length and 43 ft. in width, from which rises a pedestal bearing four masks, symbolical of the different 'temperaments' of water. On the top of this is a basin 18 ft. in diameter, and above this a smaller basin from which the water issues. On the right and left of the lower basin are two colossal groups in Untersberg marble (10 ft. high and 13 ft. wide): a female figure upon a water-bull and a male figure upon a water-horse, symbolizing respectively the fertilizing and destructive power of water. In the middle of the square are a seated marble figure of J. von Liebig (d. 1873), the chemist, by Wagnmüller and Rümman (1883), and a monument to M. von Pettenkofer (d. 1901), the sanitarian, by Rümman and Mayer (1909). Adjoining the monument is a marble bench with a Bust of Effner (1886). To the N. is the Exchange & Chamber of Commerce ('Haus für Handel und Gewerbe'), a polychrome modern building designed by Friedrich von Thiersch. Brienner-Str., see p. 247.

From the Lenbach-Platz (p. 229) the PFANDHAUS-STR. (Pl. E, 5; II) leads to the E. to the Promenade-Platz. Immediately to the right is the Herzog-Max-Burg (Pl. E, 5; II), built after 1590 by Duke William V. and named for his son; it is now occupied by various officials. To the left stand the Church of the Trinity, a baroque building by Viscardi (1714), and the Kunstgewerbe-Haus (Pl. E, F, 5, II; No. 7), built in the Renaissance style in 1877 by Knab and Gedon and containing the exhibition of the Bavarian Society of Industrial Art (adm., see p. 222). The banquet-hall is adorned with paintings by F. A. von Kaulbach, while the modern restaurant has been decorated by A. Niemeyer.

In the PROMENADE-PLATZ (Pl. E, F, 5; II) are five bronze statues. In the middle is Elector Max Emmanuel (1679-1726), conqueror of Belgrade, by Brugger (1861). To the right are Westenrieder (1748-1829), the historian, by Widmann (1854), and Gluck (1714-87), the composer, by Brugger; to the left are Kreittmayr (1705-90), the statesman, by Schwanthaler (1845), and Orlando di Lasso (1520-94), the composer (properly Roland de Lattre, of the Netherlands), by Widmann.

On the E. side of the PROMENADE-STR. (Pl. F 5, II; No. 13) is the house of the Museums-Gesellschaft, a baroque club-house built in 1770 as the Palais Porcia; No. 10 is the new building of the Bavarian Mortgage Bank, by E. Schmitt; No. 7 is the Archiepiscopal Palace, formerly the Palais Königsfeld, built in 1733-37, perhaps by Cuvilliers. A little to the N. is the Greek Church (Pl. F, 5; II), built in 1494 as the Church of St. Salvator and containing some old stained glass. — At Pranner-Str. No. 20 is the House of the Bavarian Diet ('Landtags-Gebäude'; Pl. F 5, II), rebuilt by Siebert in 1885 in the German Renaissance style.

The Maffei-Str., running to the E. from the Promenade-Platz, leads to the Theatiner-Str. (Pl. F 5, II; Ludwig-Str., see p. 238); on the right diverges the Wein-Str. (p. 228). Farther on we follow the Perusa-Str. to the MAX-JOSEPH-PLATZ (Pl. F, 5; II), in the middle of which is a Seated Figure of King Max I. Joseph* (d. 1825), in bronze, by Rauch (1835). On the N. side of the square is the Königsbau of the Royal Palace (p. 235). On the E. side is the Court Theatre (p. 236), and on the S. side is the General Post Office (built by Gunezrhainer in 1740 as the Palais Törring), with a colonnade by Klenze (1835). — To the S. of the Post Office is the Alte Hof (Pl. F, 6; II), begun in 1253 under the name of Alte Feste or Ludwigsburg, the earliest residence of the Bavarian dukes. It has been repeatedly altered and enlarged and now contains the Inland Revenue Office.

On the E. side of the Max-Joseph-Platz begins the fashionable MAXIMILIAN-STRASSE (Pl. F, G, 6; II), 1 M. in length and 25 yds. in breadth. It was constructed by King Max II. in 1854 and is much frequented in the afternoon. First, on the right, opposite the Hof-Theater, is the MINT (Pl. F, 6; II), practically rebuilt by Bürklein in 1859, with arcades. The old court, one of the earliest Renaissance structures in Munich (1563), is surrounded by three tiers of arched galleries, and was formerly the Tilt Yard ('Turnierhof'). About 200 yds. farther on a cross-street leads to the right to the Hofbräuhaus, or 'Court Brewery' (Pl. F, 6; II), reconstructed by Heilmann & Littmann in 1897. Two blocks farther on, Maximilian-Str. 34, is the Münchener Schauspielhaus (Pl. F, 6; II), erected by Heilmann & Littmann in 1901 and fitted up in a modern style by R. Riemerschmid. Immediately beyond it the street expands into a square ('Forum'), relieved with pleasure-grounds; on the left the Government Buildings ('Regierungs-Gebäude'; Pl. F, G, 6, II; 1858-64), on the right the German Museum (see below). In the centre rise four monuments: to the left a Statue of General Deroy (killed at Poloczka in 1812), by Halbig (1856); adjoining it, that of Count Rumford (d. 1814), the philanthropist and founder of the English Garden, by Zumbusch (1868). Opposite are the statues of Schelling, the philosopher (d. 1854), by Brugger (1861), and Fraunhofer, the optician (d. 1826), by Halbig (1861). At the E. end of the Platz rises the bronze Monument of King Maximilian II. (d. 1864), by Zumbusch (1875).

The German Museum (Pl. F, G, 6; II), founded in 1903 at the instigation of Herr O. von Miller and temporarily accommodated in the Old National Museum building by Riedel (1858-66), includes a collection of originals and models illustrating the development of natural science and the technical arts. All the objects bear labels, and many of the models may be set in motion (adm., see p. 220; good catalogue 1 M.). To the left of the entrance is a refreshment room. Collections in the old Barracks of the Heavy Cavalry, see p. 233. On its N. side is a limestone figure of Pallas Athene (18 ft. in height) by Drexler. On the island in the Isar is a monument to M. von Schwind, the painter, with figure of Legend and Poesy by Hähnel. On the right bank the street ascends the Gasteighöhe in two branches. On the slope, forming a suitable termination to the grand street, rises the —

Maximilianeum (Pl. G, 6; II), founded by King Maximilian II. for the instruction of the royal pages and other students. The architect was Bürklein. Admission, see p. 220. A broad circular approach ascends to the façade, which rises in two series of arches on a lofty terrace, hiding the square main building from the town. The slightly curved central part of the structure is adjoined by open arcades on each side, flanked with corner-towers. At the top of the handsome staircase are the sketches in oil for the paintings by K. von Piloty on the façade (replaced by glass mosaic in 1902): in the middle, Emp. c. Royal Palace. Hof-Garten.

The N. side of the Max-Joseph-Platz (p. 230) is bounded by the Royal Palace (Residenz; Pl. F 5, II), which consists of three parts; on the S. side towards the Platz the Königsbau, N. towards the Hof-Garten the Festsaalbau, and between these the Alte Residenz, or old palace, facing the Residenz-Str. [The names in parenthesis on the adjacent plan refer to the groundfloor.]

The Alte Residenz was built in 1598-1616, under Elector Maximilian I. The façade is painted with imitations of architectural features. Between the two portals of red marble is a bronze statue of the Virgin by Hans Krumper. By the door to the right we enter the Kapellenhof. The passage thence to the Brunnenhof contains 'Duke Christopher's Stone' (an inscription on the wall). To the right of the Kapellenhof is the Grottenhof, constructed in 1580-90, under William V., the finest of the courts, with a small garden and a fantastic shell-grotto; in the centre is the bronze Perseus Fountain, designed by P. Candid, surrounded by eight Putti with fish. From the S.E. corner a passage leads to the Königsbauhof, with fountain-figures of Neptune, etc. The Brunnenhof, to the E. of the Kapellenhof, is embellished by a fountain with a statue of Otho of Wittlesbach and other figures in bronze, erected under Maximilian I. The Allerheiligen-Kirche (p. 236) adjoins this court on the E.; to the S. a passage leads to the Hof-Theater (p. 236); to the N. is the Apothekenhof, whence a passage leads to the Marstall-Platz. In this passage are distributed the tickets of admission to the interior, an inspection of which takes about an hour (comp. p. 221).

The Treasury (adm., see p. 221) contains jewels and precious trinkets, including the Bavarian 'Hausdiamant', a magnificent blue diamond, and the 'pearl of the Palatinate', half black; goblets, orders, regalia, including the Bohemian crown of Frederick V. of the Palatinate (14th cent.), captured at Prague in 1620, and the crown of Emp. Henry II. ('the Saint'; d. 1024) and his wife Kunigunde (d. 1033); group of St. George and the Dragon, with the knight in chased gold, the dragon of jasper, and the whole adorned with diamonds, rubies, emeralds, and pearls (beginning of the 17th cent.); model of Trajan's Column, executed by the goldsmith Valadier (1763-83); violin of tortoise-shell.

F 5, II; performances, see p. 218), on the E. side of the Max-Joseph-Platz, one of the largest in Germany, accommodating 2200 spectators, was erected by Fischer in 1811-18, but was burned down in 1823 and re-erected in its original form by Klenze within eleven months. Handsome portico of eight Corinthian columns. The pedimental frescoes designed by Schwanthaler (Pegasus and the Horæ, Apollo and the Muses) were replaced in 1894 by glass mosaics. The interior deserves a visit, which takes an hour (parties taken round at 2 p.m. on Mon., Wed., & Sat.; closed on holidays; janitor, Maximilian-Str.; fee 50 pf.). Fine view of the Alps from the roof. — Between the Hof-Theater and the Allerheiligen-Kirche is the Residenz-Theater (Pl. F 5, II; adm., see p. 221; music, see p. 219), on the E. side of the palace, erected in 1826-37 by Klenze in the Byzantine-Romanesque style, with details borrowed from St. Mark's at Venice and the Cappella Palatina at Palermo, is sumptuously fitted up. The arches rest on columns of variegated marble with gilded capitals, the walls are covered with different coloured marbles; and the vaulting, window-arches, and choir are adorned with frescoes on a gold ground by Hess, Schraudolph, and Koch.

At the back of the Alte Residenz, in the Marstall-Platz, are the Royal Coach Houses and Harness Rooms (Hofwagenburg, Geschirr-und-Sattel-Kammer; adm., see p. 221), containing an extensive collection of vehicles belonging to the rulers of Bavaria in the 17-19th centuries. Among the most noteworthy objects are the state coaches and sleighs of Elector Max Emmanuel and of King Lewis II. On the upper floor are saddles, trappings, harness, etc.

To the W. of the Alte Residenz is the Feldherrn-Halle (Pl. F, 5; II), or Hall of the Generals, a copy of Orcagna's Loggia dei

The historical frescoes on the W. side, of events from the history of Bavaria, were executed by pupils of Cornelius. Beyond them are landscapes from Italy and Sicily (now much faded) by Karl Rottmann (p. 224). The distichs above the pictures are by King Lewis I. On the N. side, at the top, are thirty-nine small encaustic paintings from the Greek War of Independence, from sketches by P. Hess (p. 266). — In the seven niches at the N.E. end are the labours of Hercules in colossal wooden groups, executed by *R. Façade flanked with two towers 210 ft. in height. Mosaic roof of coloured tiles. Above the portal, colossal statues of Christ and the Evangelists, by Schwanthaler. The entire wall at the back of the high-altar is covered with the Last Judgment, the largest of the frescoes of Cornelius (1836-40), 60 ft. high, 36 ft. broad. The other frescoes, designed by Cornelius, were executed by his pupils (God the Father, the Nativity and Crucifixion, Patriarchs, Prophets, Martyrs).

E 5, II; 255 yds. long, central part 75 ft. high), erected in 1854 entirely of glass and iron, under Voit's direction, for exhibitions. Since 1888 it has been used for the Annual Exhibition of Art (see p. 222; restaurant). — A little to the E., at the corner of the Arco-Str. and the Barer-Str., is the bronze *Monument of F. X. To the N. of the Basilica lies the handsome KÖNIGS-PLATZ (Pl. E. 5; II), with three classical edifices of the reign of Lewis I.: the Exhibition Building on the S., the Propylæa on the W., and the Glyptothek on the N.

The Exhibition Building (Kunst-Ausstellungs-Gebäude; Pl. E 5, II), in the Corinthian style, with a porticus of eight columns, was completed by Ziebland in 1845. In the tympanum is Bavaria, bestowing wreaths on artists, by Schwanthaler. It contains the permanent exhibition of works by the members of the Munich 'Secession' (p. 222).

The Propylæa (Pl. E, 5; II), a magnificent gateway, with Doric columns outside, and Ionic inside, was designed by Klenze, and completed in 1862. The reliefs by Schefzky (after Hiltensperger) represent scenes from the Greek War of Independence and the régime of King Otho. On the inner walls are inscribed the names of the heroes of the war and of famous philhellenists. On the day after its inauguration (30th Oct., 1862) the ex-monarch of Greece (d. 1867) returned to his native city.

The Glyptothek (Pl. E, 4, 5; II), or 'Repository of Sculptures', contains ancient sculptures collected chiefly by Lewis I. when crown-prince, in 1805-16. The building, erected by Klenze in 1816-30, is externally in the Ionic style, with a porch of eight columns; the interior is vaulted, and tends to the Roman style. The group in the tympanum, designed by Wagner, and executed by Schwanthaler and others in marble, represents Minerva as protectress of the plastic art. The niches in front and on the sides contain marble statues of famous sculptors. The rooms are not heated in winter. Admission, see p. 220 (closed during the second week of the October Festival). Short guide $\frac{1}{2}$, with illustrations (1907) 2*M*; detailed catalogue 3*M*.

In the hall, seven reliefs in alabaster (1-7), originally coloured, with winged genii, etc., and cuneiform inscriptions.

ORIGIN OF THE COLLECTION. This fine picture gallery has been formed by the union of three different collections. As early as the 16th and 17th centuries the Bavarian princes were noted for their love of art. Elector Maximilian I. in particular was an enthusiastic admirer of Dürer, and secured at Nuremberg several of that master's finest works. In 1805 this collection was enriched by the removal to Munich of the celebrated Düsseldorf Gallery, founded by the Electors of the Palatinate. The numerous examples of Netherlandish masters of the 17th cent., including the fine Rubens collection, formed part of the Düsseldorf Gallery. The third constituent part of the Pinakothek is the Boissierée Collection, being works of the Lower Rhenish School rescued by the brothers Sulpice and Melchior Boissierée and their friend Bertram from churches and monasteries suppressed at Cologne in 1805-1810. Fortunate purchases in the Netherlands added some important works of the Van Eyck school. The addition of this valuable collection to the Pinakothek in 1827 placed it in the foremost rank as a gallery for the study of northern art. Under King Lewis I. the gallery was farther extended by the addition of the Wallerstein collection in 1828, and of several valuable works purchased at different times in Italy.

The pre-Raphaelite Italian schools are scantily represented in the Munich Gallery; probably the most important examples are the Annunciation by Fra Filippo Lippi (Room VIII, No. 1005); Sandro Botticelli's Pietà (Room VIII, 1010); an altar-piece by Ghirlandajo (R. VIII, 1011-1013); the Madonna by Signorelli (R. VIII, 1026a); Cima da Conegliano's Madonna (Cab. XVII, 1033); the Madonna by Francesco Francia (R. VIII, 1039); and Perugino's Vision of St. Bernard (R. VIII, No. 1034). The finest of the works by Raphael is undoubtedly the Madonna of the Tempi family (Cab. XIX, 1050), painted in his Florentine period; the contemporary Holy Family of the Canigiani family (R. VIII, 1049) has suffered from cleaning, the angels at the top having entirely vanished. There exist several replicas of the Madonna della Tenda (Cab. XIX, 1051; Roman period) at Turin and elsewhere, but the Munich example is considered the best. Not one of the works ascribed to Correggio is authenticated. The best of the many examples of the Venetian school are Titian's Emp. Charles V. (R. IX, 1112), his Christ crowned with thorns (R. IX, 1114), and Palma Vecchio's Portrait of himself (R. IX, 1107). Murillo's exquisite Beggar Boys (R. XI) are sure of attention. Early Flemish painting is seen to the greatest advantage in Rogier van der Weyden's Triptych (R. II, 101-103) and St. Luke (R. II, 100), Memling's Seven Joys of Mary (Cab. V, 116), and the winged altar-pieces and the triptych by Dierick Bouts (Cab. V, 107-111). The Cologne works of the 15th and 16th centuries will chiefly attract the professional eye, while several works of the Swabian and Franconian schools are of general interest and high artistic importance. Prominent among these German masters stands Holbein the Elder, to whom the altar-piece with St. Sebastian (R. III, 209-211) is now rightly ascribed. Dürer's Four Apostles, or the 'Four Temperaments' (R. III, 247, 248), the painter's 'testament as artist, as man, as patriot, and as Protestant', deserve the closest study, especially the magnificent St. Paul in the famous white robe, unrivalled in its plastic modelling. Other important works by Dürer are his Portrait of himself (Cab. III, 239), the Portrait of O. Krell (Cab. III, 236), and the Paumgartner altar-piece (R. III, 240-242). The SS. Mauritius and Erasmus (R. III, 281) by Grünewald, the Battle of Arbela (Cab. IV, 290), by Albrecht Altdorfer, the Crucifixion (Cab. IV, no number) by Cranach the Elder, and the Portrait (Cab. IV, 286) by Hans Baldung Grien are also worthy of notice.

Next to Antwerp and Vienna, Munich best shows the versatility of Rubens. Among the eighty-nine pictures formerly catalogued here under his name are some school-pieces, but they include also several of his finest creations. The vast range of his genius may be estimated by glancing from the stupendous Last Judgment to the Lion Hunt, from the Battle of the Amazons to the Children with festoons of fruit, from the sketches for the Medici pictures in the Louvre to the Bacchanalian scenes. Rubens's best pupil, Van Dyck, is also well represented by several portraits (R. VII). The Descent from the Cross (Cab. VIII, 326) is the finest of the numerous examples of Rembrandt. The canvases of A. Brouwer (Cab. XV), notable partly for their rarity, the genre-pieces of Terburg and Metsu, and the humorous subjects of Jan Steen also deserve attention. The works of the Italian painters of the 17th cent. generally meet with scant notice, but the Adoration of the Magi by Tiepolo (R. X, 1271), at least, does not merit this fate. The Mourning over the body of Christ, by N. Poussin (R. XII, 1321), is a work of great beauty.

the Temple, 25. Marriage of the Virgin, 26. Annunciation, 27. Visitation, 28. Assumption, 29. Coronation of the Virgin; *1. Meister Wilhelm of Cologne, St. Veronica with the napkin; 43. Master of the Holy Kinship, Circumcision.

Death of the Virgin; 229-232. M. Wolgemut, Four altar-wings with scenes from the Passion; *281. Matthias Grünewald, SS. Mauritius and Erasmus; 188, 189. B. Strigel, Portraits of the Rehlingen family, patricians of Augsburg. — W. wall: 209, *210, *211. H. Holbein the Elder, Triptych: centre, Martyrdom of St. Sebastian; at the sides (by Holbein the Younger?), SS. Barbara and Elizabeth (on the backs of the wings, Annunciation).

This work may be styled the artist's masterpiece, and far transcends any of his previous efforts. Without excessive or violent motion, the picture is full of dramatic power. The head of the saint is well individualized and expressive of a high degree of patient suffering, while the nude body shows careful observation of nature. See Holbein und seine Zeit, by Professor Alfred Woltmann.

*240, *241, *242. Dürer. The Paumgartner altar-piece (ca. 1503, a triptych: in the centre the Nativity, on each side the donors, Stephan and Lucas Paumgartner, in armour (repainting removed in 1902; on the back of No. 241, Figure of the Virgin, in grey and white). Above, 201-208. Holbein the Elder, Wings of the Kaisheim altar, with scenes from the life of Mary. — N. wall: *244. Dürer, Death of Lucretia (1518); no number, M. Reichlich, SS. James and Stephen; Dürer, 247. SS. Peter and John, 248. SS. Paul and Mark (completed in 1526; see p. 249).

The four Apostles are at the same time prototypes of the four 'Complexions', St. John representing the melancholic, St. Peter the phlegmatic, St. Paul the choleric, and St. Mark the sanguine temperament. The panel with SS. Paul and Mark is the finer of the two. St. Paul is one of the most majestic figures ever conceived by the master, and appears as if just on the point of battling for his faith with word or blow. A great deal more labour in the details has been bestowed upon St. Paul than upon the other figures, and it is also the best-preserved.

The white mantle is a marvel of plastic painting, and is admirably shaded. — 'Dürer', by Prof. Moritz Thausing.

This remarkable series of scenes from the history of Christ (Nos. 326-331) was executed in 1633-39 for Prince Frederick Henry, Stadtholder of the Netherlands. The finest of the series is the Entombment, which is painted with a broad and vigorous touch, and is of ample, dry, and granulated impasto. The colouring in general is sombre, and in the background and the figures in the foreground there are shades of brown which recall the Spanish colourists. A powerful effect is produced by the group on which the high light falls, where the colours have been laid on with great freedom. — 'Rembrandt: sa Vie et ses Œuvres', by C. Vosmaer.

'Very happily and with a proper feeling of his own powers, Rubens has here given only a corner in the background to the Blessed, whose heavenly calm and ethereal existence he was incapable of expressing; and he has devoted the whole of the remaining space to the fall of the Damned, his true sphere. . . . The whole produces an admirable effect by the broad manner in which the light is managed. The colouring is powerful, but not extravagant; the treatment particularly easy and clever'. — 'Life of Rubens', by Prof. Waagen.

'The admirable effect of the whole is increased by a decided and masterly arrangement of the light; the colouring is forcible without being overcharged, and the execution of the principal parts must be called careful for Rubens. In the whole range of modern art there exists no other historical battle-piece worthy of being compared with Raphael's Battle of Constantine; and in fact it has the advantage over the latter in the well-planned concentration of interest, and in the contrast afforded by the male and female figures, which is admirably employed.' — Waagen.

'It is impossible to conceive better arrangement, greater harmony of lines, or more boldness of movement. *1109. Titian, Madonna with John the Baptist.

'The head and foot of St. John, and the head of the Virgin are damaged by abrasion and retouching; yet the picture is still a lovely one of Titian, and the landscape to the right, with blue mountains and nearer ranges dotted with church and campanile, is beautifully painted.' — 'Titian', by Crowe and Cavalcaselle.

1115. Titian(?), Venetian noble; 1086. P. F. Bissolo, Holy Family with Elizabeth and the infant John. — E. wall: *1107. Palma Vecchio (Giorgione?), Portrait of himself.

'A noble portrait by Palma Vecchio', probably of the painter himself.

'Whoever he may be, the man is of strong and energetic mould; the glance of his eye is so rapid, open, and expressive as to convey the best impression of nature's instant action; there is a breadth of modelling and a variety of toning beyond measure telling and truthful; and the play of the features is admirable.' C. & C.

Both in tone and execution this beautiful work is closely allied to the celebrated Madonna of the House of Orleans. The colours are laid on thinly, with a somewhat fuller impasto in the whitish light. It is a true touch of nature which makes the mother accompany the close

Obergeschoss

The Bronze Foundry (Erzgiesserei; Pl. D 4, I), in the Erzgiesserei-Str., enjoys a high reputation. Founded in 1825 by Stiglmayer (d. 1844), it was afterwards managed by his nephew Ferd. von Miller (d. 1887), and now belongs to the sons of the latter. — A few paces to the N.W., in the Ferdinand-Miller-Platz, is the Church of St. Benno (Pl. D, 4; I), in the Romanesque style.

To the W. of the Bronze Foundry lie the Military Hospital, the Maximilian Barracks, and the Artillery Workshops. Other large military structures have recently been erected in the Marsfeld, to the W. of the Stiglmayer-Platz. Among these are the buildings of the Corps of Cadets (Pl. D 4, I; façade 735 ft. long), in the Mars-Platz; the Military School (façade 465 ft. long), in the Blumenburger-Str.; and the Military Academy (Kriegs-Akademie; Pl. g. National Museum. Schack Gallery. English Garden.

A little to the N. of the Hof-Garten (p. 237) begins the PRINZ-REGENTEN-STRASSE (Pl. F, G, 5; II), which leads to the Isar, skirting the S. margin of the English Garden (p. 278) and passing various handsome new buildings. On the N. side of the street are the Bavarian National Museum (see below), the Hubertus-Brunnen, a tasteful fountain temple with sculptures, by A. von Hildebrand, and the Prussian Embassy, with the Schack Gallery (p. 276). At the end of the street the Isar is crossed by the Luitpold-Brücke (Pl. G, 5; II), which has been rebuilt since its destruction by a flood in 1899. At the W. end of the bridge are recumbent figures of Bavaria (by H. Hahn) and the Palatinate (by A. Drumm), at the E. end Franconia (by B. Schmitt) and Swabia (by E. Kurz). On the right bank of the Isar flights of steps and inclined driveways ascend to the Peace Monument (Pl. G, 5; II), a column with the Genius of Peace, by Petzold, Düll, and Heilmaier, erected in 1898 to commemorate the peace of 1871. The view of the city from the terrace is somewhat blocked by new buildings. The Prinz-Regenten-Strasse is continued, passing the Villa Stuck (r.), to the Prinz-Regenten-Theater (Pl. H, 5, 6, I; p. 219), an imposing and finely articulated edifice, erected by Littmann & Heilmann in 1901, under the inspiration of ancient art. The interior, in a severe Renaissance style, is shown to visitors at 3 p.m. on Tues., Thurs., & Frid. (janitor, Niger-Str., 50 pf.; closed in July, Aug., & Sept.).

The Bavarian National Museum (Pl. G 5, II; adm., see p. 220), founded by King Max II. in 1854 and formerly exhibited in the Maximilian-Str., was transferred in 1900 to an extensive building in the Prinz-Regenten-Str., erected in 1894 et seq. from the designs of Gabriel Seidl. The imposing exterior, by a skilful blending of forms characteristic of the various styles or stages in the development of German architecture, suggests the scope and nature of the museum. The interior also has been skilfully adapted to the nature of the collections. In the historical section each room reflects in its fitting up the period to which its contents belong, while the special collections ('Fachsammlungen') of objects of industrial art are exhibited in well-lighted rooms in a modern style. The various original ceilings, from many different centuries, deserve special attention. — Guide (1908) 60 pf. — The briefest visit to the whole museum takes three hours. Those who are pressed for time should confine themselves to the groundfloor.

The 48 rooms of the GROUND FLOOR contain chronologically arranged collections of works of art from prehistoric times to the present day, representing Germany, with special reference to Bavaria. On the FIRST FLOOR (34 rooms) are the special collections. The COURTS to the right of the vestibule contain, interspersed among the flower-beds, Roman, early-Christian, and mediæval sculptures and architectural fragments, including the so-called Huns' Column of Miltenberg (1st court). The English Garden (Pl. G, H, 3, 4; I), a park of 600 acres, originally laid out about 1800, with fine old trees, and watered by two arms of the Isar, affords delightful walks in summer. From the corner of the Prinz-Regenten-Str. and the Königin-Str. (Pl. F, 5; I) a walk leads along the river to an artificial cascade beside the Brunnhaus (Pl. G, 5; I). Farther on we reach the Monopteros (Pl. G, 4; I), a small temple designed by Klenze (to the left, on a height), and then a small lake, with rare waterfowl, and the Chinese Tower (Pl. G 4, I; café). Still farther on is the little lake of Kleinhesselohe (restaurant), used for boating and skating. To the E. of this is the Milchhäusl (Pl. H 3, I; café). At the N. end is the Aumeister, a forester's house with a restaurant.

To the E. of the park is the Max-Joseph-Brücke (Pl. G, H, 4; I), which is adorned with animal-reliefs and groups of the Elements. It leads across the Isar to Bogenhausen, with the Observatory (Sternwarte; Pl. H 5, I; open on Tues. & Frid., 2-4; adm. 50 pf.; tramway No. 9, p. 218). To the W. extends the THERESIENWIESE (Pl. D, 6, 7; I), the scene of the October Festival (p. 219). It is surrounded by new streets containing many handsome buildings in the German baroque style. On the N.E. side is the modern Gothic Church of St. Paul (Pl. D, 6; I), by Hauberrisser (1895-1902).

On a height on the W. side of the Theresienwiese, in front of the Hall of Fame and $1\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the S.W. of the Karls-Tor (tramway-line 19, p. 218), rises a colossal statue of Bavaria (Pl. D, 7; I), in bronze, designed by Schwanthaler and cast by Ferd. Miller (1850). It measures 62 ft. to the top of the wreath which the figure holds aloft (or, including the pedestal, 100 ft.). The ascent is most comfortably made early in the morning, before the metal has been heated by the sun. (adm., see p. 220). The base of the figure is reached by 66 steps, and an iron spiral staircase of 60 steps more ascends within it to the head, which has room for five persons. In clear weather the view through the apertures includes an extensive panorama of the distant Alps. — The RUHMESHALLE or Hall of Fame, a Doric colonnade with projecting wings, designed by Klenze, and completed in 1853, contains busts of eighty Bavarian notabilities. — To the N. of the Bavaria is the Exhibition Building of 1908 (restaurant), including the Künstler-Theater (Theatre Café, see p. 217), built by Littmann and interesting for the simplified arrangement of its stage. — On the height in the vicinity is a shed for a Parseval Air Ship.

The park is open to the public.

Nymphenburg, a village on the W. side of the city but incorporated with it in 1900, deserves a visit because of the château, the Amalienburg, and the park.

The SCHLOSS (Pl. A, 3; I), an extensive group of buildings with a façade 660 yds. in length, was erected in 1663-1728. The central structure, with its five stories, was built by Barelli, while Viscardi added the galleries in 1702, and Effner the wings in 1718. The E. part, enclosing pleasure-grounds and a pond, dates from the reign of Max Joseph III. The most interesting part of the interior (adm., see above) is the large hall, tastefully decorated in the German rococo style by J. B. Zimmermann (1756).

To the W. of the château is a large *Park (comp. inset-map on Plan I), laid out partly in the French, partly in the English style, and containing two large ponds, a cascade descending over marble steps (at the W. end of the canal), and some fine green-houses in which the Brazilian plants are especially noteworthy. In the nearer part of the park, to the N., is the MAGDALEN CHAPEL, built by Effner to imitate a ruin (1725); to the S. is the *AMALIENBURG, a small building by Cuvilliés (1734-39), the interior decoration of which is one of the best efforts of the rococo period. In the remoter part of the park are the BADENBURG (1718; to the S.) and the PAGODENBURG (1716; to the N.).

In the N.E. part of the 'rondell' is the royal Porcelain Manufactory, founded at Nendek in 1747, transferred to Nymphenburg in 1758, and now in private hands. B3, I), built by Grässel in the German baroque style. To the E. of this, in the Dom-Pedro-Platz, is the Christus-Kirche (Prot.), by Th. Fischer.

To the S. of the Viktualien-Markt (p. 229) lies the GÄRTNER-PLATZ (Pl. F, 6, 7; II), with statues of Gärtner (d. 1847) and Klenze (d. 1864), the architects, and the Gärtner-Platz Theatre (p. 219).

From the Museums-Insel (p. 233) the Ludwigs-Brücke (Pl. G, 6, 7; II), remodelled in 1891-94 and furnished with allegorical figures of industry and trade (by Eberle), fishing (by Hahn), and art (by Kaufmann), leads to the district of HAIDHAUSEN. Immediately to the left are the imposing Public Baths* (Städtische Volksbad; Pl. G 6, II), endowed by Karl Müller, the engineer, and erected in 1901 by Hocheder in the German baroque style.

Farther to the E. is the Church of St. John (Pl. G, H, 6; II), built in the Gothic style by Berger in 1852-74. To the N.W. of this point is the Maximilianeum (p. 233).

About $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the E. of the Eastern Railway Station (Pl. H, 7; I), lies Berg am Laim (called at by suburban trains), with the Court Church of St. Michael, built J. M. Fischer in 1737-51; the charming interior, in the rococo style, deserves a visit.

At the S. end of the Museums-Insel is the Cornelius-Brücke (Pl. F, 7; I), built by F. von Thiersch, and destined to be adorned with a monument of Lewis II.

Farther to the S.W. is the Reichenbach-Brücke (Pl. F, 7; I), with reliefs of water-nymphs and kelpies by Dasio and Gedon. — The Maximilians-Kirche (Pl. F, 7; I) was built by H. von Schmidt in the Italian-Romanesque style in 1901. — On the S. side of the Wittelsbacher Brücke (Pl. E, 8; I) is a massive equestrian statue of Otho of Wittelsbach, by Wrba.

In the hilly part of the suburb of Au, on the right bank of the Isar, are numerous beer-gardens (see p. 216). Below is the Mariahilf-Kirche or Auer-Kirche (Pl. F, 7; I), built in the early-Gothic style by Ohlmüller in 1831-39, and containing stained-glass windows from designs by Schraudolph and others (adm., see p. 221). — Farther to the S., in the suburb of Giesing, is the high-lying Giesinger-Kirche (Pl. F, 9; I), built by Dollmann in the Gothic style in 1865-84, and commanding a view of the city and the mountains. Isar-Auen, see p. 283.

The finest monuments in the cemeteries of Munich are those in the South Cemetery (Pl. E 7, I; tramway No. 10, p. 218), and the New Cemetery, adjoining it on the S. Visits may also be paid to the East Cemetery (Pl. G 8, I; tramway Nos. 7 & 12), with the colonnade and rotunda by Grässel; the Old North Cemetery (Pl. E, 3, 4; I); and the new Waldfriedhof or Forest Cemetery, laid out by Grässel to the S.W. of the city (tramway No. 16 or 18; comp. the adjacent map).

i. Environs of Munich.

Schleissheim, situated about 7 M. to the N. of Munich on the Ratisbon Railway (p. 214; $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.; fares 1 M, 40 pf.), consists of three châteaux. About $\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the E. of the railway-station (1516 ft.) is the Alte Schloss, begun in 1597 under William V., and now the seat of the Estate Office and of a cavalry remount dépôt (restaurant). Beyond, to the E., is the New Schloss, and 1 M. farther on is the little château of Lustheim.

The NEW PALACE (NEUE SCHLOSS; castellan in the left wing), with a façade 365 yds. in length, was erected for Elector Max Emmanuel in 1701-04 by E. Zuccali in a style recalling the Palace of Versailles. The interior was admirably fitted up by Effner in 1715-22, and illustrates the transition from the baroque to the German rococo style. Most of the ceiling-paintings are by Amigoni, the stucco embellishments of the staircase by Dubât.

The château contains an important PICTURE GALLERY, with about 1400 works. It is open free daily, except Mon., from Easter till Oct. 31st (groundfloor 10-12, upper floor 2-6, both open 10-12 & 2-6 on Sun.), and from Nov. to Easter on application to the attendants. Catalogue (1905, 1 fl.). Rooms I-XI (l.), on the groundfloor, contain the early Netherlandish and German schools, while RR. XIII-XVIII (r.) are devoted to the Italian schools. On the upper floor are late-German, Dutch, and Flemish works, portraits, and the Wittelsbach Ancestral Gallery. The portraits are mainly in R. 24. The South Pavilion contains the works of modern masters, including (upper floor) 22 paintings by H. von Marées (d. 1887).

Behind the palace are fountains and gardens extending to Lustheim, a small château built by Zuccali in 1685-90, and containing some pictures (key kept by the forester in the park behind the château, to the right).

About 5 M. to the W. of Schleissheim and 9 M. to the N.W. of Munich, on the railway to Ingolstadt (p. 208; $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.; fares 95, 35 pf.), lies Dachau (1590 ft.; Ziegler, with veranda affording a good view; Moorbad Dachau), a market-town with 5000 inhab. on the Amper. It is much frequented by painters. About $\frac{3}{4}$ M. to the W. of the railway-station are the loftily-situated church and the district-offices, whence we reach the Château in 2 min. by ascending to the left. On the groundfloor of the château is the District Museum, containing examples of peasants' rooms fitted up in their original style (open 8-12 & 2-5; 30 pf.). On the first floor is a gallery of modern paintings. Behind the château is the Hof-Garten, commanding a fine view of Dachau, Munich, the surrounding plain, and the distant mountains.

Pasing, to the W. of Munich, the first station on the Starnberg, Augsburg, and Lindau lines (pp. 283, 209, 286; $4\frac{1}{2}$ M., in 11-16 min.; fares 40, 15 pf.), and also reached from the Karls-Platz by tramway No. 29 (p. 218), is the starting-point for a visit to the churches of Pipping and Blumenburg, which possess considerable artistic interest. The church of Pipping, $\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the N. of Pasing, was built in 1478-79. The interior has remained unchanged, and, with its old stained glass, altars, choir-stalls, and frescoes, affords a charming picture of a late-Gothic country-church of the 15th century. — About $\frac{3}{4}$ M. to the N. of this lies Blutenburg, now a school of English nuns. The church (fee 50 pf.), built in 1490 by Duke Sigismund as a court-chapel, contains a high-altar and two side-altars of 1491, with paintings of the Munich school; fine wooden figures of the Apostles, the Virgin, and the Risen Christ, of the same period; and stained-glass windows of 1497 with scenes from the Passion and coats-of arms of the Wittelsbach family. — Local railway from Pasing to Herrsching, see p. 286.

On the right bank of the Isar, above the Reichenbach bridge (p. 281), begin the pretty Isar-Auen, through which roads lead up the river past the Wittelsbach bridge (Pl. E, 8; I) and under the railway (fine view of the charmingly situated Talkirchen, p. 301). Then, to the right, we enter the Marienklause, ascend the steps, and follow the bank through fine wood to the (1½ hr.) Menter-schwaige and to Grosshesselohe (see below).

The Lake of Starnberg, or Würmsee (1920 ft.), 12¹/₂ M. long, 1¹/₄-3 M. in width, and 370 ft. deep, is enclosed by banks of moderate height, which are covered with villas and parks. The principal charm of the scenery is the view of the distant mountains to the S. The following are the conspicuous peaks, from E. to W.: Wendelstein, Brecherspitzze, Kirchstein, Benediktenwand, Karwendel-Gebirge, Jochberg, Herzogstand, Heimgarten, Krottenkopf, Wetterstein range with the Zugspitze, and Ettaler Mandl.

STEAMBOAT JOURNEY. On the hill to the right, beyond Starnberg, rises the villa of Count Almeida. On the bank, farther on, are a number of other villas. Stat. Niederpöcking. Possenhofen (Schauer), with a château of the late Duke Charles Theodore of Bavaria, lies about ¹/₂ M. to the E. of the railway-station of that name (p. 285). Pleasant walk through wood, ascending to the right (way-posts), to (1 M.) Feldafing (see p. 285). In the lake below lies the Rosen-Insel, a wooded island with a royal cottage (reached by boat in 10 min.; admission free).

The first station on the E. bank is Schloss Berg (Hôtel am See, with veranda and garden; Hôtel Schloss Berg, ¹/₄ M. from the lake, both very fair). About ¹/₄ M. from the pier is Schloss Berg (adm. daily in summer, 8-11 and 12-6; 50 pf.), a royal château with a large park, where King Lewis II. of Bavaria perished in the lake on June 13th, 1886. A road leads through the park to (1 M.) Leoni (see below), passing the spot where the bodies of King Lewis II. and Dr. von Gudden were found. Opposite is a Romanesque memorial chapel (1901).

Farther on, opposite Possenhofen, lies Leoni (Hôtel Leoni*, at the wharf, R. 1¹/₂-2 M.; Bayrisches Haus, 1¹/₂ M. to the S.). On the hill above it rises the church of Aufkirchen. A cable-railway (fare 30, down 20 pf.) ascends in 7-8 min. from the landing-place to (1¹/₄ M.) the hotel and sanatorium on the top of the Rottmannshöhe (2165 ft.). About ¹/₂ M. to the S. is the Bismarck Tower (*View), completed in 1899. — To Wolfratshausen, see p. 302.

On the W. bank a number of parks and gardens extend from Possenhofen to (3 M.) Garatshausen, with a château of Prince Thurn and Taxis. Next stat. Tutzing (Seehof*, with garden on the lake, R. from 2 M; Hôtel Simson*, at the station, $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. from the lake, R. 2-4 M), with a nunnery. — The Johannishügel, $\frac{3}{4}$ M. to the S., commands a charming view; a still finer one is enjoyed from the Ilkahöhe* (2390 ft.; inn), near Oberzeismering ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.).

RAILWAY JOURNEY (views to the left). — $20\frac{1}{2}$ M. Possenhofen. — 22 M. Feldafing (Kaiserin Elisabeth*, R. 3-6, pens. 7-10 M; Neuschwanstein*), 1 M. from the lake. — Before reaching (25 M.) Tutzing (Rail. Restaurant; to Kochel, see p. 303) we have a good view of the lake and mountains to the left. The line turns towards the S.W. — $33\frac{1}{2}$ M. Weilheim (1845 ft.; Bräuwaßl, with garden; Post; Railway Restaurant), a small town (4900 inhab.) on the Ammer. About $7\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the W. of Weilheim is the secularized Benedictine monastery of Wessobrunn ('Wessobrunner Gebet', see p. 239, founded by Duke Thassilo ca. 753. The convent-church was razed in 1810. The rococo parish-church (1757) contains a painted wooden Crucifix of the second half of the 13th century. The conventual buildings, erected in 1680-1700, now form the château of Baron von Cramer-Klett. On the upper floor is interesting stucco-ornamentation of the early 18th century.

$38\frac{1}{2}$ M. Peissenberg (1940 ft.). About $1\frac{1}{3}$ M. from the station is the Hôtel Bad Hohensulz (2020 ft.; pens. 4-6 M), with sulphur and chalybeate springs, a hydropathic, a restaurant, and shady walks.

The Hohe Peissenberg* (3192 ft.), the finest point of view in the vicinity of the Starnberger-See, is ascended in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. by the easy and well-shaded path (indicated by blue and white marks), which diverges to the left from the road beyond the restaurant and leads viâ the Sulzerbach Waterfall, the Quellenhaus, and the Schöne Aussicht. The descent may be made to the S.E., across the ridge (fine views), to the Weinbauer (2395 ft., inn, good wine), and thence in windings to (1 hr.) the railway-station of Peissenberg. The Hohe Peissenberg affords a remarkably extensive panorama owing to its isolated position opposite the centre of the Bavarian Alps. On the summit are a pilgrimage-church, a school (with an observatory on the roof; adm. 20 pf.), and a plain Inn.

Füssen (2615 ft.), a small town (4500 inhab.) pleasantly situated on the left bank of the Lech, and dominated by a castle erected by the bishops of Augsburg in the 15th cent., restored by King Lewis I., and now occupied by the district-court, is a frequented summer-resort. Below the castle are the suppressed Benedictine abbey of St. Mang, founded in 629 (now private property), and the Church of St. Magnus, erected in 1701-17 on older foundations, with an early-Romanesque crypt beneath the E. choir. The gate in the town-wall between the castle and the church commands a fine view. — On the Lech, about ½ M. to the W. of Füssen, is the small sulphur bath of Faulenbach.

On the right bank of the Lech, a few hundred paces above the bridge, a path with pilgrimage-stations ascends from the church to (½ hr.) the Calvarienberg* (3130 ft.), commanding a beautiful view of the valley of the Lech and Füssen, Hohenschwangau, and Neuschwanstein. A footpath leads hence, skirting the Schwansee, direct to (1 hr.) Hohenschwangau.

The ROAD FROM FÜSSEN TO HOHENSCHWANGAU (3 M.) crosses the Lech, turns to the left, and descends the right bank of the Lech. It then turns to the right, passing the Café Rupprecht and the ($1\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Alterschrofen Inn, and leads through the park, skirting the Schlossberg, to ($1\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Hohenschwangau. — PEDESTRIANS ($1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) follow the road to Reutte (p. 294), to the right beyond the bridge, for 5 min., then ascend the path to the left on the slope of the Calvarienberg, which leads past the (7 min.) view-point known as the 'Kanzel', and passes through wood to (6 min.) the so-called 'König-Strasse' (driving forbidden). We now descend gently to the left, while the route to the Alpenrosen-Weg (see below) maintains a straight direction. In 18 min. we pass through a deer fence and obtain our first glimpse of the Schwansee, with Hohen-schwangau to the right and Neu-Schwanstein to the left. Before reaching the Schwansee (2592 ft.) we take the footpath to the right, which skirts the lake and (18 min.) ascends to the right. In 12 min. we descend to the left by the 'Fürsten-Strasse' (to the right, below, the Alpsee). In 2 min. more we may either keep straight on for (5 min.) the village of Hohenschwangau or turn to the left for the castle. — A longer but finer route ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) is offered by the Alpenrosen-Weg, which begins at the Weissshaus (p. 294) and winds along the wooded slope of the Schwarzenberg, commanding beautiful views. This route may be joined from the Schwarz-Brücke or from the Königstrasse (see above).

Hohenschwangau. — HOTELS. Hôt.-Pens. Schwansee*, $\frac{1}{2}$ M. from the Alpsee, outside the park, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ 1, D. $3\frac{1}{2}$ M.; Hôt.-Pens. Alpenrose*, beautifully situated on the Alpsee, R. 3 7 M., B. 1 M 30 pf., D. 4 M; Hôt. Liesl, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ 3 $\frac{1}{2}$, B. 1 M, very fair.

The castles of Hohenschwangau and Neu-Schwanstein are open from May 10th to Oct. 18th, week-days 9-12 and 2-5, Sun. and holidays 10-12 and 2-5; closed on June 13th, the anniversary of King Lewis II.'s death. Adm. to Schloss Hohenschwangau 50 pf., to Schloss Neu-Schwanstein 3. Sun. $1\frac{1}{2}$ M.

Hohenschwangau (2690 ft.), a small village at the foot of a wooded hill crowned by the castle of the same name, is a pleasant summer-resort with numerous attractive walks in the vicinity. It lies near the beautiful bluish-green Alpsee*, which is girdled with fine woods, while the steep crags of the Pilgerschrofen rise above its S. end. Well-made paths make the entire circuit of the lake ($1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.). — The footpath to the old Schloss ascends opposite the Liesl Hotel (5 min.). Admission, see above.

Schloss Hohenschwangau (2840 ft.), formerly called Schwanstein, originally belonged to the house of Guelph, but in 1191 came into the possession of the Hohenstaufen Dukes of Swabia and in 1567 passed to the Dukes of Bavaria. It was sold for a trifling sum in 1820, and in 1832 purchased by King Max II. of Bavaria, then crown-prince, who caused the ruin to be entirely reconstructed and decorated in the interior with frescoes from German legend and history by Schwind, Lindenschmit, and other artists. The castle commands charming views of the plain, the Alpsee, and Neu-Schwanstein. It was the favourite residence of King Lewis II.

Opposite the ascent to Hohenschwangau, near the Liesl Hotel, begins the road to ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Neu-Schwanstein, from which (5 min.) the road to the Blöckenau (p. 294) diverges to the right; 6 min. farther on (opposite the footpath from the Hôtel Schwansee) a steep footpath ascends on the right to the Jugend; and 12 min. farther on a bridle-path diverges to the right, near a stall on the left side of the road, to the Marien-Brücke and the Jugend. The road next passes the Castle Restaurant (Schloss-Restaurations) and in 8 min. reaches the castle of —

The imposing PALAS has four stories: the ground-floor contains the offices, the first floor is occupied by the attendants, the second is unfinished, and the royal apartments are on the third. Visitors ascend to the third floor by a staircase of 96 steps in the main tower, 195 ft. high. The landing at the top of the staircase is adorned with frescoes by Hauschild, illustrating the legend of Sigurd. To the left we pass through the Adjutant's Room to the King's Study, with scenes from the story of Tannhäuser by Aigner; and thence through the Stalactite Grotto to the former Winter Garden, a balcony commanding a view of the plain. Next follow the Sitting Room, with pictures from the Lohengrin legend by Hauschild; the Dressing Room, with scenes from the lives of Walter von der Vogelweide and Hans Sachs by Ille; the Gothic Bedchamber, with illustrations of the story of Tristan and Isolde by Spiess; the Oratory, with scenes from the life of Louis IX. of France by Hauschild (fine view of the valley of the Pöllat from the balcony). The Dining Hall is embellished with scenes from the Wartburg under the Landgrave Hermann, by F. Piloty. The ante-chamber leads back to the landing, whence we enter the Throne Room, with pictures by Hauschild, and an open loggia (view of the Alpsee and the mountains). — Hauschild has also adorned the landing at the top of the staircase on the fourth floor with a series of 12 pictures from the story of Gudrun. On this floor is the Festsaal or Sängersaal (Minstrels' Hall), 90 ft. long, with pictures from 'Parzival' by Spiess, Munsch, and Piloty.

below.] We ascend by the bridle-path and in 5 min. reach a point whence two footpaths diverge; one, to the right, leading down to the (1 min.) Jugend* (2950 ft.), a clearing in the wood commanding a charming view of Hohenschwangau and the Alpsee; the other, to the left, ascends to the (4 min.) Marien-Brücke*, a bridge 138 ft. long, which boldly spans the rocky gorge of the Pöllat at a height of 295 ft. above the waterfall and affords the best view of the castle of Neu-Schwanstein. — Returning from the bridge, we take the path to the left, which brings us in 2 min. to the Blüekenau road, at which also the bridle-path ends (to the village of Hohenschwangau by this road $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.).

From Hohenschwangau an attractive footpath leads to the Ammerwald Hotel (p. 301) in $3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs., through the Blüekenau and across the Schützensteig or Jägersteig. Thence to Linderhof, see p. 301.

Other excursions (Tegelberg Alp, Säuling, Hochplatte, etc.), see Baedeker's Eastern Alps.

PEDESTRIANS proceeding from Hohenschwangau to Reutte (8 M.) need not return to Füssen, but may either follow the 'Fürsten-Strasse' (p. 292) high above the N. bank of the Alpsee, or the good path past the 'Pindar-Platz' (a rocky projection with a fine view of the lake), to the W. end of the lake, and then return to the road. We pass the ($2\frac{1}{4}$ M.) 'Cordonisten-Haus' on the Austrian frontier and descend in windings to the ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Schlusen Inn, on the road from Pinswang to Pfach, which we follow to (3 M.) Pfach (comp. below), 2 M. from Reutte.

The ROAD FROM FÜSSEN TO (8 M.) REUTTE leads up the right bank of the Lech to ($\frac{1}{3}$ M.) a narrow ravine (on the left bank a bust of King Max II.; on the right bank a war-monument). From the iron König-Max-Steg a fine view of the fall is obtained. We then cross the ($\frac{1}{4}$ M.) Schwarz-Brücke (p. 292), and reach the Austrian frontier at the ($\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Weißhaus (good inn). The main road then crosses the Lech by the ($1\frac{3}{4}$ M.) Ulrichs-Brücke (rail. station, p. 289), passes Musau and Rossschläg, and shortly before reaching (5 M.) Pfach (p. 289), recrosses to the right bank.

PEDESTRIANS will find it shorter and pleasanter to diverge to the left before reaching the Ulrichs-Brücke, and proceed by Unter-Pinswang and the Ennepass (2979 ft.), a rocky barrier narrowly confining the Lech, to ($\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Pfach.

At Pfach the Arch-Bach, issuing from the Plansee, is crossed. Then through the broad valley of the Lech to (2 M.) —

89 M. Reutte (2790 ft.; Post, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -5 K; Hirsch, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -3 $\frac{1}{2}$ K; Tiroler Hof, at the rail. station, R. $1\frac{1}{4}$ -3 K, all very fair; Adler, R. $1\frac{1}{4}$ -2 K), a large market-village (1800 inhab.) in the midst of a basin intersected by the Lech, and surrounded by lofty mountains: N. the Säuling and Dürreberg, E. the Zwieselberg and Tauern, S. the Axljoch, Thaneller, and Schlossberg, W. the Gachtspitze, Gehrenspitze, and Gimpel.

The church at Breitenwang, $\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the E., contains a Dance of Death in relief in the mortuary chapel. Emp. Lothaire died here in 1137 on his return from Italy (memorial tablet).

To the Stuiben Falls, $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs., there and back. The cart-track crosses the Archbach above the hamlet of Mühl and returns to the left bank at ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the electric plant. The Hermannsteig (path) ascends thence to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Lower Stuiben Fall*, a cascade 100 ft. in height, formed by the Arch, finely framed with trees. At the finger-post a path ascends (right) to the Reutte road, by which we may return (to Reutte 1 hr.). Those bound for the Plansee ascend from the Lower Fall along the Arch to the ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) smaller Upper Fall (60 ft. high), and turning to the right regain (4 min.) the road, 10 min. from the Little Plansee (p. 301).

From Reutte to Linderhof, Ober-Ammergau, and Partenkirchen, see R. 38. Upper Lechtal, Pass Gacht, and viâ Tannheim to Immenstadt, see p. 290 and Baedeker's Eastern Alps.

The considerable ruins of Ehrenberg, to the S., above the pass of that name (see below), crown the pine-clad Schlossberg (3280 ft.). In the background rises the Thaneller (see below). The road skirts the (92 M.) Ehrenberger Klause, a defile, and descends to (94 M.) Heiterwang (Post; Hirsch) in the Hintertoren Tal. About 1 M. to the N.E. is the Heiterwang Lake, connected with the Plansee by a channel (steamboat, see p. 301). — From (97 M.) Bichelbach (Hirsch; Traube) the Thaneller (7687 ft.) may be ascended in 4 hrs., viâ Berwang (4385 ft.; Rose). At (99 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Lähu the road reaches the infant river Loisach. — 102 M. Lermoos (3265 ft.; Post, Drei Mohren, both good), a village situated in a wide green valley, from which on the E. rise the barren rocky walls of the imposing Wetterstein Chain, culminating in the Zugspitze (9725 ft.) to the N. At the base of the Wetterstein, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the E., lies the village of Ehrwald (3260 ft.; Sonnenspitze; Grüner Baum; Adler, all plain but good), on the road to Partenkirchen (motor-omnibus viâ Griesen in summer thrice daily in 2 hrs., stage in 3 hrs.; one-horse carr. 12 M; comp. pp. 297-8).

The road to Nassereit, the finest mountain-pass between Bavaria and Tyrol, should be traversed on foot (4 $\frac{1}{4}$ hrs.) or in an open carriage (from Lermoos to Nassereit 12 K, with two horses 20 K). Beyond (103 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Bieberwier (Löwe) it affords a fine retrospect of the Wetterstein Mts. and ascends, passing the Weissensee (left) and the beautiful Blindsee (right), to the (108 M.) Fern Pass (3970 ft.; inn). The old road past the castle of Fernstein is prohibited and is blocked halfway by a wall. The new road descends in wide curves (a path descending to the right, beyond telegraph-post 161, about 1 M. from the inn, is a short-cut). In the bottom of the valley we pass the picturesque castle of Fernstein, on the right; at its base is the Fernstein Inn (3305 ft.). To the left, the ruins of the Sigmundsburg rise from the dark-green Fernstein Lake, the outlet of which we cross by a stone bridge. — At (114 M.) Nassereit (2745 ft.; Post, very fair; Grüner Baum, Lamm, both plain but good) the road divides, the left branch (preferable) crossing the saddle of Obsteig to the E. and leading viâ Ober-Mieming to Telfs (13 M.), while the right branch leads through the Gurgler-Tal to — 124 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Imst, 2 M. to the N. of the railway station (see Baedeker's Eastern Alps).

About ¾ M. from the station and the lake is the prettily-situated village of Murnau (Post; Pantlbräu; Griesbräu; Zacherlbräu; Angerbräu). Some of the houses are painted from suggestions by E. von Seidl. The Vier Linden (lime-trees), to the E., and the Asamshöhe (with tower) command a view of the mountains (E. the Heimgarten, Kistenkopf, and Krottenkopf; W. the Ettaler Mandl; S., in the background of the Loisach-Tal, the Wetterstein range). Electric railway to Ober-Ammergau, see p. 298.

The railway skirts the W. side of Murnau and descends in a wide curve, affording a fine view of the spacious Loisach valley, to (48½ M.) Hechendorf. It then crosses the Loisach and reaches (50½ M.) Ohlstadt. At (53 M.) Eschenlohe (Altwirt; Brückenwirt) the valley contracts. From (57 M.) Oberau (2160 ft.; Post) a road leads to the right viâ Ettal to Ober-Ammergau (see p. 300).

Partenkirchen (2350 ft.; 2400 inhab.), a favourite resort both in summer and winter, is beautifully situated at the base of the Eckenberg. It possesses a handsome modern Gothic church (1865-71), a new Protestant church (1890), and a small English church. The district school of carving and design, near the station, is open to visitors. The Villa Orient, above the village, has a beautiful garden and contains various collections (adm. 50 pf.).

A beautiful view is obtained from the monument of King Lewis II. in the lower St. Anton Park, $\frac{3}{4}$ M. from the village. The peaks (from left to right) are the Wettersteinwand, Dreitorspitze, Alpspitze, Waxenstein (behind it the Zugspitze), the pointed Upsberg (in the distance, beyond the Eibsee-Törlén); to the right, the Kramer. A little higher up is the pilgrimage-church of St. Anton (2400 ft.; café).

Garmisch (2290 ft.), a thriving village (2700 inhab.) 1 M. to the W. of Partenkirchen, the seat of the district-court, is another favourite resort.

EXCURSIONS (for details, see Baedeker's Eastern Alps). Partnachklamm and Vorder-Graseck (1 $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.; guide unnecessary; omn. from the station to the Partnachklamm Inn in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr., 1 M.). After following the Mittenwald road to the S. of Partenkirchen (see p. 298) for a few paces, we turn to the right at a finger-post, and in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. reach the first bridge, at the mouth of the Partnach Valley. Beyond the bridge we pass the bridge of the electric plant and reach the (12 min.) Partnachklamm Restaurant, near the second bridge, where the road ends. Beyond the bridge the direct path to Graseck ascends, in windings, to the left. The path to the 'Klamm', or gorge, leads to the right: 6 min., third bridge. The (10 min.) fourth bridge, 225 ft. above the Partnach, is the finest point. Beyond the bridge the path ascends in 10 min. to the forester's house of Vorder-Graseck (2920 ft.; restaurant, where a fine view is enjoyed). — A narrow path (Triftsteig), constructed for the use of the 'lumberers' and diverging to the left before the third bridge, leads along the bottom of the gorge, close to the water. It is provided at places with wire-ropes and is quite safe for those reasonably free from giddiness. About 5 min. beyond ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) the end of the gorge is a finger-post, whence we ascend to the left to ($\frac{1}{3}$ hr.) Vorder-Graseck. — FROM GRASECK TO MITTENWALD VIA ELMAU. $3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. From the forester's house we ascend the pastures for a short distance, and then turn to the right. After 20 min. we go straight on (not to the right to Mittel-Graseck) to (10 min.) Hinter-Graseck; $\frac{3}{4}$ hr., bridge over the Ferchenbach; then straight on through the wood to (25 min.) Elmau (3320 ft.; inn). From this point a road leads via the Ferchen-See and the Lauter-See to (6 M.) Mittenwald (p. 298).

The Eibsee (3190 ft.), 6 M. from Garmisch, is reached by the road via Unter-Grainau (stage from Partenkirchen thrice daily in 2 hrs., returning in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.; fare each way 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.); or, from Garmisch, by the path to the left at the W. end of the village, which leads across meadows to (4 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Ober-Grainau (Post), and thence to (1 $\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) the lake. The Eibsee, 3 M. long, 2 M. wide, and 90 ft. deep, has seven small islands and is enclosed by wooded hills, above which tower the enormous rocky walls of the Zugspitze (Terne's Inn, with veranda, boats, and baths, R. from 2. pens. 6-7 M.). Travellers are rowed (50 pf. each) to the Ludwigs-Insel in the middle of the lake, where the echoes are awakened by a shot (50 pf.). — Near Unter-Grainau is the charming little Badersee* (hotel-pension).

LONGER EXCURSIONS (Eckbauer, Höllental-Klamm, Reintal and Blaue Gumpen, Schachen, Krottenkopf, Zugspitze, etc.), see Baedeker's Eastern Alps.

To LERMOOS (p. 295), 18 M., by a good road through the wooded Loisach-Tal (motor-omnibus or carr., see p. 295). The frontier-inn at Griesen (p. 301) lies 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. from Partenkirchen and 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. from Lermoos. — A shorter but unattractive path leads from the Eibsee over the Törlén (4954 ft.) to (3 hrs.) Lermoos. — To Reutte, see p. 301.

MOTOR DILIGENCE to Ober-Ammergau, see p. 299.

The new road to Mittenwald passes near the (63 M.) Kainzen-Bad (2415 ft.; p. 296), with alkaline and iodine springs, and then ascends through undulating pastures. The old road is shorter and steeper. Beyond (66½ M.) Kaltenbrunn the bold peaks of the Karwendel range appear in front. 68 M. Gerold; 69½ M. Klais (Schöttl's Inn; to the Barmsee and Krün, see p. 304). The road passes the marshy Schmalsee, and winds down into the Isar-Tal.

73 M. Mittenwald (3020 ft.; Post*; Wetterstein; Traube, these two well spoken of; Zum Karwendel, plain but good), the last Bavarian village, with quaint old houses, is overshadowed by the precipitous Karwendel-Gebirge (7825 ft.). The manufacture of violins and guitars, which are chiefly exported to England and America, forms the main occupation of the inhabitants. In front of the church is a bronze statue of Michael Klotz (d. 1743), who introduced the violin-industry. — To Kochel, see R. 39 b.

EXCURSIONS. To the Lauter-See* (3315 ft.), ¾ hr., and the Ferchen-See (3100 ft.), ¼ hr. farther up (see p. 297); to the Hohe Kranzberg* (1565 ft.; inn), 1¼ hr. (splendid view); to the Leutasch-Klamm, near the Scharnitz road (see below; 1 hr. there and back); Leutasch Valley, Vereins-Alpe, etc., see Baedeker's Eastern Alps.

The road traverses the level bottom of the Isar valley as far as the (77 M.) Defile of Scharnitz, the boundary between Bavaria and Tyrol, formerly protected by a strong fortress which was completely destroyed by the French in 1805. Extensive remains are still extant on the hillside beyond the Isar. Beyond the adjacent village of (77½ M.) Scharnitz (3160 ft.; Adler; Traube; Neuwirt) the road quits the Isar and ascends to (83½ M.) Seefeld (3860 ft.; Post, very fair; Stern, well spoken of), with a 14th cent. Gothic church. It then leads past the small Wildsee to (86 M.) Reith, beyond which it descends viâ Leiten (3310 ft.; Hirsch) in wide curves, affording magnificent views of the Inn valley and the Tyrolese Alps, to (90½ M.) Zirl (1955 ft.; Post or Stern; Löwe). On the opposite bank of the Inn is (91½ M.) the railway station of that name (Zur Martinswand). Railway to Innsbruck (9½ M., in 25 min.), see Baedeker's Eastern Alps or Baedeker's Austria.

The road to Ober-Ammergau (motor-diligence see p. 299) leads to the W., passing the ($\frac{2}{3}$ M.) Untermberg Inn, and ascends gradually, at first in a wide sweep to the right, along the N. side of the wooded gorge of the Giessenbach (short-cuts for pedestrians). At the bottom of the valley runs the old road. The upper end of the gorge is closed by the Ettaler Berg, which the road circumvents by curving to the left.

$4\frac{1}{2}$ M. Ettal (2875 ft.; Klosterwirtschaft), a Benedictine convent founded by Emp. Lewis the Bavarian in 1330, and rebuilt after a fire in 1744. The church, with a massive dome (236 ft. high), was remodelled in the baroque style; it contains six fine side-altars by J. B. Strauch (1757-61); on the high-altar is a celebrated figure of the Madonna (Italian marble of the 14th cent.). The ascent of the Ettaler Mandl (5360 ft.), protected by wire-rope, takes $2\frac{1}{2}$ -3 hrs.

About $\frac{2}{3}$ M. farther on the road forks, the right branch leading to (3 M.) Ober-Ammergau (p. 299). The road to Linderhof (driving preferable to walking) unites $\frac{3}{4}$ M. farther on with the road from Ober-Ammergau to Linderhof. — $7\frac{1}{2}$ M. Graswang (2885 ft.; inn), beyond which we ascend through the Graswang-Tal, or upper valley of the Ammer; to the left opens the wide Elmauer Gries, above which peeps the Zugspitze. — $10\frac{1}{2}$ M. Linder, a forester's house, with restaurant and beds. We pass the Bavarian custom-house (right), and then cross the Ammer to —

To the left of the entrance are the office and the Schloss Restaurant, with 50 beds ($1\frac{3}{4}$ -3 M). — A visit to the palace and gardens takes about 2 hrs.

The Vestibule of the château (adm. in parties of 12 pers.) contains a equestrian statue of Louis XIV. of France, in bronze after Bosio. On the First Floor is a series of finely fitted up rooms with portraits of French celebrities in the time of Louis XIV. and Louis XV. — The extensive and beautiful Gardens are embellished with fountains, statuary, etc., and contain the Monopteros, a small temple with a figure of Venus (good view), and the so-called Grotto, with a subterranean lake, which is illuminated with electric light upon the purchase of at least 10 tickets. Near the grotto is the Kiosque, in the Moorish style, with stalactite vaulting, enamelled bronze peacocks, etc. Behind the palace are the Cascades, where the fountains play at noon and at 6 p.m.

We continue to ascend the finely-wooded Ammer-Tal to the ($15\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Grenz-Brücke, or frontier bridge, about $\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the left of which is the Hundings-Hütte, a blockhouse in the old German style (comp. Wagner's opera of the 'Walkyrie'; open 9-12 & 2-6, adm. 50 pf.), erected by King Lewis II. — We then skirt the N. base of the Geyerkopf (7095 ft.), traversing the thickly wooded Ammerwald-Tal, and reach (18 M.) the Hôt.-Pens. Ammerwald (3575 ft.), whence the 'Schützensteig' leads to the right to ($3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) Hohenschwangau (see p. 294).

About 3 M. farther on the road emerges from the wood and near the ($21\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Austrian Custom House reaches the dark-green Plansee (3190 ft.; Hôt. Plansee* or Forelle), a fine sheet of water, 3 M. long by $1\frac{2}{3}$ M. broad and 250 ft. deep, enclosed by wooded mountains. Steamboat in summer 5-6 times daily from the Forelle Hotel to Seespitz (see below; 25 min.) and Heiterwang (p. 295; 20 min. more).

FROM THE PLANSEE TO PARTENKIRCHEN. $5\frac{1}{4}$ hrs. by road through the wooded Neidernach-Tal viâ the Bavarian custom-house of Griesen, see p. 297.

The shadeless road to Reutte skirts the N. bank of the Plansee, passing the Kaiserbrunnen. At the ($24\frac{1}{2}$ M.) W. end of the lake is the Seespitz Inn (R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ - $3\frac{1}{2}$ K). Farther on we skirt the Kleine Plansee, cross the Arch, and reach ($25\frac{1}{2}$ M.) a chapel, near a spring.

A footpath descends $\frac{1}{4}$ M. farther on to the right, through wood, to the Upper and (20 min.) Lower Stuiben Fall* (p. 295). Thence we may ascend to the left and join the road again (10 min.), or we may follow the Arch to Mühl and (1 hr.) Reutte.

The road crosses the Rossrücken, affording a fine view of the Lechtal, with the Klimspitze and Hochvogel in the background. We then descend the slope of the Tauern, where the path from the lower Stuiben Fall (comp. above) joins the road at a stone with an inscription. The road afterwards proceeds past Krekelmoos to (28 M.) Reutte (p. 294). From Reutte to (36 M.) Füssen, see R. 36.

Farther on we traverse the swampy and wooded left bank of the Loisach, but cross to the right bank near ($26\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Fletzen. The mountains (Benediktenwand, Jochberg, Herzogstand, Heimgarten) approach nearer to the line. Beyond an extensive swampy district we reach (30 M.) Bad Heilbrunn (Rail. A bronze statue in the village, erected in 1900, commemorates Balth. Maier (d. 1705), the 'Smith of Kochel'. The Kochelsee (1970 ft.), $3\frac{3}{4}$ M. long and $2\frac{1}{2}$ M. broad, is fed by the Loisach, and is bounded on the S. by the Jochberg, Herzogstand, and Heimgarten. The Herzogstand (p. 304) may be ascended hence in $3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. by the 'Pionier-Weg'.

The ROAD TO MITTENWALD (motor-diligence, p. 301) approaches the lake at the (48 M.) Gasthof am See and skirts it, passing the Hôtel Grauer Bär, to the (49 M.) Kesselberg Hotel ($\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the S.W. of which lies the Altjoch Hotel). It then ascends in easy windings (shorter way by the old road) to (51 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) the pass of the Kesselberg (2825 ft.). To the right of the road are the pretty falls of the Kesselbach, along which a path cutting off an angle of the road ascends. At the N. end (52 M.) is the hamlet of Urfeld (Jäger; Fischer).

The Herzogstand (5679 ft.) presents an easy and attractive ascent of $2\frac{1}{2}$ -3 hrs. (guide unnecessary). From Urfeld a bridle-path ascends to the (2 hrs.) Herzogstand-Häuser (5165 ft.; bed 2 & 3 M), belonging to the German Alpine Club, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. below the summit, which commands an admirable view of the mountains as far as the Tauern, and of the plain with its numerous lakes. — A narrow arête, protected by a wire rope at one place, but advisable for persons with steady heads only, connects the Herzogstand with the ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Heimgarten (5875 ft.) to the W. — Beyond the Herzogstand-Häuser a narrow path to the right, affording fine glimpses of the Walchensee and the mountains, descends to the hamlet of Walchensee in 2 hrs.

The road skirts the W. bank of the lake to (3 M.) the hamlet of Walchensee. It is, however, preferable to proceed from Urfeld across the lake direct to (1 $\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Obernach (fares for 1, 2, 3, and 4 persons, 2 M 50, 3 M 50, 4 M 80, 5 M 30 pf.). From the middle of the lake a fine panoramic view is enjoyed.

The road passes the (57 M.) Einsiedl Hotel by the forester's house of Obernach, at the S. end of the lake. Thence through a lonely pine-clad valley. — Near (60 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Walgau (Neuner) the broad valley of the Isar is reached (road to Vorder-Riss, see p. 306). — 62 M. Krün (Post).

From Krün a road leads past the picturesquely situated Barmsee to (2 $\frac{1}{4}$ M.) Klais, on the highroad from Mittenwald to Partenkirchen (p. 298).

On the S. the precipitous Karwendel-Gebirge is conspicuous; to the S.W. rises the Wetterstein-Gebirge.

The Teufelsgraben ('devil's dyke'), a deep, dry hollow, is crossed, and the train reaches (22¹/₂ M.) Holzkirchen (2240 ft.; Oberbräu; *Rail. Tölz (2155 ft.), prettily situated on the Isar and containing 6000 inhab., consists of the Old Town on the right bank, with the railway-station and many houses frescoed with Biblical subjects, and of Krankenheil, the quarter of the baths, on the left bank. The town is adjoined by extensive woods. The springs contain iodine, soda, and sulphur and are used both for bathing and drinking: they were discovered in 1846 on the slope of the Blomberg and are conducted to the town in pipes. From the railway-station we descend to the right through the Bahnhof-Str. to (10 min.) the long and narrow market-place, the chief street of the town. Traversing this to the right and crossing the Isar, we reach (5 min.) the beginning of Krankenheil. On the S. side of the market-place is the Museum of the Historical Society of the Bavarian Oberland, which is open on Mon., Wed., & Frid. 4-6 p.m. (fee 20 pf.; at other times 50 pf.). A little to the S. of the market-place is the handsome Parish Church, dating from the end of the 15th cent. and restored in 1906. — About 1¹/₂ M. to the N. of the market-place, reached via the Jäger-Str. and the Nockhergasse, is the Calvarienberg (2320 ft.) surmounted by the Chapel of St. Leonard, visited by pilgrims (on Nov. 6th). It affords a fine view of the valley of the Isar with the long Benediktenwand and the conical Kirchstein forming the background to the S.W. — To the W. of the Krankenheil Conversationshaus is the Zollhaus (inn), near which is the Alpenhaus Kogel, affording another pretty view (inn; D. 1¹/₂ M.).

FROM TÖLZ TO THE WALCHENSEE there are two roads: via Kochel (20 M.), or through the Jachenau (23 M.). The Kochel ROAD (motor-diligence to Kochel 4-6 times daily in 1¾ hr.) leads to the W., past the Zollhaus (see above), Stallau, and (6 M.) the baths of Heilbrunn (Kurhaus; Bellevue), with the Adelheidsquelle, containing iodine, 1¼ M. from the railway-station of Heilbrunn on the Isar-Tal railway (p. 303). We then pass Unter-Steinbach and reach (9½ M.) Bichl (p. 303). Hence to Kochel and the Walchensee, see pp. 303, 304.

The LENGGRIES AND JACHENAU ROAD crosses to the left bank of the Isar beyond (6 M.) Lenggries (Post: Altwirt; on the opposite bank is the Grand-Duke of Luxembourg's château of Hohenburg), and reaches (8½ M.) Wegscheid (inn, rustic). The road now skirts the flanks of the Langenberg to the right, enters the Jachenau, a secluded valley, 12 M. in length, and reaches (18 M.) the village of Jachenau (2590 ft.; Post). The road to Urfeld ascends a little farther and then descends through wood to (21½ M.) Sachenbach, at the E. end of the Walchensee, and (23 M.) Urfeld (p. 304).

FROM BAD TÖLZ TO MITTENWALD, 36 M. To (6 M.) Lenggries, see above. The road continues to follow the right bank of the Isar viâ Anger and Fleck (2275 ft.; hotel) to (10 M.) Winkel. The valley contracts. The road crosses the Walchen or Achen, on the right bank of which a road leads to (9 M.) Achenwald (p. 308). 15½ M. Fall (2430 ft.; hotel). — 21 M. Vorder-Riss (2650 ft.; Kapfhammer's Inn), a royal forester's house surrounded by pines, at the confluence of the Riss with the Isar.

THROUGH THE RISS TO THE ACHENSEE, 9 hrs., attractive. The road ascends the valley past the Oswald-Hütte to (7½ M.) Hinter-Riss (3055 ft.), a shooting-lodge of the Duke of Coburg, in a finely-wooded valley. At the foot of the small Gothic château is the Klösterl Inn, while 1 M. farther on is the Alpenhof. From Hinter-Riss to (6 M.) Hagel-Hütte (3575 ft.) the road is still available for carriages; beyond that it ascends (steep at places) to the (6 M.) Plumser Joch (5410 ft.), and then descends through the wooded Gerntal to (6 M.) Pertisau (p. 308).

The road to Mittenwald crosses the Isar, and follows the left side of the secluded valley to (30½ M.) Walgau (p. 304), on the highroad from the Walchensee to (36 M.) Mittenwald (p. 298).

(2380 ft.; $3\frac{3}{4}$ M. long, $1\frac{1}{4}$ M. broad), surrounded by wooded mountains, at (34 M.) Gmund (Bahnhof-Hôtel; Oberstöger; Herzog Maximilian), where the Mangfall issues from the lake.

Tegernsee (2390 ft.), a small market-town (1750 inhab.), with many villas, attracts numerous visitors in summer owing to its charming situation and beautiful walks. The Schloss, formerly a Benedictine abbey, founded in 719, and suppressed in 1803, now belongs to Duke Lewis William of Bavaria; the N. wing contains a brewery. Above the portal of the Church is an ancient relief in marble (1457) representing the princely founders of the abbey.

ENVIRONS (numerous guide-posts). A favourite point is the Grosse Parapluie (2625 ft.), an open 'rondel' with a pretty view, 20 min. to the S.E. About $\frac{1}{2}$ M. from the S.E. angle of the Schloss we ascend the steps to the left, passing a memorial to the poet Carl Stieler (1842-85). — The Pfiegghof (2755 ft.; rfmts.), 10 min. to the E. of the Parapluie, also commands a fine view.

Other excursions may be made to the Rottachfälle, Neurent, Riedersstein, Hirschberg, Wallberg, Risserkogel, etc. (see Baedeker's Eastern Alps).

The highroad from Tegernsee to Kreuth passes the baths of Schwaighof (sulphur-spring), crosses the Rottach, and leads through (39 M.) Rottach (see above). About $1\frac{1}{4}$ M. farther on, at the Weissach Inn, it crosses the Weissach.

Pedestrians save over $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. by taking the motor-launch (see above) from Tegernsee across the lake to Egern-Ueberfahrt; the road on the other side reaches the highroad at ($\frac{3}{4}$ M.) the Weissach bridge.

The valley contracts near the village of ($42\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Kreuth (2530 ft.; Lehmann), to the right of which rises the conical Leonhardstein (4760 ft.). On the left is ($\frac{3}{4}$ M.) the prettily-situated Inn zur Rainer-Alpe, about $\frac{3}{4}$ M. beyond which a road to the left diverges to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ M.) —

45 M. Wildbad Kreuth (2715 ft.), a large bath-house and hotel (R. $2\frac{1}{2}$ -3 M.), the property of Duke Lewis William of Bavaria, situated in a broad green basin. The springs, containing salt and sulphur, have been known since 1500. Fine grounds by the Kurhaus. Excursions to the Gaisalp, the Königsalp, ascent of the Schildenstein, Schinder, etc.

The road from Bad Kreuth to the W. crosses the Weissach and joins the main road. The latter gradually ascends the wooded Weissach-Tal, passing the (48 M.) Bayerwald Hotel and the (50 M.) hamlet of Glashütte (2925 ft.; inn), with the Bavarian custom-house of Stuben. Beyond the Stuben-Alp (3090 ft.), about 1 M. farther on, the road descends rapidly through profound ravines, and in the once strongly fortified defile of Achen (2875 ft.) crosses the Tyrolese frontier. The Austrian custom-house is near the village of (54 M.) Achenwald (2695 ft.; Hagenwirt). The road then ascends along the Achen or Walchen, the outlet of the Achensee (see below). To the E. rise the rocky horn of the Guffert (7190 ft.) and the long ridge of the Unnütz (see below).

59 M. Achenkirchen (3025 ft.; Kern; Post, with baths, $\frac{3}{4}$ M. farther on; Adler), a long village extending almost to the Achensee. At the N. end of the lake, 3 M. from the Achenkirch post-office, are Mayer's Hotel and the (59 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Hôtel Scholastika. About 1 M. to the S. is the Hôtel Achenseehof.

The Unnütz (6815 ft.; 3 hrs.; guide, not indispensable, 6 K) is ascended on the E. by a good path leading to the (1 $\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Kögl-Alp, whence the summit (Vorder-Unnütz) is reached in 1 $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. Extensive and magnificent view.

The road leads on the E. bank to (64 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Buchau, at the S. end of the lake (a drive of 1 hr.). The steamer is preferable (see p. 306). Row-boat from the Scholastika to Pertisau in 1 hr.; to the Seespitz in 2 hrs. On the S.W. bank of the lake is the Pertisau, a green promontory frequented as a summer-resort (Fürstenhaus, on the lake, the property of the Benedictine abbey of Fiecht; Alpenhof*, R. 2-6, B. 1 $\frac{1}{4}$, D. 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ K; Hôtel Stephanie*; Pfandler, Karlwirt, $\frac{1}{2}$ M. from the lake, unpretending). Charming view of the lake; to the S. the mountains of the Inntal and of the lower Ziller-Tal.

A road (2 $\frac{1}{4}$ M.) leads from Pertisau to the (66 M.) Seespitz Hotel, at the S. end of the lake. Thence we may either follow the road through the Käsbach-Tal (3 $\frac{3}{4}$ M.), or proceed by railway (adhesion and rack-and-pinion line; 40 min.) viâ Maurach and the pilgrimage-resort of Eben to (4 M; 69 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. from Munich) Jenbach. A BRANCH RAILWAY runs from Prien to the S. through the richly wooded Priental, in $\frac{1}{2}$ hr., to (6 M.) Nieder-Aschau (2020 ft.; Zur Kampenwand; Rest), another summer-resort. About 1 M. to the S. is the château of Hohen-Aschau, belonging to the Baron von Cramer-Klett (at the foot the Inn zur Burg).

From Prien a STEAM TRAMWAY runs in 8 min. to Stock (*Strand Hotel & Sanatorium, R. 3-5 M, B. 1 M 20 pf., D. 4 M; Hôtel Dampfschiff; Hôtel-Restaurant Ortmann), the landing-place of the steamer on the Chiemsee, which plies nine times daily to ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) the Herren-Insel and to (25-40 min.) the Frauen-Insel (return-ticket to the Herren-Insel, 2 M 40 or 1 M 80 pf.). A circular trip round the lake, affording a pleasant view of the Alps to the S., is also recommended.

The Chiemsee (1700 ft.), 11 M. long and 7 M. broad, contains three islands: the large Herren-Insel, the Frauen-Insel, with a Benedictine nunnery, and the uninhabited Kraut-Insel. The Frauen-Insel, a favourite resort of artists, is also the site of a fishing-village, and of a good Inn. On the Herren-Insel (9 M. in circumference) rises the large Schloss Herrenchiemsee, built in the style of Louis XIV. by King Lewis II. after the model of Versailles in 1878-85, but not completed, adm. daily from 10th May to 18th Oct., 8.30-5; fee 3 M, Sun. and holidays $1\frac{1}{2}$ M; closed on 13th June. A visit to the Schloss takes 2 hrs., including the walk to and from the steamer. A few minutes walk from the pier is the Schloss-Hôtel, with a terrace. Thence we proceed through the grounds of the Old Castle (with an old Benedictine convent) and then through wood to (10 min.) the New Palace, built on three sides of a square (open on the E.). The fountains are now without water.

The interior is sumptuously decorated. The pillared Vestibule, adorned with an enamelled group of peacocks, opens on a Court, paved with marble, on the right side of which is the magnificent Staircase, richly adorned with imitation marble, stucco, and paintings. On the first floor, turning to the right, we enter successively the Salle des Gardes ('Martschier-Saal'), the Première Antichambre (lilac), the Salon de l'Œil de Boeuf (green; with an equestrian statue of Louis XIV., by Perron), and the Chambre de Parade*. This last apartment is adorned with purple and gold, and contains a lavishly gilded bed. Of the remaining rooms the chief are the Salle du Conseil (light-blue), the Galerie des Glaces or Spiegelgalerie (245 ft. long and illuminated with 35 lustres and 2500 candles), the Salon de la Guerre and the Salon de la Paix (opening on the right and left of the Galerie), the royal Bed Chamber and Study, the Dining Room (with the table descending and ascending through the floor), the Small Gallery, and the Bath Room (groundfloor). — The woods clothing the S. part of the island afford pleasant promenades. The long chain of the Bavarian and Salzburg Alps forms the S. background of the landscape.

At (64 M.) Uebersee the line crosses the Ache. 69 M. Bergen, $2\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the S.E. of which are the baths of Adelholzen.

73 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Traunstein (1935 ft.; Traunsteiner Hof; Krone, at the station; Wiespauer; Post), a thriving place with 7808 inhab., on the Traun, is frequented as a summer-resort. It possesses monuments to King Max II. and Prince Regent Luitpold (1905), the Luitpold Fountain (1894), the Liendl Fountain (1526), and the historical museum of the Chiemgau. Beautiful road thence viâ (7 M.) Inzell (2275 ft.; Post), a village in the bed of an ancient lake, and through a succession of magnificent mountain-scenes to Weissbach and (16 M., Mauthäusl* inn), a very fine point of view much frequented from Reichenhall. Then through the Nesselgraben and past the Thumsee to (22 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Reichenhall, see p. 316.

ENGLISH CHURCH SERVICE in summer.

Reichenhall (1545 ft.), a favourite watering-place on the Saalach (6200 inhab.), is picturesquely bounded on three sides by an amphitheatre of mountains: the Untersberg (6480 ft.), Latten-Gebirge (5700 ft.), Müllnerhorn (4500 ft.), and Hochstauffen (5815 ft.). This is the central point of union of the four principal Bavarian salt-works, which are connected by conduits of an aggregate length of 75 M. Reichenhall is resorted to by patients suffering from general debility, chronic rheumatism, pulmonary affections, asthma, etc., who find relief in the mild and highly ozonized air, as well as from the salt-baths, saline and pine-needle inhalation, etc. The chief rallying-point of visitors (about 13,000 per annum) is the Kur-Park, beside the Gradierhaus, with the Kurhaus, the Sol-sprudel (a salt-water fountain 20 ft. in height), a Trinkhalle, etc. (music, see p. 314).

In the Salinen-Strasse are the large Salinen-Gebäude, or salt-work buildings, consisting of the Haupt-Brunnhaus (Pump Room) and Quellenbau (Spring House), in the middle, with the four Sudhäuser ('boiling-houses', from 'sieden'; comp. Engl. seethe, suds) to the right and left. In the Haupt-Brunnhaus (second door to the left) tickets of admission (80 pf.) are issued for the springs and the boiling-houses.

The sources of the saline springs of Reichenhall, sixteen in number, are in the Quellenbau, about 50 ft. below the surface of the soil, and are reached by a flight of 72 steps. Two of them are so strongly impregnated (24 per cent) that they are at once conducted to the salt-pans. The water of ten of the weaker springs is conducted to the Gradierhaus (see above) and also supplies the fountain in the Gradier-Park. The pump-house contains the two huge wheels by which the pumps are worked. On the second floor is a chapel in the Byzantine style, with stained-glass windows. In the court are two fresh-water fountains, adorned with statues of SS. Virgilius and Rupert.

The Romanesque Church of St. Nicolas, built in the 12th cent. and lately restored, is adorned with frescoes by Schwind. The Museum contains prehistoric objects and late-Romanesque carved figures (25 pf.). Above the town rises the old castle of Gruttenstein (1680 ft.).

About $\frac{1}{3}$ M. to the E. of the railway-station lies St. Zeno (Hofwirt, with garden), formerly an Augustine convent established by Archbishop Conrad I. of Salzburg (d. 1147), suppressed in 1803, and fitted up as a nunnery and school in 1853. The Romanesque church, dating from the second half of the 12th cent., was altered in the late-Gothic style in 1512-20. The interesting W. portal, built of marble, shows distinct traces of Italian influence (beginning of the 13th cent.). The most notable features of the interior are the early-Renaissance pulpit of red marble, the carved wooden lid of the late-Gothic font, and the choir-stalls (1520 et seq.). By one of the pillars on the window-side of the W. walk of the Romanesque cloisters is a relief of Emp. Frederick Barbarossa. — The Königs-Weg, a winding path among the fine pines of the Kirchholz, begins behind the convent and ascends gradually to ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the Klosterhof (1735 ft.; restaurant). The direct walk back to town from this point takes 20 minutes.

About $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the S.W. of Reichenhall, the Luitpold-Brücke crosses the Saalach to the Kur-Hôtel Bad Kirchberg* (rail. station, see p. 317).

About 2 M. to the E. lies the much-frequented little village of Gross Gmain (1715 ft.), at the foot of the Untersberg, with very fair wine-rooms and coffee-houses (Untersberg, Kaiser Karl). — On the left bank of the Saalach, 1 M. to the W., lies Nonn (1590 ft.; Hôtel Fuchs; Hohenstauffen Restaurant), with an old church (beautiful winged altar, 1513). From here the road ascends to the ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Padlinger Alpe (2175 ft.), with a café and a charming view. — Other attractive walks may be taken to ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Bayrisch Gmain (see p. 314; railway in 16 min.), to (1 hr.) the Listsee, etc.

Among the nearer mountain-excursions, the ascent of the Zwiesel (5840 ft.), the W. and highest peak of the Stauffen-Gebirge, is particularly recommended (4 hrs.; guide unnecessary). Road to the ($1\frac{1}{2}$ M.) farm of Langacker (rfmts.), at the foot of the mountain; bridle-path thence, for the most part through beautiful beech and pine woods, to the ($2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) Zwiesel-Alp (4550 ft.; inn) and the (1 hr.) summit, which commands a magnificent mountain-panorama.

RAILWAY from Reichenhall to Berchtesgaden viâ the Pass Hallturm, see p. 317; road viâ the Schwarzbachwacht, see p. 321.

FROM REICHENHALL TO LOFER (16 M., diligence twice daily in 4 hrs.; carr. with one horse 16, with two horses 26 M) is a very attractive excursion. The new road leads through the valley of the Saalach, viâ Fronau, to ($7\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Schneizelreuth (see below). Pedestrians are recommended to follow the old road, passing the baths of Kirchberg and ascending through a narrow wooded ravine. After 1 hr. we reach, on the right, two rocky knolls crowned with the St. Pancras Chapel and the ruin of Karlstein, both with a fine view; still farther on, also to the right, is the Thumsee, a small lake, well stocked with fish (restaurant on the other bank). The road ascends through the picturesque Nesselgraben to (3 M.) the Nesselgraben Pump House (2125 ft.), and divides $\frac{1}{4}$ M. farther on, leading on the right to ($1\frac{1}{2}$ M.) the Mauthäusl* (2075 ft.; inn) and viâ Inzell to Trumstein (see p. 312), and on the left descending to ($1\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Schneizelreuth (1670 ft.; inn), a hamlet in the Saalach valley, beyond which it crosses the Bodenbühl to ($2\frac{1}{4}$ M.) Melleck (2015 ft.; with the Austrian and Bavarian custom-houses) and ($2\frac{1}{4}$ M.) Unken (1810 ft.; Post; Krämerwirt), a favourite health-resort. About 2 M. to the S. are the small baths of Oberrain (hotel). A visit should be paid to the imposing gorge of the Schwarzberg-Klamm, $2\frac{3}{4}$ hrs. to the W., and to the Staubfall (3 hrs.). The Sonntagshorn* (6136 ft.), ascended in $4\frac{1}{2}$ hrs., commands a magnificent view. — From Unken the road traverses the Kniepass to (6 M.) Lofer (2096 ft.; Post; Brün; Schweizer), beautifully situated between the Loferer Steinberge to the W. and the Reiteralpe to the E. Pleasant excursions to the Loferer Hochtal, the Loferer Alpe, etc. About 6 M. to the S., on the Ober-Weissbach road (p. 321), is the interesting Vorderkaser-Klamm*. For details, see Baedeker's Eastern Alps or Baedeker's Austria.

Berchtesgaden (1870 ft.), a small Bavarian town with 2800 inhab., was down to 1803 the seat of an independent provostry or ecclesiastical principality (founded in 1108), the dominions of which were so mountainous and so limited in extent (165 sq. M.), that it was jestingly said to be as high as it was broad. The handsome old abbey is now a royal Château. The Abbey Church, originally a Romanesque edifice of ca. 1200, has a lofty early-Gothic choir dating from the end of the 13th cent.; the body of the church was remodelled at the end of the 15th cent. and the towers were renewed in 1865. The choir-stalls are in the Gothic style; the sacristy contains a Romanesque font adorned with reliefs, and in the late-Romanesque cloisters are some interesting tombstones. In the Rathaus is a relief-map of the Berchtesgaden district. The Luitpold Park, in front of the Royal Villa to the S. of the town, contains a bronze statue of Prince Luitpold, regent of Bavaria, by F. von Miller (1893). This point commands a fine view: to the left the Schwarzort, Hohe Göll, and Hohe Brett, in the background the Stuhl-Gebirge and Schönfeldspitze, to the right the Watzmann and Hochkalter. In the valley, on the Ache, near the station, are the Royal Salt Works.

The Salt Mine (1710 ft.) is reached from the market-place in 20 min. by descending the Bergwerks-Str. to the Breitwiesen-Brücke across the Ache, and then following the Bergwerks-Allée on the right bank (electric railway in 8 min., see above). The visit to the mine takes 1-1¼ hour. Visitors are admitted daily, with the exception of Whit-Sunday and Whit-Monday, 8.30-11.30 a.m. & 2.30-5 p.m. (see 2 M. each). Parties up to 12 persons are admitted at any time from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. for an extra payment of 3 M. in all. The mine is lighted by electricity. The temperature is low (50° Fahr.), so that warm clothing should be worn. The most interesting parts of the visit are the trip across the 'Salzsee' and the toboggan-slide into the deserted works of the Kaiser Franz mine. It ends with the so-called 'Apotheosis of Salt Mining'. — Visitors may return by the (1¼ M.) Gollenbach bridge, across the Gernbach, whence the Salzburg road ascends through the straggling suburb of Nonntal to (1 M.) Berchtesgaden.

The Lockstein* (2235 ft.; ½ hr.) commands an admirable view of the valley of Berchtesgaden. We turn to the right by the abbey-church and ascend by the old Reichenhall road; at (10 min.) the former hospital we turn to the right, again keeping to the right where the path divides at the Villa Weinfeld, and proceeding through wood to the restaurant at the summit. — About 2 M. to the S., on the Schönan, an undulating plateau between the Königsseer Ache and the Ramsauer Ache, is the Pension Panorama (2065 ft.), with a café-restaurant and a fine view. — About 2 M. to the N.W., beyond the prettily situated café of Rostalm (2060 ft.), is the Aschauer Weiher (2135 ft.), with swimming baths.

The gem of this district is the clear, dark-green *Königs-See (1975 ft.), or Lake of St. Bartholomew, 5 M. long and $1\frac{1}{4}$ M. broad, the most beautiful lake in Germany, vying in grandeur with those of Switzerland and Italy. Some of the surrounding mountains, which rise almost perpendicularly from the water, are 6500 ft. in height above the lake. Electric railway from Berchtesgaden, see p. 318. The road crosses the Ache near the station by the Adelgunden-Brücke, gradually ascends past the Wemholz (branch-road to Unterstein), and then continues fairly level as far as ($3\frac{1}{2}$ M.) the lake. On the N. bank lies the village of Königssee (Grösswang's Inn; Schiffmeister). The Malerwinkel, on the E. bank, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the S., commands a charming view.

Motor-boats, holding 75 persons, ply ten times daily to Bartholomæ ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) and the Sallet-Alp ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.). Rowing-boats are much preferable. The 'Schiffmeister' presides over the boats and their crews, and regulates their trips. Small boat (2 pers.), with one rower, to St. Bartholomæ 3 M.; with two rowers (1-4 pers.) to St. Bartholomæ $4\frac{1}{2}$, to the Sallet-Alp $7\frac{1}{2}$ M.; with three rowers (7 pers.) $7\frac{1}{2}$ and 12 M. (small gratuity). The most favourable light is in the early morning or late in the afternoon.

LAKE VOYAGE. To the left, on a promontory, among trees, is the Villa Beust; in the lake lies the islet of Christlieger, with a statue of St. John Nepomuk. The boat passes the Falkenstein (on the right), a rock with a cross commemorating the wreck of a boat with a party of pilgrims in 1742. The lake now becomes visible in its entire extent; in the background rise the Sagereckwand, the Grünsee-Tauern, and the Funtensee-Tauern, and adjoining them on the right the Schönfeldspitze (8700 ft.). On the E. bank the Königsbach falls over a red cliff (2625 ft.) into the lake. A little farther on, at the deepest part of the lake, a long, reverberating echo is awakened by a pistol fired in the direction of the Brentenwand (50 pf.). In the vicinity, on the E. bank, not far from the Kessel, is a cavern on a level with the water, called the Kuchler Loch, from which a streamlet enters the lake. The boat touches at the Kessel, a wooded promontory on the E. bank, whence a good path ascends to the (10 min.) pretty waterfall of the Kesselbach (bridle-path to the Gotzen-Alm, see p. 320).

The boat now proceeds to the S.W. to St. Bartholomæ, a green promontory, with a chapel and a former royal shooting-lodge. At the garden-restaurant (clean) good salmon-trout (Salmo salvelinus, Ger. Saibling) may be obtained.

On the S.W. bank of the lake the Schraimbach is precipitated into it from a rocky gorge. The Sallet-Alp, a poor pasture $\frac{1}{2}$ M. in breadth and strewn with moss-grown rocks, with a villa of the Duke of Meiningen, separates the Königs-See from the beautiful Obersee (2005 ft.), a lake $1\frac{1}{4}$ M. long, enclosed on three sides by lofty precipices of limestone. To the left rises the sheer Kauner- wand; beyond it tower the Teufelshörner (7745 ft.), from which a brook descends over the Rötwand in several arms from a height of 1800 ft. Boating is not allowed on the Obersee. - Fine view of the huge Watzmann on the return-route to the landing-place.

From the Kessel (p. 319) a good path ascends in long windings to the ($3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) Gotzen-Alm* (5530 ft.), opposite St. Bartholomæ (rustic quarters in the Springel Hut). Magnificent view of the Uebergossene Alm, Steinerne Meer, Watzmann, Hohe Göll, Untersberg, etc. Descent to the (2 hrs.) Kessel, where a boat (previously ordered) should be in waiting.

TO THE RAMSAU a road leads direct from the Königs-See viâ Schönan (p. 318) to ($4\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Ilsank (see below).

THE RAILWAY FROM BERCHTESGADEN TO REICHENHALL (12 M.) has already been described in the reverse direction at p. 317. A far preferable route, however, is the road by the Ramsau* and the Schwarzbachwacht (20 M.; motor-diligence and carr., see p. 318). From the railway-station the road follows the left bank of the Ache to ($2\frac{1}{3}$ M.) the station of Gmundbrücke (p. 317), where the road from the Grand-Hôtel joins ours on the right. Here we cross the Bischofswieser Ache (p. 317). $2\frac{1}{2}$ M. Ilsank (1910 ft.; Hôtel zum Watzmann, R. 1-1 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.). About $\frac{1}{4}$ M. farther on is the Brunnhaus Ilsank, with a pumping machine by which the salt-water from the mines is forced up to the Söldenköpfl, 1200 ft. higher, and over the Schwarzbachwacht to Reichenhall, a distance of 20 M. The road now runs along the left bank of the foaming Ache through the gorge of the Kniepass (short tunnel); to the left a grand view of the Watzmann; before us rises the broad Steinberg. On the left ($1\frac{1}{2}$ M.) a finger-post indicates the path to the Wimbach-Klamm and Jagdschloss.

A path crossing the bridge (2050 ft.; restaurant) to the left, and ascending to the right by the 'Trinkhalle', leads to the ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Wimbach-Klamm*, which is about $\frac{1}{3}$ M. in length. The clear blue water of the brook here forms beautiful falls in its rocky ravine, into which the sun shines about noon. About $\frac{1}{2}$ M. from the upper end of the ravine a view is disclosed of the romantic Wimbach-Tal, enclosed by huge mountains (Watzmann, Hundstod, etc.).

The ascent of the Watzmann* (Vorderer Gipfel or Hocheck 8700 ft.; 6-7 hrs. from Ilsank; guide 10 M.) is not difficult for experts. The route leads viâ the Watzmann-Haus and ($3\frac{1}{2}$ -4 hrs.) the Falzköpfl (6320 ft.; Inn in summer).

On the road, $\frac{1}{2}$ M. above the finger-post (see above), is the Inn zur Wimbachklamm, and $\frac{1}{3}$ M. farther on is the Inn zum Hochkalter. Then ($\frac{3}{4}$ M.) Ramsau (2190 ft.; Oberes Gasthaus, well spoken of). About $\frac{3}{4}$ M. farther on the road divides. The ROAD TO OBER-WEISSBACH (left) crosses the Ache and at ($2\frac{1}{4}$ M.) the Hinterseeklause reaches the Hintersee (2592 ft.), a small lake about $\frac{3}{4}$ M. long, where we summon the ferryman by ringing the bell (ferry 10 pf.). About $\frac{3}{4}$ M. beyond this point (ca. $\frac{1}{3}$ M. from the upper end of the lake) are the forester's house of Hintersee and the Bavarian custom-house, opposite Auzinger's Hotel. We here rejoin the old road which follows the W. bank of the lake, past two good hotels, the Post and the Gemsbock.

The road goes on hence viâ the (6 M.) Hirschbichel (3783 ft.; inn), with the Austrian custom-house, and the Seisenberg-Klamm* to (1½ M.) Oberweissbach (2110 ft.; Auvogl), situated in the valley of the Saalach, on the road from Lofer to (12 M.) Saalfelden. Comp. p. 316 and Baedeker's Eastern Alps.

The ROAD to REICHENHALL ascends straight on (right), past the small Taubensee (2780 ft.) and through beautiful pine-woods, to the (2¼ M.) Schwarzbachwacht (2910 ft.), a pump-house on the summit of the pass. About ¼ M. farther on is the small Inn zur Schwarzbachwacht. The road then descends into the deep wooded valley between the Reiter-Alpe on the left and the Latten-Gebirge on the right, and (3 M.) crosses the Schwarzbach. At the (1 M.) Jettenberg pump-house (1795 ft.; rfmts.), at the foot of the imposing Alpenhorn, another bridge crosses the Schwarzbach, which forms a fine cascade (Staubfall) here and falls into the Saalach immediately below. The road skirts the right bank of the Saalach to (4½ M.) Reichenhall (p. 314).

FROM BERCHTESGADEN TO SALZBURG, 16 M., electric railway in 1¼-1¾ hr. (fares 2 M 30, 1 M 25 pf.; no first class). The line descends the left bank of the Ache viâ the stations of (¾ M.) Breitwiesen-Brücke and (1¼ M.) Bergwerk, opposite the salt-mine see p. 318. It then crosses the Ache to the stations of (3 M.) Au and (3½ M.) Almbach-Klamm (restaurant), to the W. of which opens the Almbachklamm*, a picturesque gorge through which the Almbach descends in cascades from the Untersberg (to the Theresienklause 1¼ hr.). — We cross the Ache twice and reach (6 M.) Schellenberg (1570 ft.; Forelle), an old market-town, the last Bavarian station. — Thence to (16 M.) Salzburg, see Baedeker's Eastern Alps.

45. From Munich to Linz viâ Simbach.

118 M. RAILWAY in 7½-9½ hrs. (fares 11 M 20, 6 M 80 pf.).

From Munich to (52½ M.) Mühldorf, see R. 43b. — 60 M. Neu-Oetting; the little town of that name (Post), with 2900 inhab., lies 1½ M. to the S., on the right bank of the Inn. Steam-tramway from the station viâ the town to (3 M.) Alt-Oetting (p. 314). The line approaches the Inn, which here flows through a broad willow-clad valley; to the left are wooded hills. — 64 M. Perach, prettily situated on the hill to the left. A long embankment skirting the river is next traversed. — Near (68½ M.) Markt the mountains recede on the left, and the train quits the Inn, into which the Salzach falls 3 M. to the S. — 76½ M. Simbach (1130 ft.; Traube; Rail. Restaurant), the last Bavarian station (pop. 3000; luggage examined). The Inn is then crossed.

78 M. Braunau (Fink; Post), an old-fashioned town with 3100 inhabitants. The late-Gothic Church of St. Stephen, of the 15th cent., has a fine tower (interior modernized in bad taste). In the Promenaden-Platz by the Spital-Kirche rises the Palm Monument (1866), in bronze, designed by Knoll, in memory of John Palm, the patriotic bookseller of Nuremberg, who was shot at Braunau by Napoleon's order (comp. p. 159). — Branch-line to Steindorf, see Baedeker's Austria.

Beyond this the country is pretty and wooded. — 88 M. Obernberg-Altheim. The line ascends gradually; to the left, farther on, we have a fine survey of the Inn valley. — 100 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Ried (Goldener Hirsch; Löwe), the capital of the Austrian district of the Inn (4500 inhab.), on the Oberach and Breitach, is the junction of the line from Attnang to Schärding. — The line again ascends, affording views to the right and left. — 114 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Neumarkt. Thence to Wels and (148 M.) *Lin*z, see p. 330 and Baedeker's Austria.

Near (20 M.) Pommelsbrunn (1170 ft.; Zur Schönen Aussicht, at the station; Paulus, Vogel, in the village), a frequented summer-resort, prettily situated at the N. base of the Hohbürg (2015 ft.), the line quits the Pegnitz-Tal, which here turns to the N. Scenery picturesque. — 26 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Etzelwang (N.E., the ruined Rupprechtstein, now a hotel, and the well-preserved Schloss Neidstein). — 28 M. Neukirchen (1470 ft.; Rail. The old gates are picturesque. The Prinzregenten-Str. leads directly from the railway-station to (5 min.) the market-place, to the right in which stands the Rathaus, built at the end of the 15th cent., with a balcony of 1552 on the W. façade. The small council-chamber has panelling and a wooden ceiling in the Renaissance style. Another room contains the valuable archives of the town. On the S. side of the square is the late-Gothic Church of St. Martin (15th cent.), with a tower 321 ft. high. Behind the high-altar is the tomb of the Count Palatine Rupert (d. 1390). 25 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Straubing (1070 ft.; Neumayer; Röhrl's Brewery; Post; Schwarzer Adler; wine at Hochgrasl's; Café Lust; Rail. Restaurant), an ancient town (pop. 21,000) on the right bank of the Danube, lies in an extensive and fertile plain, the granary of Bavaria. Turning to the left on leaving the station and then to the right, we follow the Eisenbahn-Strasse and the Steinergasse to the ($\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Gothic Stadt-Turm (190 ft.), with its four corner-turrets, erected in 1316. To the right of the tower is the Ludwigs-Platz, with its baroque and rococo houses, and a fountain of 1644; to the left lies the Theresien-Platz, with a similar fountain and a Trinity column erected in 1709.

Facing the tower on the N. rises the Gothic Rathaus. To the N. of the Trinity column we reach the church of St. James (ca. 1430-1512), a late-Gothic edifice with an ambulatory and chapels, containing a fine carved altar of ca. 1500, and good stained glass (1442 and 1503).

The Fraunhofer-Strasse and Fürstengasse lead to the N. from the Ludwigs-Platz to the Gothic Schloss (now barracks, on the S. side of which is a relief-portrait of Fraunhofer [b. 1787 in Straubing], by Hahn. The building was once occupied by Duke Albert III. with his wife Agnes Bernauer (p. 180). Her father-in-law Duke Ernest, exasperated by his son's mésalliance, cruelly and unjustly caused her to be condemned to death for witchcraft and thrown into the Danube (1435). Her remains were interred in the cemetery of St. Peter, as recorded by an inscription on a slab in the Agnes Bernauer Chapel (see below). From the iron bridge beside the Schloss we command a view of the towers of the church of St. Peter, $\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the E., in the cemetery on the lofty bank of the Danube, a Romanesque basilica (modernized in the interior) on the site of the Roman Serviodurum. In the cemetery is the Agnes Bernauer Chapel (1436).

From the Schloss-Platz the Burggasse leads back to the Ludwigs-Platz. To the right in it is the Gothic Karmeliter-Kirche, completed in 1430 by Stethaimer (p. 212), the choir of which contains the fine monument of Duke Albert II. (d. 1397).

Passau (995 ft.), the Castra Batava of the Romans, an episcopal see from 737 to 1803 and again since 1827, with 19,000 inhab., lies on a rocky tongue of land formed by the confluence of the Inn (317 yds. in breadth) with the Danube (only 262 yds. wide). Numerous houses, chiefly of the 17th and 18th cent., on the banks of the rivers, especially on the Inn, give the town an imposing appearance. All the churches were restored between 1840 and 1870. The peculiar and picturesque situation of the town at the confluence of the Danube, Inn, and Ilz, and the variety of views commanded by the neighbouring heights, will amply repay a short visit to Passau, one of the most beautiful places on the Danube.

From the Railway Station (Pl. A, 3) the Bahnhof-Str. leads to the E. to the Ludwigs-Platz (Pl. B, 3), and thence, somewhat to the left, to the Neumarkt or Ludwig-Str., which, with its E. continuation the Rinder-Markt, is the busiest part of the town. To the right, at the corner of the Heilige-Geist-Str., is the aisleless Votive-Kirche (Pl. B, 3), erected in 1564 and remodelled in the Romanesque style in 1864. On the façade are statues of Christ and the Apostles. — Adjacent, on the right, is the Heiliggeistspital, with a Gothic church (1422; with two aisles), old stained glass (1513), and the tavern mentioned above.

Farther on, on the left side of the Rinder-Markt (p. 326), is the St. Johannes-Spittalkirche (Pl. C, 2), dating from the beginning of the 13th cent. and rebuilt in 1512, with numerous wood-carvings, ancient and modern, ranged along the walls, and tombstones in red marble. To the right, higher up, is the Parish Church of St. Paul (Pl. C, 2), built in 1678 and painted in the interior in 1852.

Passing through the Paulusbogen, adjoining the church on the left, we ascend to the right through the Postgasse to the high-lying Parade-Platz or Domplatz (Pl. C, D, 3), in which stands a bronze statue of King Maximilian Joseph I. by Joseph von Jorhann (1824). On the W. side is the former Canons' Residence, historically interesting as the place where the Treaty of Passau (1552), establishing religious toleration, was concluded between Emp. Charles V. and Elector Maurice of Saxony. The present building dates from 1724. On the E. side rises the —

Cathedral of St. Stephen, founded perhaps as early as the 5th cent., restored in the Romanesque style after a fire in 1181 and in the Gothic style in the 15th cent., and rebuilt in a florid baroque style by C. Lorago after a fire in 1662. The choir, transept, and dome date from the 15th cent. restoration; the towers were completed in 1896-98 by Von Schmidt. The sumptuous stucco decoration of the interior is by J. B. Carlone. This is one of the finest German churches of the 17th century. The fine organ, by Hechenberger (1889), is the largest in Bavaria.

On the N. side is the Domhof, with interesting restored chapels; on the wall of the cathedral here are numerous old gravestones. The Missions-Kreuz-Kapelle (W. side), with gilded carvings, dates from 1710. The chapel of the Holy Trinity (1572; W. side) has pointed vaulting; in the centre is the monument of the founder, Prince-Bishop Trenbach (d. 1598). The Kreuzweg Chapel (1323, restored in 1414; E. side) has four slender octagonal pillars, and interesting old tombstones of red marble on the walls. The adjacent Mt. of Olives or Oelberg Chapel, founded in 1288, contains a marble tomb of Count Heinrich III. of Ortenburg, erected in 1360.

To the E. of the cathedral is the RESIDENZ-PLATZ (Pl. D, 3), with the Wittelsbach Fountain by Bradl (1906); on the S. side rises the Bishop's Palace, an admirable baroque edifice of 1771, with bronze figures above the two N. portals, and a rococo staircase on the right.

A street descends hence to the S. to the Ludwigs-Brücke (p. 328). To the N.E. the Schrottgasse leads to the pier of the Danube steamers, in front of the Gothic Rathaus (Pl. E, 3), restored in the interior after a fire in 1662, and considerably enlarged and provided with a tower (223 ft. high) in 1888-93. On the first floor are the Municipal Museum (adm. 20 pf.) and the Council Chambers, the walls and ceiling of which are embellished with paintings from the history of Passau, by F. Wagner (adm. 20 pf.). Below is the tastefully decorated Rathauskeller (p. 326). - Going farther to the E., we turn to the right and again to the E. through the Bräugasse into the Klostergasse, where stands the Church of the Holy Cross (Pl. E, 3), belonging to the dissolved nunnery of Niedernburg. This is a basilica of the 12th cent., in the Transition style, with low vaulting, and has lately been restored. It is now a school, kept by English nuns. The Maria-Parz Chapel, on the S. side, contains a miraculous image and the tomb of the Abbess Gisela, Queen of Hungary, and sister of Emp. Henry II.

The Bräugasse leads on to the promontory at the E. end of the town, where we obtain a fine view of the broad expanse formed by the confluence of the rivers, whose different-coloured waters seem to strive for the mastery.

The iron Ludwigs-Brücke, 270 yds. in length, crosses the Inn to the Innstadt (Pl. C-E, 4), the ancient Boiodurum, rebuilt since its destruction by fire in the war of 1809. The aisleless church of St. Severinus (Pl. C, 4), who was a missionary here in the 5th cent., dates from the Romanesque period but was remodelled in the Gothic style in 1476. On the side of the hill the city-wall is still standing. Following the Mariahilfgasse from the bridge and then ascending to the right, outside the town-gate, by the road leading to the Waldschloss (see below), we reach ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) the pilgrimage-church of Mariahilf* (1175 ft.; Pl. E, 4), which was rebuilt in 1662. Both on the way to the church and above it we obtain charming surveys of the town, the confluence of the Inn and Danube, and the fortress of Oberhaus. In the arcaded court are modern Stations of the Cross, with painted representations in high-relief. The church, with its richly gilt altar, attracts numerous worshippers. From the vestibule of the church, garnished with numerous votive tablets, a flight of 164 steps descends to the Innstadt. — In Austrian territory, $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. from Mariahilf, is the Hôtel-Pension Waldschloss (pens. 4 K), prettily situated on the margin of a wood.

The Town Park (Pl. A, 2), on the slopes of the left bank of the Danube, $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the W. of the Maximilians-Brücke (see below), affords a number of pleasant shady walks. On its N. margin stands the episcopal château of Freudenhain (Pl. A, 1; 1790-92), now a school kept by English nuns and a seminary for teachers. Adjacent lies the Freudenhain Park Restaurant.

The fortress of Oberhaus (1340 ft.; Pl. E, 2), built by Bishop Ulrich II. in 1219, and now a military house of correction, crowns the precipitous, wooded height of the Georgsberg, on the left bank of the Danube, opposite Passau. It is connected by a rampart and walls with the old fortress of Niederhaus (Pl. F, 2), on the tongue between the Ilz and the Danube. The road, the so-called Holzgarten, leads from the N. end of the Maximilians-Brücke along the left bank of the Danube, close to the rocks, and through a tunnel, to the Ilz ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.). The shortest route for pedestrians is by the Chain Bridge at the lower end of the town. On the left, beyond the tunnel, close to the cliff, is the Gothic Salvator-Kirche (Pl. E, 2), a curious three-storied edifice, with groined vaulting, a series of chapels, and no aisles, erected in 1479-84 on the site of a synagogue and restored in 1861.

From the Ilz Bridge (see below) the road ascends to the left to the lower gate of the fortress, and through it to the ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Belvedere* (1400 ft.) on the Katz battery (adm. 50 pf., on Sun. 20 pf.), which affords a beautiful survey (best in the evening) of the town, of the valleys of the Ilz, the Danube, and the Inn, enclosed by dark wooded heights, and of the hills of the Bohemian and Bavarian Forests to the N. (see the excellent indicator). A red flag on the fortress indicates that the weather is clear enough for a view of the Berchtesgaden and Salzburg Alps to the S. The tower contains a small collection of objects from the Bavarian Forest. — We retrace our steps from the upper gate of the fortress and after a few paces turn to the left, cross the Oberhauserleite, and descend the stone steps to the ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Maximilians-Brücke.

We proceed on over the hill from the upper gate of the fortress, passing the old powder-magazine, to (25 min.) Riess (1440 ft.: Spetzinger: Urzinger, with view-tower, 20 pf.), a station of the Schönberg motor-omnibus mentioned at p. 326, and descend thence to $\frac{1}{4}$ hr., Hals (965 ft.: Wimbüch, Helmel), a market-village charmingly situated in the valley of the Ilz, and commanded by the ruined castle of the same name. It possesses river-baths and a hydropathic establishment (Bavaria-Bad). There is an old pillory by a corner-house in the market-place. About $\frac{1}{2}$ M. above the village we cross the Ilz, and ascend the left bank by a path provided with seats and guide-posts to the ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Durchbruch, a tunnel, 143 yds. in length and 13 ft. wide, hewn in the rock in 1827-29, through which an arm of the Ilz flows. On the wooded hill above the tunnel is the ruined castle of Reschenstein. A footway, protected by a balustrade, leads through the tunnel. At the farther end there is a barrier or 'boom' ('Triftsperre'), 190 yds. long, to intercept the floating timber as it descends from the Bavarian Forest (1,400,000 cubic ft. of wood annually). A foot-bridge crosses from the upper end of the tunnel to the Triftmeister (rfmts.). We continue to follow the right bank to ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Unter-Ilzmühle (ferry 3 pf.) and (5 min., Ober-Ilzmühle (inn); then return to the left bank and follow a good path through the woods high above the Ilz, from which good views are obtained, back to ($\frac{1}{2}$) Hals.

At the mouth of the Ilz (see above) a bridge crosses to the Ilz-stadt (Pl. F, 1, 2,, at the base of the Nonnberg, inhabited by boatmen and raftsmen. Above it rises the (20 min.) Klosterberg*, or Nonnengütl (Pl. F, 2; visitors generally admitted on application), a small château with a charming view (best from the S. side outside the parapet of the wall), including the union of the light-gray Inn, the yellowish-green Danube, and the inky Ilz. After having received the waters of the Inn, the Danube becomes a noble stream.

The belvedere on the Frohnberg* (1932 ft.), by the village of Schardenberg, $7\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the S.E., is another of the numerous fine points near Passau. We follow the Waldschloss route (p. 328) or the Mühltal. Key of the tower (20 h) kept at the Hörmanseder Hotel at Scharden- berg. A most extensive view is here enjoyed of the Bavarian Forest and the Alps of the Salzkammergut and Styria, with a picturesque foreground. We may now descend in $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. to Wernstein (see below).

FROM PASSAU TO THYRNAU, 6 M. The road crosses the Ilz-Brücke and descends along the left bank of the Danube to the (1 hr.) prettily-situated Löwen-Mühle. Hence it ascends to the left viâ Nieder-Satzbach and Ober-Satzbach to ($2\frac{1}{4}$ hrs.) Thyrnau (1335 ft.; Abel; Edelfurtner), a finely-situated village with an episcopal château of the 18th cent. (now a convent of Cistercian nuns). Return viâ Grubweg, see below. About 3 M. to the S.E. of Thyrnau are the chalybeate baths of Kellberg (1485 ft.), with a charming view. From Kellberg to Passau by railway (see below), $\frac{3}{4}$ hr.

FROM PASSAU TO BREITENBERG. Railway in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. viâ Grubweg (diligence to Thyrnau, see above, twice daily in 50 min.), Kellberg (see above), Erlau (p. 331; railway, 3 M., to Obernzell, p. 331), and Ober-Diendorf to ($15\frac{1}{2}$ M.) the pleasant market-town of Hauzenberg (1795 ft.; Post; Koller). To the Lichtenauer, $1\frac{3}{4}$ hr., see p. 343 (path marked in yellow); to Oberfrauenwald (p. 343) $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. (path marked in blue and red). — From Hauzenberg a diligence (to Breitenberg $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) runs viâ Freudensee, with its old château, Rassreut, and Krinning (the best route for pedestrians from Freudensee is viâ Oberneureuth) to Sonnen (2675 ft.; Post; Andorfer), a high and prettily situated village (4 M. from Oberfrauenwald, p. 343), and thence to —

$10\frac{1}{2}$ M. Breitenberg (2315 ft.; Post, with view). Diligences run from Breitenberg to Waldkirchen (p. 343) on the W., and on the S.E., viâ ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Ulrichsberg in the Mühltal, to ($2\frac{3}{4}$ hrs.) Aigen (p. 345).

The Dreissessel (p. 344) may be ascended from Breitenberg in 3 hrs. The road runs towards the N. as far as ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Klafferstrass (2045 ft.); at the bend it ascends to the right viâ Lackenhäuser to the (1 hr.) Rosenberger Hotel (2670 ft.; unpretending), often visited by Adalbert Stifter (see p. 345). A good path ascends thence to the left to the ($1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) summit.

The RAILWAY TO LINZ on leaving Passau (p. 326) passes through a tunnel under the parade-ground, and crosses the Inn and the Austrian frontier. — $79\frac{1}{2}$ M. Wernstein (1025 ft.; see above), with the well-preserved old château of Neuburg (1295 ft.; view from the terrace), on a height opposite (now a home for artists). — $82\frac{1}{2}$ M. Schärding (1025 ft.; Goldenes Kreuz; Rail. Restaurant), an ancient town with 3800 inhab., on the Inn, with a view of the Alps from the Schlossberg. The line now ascends the Pramtal. — $105\frac{1}{2}$ M. Neumarkt-Kallham (1265 ft.; Railway Restaurant), junction of the Simbach-Munich line (p. 322). — $112\frac{1}{2}$ M. Grieskirchen. We now descend gradually (to the right a view of the Alps with the Traunstein) by Wallern to (124 M.) Wels, a station on the Linz and Salzburg railway. Thence to (139 M.) Linz, see Baedeker's Austria.

STEAMBOAT JOURNEY (much pleasanter than the railway). The steamers take 4 hrs. going down and 9 hrs. coming up. Luggage examined before embarkation (comp. p. 324).

A beautiful retrospect of the town and environs is enjoyed immediately after starting. Below Passau the right bank belongs to Austria, and the left bank as far as Engelhartzell to Bavaria. Steep wooded mountains soon rise up on each side; only occasional cottages or hamlets are seen on the banks. There is little traffic on the river and the scenery is grand and imposing.

L. Erlau (p. 330).

R. Schloss Krempelstein, on an abrupt cliff.

L. Obernzell or Hafnerzell (964 ft.; Post: Weber). the last Bavarian village, with graphite mines and a quaint château. Railway to Erlau, see p. 330.

R. Viechtenstein; on the hill is an old Schloss, formerly the property of the Bishops of Passau and now of Count Pachta. Farther on the Jochenstein, jutting far into the river on the left, was the ancient boundary between Bavaria and Austria. The present boundary is a wooded ravine on the left bank, a little lower down.

R. Engelhartszell (Goldenes Schiff), a prettily situated market-village, with the Austrian custom-house (p. 324). Near it is Engelszell, once a Cistercian monastery, now owned by Count Pachta. About 6 M. to the W. of Engelhartszell (red way-marks) is the Haugstein (2875 ft.; view).

L. Rannriedl, an ancient mountain-castle, still inhabited; at the foot of the hill is the village of Nieder-Ranna. A pleasant excursion may be made into the Ranna-Tal (Alpine violets), with the romantic ruin of Falkenstein.

R. Wesenufer, an old market-town, formerly owned by the cathedral-chapter of Passau.

L. Marsbach, with the tower of a mediæval castle.

R. Waldkirchen, picturesquely situated on the slope of a steep hill.

L. Hayenbach, or the Kerschbaumer Schloss, a ruin overgrown with pine-trees, is seen a second time after a bend in the river.

The channel of the river now contracts to about half its former width, and is confined between precipitous wooded hills, 600-1000 ft. in height. Many windings. This is one of the grandest parts of the river. At —

L. Obermühl the Kleine Mühl joins the Danube.

L. Neuhaus, a château on a wooded height, the property of Herr von Plank, stands at the mouth of the Grosse Mühl. The Danube suddenly emerges on a broad plain shortly before we reach —

R. Aschach (Sonne: Adler), a pretty little town, with the château and park of Count Harrach. Opposite is Landshag. The Pöstlingberg with the two towers of its pilgrimage-church, near Linz, comes into view; in clear weather the Styrian and Austrian Alps form the background towards the S.; and to the right rises the Traunstein. The view is soon concealed by the numerous islands, overgrown with underwood, between which the river flows.

Perched on the hills to the right are the ruined castles of Stauf and Schaumburg. The latter was once the ancestral seat of a powerful family which held sway over the whole valley of the Danube, but became extinct in 1559.

R. Brandstatt. To the left in the distance rises the Pöstlingberg (see above).

L. Ottensheim, with its château, is conspicuous.

R. Wilhering, a Cistercian abbey (1146).

L. Schloss Buchenau, the property of Herr Hardtmuth. Above rises the Pöstlingberg, with its church (see above).

R. The Calvarienberg. The steamer passes under the bridge and reaches —

R. Linz (see Baedeker's Austria).

48. From Rosenheim to Eisenstein by Mühldorf and Plattling (Pilsen).

133 M. RAILWAY in 8-9 hrs. (fares 16 M 60, 10 M 10, 6 M 70 pf.). Best views to the left. — This railway intersects the Bavarian Forest (R. 49).

Soon after starting, the train diverges to the right from the Munich railway (R. 43a) and runs to the N., across the plain of the Inn. — 10 M. Rott (1440 ft.), with an extensive Benedictine abbey, founded in 1086, on a hill to the left. The church, a masterpiece of the Bavarian rococo style, was rebuilt in 1759 by J. M. Fischer. — The line crosses the valley of the Attel on a lofty embankment, passing on the right the old Benedictine abbey of Attel, with the interesting tomb of its founder, by W. Leeb (1509). At —

The train passes the Soyener-See or Kitzsee (1538 ft.; left) and (19 M.) Soyen, and skirts the steep slopes of the Nasenbach. Reaching the lofty left bank of the Inn, we now cross the river at Königswart, by means of a viaduct 161 ft. high. We next descend on the right bank to (25 M.) Gars (1445 ft.), opposite which lies the village of that name, with an Augustine canonry, the church of which was rebuilt by Zuccali in 1661-90. About 3 M. farther down is the extensive monastery of Au, with a church rebuilt in 1708-17, and containing some fine tombstones of red marble. — Beyond (29 M.) Jettenbach, with a château of Count Törring, the river is again crossed. On the wooded tableland of the Mühldorfer Hart lies the station of (32 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Kraiburg (1415 ft.; a village on the right bank of the Inn, 2 M. to the S.E.; diligence four times daily). — The train quits the forest, passes the church and lunatic asylum of Ecksberg on the right, and near (38 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Mühldorf (p. 313) reaches the Munich railway.

The train runs to the N. (to the right the railway to Simbach, p. 321), and crosses the Isen. Next stations Ruhstorf, Sulzbach am Inn, Engertsham, Höhenstadt (with sulphur-baths and hydropathic). 60 M. Passau, see p. 326.

From Neumarkt to Landshut, see p. 213.

Leaving the Rott-Tal 2 M. below Neumarkt, the train runs to the N. through a hilly district to (55 M.) Ganghofen, on the Bina, crosses at (58 M.) Trenubach (1575 ft.) the watershed between the Rott and the Vils, and descends in a wide curve to the Vilstal.

64 M. Frontenhausen; the village lies $1\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the W. (diligence six times daily). We cross the Vils, ascend the opposite slope, cross the profound Seegraben by a lofty viaduct, and reach the watershed between the Vils and the Isar. — Beyond (72 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Mamming (1210 ft.) the train crosses the Isar and skirts the left bank viâ (75 M.) Pilsting to (77 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Landau an der Isar (1110 ft.; Rail. Restaurant); the town, with 3400 inhab., lies 1 M. to the S., on the right bank of the Isar. Branch-line viâ (3 M.) Landau-Stadt to (15 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Arnstorf. To Landshut (and Munich), see p. 213.

Below Landau the train enters the broad plain of the Danube. Fine glimpse of the nearer hills of the Bavarian Forest, with the distant Arber (p. 339). — 88 M. Plattling, where we cross the Ratisbon and Passau railway (p. 325; comp. Map, p. 335).

Beyond Plattling the line nears the Danube, passing the Natternberg (p. 325; 3 M. from Deggendorf) on the left, and crosses the river by a bridge, 440 yds. long.

94 $\frac{1}{2}$ M. Deggendorf (1060 ft.; Drei Mohren, R. 1-2, B. $3\frac{1}{4}$, D. 2, omn. $1\frac{1}{2}$ M; Post, these two in the Luitpold-Platz; Bagrischer Hof, near the market-place; Gaim, Bahnhof-Str., a pleasant old-fashioned town (7500 inhab.), with a late-Gothic Rathaus of 1535. In the lower Stadt-Platz is the Grab-Kirche or Gnaden-Kirche, a pilgrimage-church of 1337, much frequented about Michaelmas; farther to the S. stands the handsome parish-church (1655). About $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the N. of the town rises the Gaisberg, with the Pension Villa Wittelsbach and a fine view.

The Geiersberg (1243 ft.), $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. to the E., with a pilgrimage-church and shady grounds, commands a fine view of the valley of the Danube; that from the Kanzel (2385 ft.), $4\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the E., is more extensive. The Ulrichsberg (p. 331) rises $4\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the N. of Deggendorf. A path marked with yellow leads hence in 2 hrs. to the Geisriegel (3445 ft.; views). Descent viâ Loderhart to (2 hrs.) Gotteszell (p. 331; blue way-marks). — Pleasant excursion from Deggendorf by the old post-road through the valley of the Höllbach (or by marked paths viâ the Kanzel and the Hausstein) to the (9 M.) beautifully-situated Rusel (2555 ft.; Inn), formerly belonging to a monastery. Thence on foot through the wood to the ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Hausstein (3010 ft.), which commands a magnificent view of the plain of the Danube and the distant Alps. — The road leads from the Rusel through the valley of the Ohe viâ Hochbruck (2065 ft.; Hirtreiter), or to the left viâ Bischofsmais (p. 335), to (9 M.) Regen (p. 334).

To the W. of Deggendorf (3 M.; narrow-gauge railway in $\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) lies Metten (1050 ft.; Post; Grabmeier), with an old Benedictine abbey, the church of which was rebuilt in 1720-29. Schloss Egg (1243 ft.), seat of Count Hohenthal (12th cent.), $2\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the N., has been restored in the mediæval style by Voltz (no admission). We may return hence viâ ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Berg (1425 ft.; good inn) and the little church of Uttobrunn to (1 hr.) Deggendorf.

The railway traverses the Bavarian Forest, ascends the W. slopes of the Kohlach-Tal, crosses the valley by an embankment (415 yds. long, 148 ft. high), turns to the S., and reaches ($100\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Ulrichsberg (1390 ft.), $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. above which is the Ulrichsberg (2085 ft.; inn), with a pilgrimage-church and a fine view. Hence to the Geisriegel, see p. 333. — The train then skirts the Kühberg (to the right a magnificent view of the plain of the Danube, bounded by the Alps), passes through a tunnel, 525 yds. in length, and ascends the Grafinger-Tal along the slope of the Ulrichsberg. Then through another tunnel to ($108\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Gotteszell (1810 ft.; Bräuhaus, in the village, $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. to the W. of the station), in the Teisnach-Tal, with a Cistercian abbey, rebuilt since a fire in 1830.

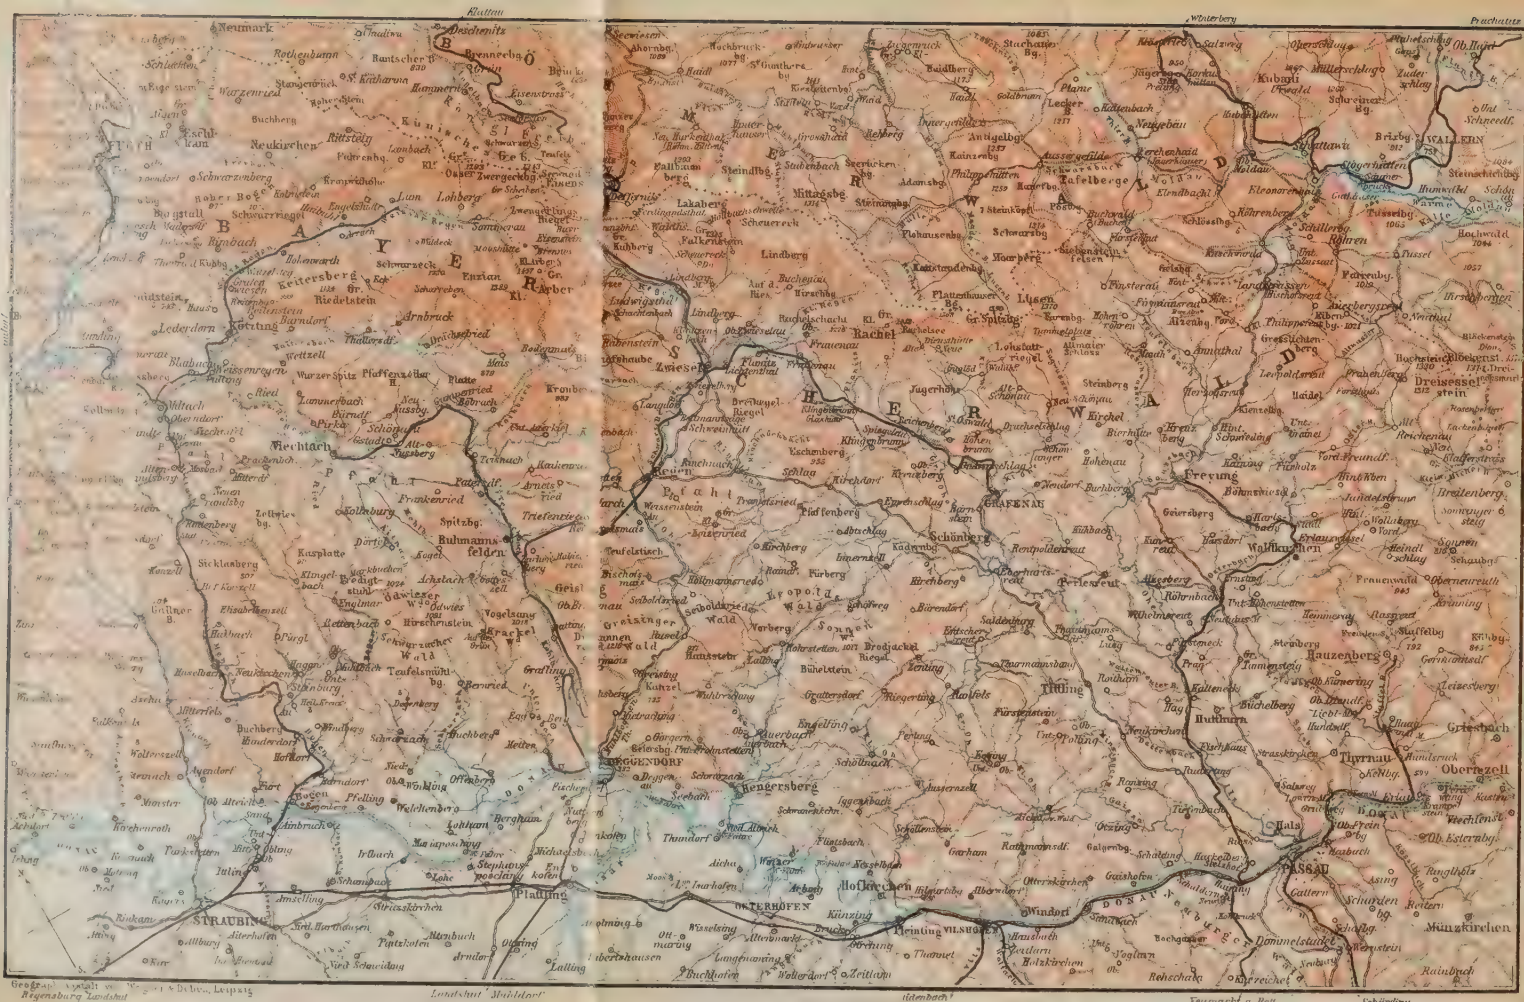

Interesting excursion (3 hrs.) from Gotteszell viâ Achslach (road: diligence), or (better) viâ the Vogelsang (3340 ft.) and the Regensburger Stein (3117 ft.), to the Hirschenstein (3580 ft.), with an extensive view; $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. below the summit is the forester's house of Oedwies (good quarters, 5 beds). About $4\frac{1}{2}$ M. farther to the N.W., on the slope of the Predigtstuhl (3360 ft.), lies the picturesque village of Englmar (2640 ft.; Echinger). Hence to Viechtach, see below.

Diligence daily in $2\frac{1}{4}$ hrs. to Bodenmais, see p. 339.

To the S.E. (3 M.; reached either by road or by the 'Rittersteig', indicated by blue and white marks) rises Weissenstein am Pfahl (2490 ft.), a ruined castle on a jagged quartz rock, with a restored tower commanding a fine view; the lower part of the castle is now an unpretentious but good hotel. — The Pfahl is a broad seam of quartz running from S.E. to N.W. for a distance of 90 M.; it may be conveniently examined in the railway-cutting near the bridge over the Ohe.

From the pleasantly situated village of Bischofsmais (2250 ft.; Hollmeier's Bräuhaus), $5\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the S. of Regen (diligence in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.), attractive excursions may be made to (1 hr.) Ober-Breitenau, the ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Teufelstisch (2960 ft.), the ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Rusel (p. 333), and other points.

Above Zwiesel the train again crosses the Regen. 128 M. Ludwigstal (2075 ft.), with glass-works (excursions, see p. 340). — The line ascends the left bank of the Regen, running parallel with the road to Bohemia and passing many glass-works and smelting houses, and reaches the Bavarian and Bohemian frontier-station ('Grenz-Bahnhof') of (133 M.) Eisenstein (2375 ft.; Rail. Restaurant, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ M.), where luggage is examined and carriages are changed for Böhmisch-Eisenstein (p. 338). Fine view of the Arber to the W. (see p. 339).

Immediately to the W. of the rail. station lies the frontier-settlement of Bayrisch-Eisenstein (Oberst, with garden, R. $1\frac{1}{4}$ M.; Pledl, well spoken of), while $\frac{3}{4}$ M. to the N. is the village of Bayrisch Häusel (2625 ft.; brewery). — About 2 M. to the N. of Bayrisch-Eisenstein, in Bohemia, is Böhmisch-Eisenstein (p. 338), reached viâ the glass-works of Elisental.

FROM EISENSTEIN TO PILSEN, 70 M., Austrian State Railway in $3\frac{1}{4}$ hrs. The train crosses the Regen and skirts the little market-town of ($3\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Böhmisch-Eisenstein (p. 338), the station for which lies $\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the N. 7 M. Spitzberg (2725 ft.), at the S. end of the Spitzberg Tunnel (1 M. long), the starting-point for a visit to the Schwarze See (p. 337); $11\frac{1}{2}$ M. Hammern-Eisenstrass, at the E. foot of the Osser (see p. 337; ascended hence in 3 hrs.); $30\frac{1}{2}$ M. Neuern; 35 M. Janowitz; 40 M. Klattau. 49. The Bavarian Forest and the Adjoining Part of the Bohemian Forest.

The Railway from Eisenstein to Deggendorf, which intersects this forest-district, is described in R. 48.

The Bavarian Forest is the S.W. portion of the extensive Bohemian Forest Mountains, and includes the highest peaks in the range (the Arber 4780 ft., the Rachel 4765 ft.). Nearly one-half of this mountain-region, which is upwards of 1800 sq. M. in area and lies between the Danube and the Bohemian frontier, extending from Cham and Furth on the N. to below Passau towards the S., is covered with pine and beech forest, much of which, especially in the less frequented parts (e.g. the Rachel and Falkenstein), is still in a primæval condition. — The geological formation of the Bavarian Forest consists of granite, gneiss, and mica-slate, intersected by the Pfahl (see above), a broad seam of quartz. The timber-trade and cattle-breeding are the chief resources of the natives, but quarrying is also an important industry. Snuff, to which they are much addicted, is carried about in little glass bottles made in the district. The paths are frequently flanked with 'Totenbretter', i.e. memorial tablets with inscriptions and paintings.

The PATHS are good almost without exception: the INNS, though unpretentious, are generally clean (average charges: R. 1-1½ M., D., at midday, 1-1½ M., pens. 3-4 M.). - Böhmisch-Eisenstein, Bayrisch-Eisenstein, Lambach, Rabenstein, Bodenmais, Spiegelau, Klingenbrunn, St. Oswald, Mauth, etc., are frequented as summer-resorts. The Bavarian Forest Club (Bayrische Waldverein) is employed in opening up the mountains.

PLAN OF TOUR. The forest is approached on three sides by the railway. The following tour touches at the chief stations and may be begun from any one of them. 1ST DAY. Above Lam lies the ($\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) pilgrimage-church of Mariahilf (2680 ft.).

Lambach (2340 ft.; Ascher, R. 1 M.), a small village with glass-works, situated in the forest $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. to the N., is well-adapted for a lengthened stay; to the Osser (see below), $1\frac{3}{4}$ hr. Rixy, R. from 1 K 60 h, board 4-6 K) to the ($\frac{1}{4}$ hr.; omn. 50 h) station of Spitzberg, $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. by rail from Eisenstein.

Thence we may proceed to ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Ludwigstal (p. 335) or viâ Lindberg to (2 hrs.) Zwiesel (p. 340). To those who wish to return to the Waldhaus the descent ($1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) viâ the Kleine Falkenstein (3963 ft.; red way-marks) is recommended. — From the Waldhaus we may either retrace our steps to the (4 min.) forester's house and thence proceed to the left (N. W.) through fine wood viâ the Hochberg-Sattel and Drahberg-Sattel to the ($1\frac{1}{4}$ hr.) Frontier Railway Station, or we may go on to the S.E. to the (1 hr.) station of Ludwigstal (p. 335).

By railway to Spitzberg or Hammern-Eisenstrass (p. 335) and back thence viâ the Schwarze See and Teufels-See ($3\frac{1}{2}$ -4 hrs.; p. 338); or we may ascend the Osser (3 hrs.; p. 337) from Hammern-Eisenstrass. — To the Osser (p. 337) viâ the Schwarze See (p. 337) and the Gütelplatz (p. 337), $4\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. — Ascent of the Seewand ($2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.), see p. 337. — Over the Scheiben-Sattel or the Brennes-Sattel (see below) to (3 hrs.) Lohberg (p. 337).

FROM THE FRONTIER RAILWAY STATION (Grenz-Bahnhof) TO THE GROSSE ARBER, $3-3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs., two attractive routes. — a. We follow the road to Zwiesel for $\frac{1}{4}$ hr., then turn to the right, viâ Arberhütte (inn; bed 1 M), and in $1\frac{1}{4}$ hr. more reach the Grosse Arber-See* (3065 ft.; Inn very fair, bed $1-1\frac{1}{2}$ M; boats; triple echo), a lake 64 acres in area with a maximum depth of 108 ft. (a trip around the lake takes 1 hr.), picturesquely situated in the midst of wood and dominated by the Grosse Arber; there is a driving-road also to the lake (carriage-and-pair from Böhmisch-Eisenstein 12 K). From the lake to Zwiesel, see p. 340. — We ascend the N. bank of the lake to the ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) summit of the Arber. The path skirting the Seewand is preferable but $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. longer.

From the Grosse Arber* (4780 ft.), the 'king of the forest', a superb view is obtained: to the E. of a great part of Bohemia; to the N.W. as far as the Fichtel-Gebirge and the Erz-Gebirge; on the S., in clear weather, the Alps; on the E. side, far below, lies the sombre Grosse Arber-See (panorama by Pascher, 1 M). A peregrination of the summit-plateau takes $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. On the top stands a chapel; and about 10 min. below is the Arber-Schutzhaus (4595 ft.; inn in summer, 15 beds at $1\frac{1}{2}$ M, and 13 shake-downs at 1 M, clean).

DESCENT VIÂ BODENMAIS TO ZWIESEL, 6 hrs., attractive. The path leads through the Riesloch, a pretty ravine with small waterfalls. (Attractive digression of $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. from the upper end to the Rechensölden-Felsen, with a view of the valley and of Bodenmais.) — $2\frac{1}{4}$ hrs. Bodenmais (2270 ft.; Post, R. $1-1\frac{1}{2}$, B. $\frac{1}{2}$, pens. 4-5 M; Bräuhaus), a village of 1600 inhab. pleasantly situated on a hill. Opposite rises the reddish Silberberg, with its indented peak called the Bischofschaube ('mitre'; 3135 ft.; $\frac{3}{4}$ hr.). The old silver-mines now yield magnetic-pyrites, from which vitriol and red polishing powder are made. Rare minerals are also found.

Diligence from Bodenmais to Regen (see p. 334), to Zwiesel (p. 340) and to Kötzting (see p. 336). — The railway-station of Böhrach (p. 334).

may be reached from Bodenmais in $1\frac{3}{4}$ hr. (diligence). A beautiful road leads to the N.W. through wood, viâ Mais and the Schönbacher-Hütte, to Scharreben (see below) in 3 hrs. (yellow way-marks).

We proceed viâ (1 hr.) Schöneben (path to the right to the Bischofshaube, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr., see p. 339; to the left in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the Arber-See and the Arber, blue and white way-marks) and past a (1 hr.) quartz-quarry with a small subterranean lake (at the entrance beautiful rose-coloured quartz and other rare minerals; close by is the Hennerkobel, 3115 ft.) to (1 hr.) Rabenstein (2220 ft.; *Höf. Villa Rabenstein, R. $1\frac{1}{2}$ - $2\frac{3}{4}$, B. $\frac{3}{4}$, D. $1\frac{3}{4}$, pens. $4\frac{1}{2}$ - $6\frac{1}{2}$ M., with a view-terrace; Waldschlössl, unpretending; diligence twice daily to Zwiesel). To Rëgenhütte (see below) 1 hr. — From Rabenstein a shadeless road leads viâ Klautzenbach to ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Zwiesel (see below).

From the Arber to Lohberg, see p. 337. — From the Arber a marked path leads viâ the ($2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) forester's hut of Scharreben (3280 ft.; rfmts., sleeping-accommodations for 4 persons; to Lohberg and Lam, see p. 337; to Bodenmais, see above), Eck (2 hrs.; inn, no sleeping-accommodation; to Arrach, p. 337, 1 hr.), the Riedelstein (3720 ft.), and Kreuzfelsen (Keitersberg), to ($3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) Reitenberg and (1 hr.) Kötzting (9 hrs. in all; see p. 336).

II. Eastern Portion: Rachel, Lusen, Dreisessel.

Railway from Ratisbon (p. 185) or Passau (p. 326) to Plattling, see R. 47; railway from Plattling viâ Deggendorf to Zwiesel, see pp. 333, 335. Railway from Passau to Freyung, see p. 343. — Map, p. 335.

Zwiesel (station, 1900 ft., $\frac{1}{2}$ M. from the town, omn. 40 pf.; Post, R. 1-2 M.; Deutscher Rhein, R. 1 M 10 pf.-3 M., both very fair; Röck, with wine-room, all three in the market-place; Bayrische Wald, near the Protestant church), a station on the railway from Eisenstein to Deggendorf (p. 332), is a clean little market-town of 4000 inhab., with a school of glass-manufacturing. The town lies in a broad basin at the confluence of the Kleine and Grosse Regen, which together form the Schwarze Regen, and is a favourite winter-resort. Near it are glass-works and saw-mills. — The Zwieselberg (2250 ft.), a hill strewn with blocks of granite, $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the S.W., affords a good panorama.

Ascent of the Arber from Zwiesel viâ Bodenmais, see p. 339. — The Arber is more easily reached from Zwiesel viâ Ludwigstal (rail. station, see p. 335). By the Prinzensteig viâ (40 min.) Regenhütte (Strohmayer, bed 1 M.), with a bottle-glass factory, and the (1 hr.) Grosse Arber-See to the ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) summit, see p. 339. — A longer but equally attractive route leads from Zwiesel viâ ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Rabenstein (see above) and (1 hr.) Regenhütte (see above).

From Ludwigstal (see above and p. 335) to the Zwiesler Waldhaus (p. 338), 1 hr.; to the Grosse Falkenstein (p. 338), 3 hrs.

FROM ZWIESEL TO GRAFENAU, 20 M., branch-railway in $1\frac{1}{2}$ -2 hrs. (best views to the left). — The line describes a wide curve round the town. $4\frac{1}{2}$ M. Zwieselau; $5\frac{1}{2}$ M. Frauenau, the station for Unter-Frauenau (Schinabeck, unpretending) and for Ober-

Frauenau (2440 ft.), the latter with the imposing château of Herr von Poschinger in an elevated situation (bridle-path to the Rachel, see below).

Farther on we ascend rapidly through a narrow wooded valley to (10 M.) the station of Klingenbrunn, $2\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the N.E. of the village (2740 ft.; Ludwigstein, R. 1-1 $\frac{1}{2}$, pens. 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ -4 $\frac{1}{2}$ M; Stangl). The Ludwigstein (2900 ft.), $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. to the W. of the village, is a good point of view. Ascent of the Rachel from the station, see below.

The train now descends to (12 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Spiegelau (2400 ft.; Post, R. 1-1 $\frac{1}{2}$ M; Spiegelau), a frequented summer-resort. A fine panoramic view is obtained from the village of Oberkreuzberg (2525 ft.), 2 M. to the S. Ascent of the Rachel, see below; to the N.E. to the Waldhäuser (p. 342), 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.; to the E. to St. Oswald (p. 342) viâ Reichenberg, 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ hr.; to the N.W. to the village of Klingenbrunn (see above), diligence twice daily in 40 minutes. — The railway next runs high on the left side of the narrow gorge of the brawling Grosse Ohe to (15 M.) Gross-Armschlag.

20 M. Grafenau (station 1895 ft., church 2010 ft.; Setzer, R. 1-1 $\frac{1}{2}$, B. $\frac{1}{2}$ M; Schlossbrauerei; Zur Eisenbahn; Stadt Grafenau), a little town with 1330 inhabitants. A fine view is obtained from the Schwaimberg, $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. to the N. About $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. to the S.W. of the station is the Bärnsteiner Leite, a narrow wooded ravine of the Kleine Ohe, above which rises the ruin of Bärnstein (2150 ft.; inn), $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. from the station.

Roads lead from Grafenau to (3 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) St. Oswald (p. 342) on the N., to (6 M.) Hohenau on the N.E. (see p. 344), and through the Bärnsteiner Leite to (5 M.) Schönberg (1850 ft.; Pleintinger, Post, R. $\frac{3}{4}$ -1 $\frac{1}{2}$, D. 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ M; Lorenz), a market-village prettily situated at the base of the Kadernberg (2230 ft.; 20 min.; view). From Schönberg we may go on viâ the Saldenau (1870 ft.; Bräuhäus), Fürstenstein, and Engelburg (1915 ft.; Niedermayer) to (10 M.) Tittling (1740 ft.; Post), a pleasant market-village with a late-Romanesque church, and viâ Riess (p. 329) to (24 $\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Passau (p. 326; motor-diligence from Schönberg thrice daily in 2 $\frac{3}{4}$ hrs., fare 2 M 10 pf.).

The RACHEL is best ascended from the station of Klingenbrunn (see above; blue way-marks; 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.). Other routes ascend from Spiegelau, either direct in 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ hrs., or viâ the (1 $\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Dienst-hütte (a club-hut with 6 beds) and the ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Rachel-See. Finally a new bridle-path (rather steep) ascends from Ober-Frauenau (see above) in 3 hrs. (red way-marks).

The barren granite summit of the Rachel* (4765 ft.; plain refuge-hut; no rfmts.) commands an extensive view of the Bohemian Forest and the plain of the Danube, reaching in clear weather to the distant Alps. The Rachelhaus (3848 ft.; rfmts., 3 beds) lies 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the E. of the summit, on the path to (3 $\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) Mader (3215 ft.; Zwei Schnepfen) in Bohemia. On the S.E. side lies the dark forest-girt Rachel-See* (3295 ft.), 82 ft. deep.

Descending to the ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) lake (blue way-marks) and passing the ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) Diensthütte (see p. 341), we may proceed viâ Guglöd and Siebenellen to (2 hrs.) St. Oswald (see below); or from the Diensthütte we may reach the Waldhäuser (see below) in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. Another path (black marks) leads to the E. from the top of the Rachel, running on the hillside above the lake and past the chapel (view), and descends to the right through the wood, crossing the Zwölferlinie, to the ($4\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) Lusen; the route viâ the Waldhäuser is preferable (5 hrs.; see above).

About $4\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the N. of Grafenau (motor-diligence twice daily) and $4\frac{1}{2}$ M. to the E. of Spiegelau lies St. Oswald (2623 ft.; Schreiner's Bräuhaus; Simmet), once a monastery, beautifully situated. Ascent of the Rachel, see above; to Hohenau, see p. 344.

From St. Oswald we may ascend to the N. by the ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Waldhäuser (3030 ft.; Inn, unpretending, R. 1 M 20 pf.; to the Diensthütte, $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) to the ($3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) Lusen* (4495 ft.), the summit of which, formed of blocks of granite, commands a superb view. On the S. side is a plain refuge-but (no rfmts.).

FROM THE LUSEN TO KUSCHWARDA, 6 hrs. One route descends to the S. (blue way-marks) to the (1 hr.) Tummel-Platz (rfmts.; no accommodation; view from the Hochfeichtstein, 4134 ft., $1\frac{1}{2}$ M.; to Hohenau $2\frac{3}{4}$ hrs., see p. 344), whence we proceed, either direct or by a pleasant détour viâ the Kanzel (3315 ft.; splendid view), in $2\frac{1}{4}$ hrs. to Mauth (2695 ft.; Post, R. 1 M; Ferstl; carriage-road to the S. to Freyung, see p. 344). Thence we follow the white and yellow way-marks past the forester's house of ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Alm (3745 ft.; rfmts., 2 beds), with a splendid view, to (2 hrs.) Kuschwarda. Another route descends on the N. side of the Lusen to ($2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) Buchwald (3810 ft.; Zum Tiroler, R. 1 K), the highest village in Bohemia. [The détour, taking 1 hr. more, viâ the Moldau-Ursprung or Source of the Moldau (3845 ft.), and Siebenstein (4111 ft.; view), is recommended.] From Buchwald we proceed viâ Fürstenhut to (3 hrs.) Kuschwarda.

FROM THE LUSEN TO FREYUNG (p. 344). 5-6 hrs. Viâ Hohenau, see p. 344; viâ Mauth, see above. To the Rachel ($4\frac{1}{2}$ -5 hrs.), see above.

Kuschwarda (2735 ft.; Reif, R. 80 h-1 K; Paulick, R. 80 h-1 K 40 h; one-horse carr. to the forest 6 K, with two horses 10 K), a Bohemian market-village at the foot of the Schlösslberg (3652 ft.; tower), is frequented as a summer-resort. Roads (diligence) run to the N.E. to Obermoldau (p. 343; $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.), and to the S.W. to Freyung (see p. 344).

About $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. to the N.E. of Kuschwarda lie the village and glass-works of Eleonorenhain (2380 ft.; Kralik's Touristenhaus, at the station, R. $1\frac{3}{4}$ -2 K; Böhmerwald Inn, in the village, unpretending), a station on the railway from Winterberg to Wallern.

From Eleonorenhain or Kuschwarda (diligence) viâ ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Böhmisch-Röhren (3050 ft.; Olzinger) and ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Neutal (2805 ft.; Jungbauer; along the inundation-canal to Hirschbergen, p. 345, $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) to the (2 hrs.) Dreisessel (p. 345), 5 hrs., chiefly by fine wood-paths.

A carriage-road runs to the N. from Eleonorenhain viâ ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Schattawa (inn; the station of the Wallern and Winterberg railway is $\frac{3}{4}$ M. from the village) into the forest. The so-called Urwald (i.e. primæval forest) begins to the right of this road, $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. above Schattawa, by the wooden pavilion of 'Fürstensitz'.

Lucken-Urwald is the name given to the tract of forest-land (205 acres; closed to visitors during September) on the S. slope of the Kubani, which has been left in its primæval condition by the proprietor Prince Schwarzenberg. Huge tree-trunks lie confusedly in all directions, overgrown with underwood, forming a strange chaos which is well worth seeing.

We follow the above-mentioned road from the Fürstensitz for about $1\frac{1}{2}$ M. more and then return viâ Schattawa to Eleonorenhain, or we may go on to ($1\frac{1}{2}$ M.) the Kreuzfichte, whence a path ascends to the left to ($\frac{3}{4}$ hr.) the summit of the Kubani (4470 ft.; view intercepted by trees). We then descend viâ the (1 hr.) Kubo Huts to ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Obermoldau (2625 ft.; Macho), and take the train thence (1 hr.) to the little town of Winterberg (2285 ft.; Hôt. Habsburg; Stadt Passau), with a château of Prince Schwarzenberg.

FROM PASSAU TO FREYUNG, 31 M., branch-railway in $2\frac{3}{4}$ - $3\frac{1}{4}$ hrs. (fares $2\frac{1}{2}$ M., $1\frac{1}{4}$ M.).

Passau, see p. 326. — The train crosses the Danube 2 M. above Passau (on the left bank is the station of Stelzlhof), ascends through wooded valleys and a short tunnel to ($5\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Tiefenbach (1295 ft.), and then winds down to the pretty valley of the Ilz, reaching the left bank of that river beyond ($9\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Fischhaus.

$12\frac{1}{2}$ M. Kalteneck (1090 ft.; Gunder).

A road (diligence thrice daily) runs to (3 M.) Büchlberg (1610 ft.; Pangerl). Thence a trail (blue and green way-marks) leads to the Lichtenauer (2380 ft.; Stemplinger, R. $\frac{3}{4}$ - $1\frac{1}{4}$, pens. 4 M.; view) in $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. From the Lichtenauer to Hauzenberg (p. 330; carr. 3, with two horses 6 M.), $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.; to Waldkirchen (see below), 2 hrs.

Beyond a short tunnel we see to the left, above, the finely situated château of Fürsteneck (1595 ft.; now an inn with brewery), above the confluence of the Schönberger and the Wolfsteiner Ilz. Beyond a second short tunnel we reach the ($15\frac{1}{2}$ M.) station of Fürsteneck (1170 ft.; Aumühle, $\frac{3}{4}$ M. to the S., R. $\frac{3}{4}$ - $1\frac{1}{2}$, pens. $3\frac{1}{2}$ -4 M.) and then follow the valley of the Osterbach, viâ Neuhausemühle, to ($19\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Röhrnbach (1305 ft.; Post, R. $1\frac{1}{4}$ - $1\frac{1}{2}$ M.), a prettily situated market-village.

$23\frac{1}{2}$ M. Waldkirchen (1895 ft.; Post, R. 1-2 M.; Fritz Meindl; Setzer; restaurant at the station), a market-village with 1500 inhabitants. From the village of Ober-Frauenwald (2920 ft.;

Kohl), $5\frac{1}{4}$ M. to the S.E., a fine view is obtained; thence to Hauzenberg (p. 343) $3\frac{1}{2}$ M. (blue and red way-marks). Ascent of the Dreisessel, see below. Diligence daily to Breitenberg (p. 330) in $3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. To the Lichtenauer (2 hrs.), see p. 343. — $27\frac{1}{2}$ M. Karlsbach.

31 M. Freyung (2085 ft.; Post, R. 1 M 20 pf.; Märkl; Glückl; Pröbstl) is a pleasant market-village with 1100 inhabitants. About $\frac{1}{4}$ hr. to the N. is Schloss Wolfstein (1590); and $\frac{3}{4}$ hr. to the S.W. rises the Geiersberg (2620 ft.), a splendid point of view. A carriage-road (diligence) leads to the N. from Freyung to (2 hrs.) Mauth (p. 342). Ascent of the Dreisessel, see below.

FROM FREYUNG TO KUSCHWARDA (p. 342), $14\frac{1}{2}$ M., by diligence in 4 hrs., or by carriage (with one horse, from the Post Hotel, 8 M, with two horses 12 M), viâ (10 M.) Klein-Philippsreut (3210 ft.; Liedl), to which a diligence plies twice daily.

From Freyung the road (diligence twice daily) goes on to the N.W. viâ the Bierhütte to ($4\frac{1}{2}$ M.) the prettily situated village of Hohenau (2635 ft.; Moosbauer; Hobelsberger). Or we may choose the pleasanter route, which crosses the Sausbach at the church of Freyung and descends on the right bank, through the Buchberger Leite, a romantic rocky gorge, to ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) the mill of Buchberg (rfmts.), whence we ascend to the right viâ Saulorn to ($1\frac{1}{2}$ hr.) Hohenau.

From Hohenau roads lead to the S.W. to ($4\frac{1}{2}$ M.) Grafenau (p. 341), and to the N.W. to (6 M.) St. Oswald (p. 342). — Ascent of the Lusen (p. 312), to the N. of Hohenau. viâ Kirchl, Schönbrunn, and the Tummel-Platz (p. 342), $3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. (blue way-marks).

ASCENT OF THE DREISESSEL FROM WALDKIRCHEN, 5- $5\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. We may proceed either viâ ($2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.; diligence daily at 4.15 p.m.) Alt-Reichenau (2660 ft.; Schmidhuber, R. $\frac{3}{4}$ - $1\frac{1}{2}$ M) and ($3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.) Frauenberg (inn, 2 beds), or choose the preferable route (white and green way-marks) viâ (3 hrs.; diligence daily; carr. & pair 13 M) Neu-Reichenau (2210 ft.; Zum Dreisessel; to the Dreiecks-mark, red and blue way-marks, 3 hrs.), which is $2\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. from the inn on the summit. By the former route it is possible to drive all the way to the inn (two-horse carr. from the Post Hotel in Waldkirchen, 15 M).

ASCENT OF THE DREISESSEL FROM FREYUNG (see above), $5\frac{1}{2}$ hrs. The road (red and white way-marks) ascends to the right opposite the Post Hotel and leads viâ (2 hrs.) Unter-Grainet, Hobelsberg, and the forester's house of Duschlberg to (2 hrs.) Frauenberg (see above), and thence to the summit, $1\frac{1}{2}$ hr. Two-horse carr. from the Post Hotel at Freyung to Frauenberg, 15 M. — From Freyung viâ Rehberg and Fürholz to Alt-Reichenau (see above), $3\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.

ASCENT OF THE DREISESSEL FROM PASSAU viâ Breitenberg, see p. 330.

The Dreisesselstein (4305 ft.; Inn, with 30 beds at 1-1 M 30 pf.) is the most visited of the peaks of the Dreisesselberg. The summit, consisting of piled-up blocks of granite, commands an admirable view of the Bohemian Forest and the Alps; still finer towards the N. and E. from the Hochstein (4365 ft.), 10 min. distant.

From the Dreisesselstein to the N. to Kuschwarda or Eleonorenhain, 4½ hrs., see p. 343; to the S. to the Rosenberger Hotel (p. 330), 1 hr.

From the Dreisesselstein a path follows the crest of the hill past the (1 hr.) Bayrische Blöckenstein (4490 ft.; fine view) to the (¼ hr.) Dreiecksmarkstein (4320 ft.), where the boundaries of Bavaria, Bohemia, and Austria meet.

DESCENT FROM THE DREIECKSMARKSTEIN to the S. to the Rosenberger Hotel (p. 330), 1 hr. (red and blue way-marks); to the S.W. to Neu-Reichenau (see p. 344), 2½ hrs.; to the N. to Nental (p. 343), 1½ hr.

Beyond the Dreiecksmarkstein we reach the (½ hr.) Böhmische Blöckenstein or Seestein (4560 ft.), whence we descend to the right (yellow way-marks) to (5 min.) the Kanzel, where we suddenly catch sight of the dark, forest-girt Blöckenstein-See* (3576 ft.; evening light best) far below. We retrace our steps to the Böhmische Blöckenstein, and proceed to the left to the (¼ hr.) bank of the lake, on which, 720 ft. above the water, is a monument (1877) to Adalbert Stifter (1805-68), who has celebrated this spot in his tales; fine view of the lake and of the distant Moldau valley.

FROM THE STIFTER MONUMENT to the N.W. to Nental (p. 343), 2 hrs. — A steep path descends to the lake in ¼ hr., whence we may proceed viâ (½ hr.) Hirschbergen (2838 ft.; Fechter; Sting, or (½ hr.) Neuofen to (¼-¾ hrs.) Salnau, the terminus of the railway from Budweis (46½ M., in ¾-5 hrs.). Or from the lake we may follow the white and red way-marks viâ (½ hr.) Holzschlag (rfmts. at the forester's. bed 2 K) and the (2 hrs.) Bärnstein (3535 ft.) to (½ hr.) Aigen (1860 ft.; Almuesberger), the terminus of the Mühlkreis railway (to Urfahr and Linz, 36 M., in 3 hrs.).
